The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2461

Surging with murderous intent, Daya gripped the tree branch. She immediately rushed forward without stopping, then swept it down on the head of the nearest middle-aged Miller man.

Swoosh!

That man's head fell off instantly.

As the head detached from the body and rolled to the ground, his kept blinking his eyes, and he even opened its mouth to scream horribly. The head only breathed its last after two full seconds of screaming.

Within these two seconds, Daya killed another two Miller's with the same brutal method. They died the moment their heads fell off.

It took only a few short seconds.

The Miller family had lost three expert family members. Old Lady Miller, also pinned on the ground, was completely helpless, especially when it came to her life. The expression of the other remaining four Miller's, Josephine Miller included, changed drastically as they backed off together. They were still on their high horse, with victory within their grasp, but the arrogance they harbored toward the others, as though they were petty and powerless people, had long since disappeared without a trace, leaving only deep fear and trembling in the depth of their hearts.

This was... They had hit a brick wall.

Josephine looked at Channing Henderson as the only hope now lay on that of that psychopath of the Henderson family. The middle-aged man was also Channing's grandson, Roark Henderson!

Roark was not really a psychopath, but his way of doing things always exceeded expectations because of his eccentric character. Many couldn't understand him, so they called him a psychopath behind his back.

However, he was, in fact, the most powerful man in the Henderson family and also the guarantor of this operation.

Josephine shouted, "Patriarch Henderson, are you still not going to let Roark Henderson make his move?"

With that screaming of hers, the others followed suit.

"Patriarch Henderson, hurry up! Otherwise, all of us will die here today! Patriarch Henderson, hurry up and let Roark Henderson act and decapitate this female devil!"

Channing broke out in cold sweat. Under the coercion of Alex's mental domain, he breathed with difficulty, let alone speak. Not a single word could be uttered from his mouth.

Finally, he went down on one knee with a thud and spat a mouthful of blood.

The Henderson family members acted strangely. They were ready to attack. However, Channing reached out, making a trembling gesture to stop the family members' impulse. His expression was bizarre, as if he had lost it.

"No... Don't!"

He could finally speak. That was because Alex had greatly alleviated the coercion of the mental domain.

On the other hand, Daya, knowing about the matter of Dairaionji Temple, did not continue exterminating the people. The keys were still in the hands of these two families. The consecutive murder of three people earlier acted as a deterrent, while the remaining few were kept alive, useful for the time being.

"Can you speak now? What are you guys afraid of?" Alex asked.

Channing looked at Daya but did not answer Alex. Instead, he turned around arduously, fell to his knees, and kowtowed. "All hail Her Majesty!" he shouted.

"Huh?"

Everyone was shocked. Even Daya was baffled. She stared at Channing. "What did you just call me?"

As the matter had developed a little abnormally, Alex's mental domain weakened once again, causing Channing's movement to be smoother. After getting up, he respectfully knelt again and cried. "Your Majesty, I'm... Lowe Henderson! I finally managed to meet her highness in this lifetime. Sob..."

The crowd was petrified once again.

Alex looked at Daya, reminiscing her origins before having some kind of enlightenment all of a sudden. Presently, Heidi Miller was still alive.

At her cultivation level, she could not die that easily. She pointed at Channing and scolded, “Old fart Henderson. What the hell are you doing? Have you become a psychopath, just like your grandson? What? Her Majesty? She’s a heinous murderer. She’s about to kill you, yet you still kneel before her, crying and begging for mercy. You’re really a disgrace to the Henderson family. How does your family deserve the ancient legacy with that virtue of yours? Pooh!”

“You don’t know sh*t!” Charming roared furiously.

With strange and twisted expressions, Daya turned the tree branch in her hand and waved it at Channing, causing light to float rhythmically into his body. Then, a green mark appeared on his brow.

“You really are the reincarnation of Lowe Henderson!”

“Huh? What’s going on?”

“So Daya really knows this old geezer of the Henderson family? Since when did Daya become Her Majesty?”

“Reincarnation as well? Is this old geezer a reincarnation of someone?”

Even the entire Rockefeller family was astonished.

Daya was initially a superstar. When she hooked up with Alex back then, everyone thought this was quite an amazing matter. However, Daya later revealed her identity, she hailed from one of the eight great American royal families, putting a mysterious veil over her. But now, her identity was even more mysterious and baffling.

Alex and Daya looked at each other as they communicated mentally.

“Are you sure?”

Daya nodded at him.

Alex immediately retracted all mental domains.

After glancing at the rest of the Henderson family, he turned around to attack the Miller family.

