The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2441

However, Michelle's elder brother, Alex, had now returned.

She had the confidence. Once again, she unleashed the aura of the little devil that she had put away before this. "No problem. I'll turn you into a complete primitive man."

Michelle cackled. This laughter was particularly grating to Heracles' ears.

"You... What are you trying to do to me?"

"No! You... Don't you come any closer!"

Facing the coquettish beauty, Michelle, Heracles was horrified. Even the young lady of the Hancock family next to him got goosebumps from watching them.

Rip! Rip!

Alex had broken a dozen bones in Heracles and completely sealed his cultivation base, so how could he resist the little devil's clutches? In less than a minute, he had turned into... A naked old man with only his underwear left.

Heracles covered his private part with his hands as he sank to the floor. He wanted to cry.

Finally, Alex said, "Forget it. Just expose this old fart! Look at him. He probably has a bit of status in the Hancock family. You can take a few videos. Then, when the time comes, I'll send them to the members of the Hancock family to take a look and ask if they're willing to pay for the ransom."

Heracles was astonished upon hearing that.

Alex did not kill him. Surprisingly, Alex wanted to use him to blackmail the Hancock family. However, this was fine as well. As long as it was something that money could solve, everything would be fine. Therefore, the young lady should be able to return to the Hancock family safely, and they would slowly settle accounts with him in the future.

Michelle pointed at Shirley and said, "This should sell even better."

Shirley's face darkened as she was actually being treated as goods.

However, Alex shook his head. "This isn't for sale for now. I need to use her."

Michelle looked strange, but she seemed to have understood something.
"Oh... So that's it!"

As Shirley's heart raced wildly, she clasped her thighs and gritted her teeth. Then, she thought, 'This d*mned pervert is really ill-intentioned. Don't ever give me a chance to act. Otherwise, you and I will die together.'

When Heracles saw his young lady's expression, he seemed to have guessed her thoughts. So, he immediately consoled her. "Young Lady, don't take things too hard. Anyway, defilement for the first time is still defilement. Defilement for ten times is also defilement. It'd be fine if you get over it. Living is the most important thing for a person."

Shirley Hancock felt for the first time that this old fart, Heracles, was extremely despicable. "I didn't take things too hard," she roared.

"Great. Great. I'm relieved then. There's an old saying that goes, 'If you can't resist it, just enjoy it.' It makes sense."

"Enjoy, my *ss! I didn't enjoy it at all... No, I haven't been defiled yet. Old fart, I'll smack you if you say I've been defiled again. Do you believe it?"

"I believe. I believe. You haven't been defiled. Young Lady, it's fine as long as you're happy."

That expression and that helpless gaze of his angered Shirley, such that she wanted to stomp his face with her high-heeled shoe. Unfortunately, her high-heeled shoes under her feet had long since flown somewhere else.

Alex retrieved the Requiem Clock. "Michelle, go home!"

Half an hour later, at Rockefeller Manor...

Alex took Shirley alone and walked into the room before throwing her on the bed with a bang.

Shirley tremblingly stared at the teenager before him as her heart skipped a beat. 'It's all over. Can I really regard such a deed as enjoyment?'

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2442

Someone in the Ancient Moon Conglomerate of the Hancock family was furious.

Wham!

A young man shattered a very aged antique table with his kick.

"D*mn it! D*mn it!"

"Where the hell did that brat come from? How dare he destroy the building of our Homan Technology and even take Sis away? That little b*stard is most likely inhumanely torturing and abusing her now. So what are we waiting for? Send the troop immediately! Send out the most powerful Silvermoon Berserker Troop of our Ancient Moon Conglomerate to rescue Sis and tear that Rockefeller b*stard into pieces!"

The young man was none other than Shirley Hancock's younger brother, Samuel Hancock.

He was also in Michelle's live stream channel earlier. At first, he was just watching it for fun. He even invited a few buddies to watch it together, waiting for that Rockefeller brat to stir up trouble and shoot himself in the foot when the time came. For instance, he was the one who had called over the members of the Deep Sea Clan.

As a result, what had he seen?

He saw the members of the Deep Sea Clan annihilated. He saw someone razing Homan Tower to the ground. He even saw that his sister was stripped naked and wrapped in a tattered monastic robe and hung upside down by that brat like a chicken...

