

The Pinnacle of Life –

Chapter 0633

The winds were calm, and the sky was moonless. Even the bustling lights on the shore seemed so far away from the hustle and bustle of the city.

When Alex opened his eyes, Zendaya had already left. Though the beautiful woman was gone, her fragrance still lingered in the air.

There seemed to be a haunting song in his ear, playing itself on repeat.

“Since ancient times, passion has been mistaken ruthlessly as yearning for love... How strange the lasting summer heat and cold winters have become through the years... Three stones, three roads, three lifetimes of life and dust returning to earth... But yearning is not to be defeated, and when I see you again, I hope we’ll be as we were... Like a beautiful flower cared for, a life without you is just a fleeting waste...”

While Zendaya was singing this song, he was still in a confused state. Though his mind was still in a daze, he saw Zendaya leaving and how reluctant she was to leave his side.

But at this moment, this tune seemed to have engraved itself into his soul, and it could no longer be forgotten.

‘Zendaya, what do you want me to do?’

He looked up into the sky with red-rimmed eyes, and he seemed to be able to feel Zendaya’s state of mind. He felt her farewell and the courage of the woman before she left.

However, to Alex, this was indeed a headache and a heartache at the same time. He had just gotten a breakthrough in his relationship with Dorothy. Now, he had been broken through by Zendaya, and it had been forced upon him.”

Finally, his head stopped hurting. He got up slowly, putting on the clothes scattered on the deck. Everything that had just happened felt like an absurd dream.

He would never have expected Zendaya to do something of this sort.

Humm...

Right now, he felt his mental power flaring up, more lively and powerful than ever. If one were to rate his previous mental powers as 10, it was now 100, increasing by a full tenfold.

Alex let out a bitter laugh. "Is this the benefit of being forced upon?"

Dududu...

Alex stood up and touched his lower back, and there was a hollow feeling there.

Looking at the time, he realized that it was one in the morning. From the time he had boarded the ship till now, it had been a full four hours.

Zendaya. How ruthless!

"Hello, mom?"

It was Brittany, Alex's mom, who had called.

"Oh, you stinky boy, where have you been? You didn't even pick up your phone. I thought something happened to you!" Brittany's lamenting yet worrisome tone yanked Alex out of his dreamlike state.

"Mom, has something happened that you were in such a rush to find me?" Alex asked.

“Do I only call you when I need something? I’m just worried!” Brittany exclaimed. “You didn’t even pick up your phone! How do you think I can sleep when that happens?”

Alex chuckled. “I forgot my phone just now.”

“As long as you’re fine, it’s all good. My heart nearly dropped!” Brittany continued. “Son, our advertisement has been released. Have you seen it? It’s online now on every network, on the billboards too. You can go to Hailey’s salon to see how the effects are... Also, tell me honestly, what’s going on between you and Zendaya? Oh, my boy, have you really sunken your claws into her? Why her sudden announcement that she would be leaving the entertainment circle for good?”

“What?” Alex was startled and stunned.

He hadn’t even heard about this.

Then, he suddenly recalled what Zendaya said that the two of them only had today and not tomorrow. Combined with what Kazim related, it seemed that Zendaya had her hands deep in serious problems.

The moment he thought of this, Alex no longer had the mood to continue chatting with Brittany. After he hung up, he dialed Zendaya’s number, but the call couldn’t get through.

Had he been blocked?

He was dumbfounded.