

HOW TO THRIVE IN THE '60S

Chapter 3 Dilemma

Half of the cake she ate in the morning was still on the coffee table, and the coat that Gu Shinian wore in the morning was still on the sofa, but she was nowhere to be found.

Yun Chang sat on the floor leaning against the sofa, grabbed the cake on the coffee table, wiped her tears and stuffed it into her mouth, while whimpering and admonishing herself:

"Yunshang, you are not allowed to cry, it is useless to cry, no one cares for you, no one can help you, you can only live on your own, you must live, raise yourself beautifully and go to Gu Shi Nian, can't let him worry..."

One person did not know how to mutter for a long time, and finally fell asleep in a daze.

When she woke up again, Yun Chang touched her stomach, went to the staff restaurant to drink a bowl of millet porridge, and took a bath in the lounge. Only then did she leave the store and sit on the green grassy open space to think about what she was facing. predicament.

Yun Chang knew that if she wanted to take root in this era, she had to get rid of Widow Wang completely.

First of all, Widow Wang's stealing is already an open secret in Xinglin Village. When the movement comes a few years later, Widow Wang will be one of the first people to be criticized for wearing a high hat, and Yunshang, as the daughter of 'broken shoes', will also be the same at that time. Can't please.

Secondly, the original owner had exposed the space yesterday, and Widow Wang still has thoughts in her heart. She will not do anything to her for the time being, but if Yunshang has been unable to come up with what Widow Wang wants, with Widow Wang's selfish and mean nature, she will not be able to do anything with her. The violent beating is indispensable, and maybe she will publicize this matter, and she will live up to her reputation as a ominous person who overcomes her parents and her mother.

Even though it has been 60 years now, in a small village like Xinglin Village, the villagers will still be rejected by the villagers if they carry the reputation of being a father and mother.

In the memory of the original owner, the children in the village have learned a lot from Widow Wang, calling her the reincarnation of the death star.

Yun Chang felt that Widow Wang was both disgusted and afraid of the original owner. She hated that the original owner killed Yun Dachuan, and she was afraid that the original owner really killed her father and mother, and killed herself.

And the widow Wang tortured the original owner for all these years, and she might have killed her mind.

Fortunately, Xinglin Village has been eating a big pot of rice for the past two years, so the original owner will not starve to death, but the collective canteen in the village was disbanded a few days ago, and the original owner's life was difficult.

Widow Wang never gave the original owner food. When the original owner was very hungry, she drank water from a pot, secretly gnawed the bark of bran, or ate Guanyin soil.

Thinking of the burning pain in his stomach when he first passed through, Yun Chang suspected that the original owner was starved to death.

If the widow Wang cannot be completely solved, even if it is replaced by Yunshang, it may not be able to survive in her hands.

No matter what age it is, it is really easy for an adult to kill a child.

It can be said that the rope of the knife hanging on Yunshang's neck has been cut and will soon fall off.

If Yun Chang wants to live, the widow Wang must be blind and mute, or disappear forever.

The problem now is that this body is only 5 years old. Widow Wang can slap her and she can't get up. How can she mutilate Widow Wang, or make Widow Wang disappear?

Even if Widow Wang was disabled and disappeared, how would her 5-year-old child survive in the village?

Xinglin Village is not a city, there is no welfare institution, it is a place to eat by centimeters. A child who is only 5 years old has no centimeters and can still live well. Isn't this telling people that she has a problem?

Yun Chang frowned, trying to imagine herself as Gu Shinian, thinking about what would he do if Gu Shinian encountered this situation?

Before colliding with the enemy, you must first think of a way to retreat, make sure you can retreat completely, and then decide the timing of the shot - this is what Gu Shinian once said.

Yun Chang thought about it, and felt that his way of retreat could be placed in the old Yun's house.

No matter what the troubles between Widow Wang and the Lao Yun family were, the original owner was the granddaughter of the Lao Yun family. This was a fact that no one could change.

As long as the Lao Yun family can be trusted, without the widow Wang, she has her own house,

And food, life is much better than it is now.

Yun Chang felt that it was necessary for her to go to Lao Yun's house to find out what the family said.

But the most important thing at the moment is, in what way will she make Widow Wang disappear, or make her shut up?

Yunshang scratched his head irritably, turned around and entered the store to search for the tools at hand, the baseball bat found in the supermarket, the axe for chopping meat, and the knife for deboning. After finding the sleeping pills, he nodded in satisfaction.

After leaving the store, looking at the huge empty space, Yun Chang slapped her head suddenly, feeling that she was really stupid.

How could she forget about the space!

If the space can hold a large living person, is she still worried that there is no place to clean up the widow Wang?

After locking the person and going to the space, the five or six acres of land is enough for Widow Wang to plant.

Yun Chang thinks this idea is really wonderful! Not only can she completely control Widow Wang, but also have someone to help her with her work, this is a good thing that kills two birds with one stone, why didn't she think of it before!

After reacting, Yunshang decided to first try to see if the space could hold living creatures and plant things.

First, I caught a live fish in the aquatic product area of the supermarket, put it in a fish tank, and placed it on the open space in front of the store. I moved a pot of green dill from the supermarket, dug a hole in the ground, and pulled out the dill from the flower pot. plant.

Looking at the luscious green dill, Yunshang muttered regretfully:

"There is no water..."

Before he finished speaking, the land flew over in the space, and Yi Wangquan's eyes moved from a distance at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Yun Chang only felt a stinging pain like a needle in his head, his legs softened, and his buttocks sat on the ground.

This is... moving the spring, too much mental power loss?

Yun Chang held her head and sat on the ground for a while before she could react.

Looking down at the spring water that I ran over, the eyes of the spring clucked, the water quality was clear and translucent, and occasionally a faint mist appeared on the surface of the water, as if the spring water was covered with a veil.

Yunshang first poured some spring water on Luluo, observed for a while, and found that Luluo had no obvious change.

He picked up the spring water and took a sip. The taste is sweet and refreshing, and the water quality is soft and soft. Even if it is not the legendary spiritual spring water, this water can also be used as top-level tea water.

Yun Chang was not disappointed either, it was an unexpected joy to have the space, not to mention that there was a hypermarket and five acres of land, so she could never be hungry.

Don't be too greedy.

Yun Chang raised her small head and carried her small short hands, wandering around the space like a proud little rooster, inspecting her territory.

If you come across a place where you can't get out, change direction and continue to turn.

After walking around, I found three corn cobs, two small potatoes the size of a child's fist, and a handful of wheat ears in the space.

Yun Chang suspected that the original owner had collected these things in a daze when she was working these years, but she was too young to know that she had such a treasure on her body, so she starved to death.
