

HOW TO THRIVE IN THE '60S

Chapter 7 Let her marry away

The old lady breathed a sigh of relief, and then she felt sorry for the lost old hen for Widow Wang, "Oh, she didn't care, why did she let people touch the house and steal the chicken. God-killed thief..."

It was the first time that Yun Chang heard the expression 'thief baby', and thought it was amusing and appropriate. After enduring it, she finally couldn't help glancing her head over and snickering.

Isn't she the thief that the old lady called her, the thief who stole chickens!

The old man was thinking about something in his heart, he coughed, and after the old lady stopped, he told Yun Erchuan what Yun Chang said before, and at the end he was not at ease and asked:

"When you went back to the county, did you hear that there was a fight in the neighboring county? Do you really want the whole family to fight together?"

Yun Erchuan frowned, and after a while he shook his head, "Father, I don't know many people, and I haven't heard anyone talk about the neighboring county. But Chang Nan is right, if I don't make a clear distinction with Wang Guihua. Boundaries, we have to fight together..."

"But our family and Wang Guihua's family have long since separated, and even the household registration has been moved out. It doesn't matter." Li Hongmei glanced at Yunshang several times and interjected.

As soon as these words came out, the room was suddenly quiet, and Yun Chang also raised his head, looking at Li Hongmei carefully for the first time.

She is not tall, with thin eyebrows and thin eyes, and her thin face makes her look a bit mean, and her appearance can only be described as decent. She was wearing a 60% new blue padded jacket with a pair of fronts, a pair of black wide-leg pants, and patches on her elbows and knees, all in line with the image of rural women in this era.

Yun Chang looked back at Yun Erchuan again. He had a very tough face with Chinese characters, big eyes, thick eyebrows, a sturdy body, and a tall height. He was a standard beautiful man in the eyes of people in this era.

It's no wonder that Widow Wang was making a fuss about living with Yun Erchuan. In terms of appearance, Li Hongmei really doesn't match Yun Erchuan. At least Widow Wang looks better than her.

Li Hongmei lowered her eyelids, Yun Chang couldn't see what Li Hongmei was thinking, but she could also hear what she meant.

The clear line between Mr. Yun and Yun Erchuan means that Yun Chang and Widow Wang have drawn a line, and Li Hongmei said that the two families have nothing to do with each other. It is to completely return Yun Chang to Widow Wang's house, so that Widow Wang and Widow Yun are counted. Everything happened, and the Lao Yun family couldn't be implicated.

It is a very worry-free idea, but for the original owner, it is a little ruthless.

At this moment, the old man and the old lady's faces are not good-looking, Yun Erchuan also pulls his face, no one speaks in the room for a while, only Shuanzi babbles in a language that no one can understand.

"Old man, what do you say?"

The old lady suddenly turned her head to stare at the old man, with red eyes, and the old man replied that she was not satisfied, so she went up to scratch it, and then burst into tears.

I don't know if I succumbed to the old lady's arrogance, or was really afraid of the old lady's tears, the old man Yun immediately raised his head and said:

"What are you talking about, no matter what, Chang Nan is Da Chuan's daughter, surnamed Yun. Back then... Da Chuan was really rare, and she held her hand all day long, even for the sake of Da Chuan, she couldn't let Chang Nan leave. Our old Yun family."

The old lady's face looked better, and she looked back at Yun Erchuan, "Second brother, your elder brother treated you well back then, you..."

"Mother, don't worry, if Sangnan can come back, she will eat what Shuanzi eats, I will definitely not be hungry for Sangnan."

Yun Erchuan also quickly opened his mouth to make a promise, for fear that in a second at night, the old lady would give him another 3,000 feet of flying speed.

Li Hongmei moved her mouth, but finally did not dare to speak.

At that time, Widow Wang was crying and arguing that she wanted to live with Yun Erchuan, and she also threw Li Hongmei's clothes all over the yard. While she was angry, she was also very scared.

She was afraid that Yun Erchuan wouldn't be able to handle Widow Wang's means, so she promised to live with her. After all, Widow Wang was better-looking than her, sweeter than her, more aggressive than her, and more agile than her.

If it wasn't for the poor old Yun family back then,

She also has a generous dowry, and Yun Erchuan will not marry her.

During the two years she was a concubine with Widow Wang, no one knew how aggrieved Li Hongmei felt. The more capable Widow Wang was, the more useless she became. The more Yun Dachuan felt sorry for Widow Wang, the more indifferent Yun Erchuan seemed to her. .

After Yun Dachuan died, if Widow Wang stayed in the Yun family peacefully, with the kindness of the old Yun family, they would naturally protect her strictly.

It's a pity that Widow Wang spared no expense and tossed herself out.

Since then, Li Hongmei has become more comfortable. She has no concubine, her parents-in-law are generous and kind, the man is diligent and responsible, and her son is obedient and obedient. Although she is not rich, she is happy in her heart.

Seeing that the days are going to get better, Yun Chang came again, and listening to her parents-in-law, she wanted to keep Yun Chang at home.

Li Hongmei was naturally unhappy.

It's not that she is not kind and doesn't want to raise Yunshang, but when she sees Yunshang, she can think of Widow Wang, and she can't help it.

The widow Wang wanted to rob her man, why should she raise a daughter for the widow Wang?

Besides, no one is short of food these days. If you have more mouths, she will eat one less of the emboli...

Li Hongmei thought about this, and her eyes changed when she saw Yunshang, but Yunshang was listening to Yun Erchuan and the old couple talking, and didn't notice Li Hongmei.

...

"Father, mother, why don't I go to the county tomorrow and ask someone to find a home for her out of town. If you can't find out the details, she won't be troubled if she can live on."

Yun Erchuan pondered for a long time and came up with a way to let Widow Wang marry away.

Yun Chang nodded secretly, thinking that Yun Erchuan's idea was quite reliable. Although the variables were a little bigger, it was better than the old couple of the Yun family who only knew how to worry.

But before she can find someone else for Widow Wang, she has to find a way to keep Widow Wang's mouth shut.

Also, I have to take the opportunity to follow Yun Erchuan to the county seat tomorrow.

"Second uncle, the county town is not far, is it bigger than the town?"

Yun Erchuan patted Yunshang's head amusingly, "This silly boy, of course, the county is bigger than the town. It takes several hours to walk there. You said it's not far."

Yun Chang blinked, and continued with a naive face:

"Second uncle, take me to the county tomorrow too. Find my mother-in-law's house. I have to follow along and let someone find a good family for my mother."

Yun Erchuan came to be interested, bent down and teased Yun Chang with a smile, "Does Chang Nan know what a good family is?"

Yun Chang secretly rolled her eyes, clenched her fingers, and imitated the tone of a child:

"To eat, to wear a new padded jacket, not to be beaten, not to close the black cabinet, and to let the people who go to the county town to play are good people."

As soon as the words fell, the smile on Yun Erchuan's face disappeared, and the old lady wiped away her tears and scolded Widow Wang for her sins.

"Good boy, the second uncle will take you to visit the county town tomorrow, for as long as you want."

Yun Erchuan made the final decision and set Yun Chang's itinerary for tomorrow.