Wham!

As Alex punched the nearest Miller, the magical defensive treasure on him shattered with a series of crackles, but it still failed to stop Alex's punch. After punching the man till several of his ribs were broken, Alex sealed his cultivation base and threw him on the ground like trash.

The rest of the Miller family were infuriated.

At this moment, however, there was no room for resistance in the face of Alex.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

The remaining few people suffered the same treatment Josephine was the most miserable. The defensive undergarment she wore was a treasure gifted by Mount Olympus that could protect her safety to the extreme.

Thanks to this, she was still alive and kicking after Alex punched her several times. That angered him, so he simply pinned her to the ground and brutally ripped off her undergarment. Then, he knocked her out with a punch.

"This treasure garment is pretty nice. Any of you want to wear it?" Alex waved the undergarment and asked the women behind him.

The answers were as follows...

"I don't want one that has been worn. You can give it to Waltz!"

"Do you think I love wearing what someone else has worn? I'm even afraid of skin diseases. I don't want it either."

"The size of the chest circumference is too small. I won't be able to wear it anyway."

"I think it's small too. It'd be uncomfortable for sure."

“How flat-chested! Keep it for yourself!”

Alex truly felt that this was indeed an extremely powerful piece of garment. He only snatched it for his own people because it was a treasure. To his surprise, everyone despised it, but he was really reluctant to throw it away. So, he immediately nodded.

“I’ll use it for myself then!”

“You’re so sick!” the women replied in disgust.

“Don’t you get into my bed if you wear this!”

“Don’t enter my room. I detest the body odor on it.”

“There might even be stinky sweat...”

If Josephine were to hear such remarks, she would probably be instantly enraged.

In any case, she was the prettiest woman in the Miller family that the Divine Heir of Olympus fancied. She was most likely to be a deity’s wife, the queen of the world in line for a lofty status. Surprisingly, someone had detested the magical treasure in the form of an undergarment that she had worn.

“Old pig, you shouldn’t hate it, right? I’ll give you this!” Alex threw the undergarment at Pigsy.

At first, Pigsy protested and rolled its eyes. However, after a few sniffs, its eyes gleamed and immediately draped the undergarment on before scooting away in a flash!

The comers of the Miller family were imprisoned.

Meanwhile, the Henderson family received momentary kind treatment due to unknown circumstances. Of course, this was done for the sake of Daya. The Henderson family probably had received Channing's instruction and knew about some secrets. When Channing asked his people to kneel before Daya, no one resisted. Instead, their faces were full of respect and fascination.

Many people wanted to stay behind and hear about the secrets within it.

However, Daya immediately took the Henderson family members to the inner sanctum. Only Alex followed them, whereas the rest were not allowed.

Once the door slammed shut, Channing knelt on the ground again, crying bitterly, and even slapping himself several times. "Your Highness, I was ignorant. I was foolish. I actually offended Her Highness. Please punish me, your highness!"

The Henderson family members behind him also fell to their knees except for that expressionless Roark.

"Get up," Daya said. "It's no longer the same as before. I'm no longer the Pixie Queen either."

However, Channing firmly said, "Your Highness shall always be the queen of our people. The Sacred Crown Tree of the Moon in your hand is the best proof. The Sacred Crown Tree of the Moon can't be controlled by someone other than the queen of our people."

Daya did not dwell on this matter, but asked, "Are you alone?"

This question was a little inexplicable. However, Channing clearly understood Daya's meaning. "Your Majesty, I also found Fabian Packwood. However, his heart isn't in it. Your Majesty, I can go and capture Fabian Packwood. If he ever disobeys, I'll..."

"Forget it. It's all in the previous life."

"I ask of you, what's the situation in Dairaionji Temple?"

As soon as Daya said that, Channing immediately prostrated himself. "Your Majesty, I've sinned!"

Alex could no longer stand it as he said, "Old fart, you're so old and already have one foot in the grave. Your kneecaps are so soft, yet you just knelt and snivel at the drop of a hat. Even if you aren't embarrassed, I feel awkward looking at you. Get up and spill the beans. We aren't free to dawdle with you."

"Your Majesty, you and be are..." Channing asked.

"He's the one I've been looking for. Now, we already have a daughter. By the way, my daughter is the Goddess of Nature, and she has inherited divinity!" Daya said indifferently.

"Ah! Ah, is that... Real? That's great!" The overjoyed Channing also prostrated before Alex and respectfully shouted, "I, Lowe Henderson, pay his respects to His Royal Highness!"

