

Trapped 801

Chapter 801 Isn't It Obvious?

Caroline walked over to Scott and asked, "Why are you here at this time?"

Scott smiled at Caroline. "Not much. I thought you might still be awake, so I brought you the supplements.

I bought this morning."

Caroline examined the supplements and wondered, "Why did you buy these? I already have everything I need."

Scott explained, "These supplements are of very high quality. You haven't been looking well lately, and I wanted to make sure you get all the essential nutrients you need."

Caroline felt grateful but also concerned. "I'm sorry you had to spend your money on this. Please don't buy them for me anymore."

"No need for pleasantries between us," he said gently.

Caroline looked at him, feeling guilty in her heart.

Meanwhile, Evan observed them, his expression turning serious. "They share a deeper connection after the five years they spent together!"

Evan disliked the pent-up anger he was feeling. He wrapped his arm around Caroline's shoulder, a hint of hostility in his expression, and warned, "Your kind attention may cause stress for my woman."

Caroline sighed internally, thinking, 'Here he goes again...'

Scott glanced at Evan's arm, then smiled and replied, "There's no need to assert dominance, Mr. Jordan.

Carol and I have spent just as much time together as you have. It's natural for us to care about each other.

Evan sneered. "Do you think I can't see your thoughts written all over your face?"

Scott calmly asked, "Are you trying to restrict Caroline's social freedom, Mr. Jordan?"

Evan explained, "I won't interfere with her social life, but I need to approve of anyone who shows improper Intentions toward her."

Scott questioned, "Do you believe two boxes of supplements are enough to win Caroline's affection, Mr.

Jordan?"

Scott's remark held a hidden meaning, implying that Evan saw Caroline as someone who could be won over by small gestures. Evan's hand clenched tightly, and Caroline observed him subconsciously.

+15 BONUS

Before Evan could respond, Caroline changed the subject. "Would you like something to eat, Scott?"

Scott declined, "I'm leaving now that I delivered the supplements. I don't want to disturb you two when you should be resting."

Caroline suggested, "It's fine. I haven't washed up yet. You must be hungry. Stay for supper."

Caroline turned to Evan and offered, "You should eat, too. I'll cook."

Evan stayed silent, realizing that Caroline was determined to cook. Scott didn't decline either, so he sat down and waited quietly.

However, Evan couldn't help but glance at the two boxes of supplements, his expression growing serious.

Is giving two boxes of supplements really that impressive for Caroline? I'll have Reuben buy enough supplements to fill a plane as a gift for her tomorrow! he thought.

"Mr. Jordan, you seem hostile toward me," Scott remarked.

Evan looked at him coldly and replied, "Shouldn't I be when you're openly pursuing my woman?"

Scott smiled and asked, "In that case, how should I have reacted when you swooped in and started seeing Caroline just as things were getting serious between us?”

Evan frowned. “What were you doing?”

Scott quipped, “Isn’t it obvious what a grown man and woman do when they’re single?”

An intimate scene flashed in Evan’s mind. He clenched his fists tightly and threatened menacingly, “Stay away from Caroline if you don’t want to lose your job!”

Chapter 802 You’ve Never Done Them

Scott said, “I’m afraid that your relationship with Caroline will only drift further apart if you do that, Mr. Jordan.”

Evan said, “It’s easy for me to eliminate you without drawing any attention! Caroline won’t even notice that

Scott chuckled. “Give it a shot if you’d rather not be with Carol, Mr. Jordan.”

Evan’s eyes turned cold. “Caroline seems more important to you than your job, huh?”

“Yes,” Scott replied confidently.

Evan abruptly stood up, grabbing Scott by the collar. His rage-filled eyes bore into Scott’s. “Don’t blame me for kicking you out of Angelbay if you make any inappropriate moves toward Caroline!”

Despite Evan’s anger, Scott remained calm.

“Follow Carol at all times so I won’t have a chance to take advantage of her, Mr. Jordan,” Scott said with a smile.

Evan couldn't restrain himself from raising his fist.

At that moment, he heard a crashing sound behind him, turned to the kitchen abruptly, chest tightening with anxiety, and let go of Scott to walk over.

Caroline was picking up broken pieces of a bowl in the kitchen.

Evan scooped her up swiftly. Failing to vent his anger, he shouted, "Are you trying to injure yourself?"

Shocked, Caroline replied, "Why are you so angry? I'm just cleaning up.