Shirley had been egged in the face in front of her friends.

What was more terrifying was that he could not even calm down when he thought of the treatment that his sister might suffer afterward.

“Samuel Hancock, you elder-sister-enthusiast. What are you worried about?”

A coquettish, lively girl said, “The guy who captured Sis looks like a minor at a glance and is a year older than me at most. He’s just a fledgling, so why are you worried about it?”

This was a twelve or thirteen year old little girl who looked 60% or 70% like Shirley. She was Shirley and Samuel’s little sister named Freesia Hancock. Although this little sister’s name was a little incompatible, she was genuinely their biological little sister, and three of them were of the same mother.

Samuel gritted his teeth and rushed over to rub Freesia’s small face vigorously. “Wimpy brat, who’s an elder-sister-enthusiast? Now Sis has been captured by villains, and it’s hard to tell whether she’s still alive or not. You’re her biological little sister. Are you not worried about her in the slightest? Sis loved you for nothing. What’s the use of a wimpy brat like you? We should just sell you off.”

“Argh! Samuel Hancock, if you dare to rub my face again, I’ll kill you! My facial skin is sagging because of your rubbing! It’ll get old!”

“Be quiet! All of you, be quiet!”

An old man roared as he was upset by the quarrel. This man was Shirley’s grandfather named Falco Hancock, who was also the old man with the most significant status in the current Hancock family. “Kerry, you have a lot of ideas. What do you think about this matter?”

Kerry, whose full name was Kerry Hancock, was Shirley’s aunt.

She looked like a beautiful woman in her early thirties. She said, “The top priority is to rescue Shirley quickly.”

Once Samuel heard that, he immediately said, “That’s right. Grandpa, hurry up and give the order. Even Aunt said so. What are you waiting for? Send out the strongest combat force of the family and annihilate the Rockefeller family.”

Kerry shook her head. “Samuel, I know you care about your sister, but we can’t act recklessly now. We mustn’t underestimate Alex Rockefeller’s strength. Your sister will be in a more dangerous situation if we really want to take the troop to rescue her! I somehow know a little about this Alex Rockefeller...”

“Aunt, what do you know? Could it be that he’s not lecherous?”

“Uh... This seems to be his only flaw. The number of the beautiful women around him can’t even be counted on one hand.”

As soon as Samuel heard that, he was even more anxious. “Why don’t we send the troops then? What the hell are we waiting for?”

Freesia said, “Second Brother, who has gerontophilia, it’s too late for you to be anxious now. Sis has been captured for more than half an hour. What’s done is done. If that man is good for nothing, he might have impregnated her. Congratulations, you’re going to be an uncle. So, hurry up and put aside your gerontophilia in the future.”

“D*mn brat, I’ll sew your mouth shut if you ever dare to utter nonsense again.”

“Aunt, did you see how fierce Samuel is? Is he still my elder brother? Was he someone born to my mother or someone else?”

Samuel was puzzled. Kerry was speechless with this little brat as well.

“Alex Rockefeller is a bit lecherous and has countless beauties around him, but as far as I know, the women voluntarily followed him.”

“He once disappeared for several months, and the outside world even thought that he was dead, but those women of his didn’t leave the Rockefeller family and stayed by Mrs. Rockefeller’s side at all times. So, this man should be someone lecherous but has a moral baseline. Besides, he’s generally a hero. But, this time, Shirley acted too rashly and offended this great demon king,” Kerry explained. “Dad, I’m going to take a trip to California personally to bring Shirley back. I believe I can do it.”

Samuel said, “Can you guarantee that Sis hasn’t lost her virginity?”

Kerry said, "Even if she hasn't lost her virginity, you both can't get together. You both are biological siblings."

Samuel was speechless.

Falco said, "Kerry, you must bring Shirley back. She's one of the few women that the Divine Heir of Mount Olympus fancies. Her prospects will be boundless once she wins the competition. It'll depend on this matter whether our Hancock family can come to the fore and defeat the other few conglomerates this time."

At Rockefeller Manor, Shirley sat on the bed and dumbfoundedly looked at Alex.