"..."

Alex was dumbfounded.

He intently stared at Charming before turning to look at Daya. "W-what did he just call me? His... Royal Highness?"

Daya also wanted to laugh, but she held back her laughter and said seriously, "According to the pixie race's tradition, you're my spouse. Indeed, you have to be called His Royal Highness! Your Royal Highness, don't you worry. It's just a form of address. Just get used to it. Many people wants to be the Royal Highness, but they would never get the chance!"

Channing immediately called the Henderson family members over to pay respect to His Royal Highness. The exasperated Alex rushed over to the Henderson family members and beat them up.

"To hell with His Royal Highness! Who the f*ck is His Royal Highness?!"

"Whoever dares to call me His Royal Highness again, I'll chop him up and feed him to the dogs!"

The Henderson family members had bloody noses and swollen faces from his kicks, especially the old fart, Channing. He even had a bloody nose with several teeth knocked out.

However, Channing adamantly insisted, "Your Majesty, His Royal Highness. The rules mustn't be broken!"

Alex went on a rampage again and swung his fist at Channing. “What kind of crappy rules? Your Pixie Empire has been destroyed, yet you’re still talking rules with me?”

Eventually, Daya was the one who spoke up and asked the Henderson family members to address Alex as ‘sir’.

Only then did Alex snort indignantly. “Tell us quickly. What’s going on with Dairaionji Temple? Did you guys do something to stir public outrage? That’s why you feel guilty, right?”

Channing lowered his head. It seemed that he was really feeling guilty.

Daya frowned. “Say it!”

Only then did Channing say, “Your Majesty, Sir, Mount Olympus... We, we, we were the ones who drew it over here. The Olympus Tribe harbors ill intentions and is ambitious. I’m guilty! I’m a sinner for eternity!”

“You were the ones who drew it over? What’s this supposed to mean?”

Even Alex and Daya felt distressed. Surprisingly, these people had led something ambitious like the Olympus Tribe over, but did they have the great capability required to do so?

Or was it related to Dairaionji Temple?

Instantly, Channing gravely explained the matter about the three major forces comprising the Hancock family, the Miller family, and the Henderson family and that they had jointly explored the secret realm. After that, he explained the clue-finding issue of Dairaionji Temple.

Alex had heard about it from Shirley, but he only knew about the details of their exploration at Dairaionji Temple after hearing from Channing.

They could not enter the interior of Dairaionji Temple. They did not even arrive at the entrance. They only managed to enter the periphery when a bizarre bamboo forest blocked them, stopping them from entering at all costs.

However, just as they were at their wit's end and were preparing to retreat, they heard a voice.

The voice told them that it could help them enter Dairaionji Temple.

However, it needed them to do one thing, break the four stone pillars around the bamboo forest.

At that time, the family members of the three forces, the Hancock's, the Miller's, and the Henderson's, had guessed the person who talked to them. It should be someone that had been suppressed in the bamboo forest. His origins and moral alignment were unknown, so he was extremely dangerous.

However, they finally managed to enter the periphery of Dairaionji Temple and could already see the towering pagoda of the temple in the distance. They had even paid a great price on the way. They were really reluctant to go back just like that. In the end, they decided to risk it once and release the person so that he could help and take them into Dairaionji Temple.

For this, they had even made many preparations, believing they could suppress that thing even if it came out.

The results, however, were miserable. They failed to suppress him and even triggered a catastrophe.

The person suppressed in the bamboo was none other than an Olympus Tribe member.

"So you people released the Supreme of the Olympus Tribe and then drew the Olympus Tribe over here?"

Alex genuinely felt an impulse to beat them to death. "Do you people know what kind of tribe the Olympus is? In ancient times, the Olyrrpus Tribe was the one that betrayed both mankind and the universe. They became the Undying Clan's lapdogs and caused the Ancient Alliance to suffer heavy casualties and fall at the last hurdle. In the end, it was unknown if Emperor Rowan, the Phoenix Empress, and the other few Heavenly Emperors successfully entered the Abyss. The Olympus Tribe is the public enemy of the universe. They've come to Earth now. They aren't here to build it up but to plunder its resources. This place is the hope that the ancient Supremes had left behind for us after sacrificing countless lives and paying an infinite price.

Once the Olympus Tribe has plundered all hope here, mankind will be over! The universe will be over! You people will really become sinners for eternity!"

Thud!

Channing had just gotten up, but he fell to his knees again. He was scared this time.

He had countless visions about the Olympus Tribe before, but he never expected that it would be like this. He had tried his best to think badly of the Olympus Tribe's origin, but now only he realized that he had thought too well of them.

