The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2411

It was not that his pants had become bigger, but that he had gotten smaller. He hurriedly took out a mirror from the storage ring, becoming even more helpless when he looked at it.

This untainted face seemed to have become a dozen years younger.

However, the problem was that he was not very old in the first place. After taking everything into account, he was twenty six or twenty seven at most. As it turned out, he had become a dozen years younger all of a sudden, looking like a kid that was thirteen or fourteen.

More importantly, this face looked extremely delicate and refined with a head of black and soft hair. It looked exactly like a girl.

'I'm screwed!'

'Mystic Maiden, d*mn it! You're a real troll!'

How was he supposed to meet his fellow countrymen looking like this?

Uh. The talking voice was terrifyingly puerile as well. Half an hour later, he rushed into the spell formation and found the Mystic Maiden and Ynes. As expected, he turned into a laughing stock for a while.

"Oh my god! You're Alex Rockefeller?! You can't be Alex Rockefeller's... Daughter, right?"

"Look at this skin! It's even much smoother and more delicate than mine. How dare you say you aren't a girl? Hurry up, call me Aunt!"

Ynes was overjoyed. Looking at the doll-like Alex, the great resentment she once harbored on him was almost diminished. Presently, she was pinching his puerile, delicate face, laughing her head off.

Alex gritted his teeth. When he saw her endlessly joyful look, he gnashed his teeth out of rage. He suddenly reached out his hand and viciously grabbed that trembling mass of hers as he said, "Do you believe a girl like me could impregnate you with quadruplets?"

“Argh!”

Ynes’ body stiffened, her expressions frozen. She was almost out of her mind. This bold abomination, to her surprise, dared attack this area of hers and could even utter such perverse words.

How could this be some child? This was simply a devil!

The Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens spoke up and asked about the situation after merging with Ymir’s Divine Bone.

Alex stared at her and said, “From now on, you have to call me “big bro.” You’re my little sister!”

“To hell with you!” the Mystic Maiden scolded.

Alex was deeply resentful. “Who told you to deceive me again? Did you know it would turn out like this a long time ago? How can I go out and meet people in this state? How can I go home?”

He could imagine that Waltz and Maya would burst into laughter after seeing his current look.

The Mystic Maiden said with a smile, “This appearance looks decent. How about this? I’ll accept you as my little sister. We can be sworn sisters and be a pair of besties in the future.”

Alex felt as though his mind was about to explode. “Accept me as your little sister, my ass! To hell with the besties! If you anger me, I’ll impregnate you with quadruplets too.”

The Mystic Maiden looked helpless. “I think you need to be taught a lesson!”

She activated the contract’s restriction and applied it to Alex. Then, she rushed forward and beat him up with a barrage of punches and kicks. She even borrowed the spell formation’s power and unleashed a series of lightning bolts, striking down at him till he was unscathed!

The Mystic Maiden was secretly vigilant. ‘After merging with Ymir’s Divine Bone, this guy’s resistance against the contract has become greater. If this continues, the contract may be completely invalid. I better use it less next time, lest this guy will notice it!

However, this little minion really deserves a beating. How dare he say that he's going to impregnate me with quadruplets? Does he think I'm a swine?"

Bam!

Alex unleashed the strongest blow of Dragon-Tusk Punch and struck the ground.

The vast area on the ground collapsed entirely. The power thus punch contained was at least three times more powerful than before.

Moreover, Ymir's Divine Bone continued activating its effects.

He felt that if he met someone in Immortalization again, he could soundly defeat that person with a punch without even using the Heaven Flipping Seal.

Alex released Pigsy two days later. The group then jumped onto the shark's back, crossing toward the other side of the Endless Sea.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2412

At Rockefeller Manor in California...

Roar!

A violent roar could be heard. A roar that encapsulated endless pain and hostility, it was as loud as a beast, to the point the entire house trembled. A faint clashing of iron chains could even be heard.

"The attack occurs again!"

"What should we do? It gets more severe each time. Even the Immortal Locking Bed won't be able to suppress him any longer."

"Is there another way?"

Anxiety filled the faces of the family of Rockefeller's. Brittany Rockefeller even burst into tears, and her vision went dark. She almost fainted.

The one who let out those roars was none other than Alex's father, her husband, William Rockefeller.

Ever since his return, his mind had been befuddled, and the poison in his body would flare up every once in a while. It used to flare up once every few days but had reached the level of daily attacks. Sometimes, the attacks even occurred several times a day. Every time the attack occurred, he would roar and become extremely aggressive. Not only would he attack others, but he would also harm himself.