Her body was draped in a jacket that Alex had given her. That was his clothes... With Shirley's figure, there was barely any woman's clothing in the house suitable for her. She was too tall... She was five foot eleven tall barefoot.

Even if Alex had not undergone the cultivation, he was not as tall as her. However, Alex had to look up at her now if she was standing.

What made Shirley heave a sigh of relief was that Alex did not want to molest her after throwing her on the bed, but... There was no stool in this room. So he had to let her sit on the bed or lie on the ground so that he did not have to look up at her the entire time while talking.

"Where did you get this Sakyamuni's Wooden Fish from?"

Alex asked as he took out the wooden fish that had been snatched out of Shirley's hand.

This was extremely important to him. It was because he had just consulted the Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens about the matter of Dairaionji Temple.

As a result, the Mystic Maiden told him that if Dairaionji Temple had appeared, he could indeed save William Rockefeller because there was an ancestral Bodhi Tree in Dairaionji Temple. That tree hailed from an extraordinary origin after experiencing millions of Lightning Tribulation. It could suppress the Soul

Planting in William's body and temporarily freeze the continuation of Soul Planting.

This would give Alex enough time to find out the person who had cast the Soul Planting on William. Then, he would find a way for William to devour that main soul in return. In this way, not only would William not die, but he would be greatly blessed.

Hence, Alex had to find Dairaionji Temple no matter what. Moreover, he had to do it in the shortest time possible.

"Sakyamuni's Wooden Fish, So that's its name. Is there any more story about this wooden fish?"

Although Shirley had used the wooden fish and owned it for a while, she did not know its name.

"Where did it come from?" Alex's face was frigid.

"Why are you so fierce?" After seeing Alex's expression clearly, Shirley suddenly smiled. This young lady was also extremely keen, so she sensed Alex's emotions at once. "I feel that you're very anxious about this wooden fish. It's important to you, right?"

Alex frowned and exposed his intention inadvertently. Shirley knew that she had guessed it correctly, so she said with a smile, "Since you're asking me for something... Be nicer to me then!"

Alex's expression experienced multiple changes. Finally, he sighed and began to take off his pants

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2444

"Ah!"

Seeing Alex making such a stupid move, Shirley was stunned. This was really a teenage devil! What reincarnation of an evil creature was he? How could he be lecherous at such a young age?

“You... H-how can you be so unscrupulous? You’re so young, yet you already want to fool around with women. Are you not afraid of getting kidney deficiency in the future? Listen to me. You’re still young and immature now, but you have to cherish the innate Yang energy of your kidneys. Premature ejaculations will be detrimental to your body and greatly affect your cultivation base!”

She tried to change Alex’s thoughts verbally.

Alex glanced at her. “Don’t you worry. I already have five children.”

“ ... ”

A huge word ‘f*ck’ crossed Shirley’s mind.

To her surprise, he was so young and was a minor, but he already had five children. Was he an innate monster?

How did he do that?

“But, I didn’t say that you’re going to bear my child!”

What Alex took off was only his belt, but not his pants. And, this belt was an extraordinary item.

It was a magical treasure called Divine Binding Rope. It was found in the storage ring of a Peacock Tribe member. Whether it was authentic or not, it was now a good item to use to bind Shirley.

“Have you heard about the national art in Japan called the art of rope bondage?” Alex said eloquently as he looked at her and examined her figure from head to toe as if he was considering where he should begin binding. This made her feel a misconception that she had been stripped naked. “What’s the art of rope bondage?”

“Do you not know that? You’re exceptionally out of touch then. Can you even be a president like this?” Alex took out his cell phone. After searching on the Internet for a brief while, he managed to find a photo.

He handed it over to her to take a look.

Shirley Hancock only peeked at it, but she felt unwell. Her originally elegant face was full of bizarre frustration. That photo was simply unsightly.

There was actually such a national art in the world. Did a pervert invent it?

She thought of herself. If Alex were to bind her like that... She really did not dare to continue thinking about it. It was too terrifying!

Alex even said, "Many women in Japan, especially the beauties, would have their photos and videos taken and uploaded to the Internet after they are tied up using the art of rope bondage. Then, they would become very famous. Don't you think I'm helping you? While you're in a primitive state, you'll be hung from the roof after you're tied up. After filming a good video, I'll ask Michelle to broadcast it on her live stream channel. I guarantee you'll be famous for sure. How about it? Am I very nice to you?"

