

The Pinnacle of Life - Chapter 1451 - 1455

The head of this hospital was called Shamus Wilson. As an oncologist, he has a certain depth of understanding in this area.

Hearing what Kenneth Sunderhad said, he immediately shook his head.

“Mr. Sunder,

you must have been scammed. There’s absolutely no cure to your wife’s condition. Even if you went to the most advanced oncology institute in the world, there is still no cure.”

Kenneth said, “That’s just because you’re not knowledgeable enough.”

Facing his client’s stubbornness, Shamus felt very anxious.

Based on the current situation, the hospital could at least earn another five billion from his wife’s situation, but once they are discharged, the hospital wouldn’t get anything.

The hospital’s business had been on the decline.

Back then, many billionaires were willing to come here for treatment because the hospital introduced a new treatment plan, cooperating with the best international institutes of oncology. Recently, however, this treatment has been proven ineffective.

With that, surely no one would be willing to spend money on it. Even if the service was excellent, it simply wasn’t worth the cost.

Shamus said, “Mr. Wilson, I can promise you that the miracle doctor you mentioned must surely be a quack and an immoral scammer without boundaries!

His actions to the patient are completely irresponsible. The patient will miss proper treatment and her life will be threatened because of him!”

Hearing this, Wendy Sunder huffed coldly, “You’re the liar here, saying this molecular immunity treatment would stabilize my mom's condition. What about now? We've spent so much money and gained nothing, not asking for a refund would be our last merciful act."

Shamus immediately said, "Each person's body reacts differently to the treatment, but it has already slowed down the spread of the disease. How about this? I'll follow you guys to meet this doctor. If there's a problem, we can come back to the hospital immediately, and we won't miss out on treatment. I'll let my medical team follow us too, in case of any emergencies."

"That's fine too."

Kenneth acted quickly, instantly taking his wife to Michigan with a luxurious RV. He then called Alex.

An hour later, at the president's suite of yesterday's hotel, Alex met Kenneth's wife.

She was bald, pale, and thin to the bones. She couldn't even speak. It was apparent that she was gravely ill and not far from death.

"Master Alex, this is my wife. Her name is Alice Clark. She has throat cancer, so she can't speak. Please don't mind her," Kenneth said.

"Yeah, that's okay." As Alex spoke, he looked at Shamus and the others who had come together. Thinking that they were the medical team that Kenneth specifically hired for his wife, he decided not to ask about them.

Wendy anxiously asked, "Big brother, can you really cure my mom?"

Alex took a look at Alice with his Third Eye, then felt her pulse. He smiled and nodded, "Rest assured, your mom's situation isn't too bad. She'll be fine by tomorrow. You might even see her hair grow."

“That’s great! Big brother, if that really happens, I’ll surely repay you. I’ll even be willing to marry you.”

Hearing these words, Shamus became furious and jealous. That was because he had a son who was coincidentally around the same age as Wendy. He wanted his son to pursue Wendy. Since she was an only child, the Sunder’s enormous assets would then belong to the Wilsons as well.

‘This “big brother” that came out of nowhere wants to get to her first?’ ‘Impossible!’

He coughed and said, “You haven’t introduced yourself. What do I call you? Which medical school did you graduate from and which hospital are you working at? What achievements have you gained in oncology? I’m Shamus Wilson, head of Long Beach’s Mercy’s Cancer Hospital. I’m very interested in you!”

Chapter 1452

Alex looked at him. He finally realized that these people weren’t on Kenneth’s private team.

Looking at his expressions when he spoke, you could tell that his main goal was to make Alex look bad. However, Alex’s personality was that if someone made him look bad first, they better be ready for a real diss.

He calmly smiled. “I’m not a graduate from any medical school, nor do I work at a hospital. And well, as for my achievements in oncology, I’ve healed patients with stage four cancer. Does that count as an achievement?”

“Hahahaha!”