"Where's the person that you've released?" Daya asked.

"He's dead!" Charming said. "When he was suppressed in the bamboo forest, something seemed to erode his body. He had long looked inhuman. Even if we broke the stone pillars around the bamboo forest, he wouldn't completely break free and exit it. But he was very powerful. He captured a bunch of us, then stuffed us in the bamboo forest and killed them all. Then, he used our people's lives as sacrifices to some kind of mysterious power to draw in Mount Olympus."

Alex no longer knew what to say.

"You guys still sent the ladies of your family to be the wives of that Divine Heir or something. You let him defile them despite knowing how ambitious Mount Olympus is! How nice of you!" Alex looked at the rest of the Henderson family. His eyes were full of sarcasm and malice.

Channing sighed. "We couldn't do anything about this either because we're involved. The divine envoys of the Olympus Tribe must have learned something from the mouth of that sealed person. Then, they approached us right away... I don't know how the others think of us, but my Henderson family is really helpless. Your Majesty, the spirit is willing, but my flesh is weak..."

It seemed that the old geezer was going to burst into tears soon.

Alex said, "I don't want to hear about how you people intermarry with the Olympus Tribe. Tell me about those divine envoys that came down from Mount Olympus. What level are they at? What are their conditions? Where are they?"

The conversation this time lasted till dawn.

Alex learned a lot about the divine envoys of the Olympus Tribe from Charming, but it was rather general information. Clearly, the divine envoys were greatly reserved and did not trust the Hancock-Miller-Henderson family alliance very much. Hence, they knew little about the divine envoys' actions.

One thing was certain, however.

Dairaionji Temple was near the area where the sacred golden mountain had appeared.

The spirit suppressed in the bamboo forest of Dairaionji Temple had drawn out Mount Olympus.

There was a powerful sealing force field on Earth's wastelands that possessed strong defensive powers against foreign creatures. Under normal circumstances, Mount Olympus could not enter Earth, and even the stairs of the golden bridge could not extend over here.

The existence of Dairaionji Temple had probably provided an opportunity for the foreign world to take advantage of it instead.

"What a headache!"

"These guys, really... They should be drowned in flak!" Alex complained.

As Daya held his hand, she walked into her room and said, "Don't think too much about it. It'll be alright at night. You haven't been able to rest well since you returned. Sleep now. We'll talk about the rest after you are done sleeping."

Alex looked at her. "Is the sleep you're talking about sleeping or sleeping?"

Both words meant to sleep but carried totally different meanings.

“What say you?” She fluttered her beautiful eyelashes, and her voice was slightly coquettish.

“Can you lay your hand on this body of mine, though?”

“I’ll give you a check-up to find out the exact difference between an adult and after turning back into a teenager.”

This check-up lasted two or three hours. Since they were reuniting after a long time apart, they inevitably felt their emotions surge. Back then, they had intercourse at Willow Lake and successfully conceived a child. Now that their daughter was not around, it was the newly-weds’... Oh no, it was time for the check-up.

“Hey, Your Majesty. You still haven’t told me about it. Where did you get this ‘Your Majesty’ title from?”

“You’re even the Pixie Queen. You can’t be a pixie, right?”

Alex hugged the tender Daya from the side and pinched her ear as though wanting to know if they would grow long.

Naturally, that did not happen.

Daya said, “I remember something. After you and I jumped into the pool of reincarnation, I didn’t become the current Daya Stoermer right away. In between, I experienced a lifetime. I had become the Pixie Queen in that lifetime.”

“Queen, did you have a royal consort that time?”

“Yes, I did!”

“Oh...”

Alex’s hand that was touching her rear waist stiffened for a brief moment.

“I even had a few of them, and each of them was very strong,” Daya continued.

“Well...”

Alex’s voice even trembled slightly. This was a bit awkward!

Daya hugged his neck and chuckled. "What's wrong? Are you upset?"

"No!"

"Really, no? I'll continue then. Not only were my royal consorts strong, but each was a gorgeous man. Of course, they were more handsome than you."

"Tsk..."

"The most handsome one had glowing eyes and was very gentle."

"You... Do you really think I won't get angry? When I get mad, don't you cry out for being unable to bear it."

"Who's afraid of who? Bring it on!"

Alex soon showed her his greatness. As gentle as a lamb, Daya stared at him and stammered, "Idiot, did you really believe it? I carved words on the Stone of Three Lifetimes so that I'll only sleep with you for three lifetimes. I had been looking for you in my previous life, but unfortunately, I failed to find you until I died."

