

Chapter 59 Misunderstanding

Bang!

Emily dropped to the ground.

She froze.

All the students around her froze when they saw this scene.

Alyssa turned around and left. She quickly started the car and drove to her home.

Forty minutes later, Alyssa almost drove the car off the road.

But she finally made the deadline.

Alyssa walked out of the office, relieved.

"Did you make it?"

"Yeah."

"That's good! Alyssa, you hit Emily earlier, and she went to the Student Affairs Office to tell on you."

"Student Affairs Office!" Alyssa rubbed her head and looked at Ella who had a worried look on her face.

"It's okay, Alyssa. I'll go with you! I can prove that it was Emily who stopped you from leaving before. I believe the teacher will be fair. It's not your fault." Ella reassured Alyssa, and when she saw that Alyssa was worried, she hugged her and whispered, "It's okay. If the teacher at Student Affairs Office really says it's your fault, we can still get the credit."

Alyssa smiled, "Don't be afraid, we're innocent, and we don't have to be afraid of the teachers at Student Affairs Office. Ella, you go and help me find the surveillance just now. With the surveillance, many problems can be solved."

Ella immediately turned around and went to look for the surveillance. She was so anxious that she had forgotten such an important thing.

As long as there was surveillance, it would be clear whether Emily had just blocked Alyssa's way.

When Alyssa saw Ella leave, she turned around and walked to the Student Affairs Office.

Student Affairs Office.

When Emily saw Alyssa, she immediately cried with aggravation.

The teachers in the Student Affairs Office didn't think it was a big deal. But Emily kept crying, and he was already annoyed.

When Alyssa arrived, the Student Affairs Office teacher pointed at Alyssa and said, "Get your parents here! How dare you hit someone at school? You've got a lot of nerve!"

"It's because Emily blocked my way first. The school has surveillance. You should see what happened."

Alyssa looked at the teacher of the Student Affairs Office and said unhurriedly, "Emily, you just keep on crying."

She really didn't know what kind of grievances Emily had that she could cry all the time.

As a result, Emily really cried in front of the teacher.

The teacher of the Student Affairs Office was tired of her crying.

He had been in the Student Affairs Office for many years, but he had never seen a sue cry, but the defendant was justified.

This was really weird!

The teacher of the Student Affairs Office looked at Alyssa, "Alyssa, call your parents here!"

Alyssa nodded.

She had called her grandfather last time and he was so tired.

This time she wasn't going to call grandpa over, so she called Leon.

Leon was her husband.

It so happened that Leon knew what happened yesterday.

Ten minutes later.

Leon came.

Emily saw Leon and froze in her place.

She looked at Alyssa and got very jealous.

She actually let Leon come over?

She stopped crying and greeted Leon, "Leon."

Leon looked at Emily and turned his head to Alyssa, "What's wrong?"

"She said I hit her. Early this morning, she got in my way. I was indeed in a hurry and hit her. I asked her why she stopped my way, and all she meant was that I had slandered her. You still remember that video from yesterday! She meant that I did that and then she just kept crying."

Alyssa finished and looked at Leon.

Leon looked into Alyssa's eyes, "That's all for now. You go to class first."

"You can handle this?"

"Yeah."

Leon nodded.

Alyssa smiled and looked at Leon, "Okay then, I'll go."

She finished and left with relief. As she walked to the door, she looked at Emily and smiled contemptuously.

Ten minutes later, Leon walked out of the Student Affairs Office and called Alyssa.

Alyssa received Leon's call and walked out to meet Leon.

"Did you take care of it?"

"Well, I've taken care of it with Emily. Let's just let this go."

"Um." Alyssa was a little upset, "What are you thinking? Do you want to defend Emily? I think you're a little weird. What's wrong with you? You don't like Emily, do you?"

Leon leaned close to Alyssa's ear and whispered.

Alyssa laughed, "Okay, as you wish."

Since Leon considered this as an internal family conflict, she would wait for him to settle it at home.

Then Leon turned around and walked away.

Alyssa looked at Leon's back and turned to see Emily who had been hiding in the corner.

"I know you're trying to hurt me, but it's no use. I don't know how you convinced Leon not to pursue this matter at school, but it's clear that it's not over. If Leon doesn't settle it tonight, I'm going to go to your house and confront your aunt personally about all the things you've done to me."

"You ..."

"You are so rude. Who taught you to point your finger at people?"

"You're the rude one! The fact that Leon didn't talk about it at school today means he cares about me. Miss Graham, why do you think Leon did that? If he really liked you, how could he not defend you at this time?"

"What a shame! I at least understand that he doesn't want the Hunters to be embarrassed in front of outsiders!"

She finished and turned to leave.

Not far away, Ella walked to Alyssa, "Alyssa, are you okay?"

"I'm fine! It's over now. We have class later! Let's go, Ella."

Alyssa took Ella's hand and left.

Ella turned her head and saw that Emily had been staring at them. She looked up at Alyssa, "Are you sure you're okay?"

Alyssa shook her head. She didn't want to talk about it anymore now.

Emily stood behind Alyssa and looked at Alyssa's back, her face sinking.

Leon had indeed said something to her just now, something that was not harsh, but had clearly informed her that he would not tolerate her.

He clearly favored Alyssa.

But Leon had always been indifferent. She had grown up with him and had never heard him say anything about defending anyone. Now, she just wanted to kill Alyssa.

But she had indeed done something wrong. She didn't dare say anything now, and she was even a little afraid to go home. She remembered what Leon had just said. He said it was a family matter and he would fix it at home.

Now, no one was around. She lowered her head for a long time without saying anything. When she thought about last night, she suddenly wasn't nervous anymore. Since they wanted to make it clear, then she would make it clear. She could also take this opportunity to tell them what Alyssa and the two men did last night.