One of the female doctors under Shamus laughed uncontrollably. “This has to be the funniest and most ridiculous joke I’ve ever heard! You’re barely thirty, have never been to medical school, and have never been a doctor. Based on what abilities did you heal stage four cancer? With your mouth? Or were you dreaming? Mr. Sunder, I’ll swear on my life that he’s definitely a liar.” The woman looked good. She was wearing a pair of black stockings, high heels, and only a mini skirt covered her behind. One wouldn’t think of her as a doctor at first glance, more like a PR for the head of the hospital. As she talked, her expressions were mean and taunting as she looked down on Alex. Shamus had deliberately brought her along to ridicule this “miracle doctor”. Her best ability was her way around words. This was true for her, no matter how she handled a situation, or when dissing others.

She stopped, looked at Alex with a cold smile, and paused. “Kid, be honest and be humble as a person. Don’t go down the wrong path! In this world, there’re lots of people you can’t afford to offend. Once you make a mistake, there are grave consequences. An important person such as Mr. Sunder is an example of someone you shouldn’t offend! If you’re smart enough, kneel immediately to Mr. Sunder and apologize. Admit you’re a liar, or I’ll have you know that going to jail would be the least severe outcome.”
Smack!
Just as the woman finished speaking, Kenneth slapped her right on her fair face. Not only did the hit cause her to fall onto the floor, but it also bent her fake nose.

Kenneth furiously roared, "Who gave you the nerve to talk to Master Alex like that!
Swear on your life? Is your life even worth anything? Let me tell you. Your life doesn't even compare to a strand of hair on Master Alex's leg."
The slap left the woman stunned. She covered her bloody nose, shaking and upset Shamus didn't expect Kenneth to use force. He felt even more foolish. 'Why would Kenneth believe this young man? Is he that desperate?'
He quickly said, "Mr. Sunder, please don't be angry. What Karen said is true. This is for your wife. Just look at him. Does he look like someone who could cure your wife of her sickness? To be honest, none of us here believe him. If he really can, I'll have to resign from my position as the hospital's dean. I'd be thoroughly embarrassed!"

Alex finally spoke up. "Mr. Wilson, was it? Since you said so, why don't we make a bet?"

If I can cure Mrs. Sunder, you'll hand over Mercy hospital to me. Deal?"

"Don't be ridiculous!"

"If you don't dare to make such a bet, then get lost. No one invited you over." Wendy immediately started chasing them out.

She knew that Alex had cured Freya's illness last night. Hence the father and daughter were confident in his abilities.

Shamus' face went pale, yet he still didn't believe that Alex could cure Alice's cancer. In the end, he agreed loudly. "Fine! Let's make this bet then! But what if you lose?"

Alex raised his index finger. "I'll give you 100 billion dollars."

"Heh, what a joke. Do you even have 100 billion? Do you think money's mere toilet paper?" chuckled one of Shamus' teammates.

Snap!

Alex snapped his fingers. At that, Xyla came from the room next door. "How much money do I have now?" Alex asked.

Chapter 1453

When Alex was in trouble, the Stoermers helped him immensely with their power since they were part of Michigan's upper-class and were among the eight royal families.

Hence, there was no way that Xyla wouldn't know about this. In reality, she had been looking for Alex and Phoebe with all her might as well. She was present when Alex came home yesterday.

Now that the Sky Tower project was set in stone, they had to start blocking out all the entrances. Both Xyla and Waltz were in charge of distributing the work to their employees throughout this entire process. That was why Xyla was next to Alex when Kenneth called. So she tagged along.

Xyla was currently wearing a silky white top, a black pencil skirt, and a pair of black heels with red soles. Her figure was tall and elegant.

She walked into the room with perfect posture and stood next to Alex.

Glancing toward Shamus and the others, she said, "Mr. Rockefeller, you own thirteen percent of Thousand Miles Conglomerate's shares. Rounding up the numbers, according to how much they earned last week, you already have over 130 billion from their earnings."

"Moreover, the ownership of Global Traders Hotel has been transferred to your name.

That is worth about five billion."

"According to the latest market price, Lush Cosmetics is worth around 100 billion as well. With Rockefeller Group, they are worth around 500 billion dollars in total. Besides that. Lush Cosmetics is still expanding. Many international figures would buy the business at three times the current market price.” What Xyla said caused a loud, shocked gasp to escape the mouths of Shamus and the others. Everyone became silent when she said this. Even the Sanders looked at them in disbelief.