Agitated, Evan said, "Get the maid to do this from now on!"

"Eira is not a maid. Make a clear distinction," Caroline retorted.

"Hire a maid then!" Evan snapped.

Caroline was unfazed. "Someone needs to clean up the broken glass now, right? Am I supposed to leave it for the maid tomorrow?"

"I'll do it!" Evan found a broom next to the door, walked over to take it, and began sweeping the glass shards.

Caroline couldn't help but smile at Evan's clumsy movements. "Have you not done household chores in a

1/2

+15 BONUS

Evan was displeased. "Is it wrong to be rusty?"

"Say what you want. You clean up while I continue to cook," Caroline said.

Soon, steaming hot pasta was served. Caroline called out to Scott to join them. Kenny coincidentally came downstairs.

Kenny complained, "G, how dare you cook supper without including me!"

Caroline replied, "There's some left in the pot. You can have it, too."

"That sounds about right. Scott, you're here too!" Kenny said.

Scott nodded, and Kenny prepared a serving for himself.

There was a strange ambiance at the dining table. Kenny sensed something was off, glancing at Evan and Scott before whispering to Caroline, "Have you noticed that something is strange between them?"

Caroline sighed. "Just eat."

Kenny decided to stir the pot and asked Scott, "What brings you here so late?"

Caroline was rendered speechless. "Kenny knows just which sensitive topic to bring up!"

Scott replied, "Nothing much. I just came to deliver something, and Carol took the trouble to cook supper for me."

"Why are you being a stranger? You used to cook for G frequently when we were in Spania, and G would also cook you supper, right? Kenny said.

Chapter 803 Make Amends

Caroline couldn't resist kicking Kenny under the table. Why are you so clueless about avoiding sensitive topics? Isn't it obvious that Evan is furious?' she complained inwardly.

Kenny looked puzzled. "Why are you kicking me?"

Caroline stole a glance at Evan, who had a serious expression.

"Nothing, just stretching my legs," Caroline explained.

"Ah."

After supper, Scott left, and Kenny headed back to his room, content.

Caroline and Evan returned to the room.

Evan lay on the bed, ignoring Caroline

Caroline asked, "You seem upset. Is it because of Scott's gift?"

“No!” Evan answered with closed eyes.

Caroline muttered, “I’ve already told him not to get me gifts from now on.”

Evan refused to speak.

Caroline continued patiently. “Don’t mind it. I’ll remind Scott again next time.”

After Caroline finished, Evan said, “Are you going to meet him alone again?”

“That’s not what I mean. I’ll just give him a call. Scott has helped me a lot, so I can’t be too cold to him,”

Caroline said in frustration.

“I don’t want to hear about this. What was your relationship with Scott previously?”

Caroline frowned. “I told you a few times we’re just friends!”

Evan sneered. “Just friends? Caroline, have you ever considered being with Scott?”

Caroline didn’t want to keep him in the dark. “I did, but it was out of guilt. I wanted to make amends.”

“Make amends? Do you want to spend your whole life trying to make up for his affection toward you?”
Evan said in anger.

Caroline replied, “That was how I felt back then, but it was really tough on me emotionally. What’s going

+15 BONUS

“Are you going to try to make amends with any man who has feelings for you with your own body?”
Evan

was livid.

Caroline said, “I wouldn’t go to this extent for just anyone.”

“You’d do it just for Scott, is that right?”

Caroline couldn’t bear it anymore. “Have you had enough of causing a scene, Evan?”

Evan was highly agitated. I can’t stay calm when I think about your intimacy with Scott!”

“I’ve never crossed any boundaries with him! I’m not going to explain anymore, even if you don’t believe it,” Caroline said angrily.

She grabbed her pajamas and walked to the bathroom.

A loud door slam came from outside.

She opened the bathroom door and looked at the bedroom subconsciously.

She appeared disappointed when she saw the empty bed.

Have I not explained clearly enough, or is he just being overly suspicious?’ she wondered.

Outside the villa.

Evan called Alex and picked him up half an hour later.

Alex got into the car and was shocked to find Evan in his casual outfit.

“Damn, Evan! You’d actually go out in your pajamas like this, huh?’ Alex was surprised.

Evan’s expression was tense as he stepped on the accelerator and drove away swiftly.

They arrived at Villa Rosa, and Evan walked to the villa.

