

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2761

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2761

Cedric nodded. "Fine!"

"By the way, Cedric, where's your granddaughter been lately? After Clive met Esmeralda once, he's been thinking about her. I think they can both try getting along," the other old man said to Cedric. If he were to be seen outside, he would be instantly recognized. That was the Chief of America.

Cedric sighed. "My Esmeralda is a tomboy. I can't even meet her. If Clive is capable, he should chase after her by himself."

It wasn't only American top brass, but echelons from some prominent countries were watching the live stream as well.

Unfortunately, many of those people were puzzled about American texts and had completely no idea about them, not to mention that they were handwritten by Alex in English. The mantra was also old-fashioned and slightly hard to pronounce. The foreigners were in a predicament. Translation software failed to give a proper translation, or the translated texts would be crappy.

"Go find an interpreter who understands English! Hurry up!"

"I want to learn what's written right away!"

Many top echelons and foreign conglomerate leaders roared and cursed till they ran out of breath. 'D*mn it! Why was it in English?'

The most despicable thing was that...

Even if those so-called English interpreters they had found could see the texts on that piece of paper in the live broadcast room, they were still dumbfounded. They recognized every word but still failed to make any sense when connected.

"Go and find more interpreters again! Find a few more Americans! Hurry up!"

Half an hour flew by. A vague Zen singing began to emanate from the live broadcast room. It sounded like the buzzing of mosquitoes at first, but it became louder later. That was the authentic Zen singing of Buddhism, the six-syllable mantra.

Although the voice could be heard from phones and even headsets, it contained some kind of incredible magical power. It could cleanse one's mind and empty one's soul, placing the person in a subtle atmosphere.

In everyone's mind and consciousness, they seemed to have seen the Land of Bliss. It was so peaceful, without any greed, hatred, and delusion. Only discipline, meditation, and wisdom were left. They could see a Bodhi tree over there. The Bodhi tree was growing on a pool of water, and the water was as clear as a mirror, reflecting on themselves. Then, a voice guided them to the water to sit under the Bodhi tree before they cultivated according to Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation's mantra.

It was all, however, invisible to onlookers.

At the other end of the live broadcast room, Alex was wrapped in Buddhist talismans that emitted golden light all over.

Meanwhile, the one next to him was the protector that hadn't manifested for a long time, Shelly.

While looking at Alex, her beautiful eyes fluttered gently, filled with surprising light as they beamed.

"So that's the case. Ksitigarbha could see better than I do!"

"I have no more doubts then!"

Shelly stood for a long while without interrupting Alex. She then turned into a ray of red light and shot into his mind palace.

Cedric, who had just reached home in Alaska, prepared to pack up his things before flying to California on a special plane.

It was then that a coy lady came out of the corner. "Grandpa, you're in such a hurry. Are you going on a long trip?"

“Esmeralda, where have you been lately? I called you, but you didn’t even pick up the phone! You’ve made me very worried!”

It turned out that this lady was Esmeralda Campbell, his granddaughter. Cedric, however, did not know that she was the president of the Supreme Protectors at Darver Lake beneath the dilapidated, ancient temple.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2762

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2762

Cedric frowned when he saw his granddaughter, still in a traditional dress, standing barefoot on the ground in the winter. “Esmeralda, it’s almost minus 32 degrees now. Why are you barefooted and not wearing enough clothes? Aren’t you afraid of catching a cold?”

Esmeralda said, “Grandpa, this is called getting close to the natural Chi. It’s a kind of cultivation. I feel nothing in this little cold.”

She deliberately stomped her feet on the ground and circled. Although she pressed her incomparably fair, smooth feet on the ground, her soles were still spotless.

Now, Cedric sincerely loved this granddaughter, who had become more enchanting as she grew up. As long as she was comfortable, he would say nothing about her.

“I have to go to California for an urgent matter. When I come back, we need to have a proper chat.”

Esmeralda’s eyes gleamed. “Grandpa, what are you going to California for?”

Cedric did not think much about it. While walking, he said, “I’m meeting an old friend’s son... Well, it’s that guy who has been making a huge commotion in that live broadcast room, Alex Rockefeller.”

Esmeralda blinked. She instantly knew what was going on.

The fact that Alex had made Ksitigarbha’s Ten Wheels Earth Incantation public was an earth-shattering incident in the entire cultivation world. Now, countless people were learning and researching this technique. If Esmeralda didn't get that chance encounter and unique path, she would've been tempted as well.