They were reasonably wealthy, hence money was merely denominated in figures. They didn't even remember how much money they owned in general. However, compared to Alex's wealth, theirs was nothing. Alex himself was shocked too. “Am I really that rich now?” One should know that Lush Cosmetics had only been created four months. They basically started from scratch, yet they managed to earn 150 billion within half a year. It was simply an unbelievable feat. Xyla smiled. “Have you underestimated just how popular Lush Cosmetics is now? With Zendaya as their spokesperson and Stephen as a real-life example of its effects, Lush Cosmetics is now considered a necessity within the rich!” “Moreover, your ex-wife's cousin, Sharpay, had successfully carried out her proposal to expand the business online. Many influencers on YouTube, Instagram, and Twitter have been promoting our products like crazy. The rich ladies that you've saved back in Michigan had voluntarily promoted them as well. Last month, all other cosmetic lines experienced a thirty percent decrease in their sales within the country. Their customers have started using Lush Cosmetics instead.” “Don't forget that we haven't expanded our business internationally either. So can you imagine what would happen if we do? Your wealth will surely reach new heights.”

Xyla said those words with confidence and seriousness, leaving Shamus and the others stunned.

‘This is what we really mean by wealth!’

‘Why would such a rich man need to scam Kenneth Sunder?’

‘Unless he’s gone mad, or he could be...’

“You fraud! All of this is fake! Did you think we would believe you? You’re kidding, right?”

The woman who Kenneth slapped stood up and pointed toward Alex.

“You probably hired this woman to boast about you, so you two can cooperate together in this scam!

Hmph! She’s quite the locker. Too bad she’s just a lowly scammer! You people are professionals, huh?”

Smack!

Just then, the woman was slapped once more on her other cheek As if it were Deja Vu, the one who slapped her was Kenneth again.

Chapter 1454

He slapped harder than the last, knocking out two of her teeth. “You are absolutely ridiculous, woman! If you don’t know anything, then just shut up. Do you even know who she is? She’s the youngest daughter of the head of the Stoermer family in Michigan!

She’s an actual princess in this country, yet you call her a scammer? You really do have a death wish, don’ t you?”

“What?”

“The princess of the Stoermer family of Michigan? You you’re Miss Xyla Stoermer?’

Long Beach wasn't far from Michigan. Hence Shamus obviously knew about the Stoermer family of Michigan. He knew who Xyla was as well. He couldn't even get the chance to ever suck up to such a legendary and elegant woman, let alone get to know her.

"That's right! And I can swear on my life that everything I said was the truth and nothing but the truth."

Xyla continued. "If Mr. Rockefeller wants to place a bet of 100 billion, it would pose no problems. So, a deal is a deal, right?"

Shamus started pondering. Now that Xyla had stepped up, the odds were beginning to go against him. However, the 100 billion that Alex offered was enough to catch the greedy man's interest.

More importantly, being an oncologist himself, he knew that no one in the world could ever cure Alice's stage four cancer. This was why he still had hope in his knowledge.

Shamus nodded profusely and said, "Alright, should we sign a contract then?"

He was worried that Alex would go back on his words.

'100 billion! Even if I still had Mercy Hospital, it was worth 3 billion at most.'

"Deal!"

After placing their bets, Alex smiled cockily as he took a glance at Shamus. He then took a pill out of his pocket and fed it to Alice.

As Kenneth watched him with confusion plastered all over his face, Alex explained,

"This is a rejuvenation pill, normally used on fighters or cultivators. It can help one stay alive for another ten years, so it's more than enough to cure your wife's cancer!

Besides, it can heal what the chemotherapy has done to her body."

One of the professionals that Shamus brought along couldn't help but scold Alex.

"That's simply atrocious! How could such medicine possibly exist? If this were real, then it wouldn't be medicine from this mortal realm. It had to be from the Gods!"

"That's right! We don't know what this medicine is, and neither do we know of its side effects! How could you just let the patient take this? What do we do if something happens to her? Mr. Sunder, you have to be careful of such a strange medicine. If her condition worsens, the cancer cells would surely spread throughout her entire body. It'll be impossible to save her then," another professional spoke up as well.

However, Alice started coughing, spitting a small pool of blood onto the ground.

