

Chapter 54 Invitation

The manager hesitated and looked at Alyssa, "What do you think we should do next?"

"After the debt restructuring, the second round of ownership confirmation will be conducted. I think that since this project has been delayed for so long, some shareholders will definitely withdraw automatically. In the meantime, the bank and Mr. Harvey can negotiate on the equity debt. According to what I said before, you should have understood. Now Mr. Harvey has a certain decision to deal with the problem."

"You mean you want me to talk to Mr. Harvey?"

Alyssa nodded and smiled, "Communication is the necessary way to solve the problem. You should take the time to talk to Mr. Harvey again. By the way, I think it is also necessary for the investment management company to intervene. They are more professional."

Alyssa had already thought of a way to handle this matter. Now it all depended on whether the three parties could reach an agreement. If they couldn't agree to solve the problem, that was the biggest problem.

The manager felt that Alyssa had a point and nodded, "Okay, I'll give it a try."

"I've met with Mr. Harvey before. If you guys need my help, just let me know."

"Why are you so motivated to handle this? Are you a student from A University?"

"Yes, I'm Alyssa from the Finance Department of A University. This should be a test for me!"

It was only when the task was up to here that Alyssa really felt that it was a test for her.

This test was very meaningful to her.

Before, she didn't find finance so interesting.

Now that she was really involved, she felt that it was full of excitement and unknowns.

One hour later.

Citic Asset Management Company.

Alyssa was busy with printing the new cooperation agreement and took the young secretary's place.

The secretary watched Alyssa handle the printed documents quickly and couldn't help but glance at her younger face.

This little girl looked quite young. However, she was obviously very mature when she talked with the general manager in the office just now.

She was obviously not very old, but she looked as if she was more mature than all the people here.

The most important thing was that she was able to make the case that had been deadlocked for half a year come alive again. This little girl was simply a savior.

Alyssa sorted all the documents into different categories and quickly took them to the conference room, waiting for the three-party meeting later.

This time, Alyssa played a moderating role. At the moment, she was doing the simplest secretarial work.

Seeing Alyssa's serious attitude, all three parties became a lot more peaceful.

Over ten minutes later, the reconciliation meeting officially began.

The employees of the asset management company looked at the conference room and their faces were not very good.

None of them were optimistic about starting over a case that had been delayed for so long.

However, they were surprised that the three parties could get together.

Everyone's face showed both surprise and helplessness.

In fact, they had all made efforts for this case, but they never succeeded.

The meeting was not long. After half an hour, the meeting was over.

Everyone outside felt that such an important matter could not be solved in such a short time.

They sat down in their seats in frustration.

But just as they sat down, they saw the three bosses in the conference room walking out with gentle faces.

They came out of the conference room and even shook hands with each other, looking in a good mood.

The others looked at each other and did not dare to speak, but they all knew that, from their happy looks, they should have made a business deal.

But how exactly did this happen?

Who was that girl? How could she have made this happen?

Mr. Wood of the asset management company sent the bank manager and Mr. Harvey away and soon led the team to follow up on Harvey's Technology case.

Alyssa felt that this thing should be completed, so she was ready to leave. At that moment, the young secretary rushed out to stop her.

"Miss Graham, Mr. Wood invites you in for a chat." The young secretary liked Alyssa quite a bit and thought she was pretty competent.

"Huh? I have things to do. Besides, since everything is pretty much done here, I don't think there is anything I can do. I'd better go and do my stuff."

Alyssa also wanted to go talk to Mr. Harvey.

She should be done with this task.

"Mr. Wood said he wanted to talk to you. It won't take up too much of your time. Miss Graham, please come in."

"Fine!" Alyssa nodded. After all, Mr. Wood was the head of the asset management company. Today, she came here in a hurry, and she didn't communicate with Mr. Wood before. This was somewhat impolite, so she had to apologize. In the future, she was going to be in this circle, so she could not offend anyone.

She followed the secretary into Mr. Wood's office. Seeing that Mr. Wood's office was neat and tidy, Alyssa knew that Mr. Wood was a very clean person.

He was young, but he was able to set up an asset management company and absorb all kinds of elite talents, so he was really awesome!

"Miss Graham, you're a junior in finance at A University now, aren't you?" Hassan Wood took a sip of tea, looked at Alyssa, and pointed to the chair on the opposite side, "Please have a seat. You've just been standing in the conference room for so long. You're tired, right?"

Alyssa suddenly relaxed. This person was too good at observing people. She was quite nervous when she was in the conference room just now, fearing that she wouldn't be able to do the negotiation for today's cooperation.

She was really a bit tired, "Mr. Wood, I am really a bit tired."

Hassan nodded and personally poured Alyssa a glass of water, "Drink some water! You seemed pretty nervous when you kept grabbing your hand earlier."

"Yeah, but I feel good! Today's project is finally done. Everything is going well, and the Harvey's Technology project is well underway. Congratulations, Mr. Wood."

"You'll graduate in six months. Do you have any ideas about your future job?"

"Not yet." Alyssa shook her head. She really didn't have any thoughts about work right now. In fact, it wasn't that she hadn't thought about it, she just thought it was useless to think about it now. In the second half of the year, she wasn't sure if she was actually going to work. She still wanted to further her study.

Education was the necessary pass to enter the top of the company.

No matter how strong her work ability was, her education must be strong enough, otherwise, her rise was limited.

Her last life was an example.

She would not repeat her previous wrong judgment.

"Miss, your analytical and observational skills are outstanding. I'm quite satisfied with your abilities. If you want to work after graduation, you can come work with me." Hassan quite liked this little girl. She was serious, quick, observant, and smart.

Alyssa nodded, "Thanks, but I'm not thinking about working yet. If I do consider a job, I will definitely consider your asset management company."

"Good, so are you going back now? If we're on the same way, I can drive you back."