

The Pinnacle of Life –

Chapter 0601

“Who did this?”

“Who the f*ck did this?”

Bunty was exploding in Zendaya’s villa in Golden Manor. In just a single night, this scandal had spread all over the internet, taking up the headlines of every magazine. Twitter, Reddit, even official news broadcasts were talking about this incident.

To be viewed as a homewrecker, this was indeed the greatest scandal Zendaya had ever got into.

Moreover, this scandal had spread across the country. Even if they were to use their strongest connections, it would be impossible to find a way out of this.

Missy said, “Someone must be pulling some strings to ruin Zendaya’s image.”

Autumn added. “If I were to find out who it was, I’ll kill them!”

Zendaya, on the other hand, sat on the bench near the window. Holding her music sheets, she looked oddly calm with her eyes closed. She didn’t seem to be bothered by this scandal.

In actuality, she was training her mental power according to the methods Alex had given her.

It was very interesting and mystical. She felt like she was able to learn all of the methods easily. She secretly released a small flow of mental power towards Missy.

Just then, Missy shouted in pain and fell to the ground, holding onto her head.

Zendaya was surprised, she immediately stopped the release of her mental power.

“Missy, what’s wrong?” she asked as she rushed up to her.

Missy stood up, face pale. “I... I don’t know. My head just hurt really bad all of sudden. Really really bad! But then it just stopped.”

Bunty replied, “That must be nothing. I get headaches all the time too. You just have to sleep it off. If you’re really that worried, go get a CT scan!”

She then turned to Zendaya. “Oh my dear, why do you not look concerned at all? This is a scandal! Someone is trying to ruin your reputation! Someone in our company must’ve sent that video out. I’m guessing it’s Elena, she was there too that day.”

Zendaya said calmly. “Don’t panic. So what if it’s a scandal? It’s not like I’ve done anything wrong, I won’t go to jail.”

Bunty replied. “You may not have to go to jail, but your future is ruined! Think about it, you’d be made redundant.”

“Then so be it, I have to retire anyway.”

“What?!”

The color drained from Bunty’s face. ‘How could she think this way? I still need her to help me earn more money for a few years!’

Zendaya said, “It’s not necessarily a bad thing.”

Missy was shocked as well. “Not a bad thing? Then what is a bad thing then? I’d say that Mr. Rockefeller is the worst. How could he just hide away and not speak up after this? He has damned us all!”

Zendaya’s expression was cold. “I won’t let you talk about him like that! I was the one who got him involved when I used him as a shield.”

She then continued. “Actually, I’ve never told you guys but even if this scandal didn’t happen, I would be retiring soon regardless. My family is arranging a marriage for me. Once that’s settled, I wouldn’t be able to continue singing or acting.”

The others screamed in shock.

Bunty said, “No way, you should be able to continue to work in the entertainment industry even after marriage! Look at the top celebrities now, they’re all married!”

Zendaya shook his head. “I’m different.”

“How so?”

“I’m from the Stoermer family of Michigan!”

Women of the Stoermer family do not get to have true love. Many of them become sacrifices for arranged marriages.

Zendaya was a beauty who had a voice who could swoon the whole world, hence she was the best tool for arranged marriages... She would either be married into a rich family or to a powerful martial artist.

Finding true love was a luxury to her.

She thought, 'With this scandal, could I escape the fate of an arranged marriage then?'