"Grandpa, I know this guy and understand something about him. Why don't I accompany you?"

"Huh?" Cedric looked at his granddaughter in surprise, "Pigs might fly. You're actually taking the initiative to meet a young man? This is unprecedented! Why? Are you... Interested in Alex Rockefeller?"

Esmeralda smiled faintly. "Grandpa, I have very high requirements. Even Alex Rockefeller is unqualified! I want to go with you because I have a few questions to ask him. Perhaps he can give me the answers to them."

Cedric sighed. "Esmeralda, you're no longer young. Horace even asked about you just now. His grandson, Clive, wants to go out with you."

"Clive Stein?"

A chuckle escaped Esmeralda's mouth. "Grandpa, don't you understand me? In the eyes of normal women, a man like Clive Stein might be Prince Charming, a one in a million wealthy husband... But in my eyes, he is no different from roadside weeds."

After the grandfather and the grandchild chatted, they went to get ready.

That night, they rushed to California.

Cedric's full name was Cedric Campbell. Holding a lofty position in top American leadership, he was definitely a pivotal bigwig, especially in the eyes of the military. According to the ranking of official positions, he would be at least a general's position in ancient times.

Naturally, he had a special plane to ferry him around.

Esmeralda acquired the replica of the entire content on the plane in Michelle's live broadcast room. She was studying the mantra and cultivation content of Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation.

After analyzing it with her ability, Esmeralda gasped in astonishment. "Grandpa, I looked at this content based on my cultivation. It's simply perfect. I can't find any flaws. I'm also greatly moved. It most likely contains real divine cultivation techniques, so it's very precious."

"Can I cultivate it?" asked Cedric.

"It shouldn't be a problem."

It was then that the plane shook vigorously all of a sudden.

Cedric fell out of his seat right away. Fortunately, Esmeralda was quick-witted, immediately grabbing and pinning him to the seat.

"What's going on?"

"What's the captain doing?" Esmeralda asked loudly as her eyes turned cold.

A guard immediately ran to ask the captain, and the answer he acquired was that something had fallen out of the sky and appeared right in front of the pilots' line of sight. The captain had to take emergency measures, causing the plane to change directions abruptly.

"Something fell out of the sky?"

Both Cedric and Esmeralda were bewildered.

They were flying at over 32,800 feet in altitude, but why did they feel like walking next to a construction site where objects were constantly thrown from heights?

However, how could something be thrown from such a high altitude?

Had a deity in Heaven tossed it down?

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2763

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2763

Esmeralda immediately slid the shade on her window and looked down toward the back. She really saw something. It was a rapidly falling object that was burning vigorously.

She couldn't tell exactly what it was. However, she could confirm that a collision with the plane would end up in tragedy.

"What is that thing?"

"Could it be a meteorite?"

"It doesn't look like a meteorite. Why do I think it looks like a base with heavy artificial installations? Ah! It must be a crashing satellite... But from which country? Does even a satellite fall like that? Thanks to the captain's rich experience, he changed direction in time. Otherwise, the consequences would've been unimaginable."

However, right after the voice fell...

The plane jolted violently again, causing everyone to fall over. A guard also hit his head against the baggage rack of the plane with a loud thud.

Esmeralda knitted her beautiful brows. She sensed that the situation wasn't that simple.

As she continued to look out the window, she happened to see a bright blaze streaking by the plane. It was falling downward at a breakneck speed.

This time, she got a better look.

"It's a satellite from the Republic of Mai. Look, it has a logo on it."

"Blast! The Republic of Mai's satellite has long become obsolete and turned into space junk. Yet, they didn't send it to the graveyard orbit. They're really unethical," Cedric complained unfond of the Republic of Mai in the slightest.

He initially thought they'd ended up in such a situation because of a satellite that had crashed accidentally. However, Captain Shane's voice came from the PA, "Cedric, something has happened! Guys, look outside!"

What was out there?

The guard hurriedly opened the window shades. He opened a dozen of them right away.

Everyone was stunned upon witnessing the scene outside. It was not one falling satellite. There were dozens, perhaps even hundreds, of falling fireballs.

With the rise of science and technology, space development had always been the aspiration of mankind. The number of satellites they sent to space kept increasing, especially true for certain countries with advanced space technology that would launch every now and then... Even some particularly large scale enterprises could send their own satellites.

In total, there would be at least a few thousand satellites in orbit around Earth. But now, countless satellites were falling like raindrops. They seemed to have evolved into blooming lights.

