

Chapter 53 Convince The Bank

He would rest whenever she went back?

Then she'd better hurry back.

Alyssa collected her things.

Ten o'clock in the evening.

Alyssa hurriedly returned to the Hunter's House.

The light was still on in the study, and Alyssa hurriedly went to the study.

Leon had known that Alyssa was back.

He was happy to see her come to him as soon as she came back. Because this showed that Alyssa still had him in mind.

"It's getting late. You should get some rest. I'm going to rest too."

"What are you busy with? What took you so long to come back?"

"I'm busy with school stuff. You want to know?" Alyssa looked at Leon, who seemed to care about her school life. That was good, too.

She walked to Leon and put the document in her hand in front of Leon.

Leon looked at the expectation in Alyssa's eyes and knew that she wanted him to take a look at it.

He picked up the document and looked it over. Then he said softly, "The information is quite complete."

"Is it? But I think something is missing. What's Edith thinking? This has been on hold for six months. Why does he feel no hurry?"

"What do you think?" Leon looked at Alyssa and wanted to see what she had in mind.

Alyssa was a bit puzzled and looked at the document, "I'll go back first. There are still two days to go! I'm sure I can fix this."

"Good."

Alyssa went back to her room and started looking up Edith's information again.

Edith's information was much more than Mr. Harvey's.

Edith had had many previous investments.

His vision was quite good, and many of his investments had made money.

However, as for the investment in Harvey's Technology, he did not make any money.

Alyssa went on, but that was all she could find.

She continued to read further down the page.

She saw a picture of Edith and his wife.

His wife was not good-looking, but at best elegant.

The most important thing was that Edith's wife looked very much like Liam.

His wife's last name was also Harvey, Rosa Harvey.

Both surname Harvey?

Same name.

Similar look.

Could they be family?

Alyssa continued to investigate and soon found out that Rosa was Liam's sister.

So it meant that Edith was Liam's brother-in-law.

They are family?

She followed this clue and soon found a photo of them in the past. Even though it was a very old photo, she could still see that they were close.

This family seemed to have a good relationship. Brother's company had a crisis, and brother-in-law did the investment.

Problems should be solved timely, shouldn't they?

How come the brother-in-law refused to solve the problem instead?

This was really not reasonable.

The more Alyssa thought about it, the more she felt that something was wrong. She had to gather information from Harvey's Technology again.

Then, Alyssa found a former investor of Harvey's Technology.

She just happened to know this investor. He was her grandfather's good friend, Sam Reed.

Alyssa knew it was late now, but she still called Sam.

"Uncle Sam, I'm so sorry to call you at this time. I wanted to ask you something about Harvey's Technology. You were a shareholder of Harvey's Technology before."

"Alyssa, why do you ask about this suddenly?"

"Because my school is doing this project, and this is going to count for credit. So, Uncle Sam, you have to help me."

"No problem." Sam said with a smile, "What do you want to know?"

"What is Liam's relationship with Edith? Do they have a bad relationship?"

"They have a good relationship. Edith is Liam's brother-in-law. Why do you ask these questions?"

"If they are close, then why didn't he sign?"

Sam laughed, "If he signed, Harvey's Technology would belong to someone else. After the debt restructuring, there will definitely be a change in equity. How could Liam be willing to give up Harvey's Technology, which is founded by him, to someone else? As Edith's equity may be diluted, Liam's shares will definitely be diluted as well. In fact, it's a matter of ownership. Liam is selfish and refuses to let his shares be diluted, so they've been stuck in a stalemate for six months."

"I see. Then they violated the interests of all your shareholders by doing so, didn't they?"

"Silly girl, Liam can do this, so naturally he is well prepared."

"How did he do it anyway?"

Alyssa was a little anxious, confused as to how exactly Liam did it.

"They gave us money every year." Sam was blunt, "It wasn't a lot of money really, but enough to keep us all quiet."

Alyssa understood.

Liam was so calculating.

No wonder he hadn't dealt with Harvey's Technology for most of the year.

Alyssa put the phone down and propped her head up.

She thought that there was probably no solution to this problem.

She didn't expect that she would have such a tricky project.

What should she do now?

After she learned the truth, this matter seemed to be even more difficult.

No matter what, she must solve it.

She found out all the information of the previous debt for equity swap and checked it over and over again.

The next morning, she went directly to the bank where she had done the project before.

The bank manager did not receive her.

She waited in front of the bank.

The manager finally ran out of options and met with Alyssa.

"Miss, are you kidding me? We've been following this case for over a year. And it finally came to this stalemate. We made concessions and we also agreed to the proposal given by the investment management company. I don't think there's any need to deal with this anymore. You'd better leave now! I'm really busy."

"Manager, this case has been going on for so long, and I know it has already cost a lot of people's time and energy, but given the situation at hand, we have to continue. Once we can't do it anymore, this case may be even more troublesome. What do you think?"

The manager froze at Alyssa's words. Of course, they wanted to keep the project going. However, it was because they couldn't do it anymore that things had turned out this way.

He looked at Alyssa, "We have hired many people to handle this matter before, and none of them could handle it well. Do you think you can handle this?"

"Anyway, don't you want to give it a try?"

"Then what ideas do you have?"

Alyssa said her idea about Harvey's Technology, and then continued, "Manager, the problem now is Mr. Harvey. As long as we communicate with Mr. Harvey, we can do the following management. The bank should also want Harvey's Technology to pay back the money as soon as possible, so can we handle this matter a little faster? What do you think?"

"We can't promise to give Liam what he wants."

"There are definitely changes after the debt for equity swap. Mr. Harvey is worried about his profits, so let's give Mr. Harvey a proper commitment. After all, what we want to do is to help Harvey's Technology get over the difficulty and collect the previous loan and interest, not to destroy a company. Manager, am I right?"