Out of desperation, Jade Benmore found a kind of strange ancient object called the "Immortal Locking Bed" to lock William down forcibly.

"Stop looking, mom! Let me accompany you for a walk outside!" A woman who looked like she came out of a painting supported Brittany and tried to pull her away.

The woman was Waltz Fleur, Brittany's goddaughter. In fact, deep down, everyone clearly knew that she was the Rockefeller family's daughter-in-law.

Brittany shook her head. "It's alright. I... Can still bear it. I'll accompany him here. I'll share all his pain."

When Waltz saw Brittany's determination, she knew that there was no way she could pull her away.

At the side, Maya spoke with Cheryl, asking her if she could contact Alex.

Based on the current situation, whether it was the Fairy Doctor or Cheryl, or the former Immortal Doctor, Guilherme, they could do nothing about William's disease. When it came to modern medicine, they couldn't even find out the source of the poison.

Looking depressed, Cheryl shook her head. "I've tried many methods, but I couldn't get in touch with him. Not only is such a connection one-sided, it isn't based on my will either. Besides, I have a foreboding..."

Maya looked at Cheryl as her eyes revealed surprise and bewilderment. "What kind of foreboding?"

"I'm not very sure either. But every time I perform this kind of connection, I somehow feel something spying on me. This may... Not be a good thing."

Only the ones involved could understand this feeling.

Just as the group of people in Rockefeller Manor were anxious, a young man barged in. He was none other than the former ace chieftain of Thousand Miles Conglomerate's underworld, Azure Storm!

Recently, Azure's strength had been growing quite rapidly. However, when compared to Waltz, he remained far behind.

Waltz had long since become a golden core cultivator, whereas Azure was also a quasi-grandmaster. If Azure could reach quasi-grandmaster status before meeting Alex, he would laugh till he was awoken from his dream. This was an achievement countless people would never attain in their lives, and he could only sigh silently after looking at the women in the Rockefeller family.

"Waltz, Clay Ember is back!" Azure whispered to Waltz.

"Huh? Really?" Waltz's face that had been gloomy for many days, revealed a rare hint of joy.

She, Azure, and Clay were raised by Lex Gunther since childhood, so they shared a good relationship. Although they were not biological siblings, the bond between them surpassed that.

But soon, Waltz noticed Azure's awful look, and her heart skipped a beat. Hence, she asked, "What's wrong? Did something happen?"

Azure answered, "The current Clay Ember is very different from before. You... Will know once you see him."

Waltz knitted her curvy brows.

After speaking to Brittany, Maya, and the others, she followed Azure out of the Rockefeller Manor before jumping into the Lamborghini and driving to Hell's Angels.

In less than twenty minutes, Waltz walked into the entrance of Hell's Angels and coincidentally saw Clay on the old-fashioned wooden armchair with four subordinates standing next to him. Clad in a bluish-white robe, he wore the charm of an ancient grandmaster.

“Clay Ember!”

In fact, Waltz could be considered Clay’s sister, who had been estranged for a few years. Still, she was rather pleased when they reunited today. Earlier, Azure had said that Clay had changed a lot with a gloomy face, so she thought something must’ve happened to Clay. But from a glance, she believed that she could guess the hidden truth.

It was because Clay’s cultivation was at an extremely high level.

He simply sat there silently, just like that, but he emanated an aura so dense it could definitely crush grandmasters. Moreover, Waltz felt powerful coercion of Chi. Hence, Clay had entered the ranks of cultivators, and his cultivation level was probably not low.

Azure initially could overpower Clay.

However, he was crushed by Clay... No, he was crushed by Clay’s subordinates, so he must have felt uncomfortable.

“Waltz!”

When Clay saw Waltz, he also stood up, and that dotting smile with a kind of special meaning showed on his face. He had not seen Waltz for several years. The current Waltz was more beautiful and enchanting, her figure more curvaceous and her temperament more decent. She could be considered a top-notch beauty, and that body of hers was several times stronger than the legendary golden-ratio body.

As Clay looked at Waltz close to him, his eyes became even more passionate with a gradual rise of a strange desire.

When Waltz met his eyes, she felt something was wrong. So, she deliberately kicked him and said, “What are you doing? Your eyes look shifty. You had gone out for a few years. Were you picking up girls everywhere out there? You’ve been corrupted by bad examples!”