Thud!

A loud bang could be heard. Something hit the plane. The plane was unstable and spun violently.

The crowd looked out the window, but they were almost frightened to the core. The plane's rudder had been hit, and a hole was created. Now, the tail was billowing smoke, and it was unknown if the plane would explode.

The captain issued a warning and asked all the passengers to have their parachutes ready.

If the situation was not right, they could be ready to evacuate at any time.

Five minutes later, the plane's tail finally could not bear the damage and snapped with a crack. The entire plane tilted severely before it went into a spin and dived to the ground.

Boom!

Esmeralda kicked the emergency door open.

She took Cedric and jumped out of the plane. Moreover, when Esmeralda in the air looked up to the sky, she saw something even more shocking and terrifying.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2764

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2764

“What is that thing?”

Cedric was a knowledgeable person but what he saw above him left his mouth agape. And he could not close it for a long time. Never had he felt such shock in his entire life.

What came into sight was the image of nine giant dragons pulling a coffin.

It was at least hundreds of miles away, above the earth's atmosphere, but he could see clearly those dragons because they were that huge. The nine colossal silver dragons were emanating dazzling silver light all over while pulling a large bronze coffin.

A full moon shone through the dark of the night. However, the nine large silver dragons emitting silver light were like nine moons, much bigger and brighter.

He could clearly see the scales on the giant dragons from far away.

That coffin was also huge. As the coffin wall was illuminated by the silver light, he could clearly see the carved flowers, birds, insects, and fish on it with his naked eyes. It let out an ancient aura and a fluctuation of solid vitality. He was clearly looking at a cold coffin, but he somehow felt.

A powerful creature was lying inside.

In addition, there was a huge seven-colored bird next to the nine dragons pulling the coffin.

He could not tell its species, but it was about the same size as the huge dragons when it spread its wings.

Just now, many satellites had fallen out of orbit because these two aliens had casually swept through them. Esmeralda's eyes flickered, glowing red as she stated intently at the creatures.

“I did not expect that they would find this place so soon.”

“Looks like the surging tide of spiritual energy on Earth has made them sense the target!”

Esmeralda seemed to be talking to herself.

Cedric swallowed a mouthful of saliva and asked, "Have you known something? Could the strong powers from outer space descend and harm the people on our land, just like what Alex Rockefeller had predicted? Judging by what we're looking at, these are existences from myths and legends. With our current technology and weapons, I'm afraid they'll be difficult to deal with."

Esmeralda said, "Grandpa, this is the arrangement of the ancient Supremes, which has long surpassed the level that mortals take part in. It will be very tough in the remaining time, but it's not like there's no chance to turn the tide. The arrangement of the ancient Supremes isn't something we can predict. You just need to protect yourself and leave the other affairs to someone else."

When Esmeralda said that, she felt a few piercing eyes meeting hers. They belonged to the nine silver dragons and the seven-colored bird.

They had discovered her existence.

"An aborigine!"

The seven-colored bird spoke in human language. Immediately afterward, it spat a streak of blade aura that viciously slashed down at Esmeralda.

Esmeralda's pupils constricted slightly, but she did not have other reactions. On the other hand, Cedric and the few guards next to him screamed anxiously.

However, when that streak of extremely harsh blade aura, which contained boundless colossal laws that could even sever the starry sky, impacted the atmosphere at a certain altitude, it triggered a certain mysterious spell formation. A faint circle of golden light with mysterious, complicated, flowing runes appeared to block the aura streak.

It was more than that. This spell formation was the strongest arrangement of the ancient Supremes for the sake of protecting America and all that it stood for.

Presently, not only did it block the blade aura, but it even coerced it, ricocheting to slash at the seven-colored bird.

The rebounding blade aura was more powerful and faster.

The seven-colored bird emitted a horrified scream and turned into a seven-colored light stream, fleeing instantly into the distance. In the blink of an eye, it had reached ten thousand miles, but it still could not escape the pursuit of that rebounding blade aura.

Whoosh!

That blade aura stretched about ten thousand yards and traversed the world.

It caught up to the bird in the blink of an eye and severed its body hard.

Poof!

The bird's body exploded, and divine blood spilled before it met its demise.

The nine silver dragons were shocked. Just now, they were baring their fangs and glaring at Esmeralda as if they would attack at any time. Now scared witless, they immediately suppressed their killing intent. Moreover, they even retreated rapidly miles away.