Shirley shuddered all over as she looked pale yet furious.

"You pervert! Don't you approach me! Don't you touch me! Go away! Argh!"

The woman was on the verge of collapse. It was because Alex had already bound her legs, and they were firmly tied together. Soon, her office dress was torn apart with a 'rip'. That rope was about to reach her top soon.

"Stop, you have won! I'll tell you!"

Alex stopped moving as he looked at her.

He had made so many threats to the point that he was a little fed up, but wasn't it for the sake of prying the information about Dairaionji Temple from her? As long as he could succeed, there was nothing he would not do.

Shirley said, "I found this in a secret realm. There's an expanse of the ancient sanctuary of Buddhism inside the secret realm, but it's full of danger inside, and the core area couldn't be approached at all."

Alex asked, "Where's the secret realm? Take me there!"

Shirley shook her head. When she saw that he was about to act again, she immediately said, "It's useless even if you kill me now. It isn't easy to enter the secret realm. You need three key tokens to activate it. The three forces are in control of them, respectively. So even I alone couldn't find the entrance to the secret realm."

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2445

Alex asked about the details.

Against her will, Shirley recounted an accident back then.

The Hancock family was an ancient family. However, the Hancock family was not the only family from ancient times. In addition, there were also the Henderson and the Miller families. These three great families were also the core families in control of three certain major conglomerates in the world.

Previously, the three forces cooperated to explore an ancient battlefield together. Then, they discovered a dilapidated tower there, and a golden Bodhisattva was found dead in a seated posture inside.

The Bodhisattva, whose origin and foundation were unknown, just died in a seated posture in the ancient tower. Although many years had passed, the Bodhisattva was still lifelike, as if he were a living person.

At that time, the people of the three forces found a map and a handwritten letter on the Bodhisattva.

Three great families from ancient times had some background. They guessed this map pointed directly to a sanctuary of Buddhism-Dairaionji Temple.

However, Dairaionji Temple was hidden in the void, so it was simply impossible to be found under normal circumstances. They had to gather all three crucial tokens and use them together to activate the trigger of Dairaionji Temple. Then, they would step into it in one go.

After searching for more than a millennium, they finally found all the tokens.

Five years ago, the people of the three great families cooperated again to activate the legendary Dairaionji Temple. Unfortunately, it. was full of dangers inside the activated secret realm.

The three families, the Hancock, the Henderson, and the Miller families, that had joined forces comprised a total of hundreds of people. In the end, only a handful of ten or so people managed to escape from the inside.

However, everyone who came out definitely gained something... For instance, Shirley had found a pair of wooden fish and a tattered monastic robe. They were not ordinary items, but Alex had taken advantage of her in the end and snatched all of them for his own use.

“The Miller and the Henderson families from ancient times... I never heard of them.” Alex shook his head, but he did not care much about it and said, “You’ll go to these two families with me tomorrow to ask for the tokens.”

Shirley said, “These two families aren’t weak. They are now actively preparing for the next exploration of the secret realm. I’m afraid they won’t hand over the tokens to you if you go and ask for them.”

“They won’t hand over the tokens? I’ll just annihilate them then,” Alex said firmly.

Then, Alex asked about the Olympus Tribe once again.

Upon mentioning Mount Olympus, Shirley’s eyes were full of hope, as if that was her loftiest ideal. She fascinatedly said, “That’s the divine tribe from the deep space of the universe where real gods live inside. You definitely don’t want to know about them because I’m also listed in the divine tribe. The Divine Heir of Mount Olympus wants to take me as his wife. If you were to do something heinous to me that would cause public outrage, my future husband will never let you off the hook.”

“The Divine Heir of the Olympian Army? Humph! As long as he dares to come over, I’ll dare to kill him!”

“You? You’re indeed somewhat capable, but you’re far behind compared to the Divine Heir of Olympus. You’d get killed by him. That’s more like it.” Shirley seemed to be very confident in her fiancé, knowing that he would outmatch Alex.

“Hehe!” Alex sneered.