Clay said with a smile, "How could I do that? Waltz, I have such a beautiful lady like you waiting for me at home, so how could I go out and lead a life of debauchery? Waltz, my little sister, I'm all about you."

Waltz felt even more astonished as the previous Clay would not say such words.

She said, "Bro Ember, you've really followed the bad examples. You actually spoke glibly to me, but I'm your little sister."

To her surprise, Clay grabbed her hand. "Waltz, I'm serious about you. I've never treated you as my sister. I treat you as a woman. I want to marry you. From now on, you're the wife of Clay Ember."

"Huh?" Waltz was really shocked, so she hurriedly pushed away Clay. "Are you insane?"

Clay firmly said, "I'm not insane at all. I, Clay Ember, have long since ceased to be the old me. If I say I'm going to marry you, I'll definitely be able to do it."

Waltz frowned and backed off, looking utterly stunned.

Azure scolded, "Clay Ember, stop joking around. Waltz already has an in-law."

"What?!"

When Clay heard that, he instantly jumped up and looked astonished and twisted. The indifferent demeanor of a grandmaster earlier had turned into jealousy and frustration with a variety of expressions at once.

"Waltz? You're married?" His tone gradually emanated a frigid and intimidating aura.

"Uh... I haven't received the certificate yet, but it's almost there! Haha! Bro Ember, don't worry. When I have the wedding banquet later, I'll definitely send you an invitation. You're my second brother, a member of my maternal family. Since our foster father is no longer around, you're my senior. I'll raise you a toast."

Clay looked furious and shocked. It seemed he would be soon exploding with rage.

Azure looked at him and raised the corner of his mouth as he almost laughed.

Suddenly, Clay kicked the old-fashioned wooden armchair and stared at Waltz as he shouted, "Give me a toast, my *ss! What kind of sh*tty marriage is this?! I disagree. If you want to marry someone, you can only marry me! In this life, you can only be a woman of mine, Clay Ember. Who's your boyfriend? Call him over and ask him to give up on you automatically. Otherwise, he can just go to hell!"

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2414

Waltz was madly in love with Alex, so she would not change her mind to the ends of the earth. To her surprise, Clay could utter such words. Even if he were her brother, Waltz would never allow that.

"Clay Ember!" Waltz was furious as her pretty face turned cold. "If you ever say anything like this again, we will cease to be siblings. In my life, I fancy and love only one man, and that's Alex Rockefeller! You are impossible!"

Clay burned with jealousy. "Between you and him, did you... Lose your virginity already?"

Waltz still looked a little unnatural in front of so many people, but then she openly admitted. "Aren't you talking nonsense? Could it be that I can only do that deed during the consummation of the marriage? Do I, Waltz Fleur, have so little charm?"

When she said those words, she felt furious yet funny.

Back then, she had given her all, but that pigheaded Alex fobbed her off with excuses and declined her for the sake of that woman, Dorothy Assex. Until later, she only managed to accomplish the deed with Maya's help. In his eyes, it seemed that she did not have much charm!

She looked charming while showing happiness. However, it was extreme sarcasm in Clay's eyes.

After several changes in his expression, he said, "I don't care about that either. Anyway, now that I'm back, you can only be my woman! We'll consummate the marriage tonight!"

Azure could no longer hold back. "Clay Ember, you better not go too far. Otherwise, you'll die without knowing how you die."

He did this for Clay's own good.

Was Alex someone easy to mess with?

Even if Alex was not at home, any woman that casually walked out of the Rockefeller family was not an ordinary character. He feared that the women of the Rockefeller family would slap Clay to death if he continued making a mess out of this.

But unexpectedly, right after Azure said that, Clay moved close to him and kicked him hard in the stomach.

Boom!

Azure's body landed on the wall, blasting through the thick concrete wall. A steel bar abruptly penetrated Azure's stomach, causing him to bleed.

Waltz was stunned. She had never dreamed of such a scene before.

They were brothers!

"Clay Ember!"

Waltz slapped Clay across the face as she was infuriated. "You make me feel strange. You are no longer the Clay Ember I know. Get out of here. I don't want to see you again."

She rushed over and pulled out the steel bar in Azure's stomach before feeding him the best healing pill. Her eyes were red-rimmed as she concernedly asked, "Azure, how are you?"

Azure waved his hand and coughed twice. "I'm fine. I'm just so embarrassed."

Waltz said, "I'll send you to Rockefeller Manor. Cheryl has excellent medical skills, and you will be fine soon."