It was then that a huge airship appeared across the sky. It rushed to the side of the seven-colored bird's corpse and caught it.

The seven-colored bird dying so quickly by the blade aura it unleashed might seem a little ridiculous, but in fact, it was not simple. It also possessed a lofty position in a particular high-ranking immortal realm of the universe, and its strength even surpassed that of an Immortal Emperor.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2765

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2765

The seven-colored bird's corpse was full of treasures. Someone naturally wanted them.

On the airship, human figures were swaying. They dragged the seven-colored bird's corpse before dissecting it. Moreover, someone could be heard saying.

"Those few bast*rd's from the Stoermer Sect got into an impasse. They are simply ruthless."

“D*mn it! How dare they set up an immortal-slaying sword formation here? Are they trying to kill everyone?”

Those people, the nine dragons pulling the coffin and the seven-colored bird that had just died, had naturally come over for the resurrected spiritual energy in America. The opportunity erupting from inside would be a collection of great fortunes in countless worlds. It was heavenly cultivation of creation.

Who would not be moved?

The Ancient Heavenly Kings and sect masters were all restless.

However, the seven-colored bird served as a cautionary tale to them. After they helplessly watched it die so quickly, they dared not continue in their endeavors.

Esmeralda's eyes glowed dazzling red as she witnessed the entire process.

It was then that she heaved a sigh of relief. “This is America, but not a place where you outsiders can run rampant,” she threatened. “If you don't wish to die, hurry and scuttle back into your lair.”

Her voice rumbled and shot out of the atmosphere, entering those outsiders' ears. Instantly, she deeply angered those people and beasts. Unfortunately, a spell formation was present over there. They dared not go overboard with the protection of the immortal-slaying sword formation.

Eventually, they vented all the anger on the satellites and space stations.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The locations of the artificial satellites had left the protection range of the spell formation, so the autonomous defense of the spell formation was not triggered when they destroyed the satellites and swept them down to Earth.

At that moment, satellite carcasses were falling by the thousands like raindrops.

“Leave quickly!”

Esmeralda directly severed the parachute strap with a sword. She leaped through the air with Cedric at lightning speed before shooting the ground.

At the same time, the people on Earth had been watching the scene in the sky for some time now.

The major piece of earth-shattering news had been broadcast all over the internet and TV stations across the world. Some people were shocked, some were terrified, while others were excited.

“The age of mythology has appeared! Is it a blessing or a curse?”

“Has the resurrected spiritual energy on Earth become pie slice in the eyes of many?”

“What should we do? Where are the heroes?”

At Rockefeller Manor in California, Alex also witnessed the anomaly in the sky. He knew better than anyone else that the time of strife had come. The spell formation the ancient Supremes had set up would not protect the aborigines without a bottom line. As the spiritual energy was resurrected to a deeper degree, the spell formation would allow outsiders of a certain realm to enter it and look for opportunities.

To put it bluntly, if peerless genomes were to appear among the outsiders, America would equally welcome them. This was to prevent the lack of suitable candidates in the homeland.

The ancient people had done everything just to find a chance to turn the tide. Whoever was stronger would be superior, the emphasis was on fairness.

“I’m going out for a while!” Dorothy suddenly appeared before Alex. “Don’t come and find me! I’ll be stressed as soon as I see you!”

Alex knew that she wasn’t Dorothy, but Xienna. She was still dwelling on that kiss. Then, she just left.

Half an hour later, Cedric and Esmeralda came to Rockefeller Manor.

When Esmeralda stepped into the gate of Rockefeller Manor, she felt strange all over. The green hairpin behind her head was shining with fluorescence and shaking slightly as if it was very excited.

“Could it be that...”

Esmeralda felt inexplicably excited as well. A faint blush even appeared on that stunningly beautiful face.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2766

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2766

“Huh? Cedric, why are you here?”

Geronimo was now at Rockefeller Manor. At the sight of Cedric, he froze for a moment.

That old man had played a pivotal role in Alaska and garnered many great achievements. If they were ranked according to merits, Cedric would be in a higher position than his.

Departments under the government like Divine Constabulary, Department Six, and The Flying Eagles supported Cedric more than anyone else. Geronimo was older and was the founder of Divine Constabulary, but in fact, he could have never established it without Cedric’s help.

“Geronimo, you are here too.” When Cedric saw Geronimo, he was slightly startled.