The Divine Heir of Olympus had long been on his must-kill list.

Traitors to humankind like the Olympian Army had ravaged the native creatures of the universe at the end of ancient times. Now they were making a comeback by resurrecting themselves with the spiritual energy on Earth. When all kinds of opportunities were about to burst out, they would be back again.

While they were talking, the door of the room that they were in was forcefully pushed open, and a figure rushed in like lightning.

The figure fell into Alex's arms and held his face before kissing him deeply.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2446

The person who had arrived was Daya.

She was one of America's best singers and remains a big star to this day. She was also the little princess of the Michigan Stoermers, one of the eight American royal families. She hadn't been at the Rockefeller's before this, as she had some things to take care of outside.

She'd also gotten the news online. Only then did she know her man was back, which made her rush home immediately.

"Mmhh..."

Her hot lips were then met with a fiery kiss. The only thing more passionate was their reunion after a life and death situation.

Alex was stunned for a minute but soon forgot about everything else, including Shirley. Instead, he focused solely on Daya's soft and gentle welcome. It'd been long since he'd been intimate with a woman. Such a feeling excited him quite a bit.

Shirley was shocked by the scene. From her point of view, Alex was still just a teenager. Hence, he must be a playboy if he could kiss another woman so passionately. Shirley thought that he must be naturally lustful.

'I fl hadn't given in, he would've actually kidnapped me and eaten me alive!'

After all, she was quite confident with her looks. It wasn't a large room. The plain and clear view of the two making out caused quite a commotion, thus, Shirley couldn't ignore them even if she wanted to.

As she finally made out the face of the woman, she shrieked in surprise.

"Daya! Is that you?"

‘Uhm...’

‘They know each other?’

Shirley’s scream sent Alex and Daya apart. Daya looked at Shirley, her face turning ice-cold in an instant.

“Ms. Hancock, it was rather bold of you to plan the assassination of my family. You even tried to murder my husband. I just thought if I should attack the Hancocks and have you all killed.”

Shirley looked nervous.

“You guys know each other?” Alex asked.

“I saved her life once at the ancient boundary,” Daya said. “Before that, I just thought that she was an arrogant woman. She was thick-skinned enough to kidnap me onto Hancock’s warship. I didn’t think she would attack my family. She deserves to die!”

With that, she suddenly thought of her daughter and quickly asked, “Where’s our daughter?”

“Uhm, about that...”

Seeing his reaction, Daya’s heart clenched, and she nearly lost her balance. She thought that her daughter was gone.

Alex grabbed her quickly. “Don’t worry, she’s fine. She’s in a safe place with people looking after her. It’s just that... Without reaching the immortalization stage, we can’t enter the space.”

With that, Alex started explaining his journey after they parted.

He didn’t go into details, but with so much information to tell at once, they could still feel the danger and fear Alex went through even if he used simple words.

The near-death experiences and surviving them caused their hearts to pound in their chests. Besides, Alex also roughly introduced the things he saw in the great world of America.

As he talked, he didn't deliberately avoid Shirley. Shirley listened attentively too. She didn't know Alex before this, as the Hancock family had their own private property. The main Hancocks rarely came out. Even the daily management of their finances was conducted by relatives or employees.

Listening to Alex's miraculous journey...

Entering the Undead's Territory and fighting enemies on his own. Entering the tomb of the gods, unsure if he'd make it out alive. Running for his life in a perilous situation and reaching Starborn City by accident.

The human heart couldn't be predicted, and bad hats were everywhere. When Alex was in danger, a sworn sister from the other world would give him a helping hand.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2447

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2447

Soon, they reached the part where Alex was gobbled alive by the great Genbu during the battle in the swamp. He met the ancient Naga tribe and fought the Undead Queen in the Dead Zone, later attacked by the largest sect of the Western Ridge and the Peacock clan.

He then continued to list out the odd encounters in the Endless Sea...

The entire journey was enough to be written into books as a legendary myth.

Shirley was fully immersed in the story. 'Isn't this the world in my dreams?'

"Even though you talked like it was nothing, I know how hard it must've been to face all that alone, that many challenges and obstacles." Daya caressed Alex's young face.

'So what if he looked young? He is my husband and my daughter's father. Some differences in appearances wouldn't affect our relationship.'