However, Clay's subordinates stopped them and prevented them from leaving.

Clay looked down upon Azure. “Azure Storm, you’re really weak and a sissy as always. Isn’t it a tiny hole? What’s all the fuss about? You guys can’t go anywhere now because there’s one more thing I haven’t announced.”

Waltz now harbored extreme bitterness in her heart. Clay, who had she treated as her brother, turned out like this. She was deeply disappointed in him.

“What else do you want to announce? Let me tell you. From now on, you’re no longer a member of Thousand Miles Conglomerate. Please take away your lapdogs and get out of here right now!” Waltz growled.

“Who are you referring to as a lapdog?”

Several of Clay’s subordinates were furious. Each of them had a surging aura, revealing their cultivation levels.

Waltz froze. They had massive amounts of blood energy that could increase palpitations. Suppose she was a golden core expert but still felt like this, what more Azure. He almost passed out under the overwhelming pressure of coercion.

The subordinates only retreated after Clay waved his hand.

“Azure, Waltz, I came here this time on behalf of Homan Technology to acquire Thousand Miles Conglomerate,” he said with indifference. “Thousand Miles Conglomerate is our foster father’s property, after all, and I’ve interceded with the young lady of Homan Technology on your behalf. I’ll give you a hundred billion dollars for this acquisition, enough for your expenditure.”

Waltz gnashed her teeth so hard she almost broke a few of them.

Several years ago, Thousand Miles Conglomerate valued trillions of dollars on the market. After Alex joined them, Thousand Miles Conglomerate, Lush Cosmetics, and Rockefeller Group joined in a deep cooperative relationship. Alex, especially, had provided a pill recipe that assisted Thousand Miles Conglomerate in obtaining a powerful breakthrough in the pharmaceutical field. Currently, because of that pill recipe alone, they could earn more than a hundred billion dollars a year just from the manufacturing patents.

However, this Homan Technology or whatsoever was attempting to acquire Thousand Miles Conglomerate with a hundred billion dollars?

Was that no different from daylight robbery?

“Impossible! You’re trying to rob us!” Waltz growled.

“That’s right! This is fundamentally a robbery, Waltz!” Clay said. “It’s already the biggest concession for the young lady to fork out a hundred billion dollars. Do you know how much we’ve spent to acquire Samson, Hasbro, and Alimama?”

“You acquired all three of them?”

“That’s right! We spent three dollars in total! One dollar for each company!”

“Impossible!”

“You should believe me. You don’t know the strength of Homan Technology. The Hancock family’s Ancient Moon Conglomerate is behind it. Ancient Moon Conglomerate is mystifying to ordinary people, but I believe you must have heard of it. I can reveal a piece of news. Homan Technology has established a partnership with the sacred golden mountains. If you disagree, all that would greet you will be a dead end.”

“The sacred golden mountains?” Both Waltz and Azure looked stunned. “Are you referring to the Olympus Golden Mountains? Didn’t they say that only a wolf came out?”

“Correction!” Clay exclaimed. “That’s the divine tribe! One hundred billion dollars is fine. If their hearts are dark enough, you will lose your lives.”

Azure was incensed at Clay’s current form. “I really never expected that you, Clay Ember, have become a lapdog. Then, you even turn around and deal with us first while saying such pompous words. You’re simply shameless! For the sake of our years-long brotherhood, let me give you a piece of advice. Leave here right now, and don’t ever think about trying to acquire Thousand Miles Conglomerate. Otherwise, you will regret it. You can’t afford to offend the one behind Thousand Miles!”

“Pooh!”

Clay was full of disdain. “There’s no one I can afford to mess with in the world. Isn’t Thousand Miles our foster father’s property? Now that foster father is gone, Thousand Miles will belong to the three of us. Who else is going to pop up behind the scenes?”

Azure said, “The one behind Thousand Miles is Waltz’s husband, the Rockefeller’s.”

As soon as Clay heard that, he flew into a rage once again. After going around the houses, Thousand Miles actually belonged to the Rockefeller family and got involved with his love rival.

“The Rockefeller family, right? Fine!”

Clay demanded Waltz to call the Rockefeller family and immediately get Alex to come over.

After learning that Alex was not in California, Clay fiercely said, “I’ll give you three days. You should tell the Rockefeller’s to come over and kneel, here at Hell’s Angels, in three days, or I’ll take away Thousand Miles Conglomerate unconditionally and raze the Rockefeller family to the ground! No longer will there ever be a Rockefeller family on the face of this earth!”