Alex followed right behind him. “Hey, walk slower. You asked me out, so don’t leave me behind and ignore me!”

They walked into the lounge room one after another.

Chapter 804 Can You Stay Calm

Evan grabbed the liquor from the shelf, poured a glass, and downed it.

Alex got a bottle of wine, poured it into a glass, and took a sip.

Evan shot him a disapproving look. “Why are you out if you don’t want to drink?”

“Why vent your anger on me? Paige loves her alcohol. It won’t be good if she smells it on me!” Alex retorted.

Evan took the bottle, sat on the sofa, and downed drinks one after another.

Alex sighed and approached Evan. “What’s going on with you? You don’t tell me when I ask.”

'Scott asked me what two single, grown people would do!' Evan exuded a dangerous vibe.

'Scott? Referring to him and Caroline?' Alex was shocked.

"Or else?" Evan asked.

Alex sat down quickly. "Scott doesn't seem like the kind of person who would say such things. Why would he ask you that out of nowhere? This is clearly meant for you to imagine on your own!"

Evan shared the earlier incident with Alex.

Alex said, "Ah, no wonder he said that. You provoked him first."

"How is it my fault? He always had feelings for Caroline! In fact, they wanted to be together at one point!"

Evan said angrily.

"What's wrong with that? They were both single at the time. Moreover, Scott took good care of Caroline.

His actions would move her. The key question is, what does Caroline think about it?"

"What can she think about it now? She's mine!" Evan said in agitation.

"That's not it. It's about whether Caroline has told Scott that she is choosing you. I find it quite ore in her understandable. Both of them are unmarried, and the man is outstanding. I'd marry him if I were in place!"

Evan said, "Is he more outstanding than me?"

Alex said, "He is not as outstanding as you, but he is gentle and meticulous. He doesn't even have a temper and sacrificed himself for Caroline for so many years. It's not something that anyone can accomplish, right?"

1/2

+15 BONUS

Evan continued to drink, suppressing the unsettling feeling in his chest.

Alex said, "Has Caroline explained the situation to you?"

"Hmm."

"What was her explanation?"

"She claimed that they are just friends!"

"Isn't that a good thing? She'll feel wronged that you're getting pissed here!" reassured Alex.

Evan sneered. "Could you stay calm if this were to happen to you?"

Alex took a moment to consider from Evan's perspective.

"Fuck! I can't! I think I'd lose my temper too!" admitted Alex.

Evan darted him a look.

"Fuck! Isn't that a blatant provocation? Was Scott provoking you intentionally so you'd get pissed off and quarrel with Caroline?" Alex realized the situation.

Evan's action of pouring himself a drink halted.

Alex said anxiously, "I remembered something that Paige told me previously. Scott once made an expression on purpose, which terrified her."

Evan frowned. "What kind of expression?"

Alex said, "I don't know the details, but Paige told me that Scott didn't appear jealous at all when he witnessed your interaction with Caroline! Does that count as him having feelings for her? I wouldn't be able to do that if I were him! If he doesn't have feelings for her, what is his intention of getting close to Caroline then?"

Evan thought to himself quietly.

"Have you ever looked into Scott's background?" Alex asked.

Evan took a sip of his drink and said, "No."

"Look into it then! I can feel that something is off," Alex reminded.

Evan pursed his lips and considered looking into the matter.

Chapter 805 You're a Deadbeat

The next day, Casey and Draco had breakfast together at Jordan Residence.

After breakfast, Draco took a sip of his coffee and said, "Casey, you don't have to go to the company from today onward."

Casey frowned. "Why, Father?"

Casey had spent a considerable amount of money replacing materials in the past two days. He aimed to strike a blow to Evan when the amusement park's construction was completed.

'Trying to get me to step down now? That's impossible! I won't be satisfied until I see Evan suffer!' Casey thought.

To protect Casey, Draco had to make up a lie. "The upper management has diverse opinions on the loss you caused to the company."

Casey was incredulous. "You won't let me go because of this, right? Father, I'm going to make up for these deficits when the amusement park is completed"

Draco was infuriated. "I'm telling you that you don't have to go anymore! How many times must I repeat myself?"

The gentle expression on Casey's face vanished. "Did Evan come and see you? Are you really that easily threatened by him?"

"Threatened by him? Is it not enough that you get to do what you should do, and someone will manage the company for you?" Draco tried to justify himself out of pride.