He did not feel aggrieved when he called Geronimo. Geronimo had just eaten dumplings at Alex’s house and experienced the tide of spiritual energy. Alex had also generously taken extra care of his grandfather. As a result, he showed signs of rejuvenation. His greying hair was now black and shiny, and the wrinkles on his face were gone as well. He now sported a rosy complexion and sharp eyes.

At a glance, he scented to be at the prime of life at forty.

Cedric lamented, ‘Isn’t this change too great?’

Geronimo looked at the sky. “Cedric, are you here because of those guys above?”

Cedric went straight to the point. “I came on behalf of the Alaskan State Council to meet Alex Rockefeller. I have a question for him in person.”

Facing Cedric, Geronimo certainly could not refuse. He went in hurriedly to look for Alex.

At that moment, Alex was in Dorothy's room...

As soon as three days had passed, Xienna woke up and left the place immediately with Dorothy. She was completely decisive without leaving a few words, so he did not even know where she was going.

'What a ruthless woman!'

Alex was helpless. Under the current circumstances, Alex could not do anything about Xienna. In addition, Dorothy once told him about her story. For the sake of a previous life's fixation, Xienna had been searching in the vast sea of people and even lost an important token when she reincarnated. Thinking about it left him moved, yet broken-hearted.

"Bro, can my sister come back this time?"

Beatrice was here as well, lying in Alex's arms, teary-eyed. Before Dorothy left, she spoke to Beatrice. No matter how Beatrice heard it, it sounded like a deathbed confession, and it gave her an ominous foreboding.

Alex comforted her. "Don't worry. The background of her previous incarnation is extraordinary. Now that she has the flaming phoenix by her side, no one in this world can hurt her. They should thank her profusely for not killing anyone."

Beatrice wiped her nose with Alex's clothes. "I hope so..."

"Hey. What is wrong with you? Did you rub your snot on me?"

"What's the big deal? I'm not asking you to eat it."

"Do you even want me to eat something so disgusting?"

Beatrice smiled through tears. She suddenly tiptoed and pressed her lips against Alex's.

"Oh my, what are you guys doing?"

"My eyes! My eyes! The secret story between the brother-in-law and the wife's sister... What episode is it? Have you guys slept together?" Michelle suddenly barged in and immediately chattered to the point that Beatrice's face was flushed.

"Michelle Yowell, are you courting death? Why are you being so loud?"

"Oh. So you can do it, but you won't allow someone else to talk about it. You're taking advantage of your brother-in-law."

"Get lost. Who let you in?"

The two girls, initially alumnae, were like two fighting cocks now.

"This isn't your room," Michelle argued. "It's your sister and brother-in-law's bridal chamber, and it has nothing to do with a sister-in-law like you. What's the matter? Your sister left home, so you're taking advantage of the situation? Being a dog in the manger? Trying to get laid on your sister's behalf?"

Beatrice was embarrassed yet furious. "Michelle Yowell you think I don't know what's on your mind? You're jiggling around your huge bust in front of my brother-in-law. Who are you trying to seduce? I know that yours are actually not huge but diseased. They need to be cured."

The next second, Michelle rushed forward and scuffled with Beatrice.

It was then that Geronimo came to the door. At a glance, he looked dumbfounded. "What are you guys doing? Why are you fighting?"

Alex shook his head. "The classmates are on good terms and are having a wrestling practice. Don't care about them. Grandpa, why are you looking for me?"

"Cedric is here. He has specifically asked to meet you."

"Which Cedric?"

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2767

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2767

"Cedric Campbell!"

As soon as Alex heard that, he couldn't help but feel slightly shocked. He was very familiar with that old man. When he was a student, there were always questions about that man in examinations.

"He... Seems to be unacquainted with me."

"You'll know once you get there, brat. Cedric even brought along his granddaughter, Esmeralda. I think he might have come to matchmake his granddaughter."

"Match... Make..?"

"That's right. Your grandpa is keen-eyed. Esmeralda Campbell looks coy and has rosy cheeks. It definitely has something to do with the relationship between a man and a woman!"

Alex was puzzled.

However, Geronimo quickly dragged him away.

Beatrice and Michelle, still fighting at the side, immediately stopped and jumped away from each other after hearing Geronimo. They had yet to determine the winner, yet someone had called Esmeralda out and wanted a slice of the pie. Had she asked for their permission?

They looked at each other in dismay and unanimously changed targets to the outsider. They chased after Alex in the direction he was dragged away.

