

Chapter 56 Be Bullied

Although Ethan wasn't very educated, he did well in business.

Previously, he and Lloyd Group competed for a promotional package for an overseas company.

Lloyd Group was an expert in this area.

Naturally, Mathieson Group couldn't win over Lloyd Group.

As a result, they got into a lot of trouble.

Alyssa understood the situation, approached Ella's ear, and told her thoughts. Then, she asked, "Will this work?"

"Give it a try! Otherwise, do you have a better idea?"

"I don't have a better way." Ella laughed, "I didn't really expect you to have such a good idea. Then I'll give it a try! Thank you, Alyssa."

"I should be the one thanking you. My solutions are all shortcuts. What you have in your notebook is real expertise."

Ella laughed, patted Alyssa on the shoulder, and turned to walk away.

An hour later.

Alyssa got a call from Ella.

"He's willing to give you his signature? Congratulations! Ella, I knew you are the best."

"Alyssa, when I saw Mr. Mathieson gritting his teeth and giving me his signature, I couldn't stop laughing. Before that, he was all high and mighty with me. This contrast made me almost laugh out loud at the time."

"Haha, I can imagine that. I have to go. I'm going to pick up someone, see you tomorrow."

Alyssa still had to go pick Leon up from work. Now, she was a few minutes late.

She rushed to her car and drove off in the direction of the Hunter Group.

Just as she left, Emily came out from the far side.

She gestured to the people behind her. Then they turned and ran away, getting into their car and heading in Alyssa's direction.

Alyssa had long sensed that something was wrong.

She had passed several intersections since she drove out of school.

There was always a car following her behind her car. That car obviously came for her.

She was about to enter the "dead end" area of the intersection ahead, and Alyssa tried to turn back to the original road, but now she had no way back. That car overtook her and stopped her car.

She sat nervously in the car and watched as two men got out of the car in front of her.

BANG!

One of the men smashed the windshield directly in front of Alyssa.

BAM!

The windshield immediately shattered and fell.

Alyssa subconsciously covered her face, afraid that the glass shards would cut her face.

When the sound of breaking was gone, Alyssa was immediately dragged out of the car.

The cold wind blew on her face, and she immediately sensed the danger. So, she subconsciously raised her fist and swung it to the man.

Bam!

The tall man was hit in the jaw and fell to the ground. He looked at Alyssa unexpectedly, not expecting a small woman to be so strong.

Alyssa looked at the tall man with contempt. She had just used only 30% of her strength, and he directly fell!

A short, fat man rushed to her. She picked up a large stone on the ground and smashed it to him.

The stone hit the man right in the face.

As the stone fell to the ground, the short, fat man also fell to the ground.

She looked at the two people who had fallen to the ground.

The sense of danger just now was instantly eased. Were they kidding her?

She hadn't even done anything yet!

And they collapsed?

She couldn't even pretend to be scared in front of Leon later!

She was slightly irritated and lifted her foot to kick the tall man who was close to her, "Why did you stop me? Who told you to come here? What is your purpose?"

"I ... I don't know."

"Don't say?"

"I ..."

BAM!

Alyssa raised her fist and smashed it into the tall man's face.

The tall man tilted his head and his nose spurted out blood.

Alyssa stepped back in disgust hurriedly and frowned at the blood on her hand.

Before she could say anything, the tall man shouted quickly, "Emily called us to come here. She wanted to teach you a lesson and told us to fix you. Then you won't be able to seduce Leon."

"Is there anyone else?" Alyssa looked at the man she'd punched and her face sank, "If you don't tell the truth, I'll punch you again and make you bleed some more."

"Just us."

"So now that you're all beaten up by me, how do you tell Emily?"

Alyssa looked at the two men who had fallen to the ground and was a little curious as to how they planned to tell Emily their story.

"We ... we don't know!" The tall man lay on the ground and rolled in pain.

He rolled around while screaming, sounding like he was in a lot of pain.

Alyssa looked at the tall man rolling around in pain and gave up talking to him.

She looked at the short fat man sitting on the ground, still confused, and said in a cold voice, "How do you guys reply to Emily when you're beaten up like this?"

The short, fat man shook his head and the flesh on his face trembled.

Alyssa frowned. Emily looked smart, but how come she found two idiots to deal with her.

Well, she was a good person anyway.

She looked at the short, fat man and whispered, "How about you go back and tell Emily I was bullied by you?"

"We didn't bully you, we ..."

Slap!

Alyssa slapped the short, fat man on the head, "Do you want to earn money or not, dumbass?"

"So I tell her this?"

"Fuck off!"

Alyssa shouted coldly.

The short fat man heard Alyssa's voice and hurriedly ran away with the taller man.

At this time, Alyssa's phone suddenly rang.

It was Leon calling. She immediately picked up the phone.

"I'm off work. Where are you?"

"Ooo ..."

"Why are you crying?"

"Leon, I'm being bullied. My car is all smashed up. I don't know where I am now. What should I do? Ooo ..."

"You've been bullied?"

Leon's face sank.

"Ooh ... it hurts! My arm hurts and I have glass on me. I'm hurt."

"You can still hold your phone now, can't you? You send me your location quickly. I'll come to you now, don't cry."

"Ooo ..."

Alyssa cried and sent Leon her location. She was really crying, but she was crying from the cold. At night, the weather turned cold and her coat could no longer keep her warm.

When the wind blew over, she felt the pain. There were several pieces of glass stuck in her arms when the windshield came down. Before, she did not feel the pain, but now it really hurt.

A few minutes later, Alyssa saw a black SUV driving toward her.

Crunch!

The car stopped and Leon stepped out of it. He hurried over and held her in his arms.

"Ah!" Alyssa cried out.

Leon looked down and realized that she had a lot of glass stuck in her arms.

He hugged her.

And the glass got deeper.