"Will your body remain permanent?" she asked.

"I don't think so! This is just one of my weird encounters. I practiced a breathing technique, and when the body is trained to a certain level, some bones and parts deemed less functional will be discarded. That's howl ended up like this. As long as I eat enough, I'll grow back soon." Alex smiled.

"A breathing technique?" Daya was surprised, her eyes sparkling with curiosity. But she then took a glance at Shirley.

With a flick of wind from her fingertips, she knocked Shirley out.

"Darling, when you say breathing technique, is it one that could train your organs?"

Seeing how Daya was acting, Alex turned serious, asking if she knew something about this.

Daya said, "From the memories of my awakening, I learned about something. This breathing technique surpasses many training techniques of the Holy Land. This technique doesn't belong to this universe."

Alex was shocked.

"If it didn't belong to this universe, then what was this?"

Daya said, "The universe is just one portion of space. Apart from ours, there's a higher universe out there. I know a place known as the Middle Universe... I've also been trying to remember some parts of my memories, investigating some stuff too. After confirming with both pieces of evidence, I believe the Undead didn't belong to our universe."

Such a theory was mind-blowing. Alex felt dizzy just thinking about it.

"But we must survive and live as a family no matter what! The Great Genbu used all of his energy to set the force field, but it will break within three years. The Undead will definitely attack at full force then. Their queen thinks I'm some sort of seed. They would surely come looking for me."

"Commander Red said that there's some kind of opportunity within the Wasteland. Since one year in there equals a hundred years outside, it should be born soon!"

"But we don't have much time left, just less than three years. Within this period, we must train ourselves to be powerful enough."

Daya nodded. After that, they continued talking for quite some time.

At last, Daya pointed to the unconscious Shirley. "What did you do to her? Where did you learn to tie such knots? Do you want to tie me up as well?"

Looking at how Daya took the initiative. She surely wasn't joking about her fetishes.

Alex waved his hand. "I was just giving her a scare. And you'd have to wait until the night to be tied up."

He then told her about what happened at Dairaionji Temple.

Hearing that the Dairaionji Temple could save her father-in-law, Daya was ecstatic.

Just then, the whirring of a helicopter could be heard outside.

Alex's glare flashed with silver light as his vision penetrated the structure of the house. He saw a beautiful lady jumping out of the helicopter from fifty meters above, followed by a young man and girl.

It was the Hancocks. Kerry, Samuel, and Freesia.

Even though Alex didn't know them, he could tell from their looks and aura that they were Shirley's family. He was afraid that his family would be attacked, so he immediately heaved Shirley onto his shoulders and walked out of the house with Daya.

Initially, Kerry didn't allow Samuel to tag along. She knew that kid too well. He was overly obsessed with his sister. However, she couldn't stand his pleas, and she wanted to ensure Shirley's safety as well.

Besides, he had promised repeatedly that he'd listen and follow her orders. He also wouldn't talk back and stay on the sidelines. If he broke this promise, he would willingly punish himself to confinement for six months.

Despite that, based on the current situation, his sister was currently being carried by Alex on the shoulders. She also wore a man's shirt, her fair, slender legs tied up with rope. It seemed her office wear was torn as well, basically looking as if she had just been assaulted.

Samuel couldn't possibly calm down after seeing this. His head felt like exploding from the fury he experienced.

"Argh!" Samuel let out a beast's roar and charged towards Alex.

Kerry didn't like how things were going, but she wasn't quick enough to stop him. She'd only managed to grasp a small corner of Samuel's shirt.

"No, stop!" Kerry tried stopping Samuel with words, but it obviously had no effect.

"I'll kill you!" Samuel shouted. He sent out a deadly aura which everyone felt. He seemed serious about killing Alex this time.

The faces of the Rockefeller manor people turned fierce. Among them, a flash of light quicker than lightning charged out to the front of Samuel.

It was Pigsy.

Pigsy jumped up into the air and hit Samuel hard on the chest with its trotters.

Crack, crack...

The sound of bones breaking came from Samuel's chest. He must've broken at least three ribs. Moreover, he had a defensive treasure with him at the time, and in the instance of the attack, a green light shone and loomed over his body, canceling out some of Pigsy's attack.

