

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 279

Alex and Anna hurried to Rockefeller Manor.

There weren't many cars on the road at night, so Anna sped across the roads, ignoring the traffic lights as if they were just decorations to her. She fully stepped onto the pedal and rampaged through the roads. The car was so fast that a string of sparks was produced along the way due to the friction of the tyres, causing many people yelled at them with displeasure.

Vroom!

As the car sped by, a pedestrian on the sidewalk shrieked in shock.

Alex's eyelids kept twitching. He couldn't bear watching any longer, so he lifted his arm and gave a slap.

Smack!

A hard slap was landed on Anna's thigh.

"Why are you driving so fast? Are you rushing to your own funeral?"

Anna was enraged. "How dare you, try and hit me again?"

Smack!

Alex didn't hesitate at all. After slapping her thigh again, he said, "You actually asked for such an excessive request, do you think I'm a masseur? Your legs are too thin, there's nothing sensual about them at all. It's a failing grade from me."

“You bastard, I’m going to kill you!” After angrily stopping her car on the road, she was about to pounce and attack Alex.

Alex then said, “Didn’t I just overhear that your team leader, Sky Melvis, seems to ask you to do something?”

Upon listening to this, Anna’s expression twisted in shock. In the end, she said, “Hmph, I don’t care about perverted bastards like you. Having you to join Divine Constabulary is equivalent to digging our own graves.”

However, she somehow managed to suppress her temper and drove more safely.

Alex secretly smiled.

Before leaving the villa, Sky had ordered Anna to try and convince Alex to join Divine Constabulary. Even if he couldn’t become an official member, they should at least strive to have him as a guest member. He even mentioned something about the Vermilion Battle, it sounded important.

Alex, who had sharp hearing, accidentally overheard their conversation. Linking some clues here and there, he was able to figure out what they were up to.

Since they needed help from him, then they should have the attitude to ask for it... Even so, Alex had decided to accept Sky’s offer.

Twenty minutes later, they finally reached Rockefeller Manor.

Unexpectedly, another car arrived at the door as soon as they did. Spark, Carol and Natalie got out of the car, they reeked of booze and it could be smelled from afar.

Alex thought they must have come back from some banquets.

Noticing that Alex and Anna standing at the entrance, the three were slightly taken aback. Spark then immediately rushed over. "It's the loser, Alex! How dare you come over here at midnight? What are you snooping around for? Are you a thief?"

"I'll tell you what, you can dream on! There's no way that we would hand Rockefeller Manor over to you. Last time you placed a bomb under the ground here and put up an act, do you think we would be afraid of you? You're way too naive! You and that b*tch mother of yours can live on as beggars from now on!"

Alex was really speechless.

Last time, he had destroyed the ground of a ten metre radius with just a forceful stomp. The visual effect must have been way too good, to the point that none of them believed him and they thought he had placed a bomb underground beforehand.

Anna frowned and whispered, "Don't waste time."

Alex nodded.

Just as Spark, who had a mocking and contemptuous look on his face, was about to open his mouth to say something, Alex lunged forward and slapped him hard across the face.

Smack!

Spark immediately fell to the ground and fainted from the impact.

Both Carol and Natalie were shocked, as they didn't expect Alex to attack him without saying a word.

The two sisters took a few steps back, visibly terrified.

Carol said, “Alex, don’t you dare do anything rash. Do you think you can do anything you want just because you have some skills? This is a society governed by laws and there are surveillance cameras installed in every corner. Since you deliberately hurt our people, just prepare to get jailed!”

Alex scanned the area briefly.

Indeed, there were many surveillance cameras installed at the entrance, there were many hidden pinhole cameras installed as well.

It seemed like they really got themselves well prepared!

Smack!

Alex chuckled coldly and poked onto one of Carol’s acupuncture points, causing her to lose consciousness on the spot. Natalie was about to scream, but in the next second, she fainted and softly fell to the ground.