Section 97

This was the magical power he had just learned from the Sutra Building, and it was just right to test the power of this team of demons.

The leading demon was only a Void Refining Realm, and he hadn't even been able to send a message.

He was turned into ashes by the flames all over the sky.

The giant palm covered the sky and the earth, and the flames spread all over the sky.

In an instant, this team of 200,000 demons all turned into ashes.

Zhang Yuhe waved his hand, collected the items on the ground, and then turned into a stream of light and flew away.

Generally speaking, the items of the demons have no effect on cultivators.

Whether it is magic crystals or magic tools, cultivators cannot use them directly.

Despite this, Zhang Yuhe did not waste them.

Magic crystals and magic tools cannot be used directly, but the materials are universal.

And magic crystals and magic tools are not completely unusable.

As long as they are slightly modified, they can still be used to arrange some special formations.

Besides.

Even if the items of the demons are completely useless to him, he will try his best to pick them up.

You can't keep them and wait for other demons to pick them up, right?

Isn't this aiding the enemy?

A team of demons disappeared, and the demons were not aware of it for the time being.

Zhang Yuhe acted so quickly that the demon army was unable to send out any information.

It was simply bullying for the Mahayana cultivators to take action against these weak demon armies.

But Zhang Yuhe did not have this awareness.

In his opinion, only dead demons were good demons.

It had nothing to do with strength.

After dealing with this team of demons, Zhang Yuhe quickly turned around and flew in another direction.

He wanted to harvest more before the demon Mahayana could react.

As long as he was fast enough, he should be able to harvest a few more waves.

To be honest, if there were no Mahayana demons.

The remaining demons, no matter how many there were, would not be a threat to him.

As long as he was willing, he could kill them slowly.

It would not even take a few years to basically kill them all.

This is the deterrent power of Mahayana cultivators.

Chapter 93 Mo Yuetian's Strategy

Zhang Yuhe rushed all the way and wiped out many teams of demon army in succession.

Every time he attacked, he was as fast as thunder and as urgent as fire.

Before the demon army could react, he destroyed them all.

So that he attacked many times in succession, and those demon Mahayana did not find anything unusual.

Mingzhou Yuanxing Prefecture.

A huge demon team was marching westward in a mighty manner.

A magnificent palace was suspended above the team.

The palace followed the demon team and moved forward quickly.

In a hall somewhere in the palace.

Mo Yuetian was at the top.

The twelve demon god guards sat quietly in the hall.

Zhao Mingyue, the leader of the Demon God Cult, was also among them.

At this time, Zhao Mingyue was a little anxious.

She was very puzzled by Mo Yuetian's actions.

The demons were so powerful, why didn't they move forward quickly and go straight to the gate of the Holy Sect?

Instead, they advanced slowly all the way, just like going on a picnic instead of invading and fighting.

She once proposed that the demon clan Mahayana lead some elite troops to get rid of the main force and directly raid the gate of Daosheng Sect.

In that case, perhaps in less than half a year, the entire Yufantian may no longer have any resistance.

However, Mo Yuetian completely disdained her suggestion.

This made her very disappointed.

Zhao Mingyue didn't know what Mo Yuetian was worried about? Is there any terrible existence in Daosheng Sect?

Mo Yuetian didn't dare to take risks.

So he adopted a steady advancement strategy?

In fact, it was not only Zhao Mingyue who was puzzled by this, but even the twelve demon guards.

They were also somewhat dissatisfied with Mo Yuetian's actions.

They felt that Mo Yuetian was wasting too much time.

Doesn't Mo Yuetian understand the principle of delay and change?

At this time, Wu Tian, the first demon guard sitting below, spoke anxiously.

"Palace Master, if we continue to advance slowly like this, how long will it take for us to reach Dao Sheng Sect? Why don't I lead a group of people to set out first and go straight to Dao Sheng Sect?"

"Yes, Palace Master, why don't we act separately and take down Dao Sheng Sect's mountain gate first."

"Yes, as long as we break through Dao Sheng Sect's mountain gate, the entire Yufantian will no longer have the power to resist the Saint Clan."

...

After Wu Tian, the first Demon Guard, spoke, the other Demon Guards also spoke out to persuade him.

However, Mo Yuetian remained unmoved and spoke indifferently.

"Don't think of Dao Sheng Sect so simply. Dao Sheng Sect is a Taoist tradition passed down by immortals. If it could be destroyed so easily, would it have waited until now?"

"But Palace Master, isn't there only one Mahayana cultivator left in Dao Sheng Sect? How could Feng Xiaotian alone withstand our attack?"

At this point, everyone turned their eyes to Zhao Mingyue who was standing at the back.

The news that there was only one Mahayana cultivator left in Dao Sheng Sect was provided by Zhao Mingyue.

They have also tried to confirm it these days, and it seems that the news is indeed true.

Seeing that everyone is still stubborn, Mo Yuetian said slowly.

"We want the entire Yufantian, not just to defeat the Daosheng Sect."

"Besides, who knows what kind of back-up plan the immortal ancestor of the Daosheng Sect left in the mountain gate?"

"If we attack the mountain gate, Feng Xiaotian will use the back-up plan left by the immortal, do you have the confidence to stop it?"

"This..."

Hearing what Mo Yuetian said, everyone was silent.

No one dared to underestimate the methods of the immortals.

Even if it was the back-up plan left by the immortals a million years ago, once it was launched, they would probably not be spared.

But, would the founder of the Daosheng Sect really leave any back-up plan?

No one dared to guarantee this.

In theory, this possibility is indeed not small.

Just like their Demon Palace, they can communicate directly with the upper world in case of emergency.

The immortals in the upper world can even send people to the lower world for support.

Of course, this will inevitably require a great price.

And the support from the upper world is also very limited.

It is rumored that at most only the demons with perfect Mahayana can be sent to the lower world, and as for the demons comparable to the immortals, they cannot be sent to the lower world for support.

They don't know what kind of strength the backers of the Daosheng Sect in the immortal world are.

Can they go down to the lower world for support.

If the backers of the Daosheng Sect in the immortal world can really go down to the lower world for support.

It is indeed very dangerous for them to directly raid the gate of the Daosheng Sect.

Once several great masters of perfection descended from the immortal world, they would go directly to their door.

Wouldn't that be like delivering food?

And even if there was no support from the upper world, they could not underestimate the means set up by the immortals.

For example, the mountain gate formation of the Daosheng Sect was probably left by the immortals back then.

No one knows what power those formations have.

Maybe they can trap them all.

Seeing everyone's expressions, Mo Yuetian nodded with satisfaction, and he continued.

"Let's not rush. First, clear out the local creatures in the controlled territory, and then transplant the magic tree to transform Yu Fantian's spiritual energy into magic energy and turn it into a magic domain."