After Clay finished speaking, he took his people and left arrogantly.

At this moment, the Endless Sea...

To force Alex to merge with Ymir’s Divine Bone as soon as possible, Mystic Maiden forced Alex to jump off the shark’s back and follow the shark. Moreover, she even attracted undead demon beasts from time to time to allow Alex to confront them alone.

Along the way, he massacred each and every undead demon beast that crossed his path.

However, to Alex’s surprise, he found a place similar to the spatial corridor during the massacre today. To his surprise, he directly appeared on the land after accidentally passing through it. It was also particularly familiar at a glance. Back then, when he was sucked into the Undead Territory, wasn't this the territory of the elven race?

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2416

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2416

Alex was surprised. The sudden encounter was too shocking. He was just in the midst of the Endless Sea, and in the blink of an eye... He was back with the Pixies.

'So this means I'm just less than two days away from America.'

To think that they had been in the Endless Sea for almost half a month. Yet, according to that shark, they had at least another two-thirds of the journey left.

'This... This was a shortcut between the wasteland and America.'

"Uhm... The Mystic Maiden, Ynes, and the others are still in the Endless Sea!"

As Alex regained his calm from the shock, he soon felt troubled by the current situation. He had accidentally stepped into an ancient area while fighting the Undead beasts.

He was confused back then, as millions of beasts surrounded him at the time, and there was no exit. However, something weird occurred during the incident. It was as if a mystical force stopped the beasts in their tracks, keeping them at a distance. He was in a critical situation back then, attracting quite a few large enemies. If he hadn't been careful, he would've been killed.

'That Mystic Maiden is such a nuisance and trouble!' Alex couldn't help thinking.

At that urgent moment, he could only rush to that place where the beasts seemed to avoid. To his surprise, it had been a tunnel that brought him where he was now. Fortunately, no beasts followed him.

'Hmm... This looks like a wormhole!' Alex thought as he grabbed some healing pills from the storage ring.

He then took out some Heavenly Law Fruit and gobbled them up. He had been hurt badly in the fight just now, especially by those two giant beasts.

They were crab demons. Their huge claws were so powerful they almost broke Alex's waist. His chest was punctured twice as well, hurting the side of his heart.

If he hadn't sealed his veins with mystic art, blocked his wounds with Chi, and continuously performed the Art of Zharvakko, he would've been dead by now.

He sat on the floor with his knees crossed and focused on healing himself.

Ymir's Divine Bone was undeniably powerful. Even just a small portion helped him immensely. As he absorbed it, the level of his power and body improved significantly.

The evaluation from before was an underestimation, as he trained from the battles and the effect of Ymir's Divine Bone progressed, his powers were at least ten times stronger now... Besides, putting his speed and strength aside, his recovering abilities were astounding as well.

For instance, his heart was healing at a visible speed right now, so were the punctures in his chest.

If people from the hospital in Wasteland saw such a scene, they would have a heart attack

'Mystic Maiden, you did something decent for once.'

With Ymir's divine bone and half a month of training, his powers had significantly improved.

Ynes was right. The forces of Buddhism were a killer tool against the demon beasts. He had relied on Ksitigarbha's legacy along the way. Now, he could even invent new skills on such a foundation. So he combined the divine power with the Dragon-Tusk Punch and named it Bodhi's Dragon-Tusk.

On the other hand, killing the demon beasts gave him another benefit, as he could collect a large amount of divine power. The golden lake in his body was overflowing. The divine power he currently possessed was immeasurable, the lake becoming a golden sea.

Therefore, he used a great amount of divine powers on the Requiem Clock, repairing it and making it more powerful.

“Yo, Alex!”

As Alex was healing his wounds, someone spoke. It was the tool spirit of Persephone’s Folly Bridge, the black-hearted girl.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2417

Alex disliked her, so he acted as if he didn’t hear anything and ignored her.

This made her slightly mad. “Hey! I’m talking to you! Don’t act dead in front of me.”

Alex puckered his lips and said, “You’re too honorable. A poor guy like me will never be at your level. So let’s keep a distance from one another from now on, alright?”

That made the black-hearted girl furious. “You’re such an ungrateful and impolite kid!”

However, she wasn’t a good person either. Every time she wanted divine power from Alex, her requests increased a hundred times more than the last. She did use a part of it, but another large amount of it became her possession.

In Alex’s previous battle with the beasts, she saw with her own eyes how Alex used the Requiem Clock and transferred a large amount of divine power to it. In contrast, she got nothing. It was as if Alex had forgotten her existence, so she was here to remind him.