Seeing this, Karen started laughing out loud. "Hahahaha! See that? This is what happens if you believe in these scammers. Rejuvenation pill? Did you really think it's some miracle pill? Besides, adding another ten years to your life? I'd say it's sucking the life out of her! Great... Look what you've done! She's definitely going to die now! It's too late to regret your actions! You evil being! Are you still going to lie your way out of this,

huh, kid?"

Shamus' mouth curved up slightly. "You lost Mr. Rockefeller, Miss Stoermer. The contract is effective, you know?"

Thinking about how he was about to be pocketing 100 billion dollars, Shamus couldn't care less about Alice's well-being.

Just then, Alice exhaled deeply.

She then knelt before Alex and spoke, "Thank you for saving me, Dr. Rockefeller. I won't ever forget your kindness and generosity."

'What?!'

At the time, everyone except for Alex and Xyla were in utter disbelief.

Chapter 1455

'This woman with throat cancer is actually speaking.'

With this, everyone fell silent, too shocked to say anything.

Wendy froze for a couple of seconds before snapping back to reality, yelling. "Morn! You can actually talk now? You... Are you really cured now? That was quick!

That was amazing, just amazing! Big brother really did hand you a miracle pill!"

Kenneth was overwhelmed as well.

Alice used to be gorgeous. She may not be the prettiest of them all but was considered a one in a million. The couple knew each other since they were young, so their relationship was solid and stable. However, after she was diagnosed with cancer, she started withering away like a fragile flower. Chemotherapy had destroyed her looks as well, no longer the beauty she once was.

"Pffft..." Suddenly, Alice vomited another mouthful of blood.

There was a black blob within the blood as well, and it looked like a blood clot.

Shamus shook his head. "You guys are getting ahead of yourselves. She's vomiting blood, for god's sake! Do you still not see that her condition has worsened? She may be able to talk, but I don't think it means that she's better. She's breathing her last breath!

This is terminal lucidity. She doesn't have much time left."

Karen was cackling coldly as well. "What a bunch of idiots! You were absolutely tricked by these scammers. She's going to die soon, yet you're still so happy about it. I wonder if you really are that nice, or are you just flat out stupid?" Their words made the two Sanders panic. They immediately asked how Alice was feeling at the time, concerned about her condition. Alice shook her head. "I don't know, but my throat feels a lot better. It doesn't hurt as bad anymore." Shamus shook his head again. "That's because you're bleeding. With extra moisture in your throat, it's only natural that it wouldn't hurt as bad. But your condition has definitely worsened! All I can say is, I'm truly sorry for your loss. If you had just listened to us and continued receiving treatment in the hospital, you would've been able to live another four or so years. Not even God could save you now." The Sanders' expressions darkened. Wendy turned to Alex immediately. "Big brother, what do we do? Would my mom be alright? Didn't you say that you'd cure her without any problems?" Xyla interrupted her. "Don't worry, if he said that there wouldn't be any problems, then there won't be."

"But..."

Alex smiled. "Calm down. It'll be alright. Besides, she hasn't vomited enough blood yet.

Let me help."

After that, he grabbed Alice by the neck and compressed it lightly, repeating the process three times in a row.

"Bleugh!" Alice vomited a large pool of old blood as if it had come out of her stomach instead of her throat. This gave everyone quite a shock.. Alice was pale in the face herself, petrified as well."

However, all Alex did was shrug. "Alright, I guess that's about it!"

Alice's condition started changing once more, and her face didn't look as pale as it did.

Moreover, luscious black hair was miraculously growing out of her bald head too!

"What?"

"How could she grow hair in such a short time? This is unbelievable!"

"What is going on? There's no way... How could something like this happen?"

As soon as they saw the changes in Alice's body, all of them were stunned. It was as if they saw her travel back in time. She looked as if she had managed to travel five years back within five minutes, where her hair ended up growing out till her waist too.

'Her hair is so long that it's at her waist now!'

Turning back to her face, she no longer looked like a cancer patient. Her rosy cheeks and energetic eyes were back, no longer covered in wrinkles.

"Mom!"

"Darling!"

The father and daughter immediately rushed over to her and embraced the woman tightly.