Presently, Alex was enjoying the long-lost nourishment of love at home, whereas the Miller family had long been in an uproar.

It was because Old Lady Miller had brought some people to the Rockefeller family in California, but they had disappeared.

From last night till now, noon of the next day, they had completely lost contact with the people who went there. The Miller family contacted the Henderson family.

The Henderson family played dumb!

In fact, Charming had long phoned the family to inform them not to reveal any information and that everything had to be subjected to Daya's will. However, Daya had not done sleeping with Alex, so who dared go in and interrupt them now? That was Her Majesty.

Should he gouge his left eye out if he were to witness any blasphemous scenes involving Her Majesty? Or should he gouge out his right?

Eventually, William's roar startled the two people in the room.

William was suffering another outbreak!

Alex accompanied William and checked the entire outbreak process. He did not understand Soul Planting well, but he could sense William's abnormal changes, two souls constantly entangling from the occasional vibrations of the soul power. Over time, an outbreak would occur one after another, and his soul's dominant power would become increasingly weaker.

"We have to hurry!"

The Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens appeared silently. She could enter and exit Alex's mind palace at will. As if a female ghost appeared out of the blue, she looked at William, who was howling from the outbreak while poking half her body out of Alex's mind palace.

Alex raised his eyes and looked at her, only to see a pair of breasts.

'Uh... What's going on? Why do they feel... One size bigger than before?'

'Is this the second implant?'

The Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens seemed to have perceived his thoughts. So, she abruptly lowered her head and poked his eyeballs hard with two fingers.

"Owww!" Alex yelled in pain!

Alex suspected that he was going blind, uncertain if his eyes were still in their sockets. He heard the Mystic Maiden's furious voice in his ears. "Lecher, you've just done that shameless deed with that woman. How dare you still harbor ill intentions toward me?"

Alex covered his eyes. "In all honesty, you're just a tree woman. What kind of ill intentions could I harbor?"

'A tree woman?'

The Mystic Maiden gently twitched her lips. In her eyes, were these this man's true colors?

"Your eyes are really two ornaments. What do you need them for? Just dig them out!" The Mystic Maiden roared in a fury. Seeing Alex had let go of his hand and was about to test if his eyes could still see, the Mystic Maiden poked her fingers into his eyes again with no respite.

After that, the Mystic Maiden escaped. She was still furious after returning to the mind palace.

She looked at her appearance. She had long since refined the Chaos Tree leaves into her true flesh. At the end of the day, the essence of the human body was just some carbohydrates, so it wasn't illogical that the Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens could turn the Chaos Tree leaves into specific carbohydrates and organic matter with her abilities and incredible magical power.

Meanwhile, the eight Chaos Beads were, in fact, still inside her body. They had not been dissolved, nor had they transformed.

'A tree woman? Garbage! Blind!'

'Lunatic!'

The Mystic Maiden deliberately looked at her bosom and was quite satisfied. This was the result of modifying her outer appearance with magical power while lying on the cold jade bed every day for this entire period...

Alex had triggered her because he once said her bosom was quite small.

Apparently, hers weren't as voluptuous as Mica Simpson's from the Sun Shrine...

How could that not anger her?

Alex covered his eyes for a long time before they felt slightly more comfortable.

He immediately used the special Chi of Ultimate Book of Medicine to wash and check them. Only then did he heave a sigh of relief. Although his eyes were swollen, bloodshot, and he shed tears from the Mystic Maiden's poking, he managed to save his vision, and his divine eye ability and X-ray vision were also still there.

Then, he abruptly froze. According to what the Mystic Maiden previously said, she had seemed to see him doing the deed with Daya.

Wouldn't this woman be watching a daily live show if she hid in his mind palace every day?

'No, no. I have to think of a way to seal this ability of hers!'

Just as this thought crossed Alex's mind, the Mystic Maiden relayed a wisp of divine sense. "Instead of thinking about these unachievable things, why don't you consider your father first? In order to nourish the soul power of the Soul Planter, his soul must've been severely damaged. If this continues, even his main soul won't last. When the time comes, you can only regret it in vain, even if you're a supreme deity. So, we have to hurry and go to Dairaionji Temple!"

After saying that, she lightly said again, "Also, you and that woman... That ability really sucked!"

"What? What?"

The former part of her sentence sounded quite grave to Alex's ears, giving him a sense of urgency. The latter part, however, sounded a little... Insulting.

"How did I suck?"