If it weren't for that, the injury wouldn't have just been three broken ribs.

Pigsy, who'd succeeded at the first attack, clapped his hands. "Hmph, where did this feeble rat come from? His face turned green, and now he's shining in green light! Are you also green with envy because... Hehe."

"But how dare you attack my sworn brother? Don't you know your own strength?"

Pigsy was just simply teasing him, but it sounded truly unpleasant in Samuel's ears.

'That horrid pig, how dare he say that! It's implying that I've been cheated on!'

Pigsy's words hurt Samuel even more, especially after he looked at Shirley's situation.

"Woah! It's a talking demon piggy! And it smells pretty good!"

Freesia's eyes shone as she stared straight at Pigsy, saliva drooling from her mouth. "Aunt, can we eat this pig? I'm really craving for braised trotters!"

Furious, Pigsy kicked Samuel aside and charged straight at Freesia.

"Ahh!"

"The braised trotter is coming!"

"Aunt! Help!"

Kerry never expected such a thing to happen. An animal that looked like your regular domestic pig had defeated Samuel in a mere second. Not only that, it was currently charging towards Freesia too.

Kerry came prepared. She had brought along powerful treasure, an innate divine tool of her family.

"Whispers of Water!"

It was a red oil-paper umbrella. As it unfurled, it formed a strong defensive barrier.

Thud!

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2449

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2449

There was a loud sound.

Pigsy went in headfirst on at the barrier and was repelled. He saw stars appear before his eyes as bright red blood flowed from his nose. He then shuddered from the pain, the blood continued dripping as he shouted, "Alex, destroy this woman and that bastard with the Heaven Flipping Seal!"

Now, Freesia felt a little intimidated. “Aunt, that piggy is so fierce! Is it really edible?”

‘This little foodie had placed food above everything else!’

Kerry was starting to regret her decisions now. She knew that she shouldn’t have brought the siblings considering the havoc they had wreaked. She quickly said, “Please don’t misunderstand. We mean no harm.”

Maya was a beautiful girl, but she stood still there with an ice-cold expression. “Mean no harm? And the first thing you do right after meeting us is to kill my brother? If that’s what you mean by harmless, I can’t imagine what you’d do when you intend to harm.”

Kerry held onto the umbrella with one hand and the other holding on to Freesia. She then announced her intention. “We’re here to talk.”

Meanwhile, Samuel shouted with his hand on his chest.

“Aunt! My sister’s been tormented. What else is there to talk about? Summon the Silvermoon Berserker Troop now! I’m going to burn this place to the ground and avenge my sister!”

Whoosh!

A white ray flickered. Piggy had rushed out once more and kicked Samuel hard with his trotters, breaking more of his bones.

He subsequently stepped on Samuel’s forehead with his front trotter. “Are you still unclear of the position you’re in, dumba*ss?” he growled. “As a human, it’s certainly rare to be dumb to such an extent! Your mere existence brings shame to your parents. Why don’t I end that for you?”

“No!” Freesia screamed. “Please, Mr. Piggy. My brother isn’t dumb! He’s just obsessed with our elder sister. Seeing our dear sister tormented and having her virginity lost, that’s why he’s acting out of anger. I beg you, don’t kill him, please! After all... He’s still Alex’s brother-in-law.”

Samuel was furious. “You damn brat! Don’t blabber nonsense! How am I his brother-in-law?”

Freesia comforted him. "Just accept reality, brother. Sis has already been used. We might even have a nephew already! Stop your one-sided love, and you'll be free from this torture!"

"Besides, I think our brother-in-law doesn't look bad. At least he has delicate facial features. It's pleasing to the eye."

Samuel looked furious, but he was left speechless.

To their surprise, the little girl started conversing with Alex directly. "Brother-in-law, how's my sister? From the looks of it, you probably just had sex. Were we interrupting? Don't worry. If you're not done yet, we can wait. Take your time."

Many turned to Freesia with a confused expression. Alex was no exception to this confusion. 'Is this really Shirley's sister? What a weirdo,' he thought.

He carried Shirley and turned to Kerry. "What do you want to talk about?"

