

HOW TO THRIVE IN THE '60S

Chapter 1 Transcended

"Dead girl, this time try to be a fruit, and see if your baby has manifested itself?"

Yun Chang was dragged from the kang in a daze, and before she could react, Widow Wang's deliberately lowered voice entered her ears.

This is the third time that Widow Wang has asked her for something after Yunshang woke up. From the beginning of rice, buds, to fruit now, Widow Wang's request has become lower and more anxious every time.

Yun Chang felt nervous in her heart, pretending to be calm with a small face, and shook her head dejectedly in the eyes of Widow Wang's nervous anticipation:

"No, the baby is gone, I can't find it."

The original owner was only 5 years old, and he didn't know how dangerous the space would be after being exposed. Now that the core has been replaced by a cloud dress, he naturally dared not dig things out like the original owner.

Fortunately, the original owner was young and didn't know what space was. Yesterday, he was very hungry, so he took out a corn cobs from the space in a confused way, and was seen by Widow Wang.

It's just that the original owner couldn't even say anything. Widow Wang asked for a long time and didn't know where the corn cobs came from. She could only guess that the original owner probably got some great treasure.

Seeing Yun Chang shaking her head and saying that the baby was gone, Widow Wang immediately lowered her face, raised her hand and gave Yun Chang a slap,

"You bastard, why did you lose a good baby? Did you hide it from me and hide it on purpose?"

This slap hit Yun Chang's back, and her entire chest was buzzing, and her heart was beating violently, as if it was about to jump out of her chest.

Yun Chang hurriedly covered her chest and curled her body into a ball to ease her discomfort.

Seeing that Yun Chang's face was completely pale, and even her lips were blue, Widow Wang raised her hand again, and changed the shot to pinch, and pinched it hard on Yun Chang's arm.

"Hurry up and find it! If you don't get the baby back today, let's see how I'll take care of you!"

The sudden pain in the arm made Yun Chang tremble, clenched his teeth subconsciously, and swallowed the pain that almost overflowed from his mouth.

Seeing that Yunshang was interested, she didn't scream and call the neighbors to watch, as usual, Widow Wang's expression became better, she snorted coldly, and she stretched out her clothes and went out of the door with her waist twisted.

When the door was closed, Yun Chang rubbed her belly, which was unbearably full of pain, and fell onto the hard, bouncing kang.

Who would have thought that she would jump around behind Gu Shinian to inspect the store in the morning, only to encounter a big earthquake in the blink of an eye, and she was lucky enough to catch the trend—traveling!

In 1960, she became the little girl of the widow Wang's family in Xinglin Village.

Yun Chang's whole person is still stunned until now. She opened and closed her eyes repeatedly, but the tingling on her arm, the mottled and messy memories of the original owner, and the cold and hard big earthen kang under her all reminded her:

It's not acting, it's not dreaming, she's really transmigrated.

Recognizing this reality, Yun Chang could no longer control his small emotions, and tears fell down.

She didn't want to be the daughter of the widow Wang's family, she just wanted to go back, save the life of the past years, and then repay him for his kindness of upbringing.

After the death of her parents and brother in a car accident, it was Gu Shinian, who was only 18 years old, who supported her. He held her in his hand like a father and a brother. He nurtured and cared for her carefully. I'm about to become an adult, and it's a shit.

Thinking that Gu Shinian lost her life because of her willfulness, Yun Chang wanted to slap herself to death.

If it weren't for her insisting on going downstairs with Gu Shinian to inspect the store, or if she hadn't dragged him down while escaping, he wouldn't have been buried under the rubble.

At that time, he clearly had the opportunity to leave her alone and escape.

Yun Chang remembered the scene where Gu Shinian protected her to the death when the building collapsed, remembered the low and depressed groaning when he was hit by reinforced concrete, and remembered that he was afraid of her worries,

Deliberately light, forbidding and rapid breathing, and the muscles that kept shivering when pushing up against the wall in order to prop up a small space for her to stay in...

Thinking of these, Yun Chang's tears flowed unscrupulously. Weeping darkly.

Even if the original owner exposed the space and put her in danger, even if she had been offended more in the past few hours than in the past seventeen years, Yun Chang could not care about it at this time.

She just wanted to know what happened to Gu Shinian, whether he was rescued, whether he was seriously injured, in case... no, Gu Shinian was so powerful, he would definitely not die!

Besides, she has already passed through, and Gu Shinian will definitely be able to pass through.

But where is she going to find Gu Shinian?

In this day and age, proof is required wherever she goes, and this body is only five years old. Even if she finds out about Gu Shinian's whereabouts, she will not be able to leave Xinglin Village alone.

Yun Chang's grief was going to flow into a river, and he didn't even hear the footsteps in the courtyard.

Widow Wang pushed open the door and came in, and saw Yun Chang lying on the big kang crying out of breath, with tears on her face, constantly burping, and her small body curled up in a ball twitched with the sound of burping. As soon as he twitched, he instantly became angry, raised his eyebrows, rushed over and dragged Yunshang to the ground. At the same time, a series of sharp and mean curses also blurted out:

"You mourning star, the old lady is not dead yet, who will you show your wailing and mourning..."

Yun Chang was stunned by Widow Wang's fall, and when she saw her turn around to get the broom in the corner, she quickly got up and ran out.

This widow Wang is not a good stubborn. Just by looking at the bruises and scars on the original owner's arms, you can tell that she is used to hitting children, and she was beaten with a deadly hand.

When Yunshang passed through, he roughly received the memory of the original owner, and knew that being beaten was nothing to the original owner, and the taste of starvation was the most difficult thing. of.

What's even worse is that Widow Wang is still restless, and often recruits wild men to come to the door on weekdays. Every night, the original owner is either locked in the cabinet on the kang head and listens to the goblin fight, or is driven outside the gate to guard the door.

It's fine in summer, but it's a big deal to be bitten by mosquitoes a few times. If it's driven out in winter, it's going to be a crime of old age, and the original owner almost froze to death several times.

Yun Chang felt that it was really a miracle that the original owner could live to the age of 5.

"It's getting dark, where are you going without cooking! It's really against the sky, if you can go out, don't come back..." Yun Chang ran out of the house, leaving Widow Wang's curses far behind her, her eyes widening. Gradually clear up.

Before passing through, Yun Chang had drifted into the air in a daze, and clearly saw that the bodies of her and Gu Shinian were dug out by the search and rescue team.

Gu Shinian's hands were holding her tightly, her spine and bones were all broken, her upper body was floppy, and she was completely devoid of human appearance, and she was protected by Gu Shinian in his arms, and she died decently.

Yun Chang also saw that those people couldn't break the hand that Gu Shinian was holding her, and finally cremated her and Gu Shinian together...

Thinking of those scenes, and looking at the pitted dirt road under her feet, Yun Chang realized that she might really not be able to go back.

In the future, she can only be the daughter of the widow Wang of Xinglin Village, a 5-year-old Xiaodouding.

Without Gu Shinian by her side, there was no one to shelter her from the wind and rain, so she could only learn to save herself, support herself, and work hard to survive.