"You better make it clear! I think you're jealous!"

"You're a sour grape because you didn't get to do it!"

Using his internal vision, Alex saw the Mystic Maiden lying on the bed in a sultry posture. As if able to sense Alex's snooping, a bizarre mental body rushed into his mind as she threw a glance at him. In an instant, Alex felt changes in the surroundings. All the worries and tension earlier had disappeared, leaving behind only beauties.

He seemed to be in ecstasy, running amid the crowd of beauties. His limbs were out of control, his expressions incomparably blissful, and sounds even came out of his throat...

He seemed to be experiencing extraordinary things.

“My, my, Rockefeller. What are you even doing? Digging your own grave?”

A voice suddenly awakened Alex from that bizarre dream.

Ynes was the one who walked in, and when she suddenly saw this twisted look on Alex's face, she was slightly disgusted.

Alex shivered and broke out in cold sweat. He had come to a realization, he must've fallen for the Mystic Maiden's dirty trick.

He remembered that he had read an entry from an ancient book called New Odes from the Jade Terrace that said, “I want to take the immaculate maiden as my teacher and present thousands of deportments just like her. This is something most men have never seen before. There are also images of the heavenly Yellow Emperor's bedchamber art.”

The Mystic Maiden of the Nine Heavens was also known as the immaculate maiden. She once taught the Yellow Emperor the bedchamber art.

Alex wiped a handful of cold sweat. ‘Incredible. Incredible. So, she's really a senior expert! She's my role model. I'll have to ask for her advice properly when there's a chance next time. No, ask for a few moves.’

The matter of Dairaionji Temple could not be delayed. Alex immediately returned to the room and dragged Daya from the bed. Then, he took her to find Channing and the others and directly asked for the key to open Dairaionji Temple. Since Daya, Her Majesty, had stepped forward, Channing immediately took out one of the three keys without hesitation.

‘Buddhist relic!’

When Alex received the key that Channing had taken out, he was immediately taken aback.

He had accepted Ksitigarbha's legacy, so he was familiar with this. As soon as the relic appeared, the golden lake of divine power in his body became violently turbulent, emitting a reaction. This indicated that the Buddhist relic was authentic!

It turned out that the key to opening Dairaionji Temple was the Buddhist relic. There were also three of them.

Now, this was a little overwhelming, because according to the rumors, there were undoubtedly only three relics that Buddha had left behind.

“Can you get the other two relics?” Alex asked Channing.

Channing replied, “I can go and try.”

Alex said, “I’ll give you a day. If you bring me the other two relics tomorrow, I’ll help prolong your life by another hundred years!”

When Alex was in the great world, he had snatched countless treasures and many spiritual herbs, especially several baskets of heavenly law fruits. Hence, it was not a big deal concocting a couple of pills to prolong one’s lifespan.

Most importantly, he could tell from a glance that Channing was diseased. This was the real reason for his short lifespan.

As long as he cured Channing’s disease and gave him another pill for breaking through, increasing his lifespan by a hundred years was not a delusion.

After leaving the room where William was in, Alex went to meet his mother, Brittany. She and Beatrice were together, serving several little ancestors. Beatrice had undergone great changes during this time. She had promised her sister, who had yet to become Xienna, that she would treat the four children as her flesh and blood. She managed to do that. Although she was still a maiden, her entire body exuded a kind of maternal brilliance.

“Beatrice, you’ve worked hard! ” Alex said seriously as he approached Beatrice and looked at her.

The young lady put down a clingy kid and instantly threw herself into Alex’s arms. “Brother-in-law!”

Alex’s body slightly stiffened, but he could hear the sorrow in her voice. So, he was reluctant to push her away for a while.

“Is my sister really not going to come back?”

Upon hearing it, Alex felt a throbbing pain in his heart, especially when he saw the four children that had never received love from their biological mother since birth. He sighed, not knowing if Dorothy could still return to them.

Just then, all the four children’s eyes widened upon seeing Alex hugging Beatrice. The next second, they bawled. The power of four children crying together was simply devastating.

Alex hastily let go of Beatrice, and the four wimpy brats rushed forward.

They all hugged Beatrice’s calves and pulled her hands while shouting, “Mommy!”

“Mommy, hug!”

“I want milk..”

Were they jealous of him?

Alex was slightly stunned when he heard them calling her “mommy.” To his surprise, he heard a daughter of his shouting for milk in the end. At that time, he became even more dumbfounded as he glanced at Beatrice’s upper circumference... Even if she had borne the responsibility of a mother, this thing seemed to be something she could have at will, right?