Alex was calm and collected as usual when he saw Cedric. With his current position, he no longer had to be as cautious as before in the face of officials.

After some exchanges, Alex knew the purpose of Cedric's visit.

He said, "Cedric, please be rest assured...The Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation I made public is not some kind of conspiracy or trickery. I just want the Earth to overcome this crisis."

Cedric nodded. "I understand it now. There's really an alien invasion! Just now, hundreds of satellites were shot down, and the one almost killed me! I'm here because I'm entrusted by the Emperor who has a great trust in your character. I'd like to ask you, what's the next action we should take in America?"

After thinking for a while, Alex said, "The official might as well recommend Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation. How about it?"

Cedric froze for a while. "Alex, to be honest, I'm considered your elder. Your father used to work under me when he was young. Now, I just want to clarify one thing. Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation is a Divine cultivation technique, but why do you have to go to such great lengths to teach it for free?"

Alex narrowed his eyes slightly and was awestruck. If he were to sort out his father's deeds when he was young, he could talk about them for three days and three nights.

It was not uncommon that he had once become Cedric's subordinate.

He said, "Everything is for self-help! Cedric, if it's convenient, please lend a hand. We're running out of time. The Pantheon is already at our doorstep and eyeing on us covetously. I don't know when they will barge in."

Cedric frowned and said, "I have to discuss this with the Emperor!"

Alex said with a smile, "Alright! Please hurry up!"

He had just promoted the cultivation technique in the live broadcast room. Now, many were learning it, and many had just started cultivating it. There were, however, very few people who could truly comprehend the essence of the cultivation technique to bring him a lot of golden spatial energy.

"By the way, my granddaughter, Esmeralda, wants to talk to you alone," Cedric suddenly said.

Soon, Alex met Esmeralda.

As soon as they met, Alex felt how unusual the lady was her body was shrouded in a layer of mist!

He could not see through her essence.

"Miss Campbell..."

Just as Alex was about to say something, Esmeralda suddenly reached out to the back of her head and took her hairpin. Her black hair fell and reached her waist, exuding charming temptation.

“Do you recognize this?”

Alex looked at the hairpin in her hand. Entirely green, it was shining with radiance. In ancient times, it had a proper noun to it. It was called a comb.

After looking at it for a long time, Alex was about to shake his head, but his cardiac acupoint throbbed and trembled. Something had been broken, awakened, and activated.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2768

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2768

‘D*mn it!’

A thought crossed Alex’s mind, and he was astonished.

Daya had told him before that he had also reincarnated, and the imprint of his previous incarnation was hidden within his cardiac acupoint. Now, he was worried that he, too, would walk on the same path as Dorothy. Who knew who his previous incarnation actually was?

He never wanted it to be that way.

This was his life, and his previous incarnation shouldn’t be coming over to mess with him. The deceased should’ve gone far away, while the ones living were the real ones.

He was trying hard to suppress it. He used his mental strength to envelop the cardiac acupoint

He forcefully prevented the spirit inside from coming out, but it seemed useless. A mass of light was glowing inside, and whispers seemed to be present as well.

‘What is that?’

‘The previous incarnation has awakened and is talking to me?’

Alex was shocked. The envelopment of the cardiac acupoint with his mental strength was equivalent to his soul immersing. After perceiving it, he thought for a while before his mental strength penetrated, but he was also alert and cautious. He summoned the lotus filled with Buddhist wrath to accompany him.

The lotus wrath was the supreme Buddhist treasure with a mysterious origin. Even the Grand Bodhisattva who had given it to him could not figure it out. He had obtained it by chance.

Some ancient and bizarre runes were written on it. It was not a Daoist talisman, and it did not look like a Buddhist talisman either. He had never seen it before.

Alex couldn't recognize it, so he could only use his mental sense to find its meaning vaguely. He studied and comprehended it in the center of the lake of divine power inside that space of Buddhist light where time passed differently.

He had finally refined some of it.

It might disappear over time if he didn't, but this item was a great killing weapon that had invincible powers. Alex could barely use it to defend himself, fearing that the spirit of his previous incarnation would possess him.

His mental body continued to approach it.

He eventually heard the whispers in the cardiac acupoint. It wasn't talking but singing. The beautiful singing was from a lady's voice, but Alex couldn't really hear the lyrics. It was a language that he had never heard before. However, when he heard the song, goosebumps inexplicably sprouted. It was a kind of throbbing that came from the depths of the soul.