“How am I ungrateful and impolite? The previous times you helped me, I repaid you as well. They were fair trades.”

“Besides, Clinton already told me that every time you asked for divine power, a big part of it was for yourself! Do you wanna scam me further? Keep on dreaming! Just sit back and enjoy the rest of your days!”

The girl was furious and swore that she’d get her revenge from the Requiem Clock. However, she was just a tool spirit, and it was undeniable that she had no power over the Requiem Clock in Alex’s mind palace.

“Ahem... Alex, I’m different from the Requiem Clock. He’s just an old guy, a common antique thrown at the side and forgotten by Ksitigarbha...”

Before she could finish, the tool spirit of the Requiem Clock jumped out too. It sounded like an old man.

“Shelly, how can you talk behind others’ backs? What do you mean I’m just an antique? Do you speak without a conscience, kiddo? Come on, just swear by Ksitigarbha’s name that you didn’t cheat Alex’s divine power. If you dare to do so, I’ll call you grandma.”

“Grandma? What bullshit! I don’t want a useless grandson as old as you!”

“Damn it, kiddo! How dare you use such insults!”

“Oh, the humanity! I’ve been watching you these past few days. To think that just battling a few beasts, and you ended up so badly! You couldn’t do anything other than stand and watch in anger! If it were me, I’d cook and eat those two crab demons easily.”

She then turned to Alex. “Don’t say that I didn’t warn you, brat. When the divine power is accumulated to a certain amount, it has to be transferred, and this old guy here has no idea how. So only I can teach you! Besides, there’s a hidden secret in the Galileo temple, and only I hold any information about it. So have a good think about this!”

‘Uhm...’ Alex was stunned.

He did, in fact, feel the divine power in his golden lake acting weirdly. It had already overflowed, but still, it didn’t form a sea. Instead, it flowed around randomly and couldn’t be controlled.

‘Besides, what other secrets are there relating to the Galileo temple?’

Alex called out to Shelly.

After an hour of discussion, they finally came to a common ground that both parties could accept. Then, it was followed by another two hours of recovery until Alex finally got up to his feet.

Now, his wounds were fully healed, and his powers were further increased. Next, he went back to the space hallway.

At first, he was worried that it was a one-way passage, but when he felt himself passing through the tunnel, he knew that he'd succeeded. Soon, he regained vision and reappeared in front of the sea of Undead Beasts.

Two Undead crab beasts as tall as mountains were glaring straight at him with their gigantic eyes!

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2418

Alex felt a phantom pain in his teeth upon seeing the two giant crabs. That was because his face had been kicked by crabs before. His teeth were almost knocked out, and his waist was nearly broken in half. There were even two holes punctured in his chest.

Hence, Alex was still wary of them. He just wanted to kill them off.

“Hey, Wilbert. You can handle these two ghost crabs. Please don't be like my little girl and not train yourself.”

Alex placed his conscience into his mind palace and spoke to the tool spirit.

“Don't worry, as long as there's enough divine power, there won't be any problems. Besides, it's just two little crabs. I'll get you some crab roe later.”

Shelly was confident, so Alex felt relieved. He had to remember their current position. He knew that it would be helpful to memorize where the exit of this space hallway was.

“An astrology mark!” He exclaimed. This was something new that he found from the sword heart that the woman in red gave him.

It was a marking that could be generally used in any space... Something like a destination pointer on a GPS, but it was connected to his consciousness instead. Thus, after placing a mark, he would quickly find this place as long as his memory wasn't wiped.

“Die!” Alex yelled and rushed toward the group of Undead.

The two giant crabs were the first to attack.

“Shelly!”

“With water flowing under the bridge, Persephone stands above!”

This time, the tool spirit was quite cooperative. She was murmuring an elegant ancient poem, but in reality, it was a very cruel spell. A bloody ancient bridge appeared out of nowhere, forming under the two crabs.

Ring...

The two crabs exploded within a second. The ancient bridge was cruel, filled with irregular forces relating to life and death. It was as if there was strong energy dragging them along with the other Undead beasts.

“Arghhhh!”

They all roared fiercely as they backed away immediately. All they saw was several beasts being dragged onto Persephone’s Folly Bridge, becoming significantly younger and smaller with each second...