“No, no! She meant that milk.. That milk! It’s the milk, but not mine!”

Beatrice was even more flustered upon seeing Alex’s dumbfounded look. She hurriedly jumped over and grabbed a feeding bottle in her hand, signaling Alex that this was what the daughter wanted to have.

Alex smiled without saying anything.

When he saw Beatrice trying to feed his daughter with the bottle, he suddenly remembered something, he still had lots of Spring Water of Life in his storage ring. This was something good. When he was unable to feed his eldest daughter with milk back then, he had often provided her with Spring Water of Life. It was more nutritious than drinking milk

As a father, he could not favor one child and discriminate against his other children.

Now, he did not know when he would be able to meet his eldest daughter again, so the Spring Water of Life would be of no use even if he kept it. Thus, it was just the right nourishment for the children.

When Brittany saw his son following Beatrice, helping her clumsily, a kind of happy smile showed on her face.

“Alex, these four little guys haven’t been named. They only have nicknames now. You have to name them!” Brittany said.

“What are their nicknames?” Alex asked.

Beatrice pointed at the girl drinking milk in her arms and said, “This is Three Rockefeller!”

Hence, Three Rockefeller would be a girl in the future. Beatrice respectively pointed at the other three children. “This is One Rockefeller. This is Two Rockefeller. This is Four Rockefeller...”

‘This... Who gave them the nicknames? Aren’t they a little too superficial?’

‘Those are no better than the ‘Bubbles’ I named my eldest daughter with!’

Brittany said, “Initially, your grandfather wanted to name them Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter. It happens that Spring and Summer are female names, whereas Autumn and Winter are for males. Thus, they will sound very meaningful when they are together. But, Waltz and Maya felt that it’d be best for you to name them as their father. It was hard to tell whether you were alive or not at that time. They don’t have given names yet, so it’s also a sign of waiting for your return.”

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2469

Beatrice rolled her eyes vigorously. In fact, she was underwhelmed by the names of Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter. She believed that Alex would have surely disagreed and would've thought of better names.

However, she had overestimated Alex. He was, after all, a capable, unrivaled man who had the nick to name his daughter with something like Bubbles. Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter were already peerless names that brought a touch of idyllic appeal to him.

She then saw him nodding and looking satisfied. "Fine. Just use the given names Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter. The children's names the old man gave are very meaningful."

Beatrice said, "Brother-in-law, can't you think of something that sounds better? This is too casual."

Alex replied, "Then... First, Second, Third, and Fourth. Wind, Flower, Snow, and Moon. Gold, Wood, Water, and Fire. Which one do you think is more appropriate?"

Beatrice almost passed out. "Who would give such names?! It was way too cavalier. If that were the case, you should've just called them A, B, C, and D!"

Clank!

Alex knocked over a stool and looked at her in horror.

Finally, Beatrice did not object. If he wanted to go for Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter, they should be just named Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter! At least they sounded much better than Gold, Wood, Water, and Fire, right? She was really worried that he would blurt out some other horrible names.

Since Alex rarely had time to spend with his children, he was naturally willing to do so when he could. However, someone was coming over with surging murderous intent.

It was the ancient descendants, the Miller family members. At the same time, they also brought along a divine envoy.

The so-called divine envoy was a great demon that descended from the sacred golden mountain.

“D*mn it!”

“How dare someone kidnap the woman the Divine Heir has chosen?”

“They even blasphemed upon the future wife of the Divine Heir. The entire Rockefeller family must die!” Speaking of this divine envoy, he had a tawdry name called White Wave!

However, he was a rough, cold, and burly man with a full beard on his face. It was then that he flew into a rage after hearing the Miller family’s report. His eyes glowed red, muscles all over his body bulged, and his thick veins and vessels throbbed rapidly.

In his eyes, that man named Alex Rockefeller had simply bearded the lion in his den.

Just as they were rushing to California, a netizen going by the username of “Sinister Spirit” had once again posted on the online forum, claiming that the sacred golden mountain’s envoy was currently rushing over to hunt Alex down and that he would definitely meet his demise this time without any chance of survival.

However, someone soon commented under her post... [This dumbass came out again. Has she not learned her lesson?]

[Look at the information that you exposed back then. You said Alex Rockefeller would be killed by the Deep Sea Clan, but it turned out to be a tight slap in the face. Did your face hurt, huh?]

[You hold a grudge against Alex Rockefeller, don’t you? Did Alex catch you red-handed for doing something hanky-panky? If not, why would you haunt him like some vengeful spirit?]

