

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 249

Alex Rockefeller felt equally shocked.

Coincidentally, he was looking for Budweiser Martial Arts Center to demand justice. He didn't expect someone from Budweiser Martial Arts Center to come looking for him.

Could John Rockefeller really have hired people from Budweiser Martial Arts Center to attack Alex?

But Alex couldn't quite figure out why he would do that. Back when Alex was in Rockefeller Manor, he destroyed over ten meters of land surface with a single stomp. The mighty powers he displayed would convince even a fool to not mess with him. Were these people sent here to die?

"Who asked you to attack me?" Alex asked.

The fat guy gritted his teeth. "I won't tell you. As long as you two little b*stards don't kill me today, I will have my revenge. You will regret ever messing with Budweiser Martial Arts Center."

Crack!

Azure lifted his foot and stepped on the guy's other leg. This time, the bones in his leg had been thoroughly crushed.

For Azure, one of the Three Great Chieftains of California's underworld, breaking legs was merely fun and games.

Azure chuckled coldly. "Budweiser Martial Arts Center is nothing. Even your master, Robert Downie, wouldn't dare speak to me like this. How dare you threaten Mr. Rockefeller? I'll give you a chance to redeem yourself by telling us who ordered you to do this. Otherwise, I promise you won't live to see tomorrow!"

The large guy's body was hurting so badly that he was shivering all over.

Only when Azure mentioned Robert's name did the large guy sense that something was amiss.

"Who... who are you?" The guy's voice was trembling.

"I am Azure Storm from Thousand Miles Conglomerate," Azure said in a coolly.

"What? You're Azure Storm, one of the Three Great Chieftains of California's underworld?" The guy was stunned.

"That's me!" Azure said proudly.

The fat man felt immensely regretful right then.

He was Jake Colter, a man Clarence Fawl had hired to teach Alex a lesson. Clarence told him that Alex was a useless piece of trash who depended on his wife and was good at committing fraud. All Jake had to do was break his hands, and he would be paid one million dollars. Jake thought this would have been easy money, but he didn't think he'd end up meeting a god-like assassin like Azure.

If he had known, he would have killed Clarence and fed his body to the hounds instead.

Was this a blatant setup?

“You have five seconds to decide. Tell me who ordered you to do this, or die!” Azure said calmly. However, to Jake, Azure sounded like a demon from hell.

“I’ll tell you. I’ll tell you right now,” Jake said.

He didn’t even hesitate for a single second before revealing that Clarence was the one behind this.

“It’s him!” Alex chuckled softly. He was not exactly surprised.

“Mr. Rockefeller, do you want me to get someone...” Azure said.

Alex waved his hand. “There’s no need. He’s just an insignificant figure.”

He looked around at the people from Budweiser Martial Arts Center. None of them looked like nice people. Now, because of Clarence, they ended up severely hurt. Would they even let Clarence off the hook?

However, Clarence had just been begging Alex for forgiveness a while ago. Now, Clarence ended up hiring someone to mess with him. Wouldn’t Alex be too kind if he didn’t return the favor?

Alex took his phone out and made a call.

“Wallace, I was just attacked. They wanted to break my hands. Clarence Fawl was behind this. I think he has some serious personality flaws. Letting him stay in the medical system would only make us look bad.” Alex complained to Wallace Yoke.

“What? I can’t believe it. This rascal has lost his mind.

Are you alright, Mr. Rockefeller?" Wallace exclaimed.

"Don't worry. I'm fine."

Alex then heard Wallace speaking to someone. "Anna, I'll let you deal with this. You mustn't go easy on criminals like him."

"Mr. Rockefeller, you owe me a favor," Anna Coleman said into the phone.

Alex's nose twitched. If it wasn't for him last night, something terrible would've happened to Anna. "Damn! Who pissed in her pants? Why does it stink so badly?" Alex said bluntly before hanging up.

Anna's face turned cold as she gritted her teeth. She looked like she was going to murder someone.