This situation was just too weird. It seemed like they were able to return to their youths. This was initially a good thing, but the only problem was that the forces of fate were taking away the soul of the Undead beasts apart from making its body younger. Those affected beasts turned into infants. Some even looked like fetuses, vanishing, and turning into a dark and empty ball of energy, only to be absorbed by the bridge.

The entire process looked as if someone was turning back time, and they were watching life being returned to its original state again.

Alex was shocked to witness this as well, not just the two crabs, despite being already busy slaughtering the Undead army. He couldn’t bring himself to utter a single word as he held onto the Requiem Clock

A while later, he asked Clinton, “Hey, Shelly can control time? Say, can you ask her to make me look a few years younger?”

The Requiem Clock was speechless. “Do you think you’re not young enough? If you get any younger, you’d have to wear baby onesies.”

‘Uhm...’

Alex then remembered that he looked like a fourteen year old child ever since he had merged with Ymir's Divine Bone.

After that, Clinton continued. "Even if the forces of fate could make you younger, you wouldn't like it either. That's because Persephone's Folly Bridge doesn't just take away age, it takes away memories, soul, core, and some mysterious elements within a being as well."

Upon hearing this, Alex shook that thought out of his head. He then swam off with the clock still in hand, letting the chimes vibrate through the sea, causing the soul fires within the Undead to shake vigorously.

He just needed to use Bodhi's Dragon-Tusk punches to demolish the soul fires successfully in such circumstances. With this, he would get the chance to harvest their lives.

Whoosh!

Alex then took notice that the bridge didn't drag the two crabs onto it. Instead, it used immortal chains to restrict them. It would seem to be using this method to absorb the crabs' life force and energy directly.

"Hey Clinton, it looks like Shelly is stronger than you!" Alex said.

"Ah, I'm getting old. I can't compare to these youngsters."

"But you're still pretty strong, though."

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2419

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2419

With the two crabs out of the way, the rest were nothing to be afraid of.

In just thirty minutes, all the Undead beasts were demolished.

The bridge, however, didn't disappear after the job was done. Instead, Shelly, wearing a traditional red dress, stood elegantly on top of the bridge as she waved to Alex.

Alex furrowed his brows as he approached the bridge but did not dare to walk any further.

“Come up here!”

“I won’t become younger, right?”

“You wish! What are you even scared of? You’re the owner of this spiritual tool! Do you think it’d absorb you entirely?”

Alex figured that she was right. He shouldn’t be prohibited from touching his weapon after all.

As expected, he wasn’t hurt in the slightest after getting on. However, he felt something within his heart. Since this was a bridge that only the dead had ever crossed, standing on top of it made him feel weird. The ancient and vast feeling of space, along with the weight of life and death, was a little too overwhelming.

On the other hand, the bloody stains on the bridge were enough to make his heart skip with fear. He could sense that it was not just ordinary blood. Neither the blood of the Undead beasts nor the crabs were left on this bridge. So that meant that such blood stains were not left by just any entity.

As if she could read Alex’s mind, Shelly said, “You’re looking at the blood of a demonic god in the past. That bastard was very sinful. He had destroyed ten or so saintly grounds with his powers alone. He was able to kill high priests, beheading them in the blink of an eye. Not even the lightning tribulation could take him down, but he still ended up dying at Persephone’s Folly Bridge.”

Alex’s eyes widened. It felt like he was listening to a myth. However, he knew that she was telling the truth, but it was odd to listen to such atrocities like some kind of normal past event

He looked at Shelly. She looked like a little girl, her height was around 4.5 feet, but she sounded like an old lady.

“Here you go!” Shelly threw something at Alex. “I told you I’d treat you to some crab roe. It’s the most valuable thing on those two crabs. So it would probably be beneficial if you ate that. And by the way, I’ll be taking the divine power now. It’d be a waste if you kept it anyway. You don’t even know how to transform yet.”

When Alex found the location of the Mystic Maiden and the others, all of them were starting to get worried. That was because the Mystic Maiden could sense Alex disappearing for a while. It was a very unnatural occurrence since this shouldn't have happened in the first place.

After that, Alex told them about the space hallway.

"It leads straight to the Wasteland?"

"This is great! We've been stuck in the Endless Sea for nearly half a month! I felt like I was going crazy!"

Ynes and Pigsy were overjoyed. Although Alex was doing most of the work in their battles, they were still happy that they got to leave this horrid place soon.

The Mystic Maiden said, "It looks like your luck is pretty good. Space hallways are also known as wormholes. There are lots of them within the universe. Some organizations with such expertise would even take the time and effort to craft wormholes as a business! I wonder if the wormhole you found is natural or artificial?"