Kerry smiled. "I think this has all been a misunderstanding. It was never the Hancock family's intention to attack you Rockefellers. Both the Deep Sea Clan and Clay Ember acted out of their own will."

Alex sneered. "And? So you're saying that my people deserved to get beaten up, to the point of nearly losing their lives?"

Kerry continued, "Didn't you destroy Homan Tower? You should've let out all of your anger by now. What's your condition? What do you need to let Shirley go? Oh, and how is she now?"

Alex shook his head. "I'm not letting her go."

Kerry frowned. "I come respectfully, so I hope you'll show some sincerity as well. We Hancocks are an ancient noble family. You should know that we have great power."

"Besides, we have the Divine Envoy of Mount Olympus to back us up. If you could just take a step back, let's shake hands and find peace. It'll be disadvantageous for both parties if we fight. So, raise your conditions, and I'll try to fulfill them."

Alex looked at her. "Alright then. I want... You!"

"What?!" Kerry's face turned blue at that.

'The bastard! The rumors are true. He's just a pervert. And he went as far as wanting me too!'

She tried to maintain her composure. "You can't keep me. You'll have to think of another condition."

"You can never be too sure." Alex threw Shirley on the ground and lunged forward like a bolt of lightning.

Other than turning blue from anger, Kerry's expression remained calm towards Alex's sudden attack. She was full of confidence. The oil-paper umbrella she held formed a solid defensive barrier.

A Divine Envoy of Mount Olympus had even tried but couldn't break through her defense.

Furthermore, it'd been rumored that that particular Divine Envoy had surpassed the Tribulation Crossing. He was a true fairy.

As Alex got near, Kerry said calmly, "Don't waste your energy. Your attack won't hurt me."

Boom!

Alex ignored her and sent a punch on the barrier. The barrier shook violently, and a blue light screen expanded to the skies. Still, the barrier didn't break. It was indeed very robust.

Kerry shook her head. "Do you believe me now? Can we just talk?"

Alex tilted his head. "I haven't even started!"

"It's pointless unless you're a true fairy because this barrier of mine contains law power."

"And what if I succeed? Want to make a bet? If I were to penetrate..."

Kerry didn't know what to respond to that. She felt Alex was assaulting her with his words. 'What does he mean by that?'

On the other hand, Alex truly had no other intentions.

Unfortunately, Pigsy had to butt in and say, "Alex, if you were to penetrate her, that kiddo wouldn't know if he should call you brother-in-law or uncle-in-law. Aren't you just making things hard for him? In my opinion, you should take that kid in as well. Then they'll all call you husband!"

Kerry was furious. "If you could penetrate me, I'll do whatever you want!"

Only then did she realize her mistake of words. The anger had gotten to her, and she wasn't thinking straight. She quickly amended, "I meant if you could penetrate through my barrier."

Alex nodded. "Take a good look then!"

Boom!

This time, he used Bodhi's Dragon-Tusk punch. As he sent out the punch, both a dragon and elephant appeared behind his back, a Buddhist melody surrounded him, along with the power of laws supporting him.

Kerry grasped onto the umbrella. She felt uneasy and alarmed this time. However, her subconscious refused to believe her instincts.

'This umbrella is an innate spiritual treasure!'

Unfortunately, the result was...

A loud explosion ruptured in the air.

The defensive barrier of the Whispers of Water broke into pieces upon this strong punch. The blue screen broke down into small pieces of energy. Surprisingly, the oil paper umbrella in Kerry's hand let out a sorrowful cry and tried escaping her grasp, flying towards the air.

"You're running? Too late, though!" Alex moved swiftly and came straight to the top of the umbrella as he punched downward.

As the oil paper umbrella was attacked. It let out another painful scream and dropped to the ground. Alex landed and picked it up. His eyes lit up as he nodded in approval. “This is a pretty good umbrella. Too bad its potential was wasted in your hands. You can’t bring out the best of it with your abilities.”

With that, he tossed the oil-paper umbrella to Maya.

Maya had water-attributed spiritual roots. She also practiced martial art techniques with water attributes like the Silver Frost, so she was highly compatible with the oil-paper umbrella.

Even if Maya weren’t quite that strong now, this umbrella would be the perfect weapon for her after she improved.

Kerry’s heart ached.
