

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 1199

After that, Bennett Melvis walked up to his mother, Ruby Lamar.

“Mom, it’s been confirmed. That woman is Brianna Melvis!” he said.

Ruby’s yellow pupils instantly became dilated. Right after that, her facial expression turned incomparably cold and cruel. “What about Yvonne Wilmer?”

“She’s dead! She died many years ago. However, after escaping from the Melvis family, she lived for another six years,” Bennett said.

Ruby snorted coldly. “Such luck! Even after consuming Poison King’s Soul Scattering Poison, she lived for another six years. That little b*tch, especially, was able to live until now. I truly wonder how they managed to do it!”

“Morn, why do you think they haven’t told Dad about it since they’ve lived on for so many years?” This was something Bennett couldn’t quite figure out.

Ruby chuckled sinisterly. “Why do you think? That’s because Yvonne thinks that the person who forced her to drink the poisoned alcohol was your father! I was only there to do something he had instructed me to. Do you think they would still go to your father and complain to him about it?”

This had always been the scheme that Ruby was most pleased with.

After all these years, nobody had discovered it. Hence, after speaking, she started laughing loudly again.

After pausing for a moment, she sat on an exquisite wicker chair and picked up a cup of bird’s nest tea. She took a few sips before she spoke. “Come. Tell me what that little b*tch, Brianna, had been up to all these years. Her mother was a b*tch who sold her body to entertain others. Brianna must also be a b*tch herself. Without Yvonne, could she have become a prostitute?”

“Ehh... This didn't happen. From the information I gathered, she seems quite capable,” Bennett said.

“Oh? Pray tell,” Ruby said.

“Brianna got married to a man named William Rockefeller in California. She even gave birth to a son. A few decades ago, she established a large enterprise, Rockefeller Group, that only sold cosmetic products. At its peak, the company had a market value of 300 billion! However, around this time last year, an accident happened. Her husband died in a car crash, and she went into a coma for ten months...” Bennett said.

At this point, Ruby snorted. “This little b*tch is destined to bring bad luck to her husband,” she said.

“But she woke up three months ago. Recently, she established a new cosmetics company. It's called Lush Cosmetics. It seems to be doing quite well. As for why she was kidnapped, we haven't found out the reason for now...” Bennett said.

“What? Lush Cosmetics?” Right then, a woman walked through the door from the outside. She was approximately the age of fifty, and she was dressed gracefully and elegantly.

This woman was Ruby's daughter, Bailey Melvis.

“Mom, Big Brother, what are you two talking about? Why would a man like you know about Lush Cosmetics?” Bailey asked.

Ruby frowned slightly. “Why didn't I hear a thing when you came in?”

The things they talked about earlier were not to be found out by Geronimo Melvis. Otherwise, she wouldn't be able to stay in the Melvis family any longer. Based on how much the old man loved Yvonne Wilmer, he might even kill Ruby.

Fortunately, this was Ruby's daughter. Her daughter had also heard a few things about what happened years ago. That was why Ruby could relax.

"Bailey, how do you also know about Lush Cosmetics?" Bennett asked.

Bailey chuckled. "Of course, I know about it! Lush Cosmetics is trendy now! Its products are endorsed by the superstar, Zendaya Stoermer. Be it the scar removal cream or the acne cream, they're all the best of the best. Whatever this brand comes out with, it nearly dominates the entire beauty and skincare industry! Unfortunately, this company is quite proud. My friend wanted to sell Lush Cosmetics products. Despite bringing a few reputable people to discuss with the company, their people wouldn't even show any respect," Bailey said.

"In that case, do you know who the boss behind Lush Cosmetics is?" Bennett asked.

"I heard it's a young girl called Howards or something," Bailey said.

"Well, you're wrong. That's just a smokescreen. The real person behind the company is Brianna Melvis!" Bennett said.

"Brianna... Melvis?" Bailey's mouth was wide open. She nearly screamed out loud.