No matter what it was, Alex just wanted to head home right now. His father's condition was worsening after all.

"Come on, let's go home first!"

The group just walked through the wormhole after Alex said that. However, the shark didn't dare to get any closer, so they let it go instead.

After reaching the Pixies' land, Alex jumped onto Pigsy's back and grabbed Ynes with him as well. They then rushed off at ten times the speed of sound.

Right then, an unexpected guest arrived at the doorstep of Rockefeller Manor.

Clay had brought some men with him, barging into the manor as he yelled, "All Rockefellers, get your a*s'es out here and knee! before us!"

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2420

Still sitting in the courtyard, the fairies were enraged. They felt as if their lungs were going to explode with rage.

Brittany, Maya, Waltz, Beatrice, Cheryl, and Dawn were all here. The Rockefeller family seemed to be overpowered with feminine energy... Apart from the sick William and Dorothy's two sons, the rest were all beautiful women. Moreover, this was considered a smaller group. Michelle, Daya, Luna, Freya, and other related women would sometimes come by as well.

All of them could easily be considered fairies because of their ethereal looks. Yet now, all these fairies were infuriated by Clay's actions.

"Clay, you bastard! I didn't think you'd come!" Waltz was quite upset about this.

She thought Clay would realize the Rockefeller family's powers after leaving that day, then change his mind and admit his defeat. However, he still came over regardless.

"Besides, I'm part of the Rockefeller family, and I'm Alex's wife. Although Clay used to be my sworn brother, he started walking a path of sin, simply treacherous! I will kill him if I have to, and I won't hesitate in the slightest. You guys don't have to forgive him for my sake either."

Brittany, on the other hand, seemed to be relatively calm.

After the initial rage, she acted as if Clay was just a mad dog. "You don't have to kill him, but we, the Rockefellers, are no weaklings either. Since they came here to try and threaten us with their powers, let's just destroy their sorry little cores as a warning."

All the women nodded synchronously. Waltz turned to Brittany. "Thanks, Mom!"

Waltz knew well that Brittany was considerate of her feelings. Brittany might be able to hold in her anger toward Clay, but the others might not. They would've definitely killed them off the moment these 'guests' barged in.

Brittany caressed Waltz's face and sighed. "It's too bad that Alex couldn't come back in the end. I know you all are upset. The Rockefeller family surely has failed you all. But come on, let's go check out the situation first."

The women army rushed out, causing the uninvited guests to gasp in delight.

“Holy sh*t, what is this? Did we barge into a beauty’s nest? Why are all of them so beautiful?”

“Beauty’s nest? I’d say this is a whole brothel.”

“I’m loving this view, Boss. I have to bring one home with me. I’d like the one in the white dress. You won’t oppose that, right?”

Clay brought a few more people than before, a total of seventeen men. Each and everyone looked different, dressed in many unique styles as well. Despite this, seeing all these ‘fairies’ made them equally as excited.

Clay didn’t expect this at all, but he was satisfied with it nonetheless. He smiled and said, “Woah, we’re getting a bonus today, boys! I was thinking about all your marriage anyway. It looks like we’d be able to solve a few today. But one of these beauties is off limits, alright?”

One laughed. “I know, I know, Sister Waltz, right? That’s our sister-in-law, so of course, no one would dare to lay a finger on her. I would be the first to fight anyone who dares to too!”

Another said, “Boss, your current status should grant you more than just Sister Waltz. Why don’t you pick one from these beauties today? I think the middle one is the best. She looks as elegant as a queen. Just imagine having such beauties in each arm! That’s the epitome of heaven!”

Clay laughed out loud. “That’s great. I intend to do that too!”

However, the person in the middle that they were talking about was Alex’s mother, Brittany.

These people were all absolutely unscrupulous. They spoke loudly as well. The deaf and hard of hearing would be able to hear their words loud and clear, let alone Brittany and the others, who were quite powerful.

Waltz was furious, glaring at Clay angrily. “Why have you turned out this way? Are you even the Clay I knew back then? I am so disgusted by your current self.”

Clay was still quite obsessed with Waltz. Hence, he was upset to hear Waltz say that. He felt as if his heart was being twisted.

His subordinate said, "Boss, Sister Waltz must have been tricked. That's why she has said such harsh words. After we capture her, she'll understand you sooner or later! If you can't bring yourself to capture her, I can be of assistance. We can teach her a lesson or two when we get back."