'What is this song?

'Who is singing?'

That strange vision popped up in Alex's mind again.

Was his previous incarnation really a woman?

That voice was coming from the seven colored light mass before him, spinning and moving rhythmically. Alex's mental body approached it and stretched out a finger before pressing on it.

Buzz!

The next second, light and shadow exploded. A section of messy memory fragments rushed toward him.

He saw a vast city.

He even saw a man from his back, drinking alone to the moon, in a ship sailing in the deep space of the universe.

'Is that me?'

Alex's heart skipped a beat. Why did he somehow feel sorrowful when he saw the figure?

Then, a glimpse of a vision appeared. In the scene, the man was about to travel far away. His future was uncertain, and his death could not be predicted, but he had to leave. The woman was crying while they reluctantly bid farewell to each other. She sang a song. It was the exact singing that Alex had just heard.

It was no wonder that he felt the certain sorrow of parting when he first heard the singing.

"Go back. Go back! I've failed you in this life, after all!" the man said.

The woman shook her head lightly while crystal tears streamed down her cheeks. "Our bond will never be severed. Not after this life, not in the next, and not in the life after next..."

The man doted on her. "Don't be silly. If I were to forget you in the next life, that person would not be me."

The woman did not care about that. "As long as I remember you, I'll definitely find you no matter what you will be or whether you remember me or not."

She took off a jade bracelet in her hand and sealed their memories inside with a divine art.

Then, she cut it into halves.

“This is the token! Be it a thousand years or ten thousand years, I’ll definitely look for you!”

“I’ll find you as well. If I can’t find you in the first lifetime, I’ll find you in the second lifetime... The third lifetime...”

That was the clearest memory in the mass of light. The remaining memories were broken.

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2769

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2769

Some memories lasted for a fleeting moment, whereas some no longer contained scenes.

Bang!

A soft sound could be heard. The mass of light in Alex’s cardiac acupoint was shattered.

The soft voice was also wholly extinguished. Nothing was left behind.

‘Where is the person?’

‘Where is the previous incarnation?’

‘Where is my previous incarnation?’

In that instant, Alex just felt extremely terrible while a certain sorrow and remorse from the depths of the soul were spreading all over his body.

That was his previous life. He didn’t know why he had to endure reincarnation though it was dangerous.

Who was that lady?

He couldn’t see her clearly as she did not show her face all along. However, Alex was now very clear that his previous incarnation did not intend to possess him.

He reincarnated but only kept a tiny bit of memory and stored it in his cardiac acupoint. His soul had reincarnated entirely, however. He had left this memory behind probably because he wanted to express his remorse to the lady!

Alex's mental body retreated from the cardiac acupoint, returning to his physical body. However, he noticed that his eyes were sore with undried tears.

"Do you remember it?" Esmeralda took the comb and squeezed it gently.

The shafts on it fell off, leaving only the upper part. Clearly, the green bracelet half emanated with a slight fluorescence, as if telling the past.

Looking at the tears Alex had shed, Esmeralda acquired the answer.

She smiled. She even cried.

"Do you remember me?" Esmeralda asked.

Alex froze. He did not see the heroine's face at all in the memory that he had acquired from his previous incarnation... He just remembered that she was wearing a green outfit with fluttering long hair. Well, her back was indeed similar to Esmeralda's.

'Is this lady really the lover of my previous incarnation?'

'However, what about Daya?'

Alex couldn't understand it. Even Daya said that fate had brought him and her together in the previous life. They were spouses in the previous life, and she had looked for him for a long time.

A question then arose. How many wives did he have in his previous life?

Alex, in the face of Esmeralda's question, could only shake his head lightly. He truly couldn't remember her!

Esmeralda smiled. "It's fine as long as I remember you! I've been looking for you for the longest time!"

She smiled and shed tears while singing that song. Then, she approached him slowly.

In Alex's mind, that affectionate lady in that scene appeared again. He was touched by her persistence but also a little angry at the renunciation of his previous incarnation... Even so, he could only achieve his current self due to the renunciation of his previous incarnation.

Boom!

He did not know when or how it happened. Esmeralda kissed him on the lips. She planted a firm one.

She hugged him tightly while trembling as if the both of them were to become one.

He wasn't holding back either. At that moment, he seemed to have become the previous incarnation and unleashed all the accumulated feelings over many years until the door to the room was opened.

Cedric, holding the phone, ran back and pushed it open.

"Oh gosh!"