In a certain ancient castle abroad, a woman sitting in front of a computer gritted her teeth with anger when she saw the comments under the message she posted. She suddenly stood up and walked to the window with a cruel smile!

If Alex saw her face clearly, he would definitely be astonished. It was because this woman was his former cousin, Carol Rockefeller!

Back then, Pindola killed Carol at the Higurashi Shrine in Japan. However, a stream of bloody light soared to the sky and flew out. Surprisingly, she was now reborn through the bloody light and even actively lurked on the Internet using the handle “Sinister Spirit.” It was simply a little unbelievable that she could even understand Alex’s movement over there.

‘Alex Rockefeller. Never thought that I wasn’t dead, have you?!’

“You better get killed today. Otherwise, you’ll be in deep trouble. Hahaha... ”

At Rockefeller Manor in California...

Wham!

With a loud bang, the frontal part of Rockefeller Manor shattered and collapsed from the smack of a huge palm.

A snow-white wolf towered in front of the manor with bloodshot eyes!

“Huh?”

While playing with Alex Rockefeller, Spring Rockefeller, who had gradually accepted and began calling him father, hugged him at once.

The other few children looked tense. With eyes stiffened, the massive commotion had clearly frightened them. Two even cried out of fear.

Brittany and Beatrice were also trembling all over.

The uproar that the white wolf had created was great, such that the entire house trembled as if experiencing a big earthquake.

‘D*mn it!’

Alex did not say it out loud because he was still holding his child in his arms. However, he was already infuriated. He had managed to reunite with his children and reclaim joy after leaving them for so long, yet it was all ruined. Even more undeserving was that white wolf that frightened his children, which was unforgivable.

“Stay here, all of you! I’ll be back after I take a look!”

Alex let go of Spring, but the little child refused to let him leave, clinging tightly to his neck. She did not cry, but she must be overwrought deep down as she revealed the fear in her eyes.

This broke Alex’s heart.

He was no daughter enthusiast, but he felt that he was one as long as he was in front of his daughter.

Thus, he attempted to comfort Spring in a soft voice. Eventually, Beatrice carried Spring away and took her into her arms. Alex then disappeared outside in a flash.

At this moment, the entire California was a little chaotic, especially after the white wolf trampled several buildings nearby Rockefeller Manor. Some were trampled to death on the spot; some screamed their lungs out, while others ran.

The white wolf’s body was so enormous it could be seen dozens of kilometers away. Its roars were so shocking that some ordinary people who were relatively close immediately bled from every orifice because they were unable to endure the sound.

Certain Californian internet anchors swarmed over like sharks that had smelled blood.

Particularly, after Michelle announced her withdrawal and gave up on the position as SwitchTV’s main anchor, many applauded and cheered, eagerly waiting to take over that position for themselves. Now that such an enormous white wolf had appeared, wasn’t it the best opportunity to do so?

“Hurry! Start hauling a*s, Vaan! Step on it!”

“Sisters and brothers, I’m rushing to the scene right now. The huge wolf is just ahead. Look, you guys will see it once I aim my phone at it. Isn’t it a huge one? My legs are a little weak now. However, I’m going all out for the sake of my livestream fans. I have to go even if I have to risk my life because I want to show everyone the real world’s... Do I get encouragement? Grant me a bit of courage!”

The live-streaming channel called “Sister Skyward” belonged to a major anchorwoman on SwitchTV that was decent in appearance and could sing and dance. Singing and dancing were not very popular on SwitchTV, whereas the mysterious cultivation world was welcomed.

At that moment, the appearance of the towering white wolf on the stream immediately attracted huge traffic, and many patrons began generous contributions via spamming virtual gifts.

[Sister, come on! Give us a better show! Michelle has quit the broadcast, so it depends on you now! Don’t screw up!]

[That’s right! Michelle has abandoned us and gone to play her elder brother! We’re so bored!]

[I’ll spam a few rockets for you first so that you can strive to become the second Michelle!]

Sister Skyward was overjoyed when she saw that the fan count had soared by two hundred thousand in a brief moment.

That huge wolf was simply awesome, and she was already excited. She could already feel the first anchorwoman’s throne beckoning her.

“Faster, Vaan! Drive faster!”

“I want to get a frontal shot of the huge wolf! I want to see what kind of demonic creature this is! Is it the divine envoy from the sacred golden mountain?”

This was completely her guess. It was nonsense to get the fans to be hyped and frenzy. Never would she expect that her casual words would, unfortunately, become true.

Ding~dong!

The system chime rang.