Cedric was shocked and thought that he had entered the wrong room. Upon closer inspection, however, it was really his granddaughter, Esmeralda.

What was going on? What kind of situation was that?

His granddaughter had previously said that the brat from the Rockefeller family was unqualified and couldn't catch her eye, but how long had it passed?

The two people had just met not more than five minutes, and they already hooked up?

Looking at that stance, his granddaughter was completely the one who took the initiative. This was the rhythm that led to making out on the spot.

'Are you trying to freak your grandpa out?!'

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2770

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2770

“Ah!”

When Esmeralda sensed her grandfather’s arrival, she hurriedly pushed Alex away. Embarrassed, she rolled her eyes at Cedric. “Grandpa! Why didn’t you knock?!”

“So, it’s my fault, huh? How was I supposed to know you were kissing inside? You’ve only met for a few minutes and now, you’ve scared me so much I think I’m about to have a heart attack.”

“What? Cedric, you’re saying Esmeralda kissed someone?”

A surprised voice came from Cedric’s phone. Cedric’s phone was connected to a call.

“Who is that?”

Esmeralda was dumbfounded. Her eyes widened as she looked at Cedric’s phone. After hearing that voice, she could already guess who it was, but she needed to confirm it.

Only then did Cedric realize that his phone was connected to a call!

“It’s the Emperor!” he said in a deep voice.

Esmeralda covered her forehead with her palm. Whatever had just happened was beyond speechless.

Alex was also slightly shocked that Cedric was still on the phone with the Emperor.

On the other hand, Cedric beckoned to Alex and said, “It’s a call from the Emperor. He’s looking for you.”

“Looking for me?” Alex froze.

In any case, the American Emperor was a big shot. In fact, from the perspective of godly cultivation, he was a supreme king with the blessings and luck and favor of Heaven. Mortals could only dream of persecuting him. Doing that would be a great taboo, especially to cultivators.

In antiquity, the Emperor could even drive godly cultivators to serve him, which was also the reason.

When Alex took the phone in Cedric's hand, he could not help but feel a little nervous.

"Alex Rockefeller!"

The Emperor shouted Alex's name right away on the other end of the phone. Alex involuntarily felt a bit flattered and hurriedly responded, "Greetings, Emperor!"

The Emperor said with a smile, "I haven't been very well, of late. A brat like you is all too capable of causing trouble. The international fallout is awful, and I'm bearing the backlash for you. Tell me. How should you thank me?"

His words left Alex dumbfounded.

'You are the Emperor. How could you ask me for favors as soon as you opened your mouth?' he thought.

After thinking for a while, he said, "I still have some dumplings in the fridge at home. Why don't I send them to you?"

Thud!

Cedric accidentally slipped off the stool.

Fortunately, the old man usually had gotten some good items that strengthened him from Jade and Esmeralda, thus, his body was still sturdy. He would've ended up with broken bones or a vegetable, otherwise.

Esmeralda wore a strange expression while holding back as best as she could.

What kind of clown was the man she had been searching for for so many years?

The opponent was the Emperor of America, an existence with the same position as the Yellow Emperor of ancient times. However, he dared to say that he would use the dumplings stored in the fridge as a token of gratitude.

Was he really not afraid of offending the Emperor?

However, they did not know that those dumplings were truly good items.

“You don’t have to send the dumplings over. You have just seen those few bast*rds coming from the sky, haven’t you? Do you have solutions?”

The Emperor dared to call the nine silver dragons in the sky as bas*tards, so his authority still held strong.

Alex frowned. It was difficult for him to answer that question.

Eventually, he just said, “Wait.”

Waiting for what?

Waiting for opportunities, variables, passage of time and development of events.

The ancient Heavenly Emperors had plotted for several millennia just to wait for an opportunity. The current Alex wasn’t even an immortal. Even if he did know what had happened five hundred years ago and could see past and future, the variables of the future were simply too great. Principal Lawlor who had acquired the legacy of the Maiko Sect could not predict the future either because this was one filled with variables, encompassing situations of all ages. The possibilities would traverse countless worlds and even implicate outer space.

The Emperor fell silent for a long while. He seemed to understand it.

“Brat, you are a descendant of an important official. Your grandfather is the president of Divine Constabulary, serving the country and its people. Your father had also conquered the battlefields and made contributions as a result of hard work. Your master, Jade Benmore, has to leave her legacy in the merit book of America, so I hope you will surpass your master.”