Casey's expression turned cold. "I have something that I need to do at work, Father!"

"If you insist on going to the company, I'll get them to fire you!"

Draco got up and left the dining room after saying that.

Casey clenched his fists tightly in rage.

'It must be Evan causing trouble! I can't think of anyone else other than him! How can I see Evan suffer to the point of madness if the project is halted?

I don't want to miss seeing Evan's expression that will make my heart race and my blood boil in excitement! I want Evan to remember his mother's tragic death over and over again!'

With this in mind, Casey stood up and left Jordan Residence for MK.

+15 BONUS

At 9:00 a.m., just as Evan arrived at his office in MK, Casey walked in.

He stood at the door and stared at Evan maliciously. "What are you afraid of, Evan? Why do you have to be so impatient and have our father kick me out of the company?"

Evan's expression turned cold. "Get out of here."

"Aren't you the one who should get out of here?" Casey shouted.

He walked toward Evan and mocked, "This was my company from the start, while a bastard like you is supposed to make money for me!"

"Are you trying to get yourself killed? Don't think that I won't dare to kill you!" Evan grabbed Casey by his collar!

The secretaries immediately ran outside to watch the scene after hearing the noise from the office.

They discussed amongst themselves when they saw Evan and Casey quarreling.

"Mr. Jordan is a bastard? Why would the VP say that?"

"I heard that Mr. Jordan Sr.'s first wife passed away early, and he married two more wives after that. Mr.

Jordan is the third wife's child."

"Oh god! That has nothing to do with being a bastard, right?"

"Precisely! How can he be a bastard when his mother was legally married?"

“The VP is really disappointing!”

“The VP has wronged Mr. Jordan!”

“Shouldn’t it be Mr. Jordan Sr. who is the scumbag?”

Casey laughed frantically in the office.

“Come and kill me! What else can you say other than this? Are you annoyed that I want to rebuild the amusement park? Are you scared that you’ll remember your slutty mother’s tragic death when you see it?

I don’t want you to have an easy time, Evan. You’re a deadbeat-”

Before Casey could finish his sentence, Evan swung his fist and threw a punch.

Chapter 806 Collectively Vote You Out of MK

Evan kept hitting Casey even after he fell. He seemed determined to beat Casey to death.

The secretaries turned pale with fear, and the head secretary immediately called Reuben.

Casey continued to laugh frantically and shout as if he had gone berserk.

“Beat me to death if you have the balls, Evan! You bastard! You and your mother are equally despicable!”

Reuben rushed into the room as Casey’s face was badly battered.

He stopped Evan hastily, saying, “Please stop, sir!”

With aggressive eyes, Evan shouted coldly. "Go away!"

Reuben tightly hugged Evan's waist, refusing to let go. "Please calm down, sir! He's provoking you, so don't lose your composure. Beating him to death won't be beneficial for you!"

Evan paused, and the anger in his eyes turned to pain at Reuben's advice. He gnashed his teeth, glaring at the severely beaten Casey.

"Get security to throw him out of MKI!" Evan suppressed his anger with great effort.

Reuben said, "Leave it to me, sir. Please calm down!"

After loosening his grip on Evan, Reuben called security. They soon carried the unconscious Casey out of the room.

Draco learned about the incident in less than 10 minutes and angrily called Evan on his way to the hospital.

The call was picked up promptly.

Draco snarled, "You piece of shit! How far are you willing to go to achieve your goals, huh?"

Evan looked at his red and swollen knuckles. He said, "If you don't want people to know about Casey, how about making a deal with me?"

Half an hour later, Draco showed up at Evan's office and stormed toward Evan. "Don't think you have the right to negotiate about shares with me just because of your current position!"

1/2

Evan looked up slowly. "It seems that Casey is not that important to you."

+15 BONUS

Draco said, "Don't you dare threaten me with Casey, and don't even think about getting 30% of my shares! You ungrateful brat!"

Evan said coldly, "Since this is non-negotiable, I will invite the journalists to MK's press conference this afternoon."

"You dare?" Draco's body was shaking in frustration.

"You can see for yourself if I dare to do it or not," Evan reminded him.

Draco said, "Don't push me to convene a shareholders' meeting and collectively vote you out of MK!"

Evan was composed. "Who else do you think is still capable of growing MK? Is it Casey? Or Adam? If both of them were even slightly capable, you wouldn't have put me in this position for a decade. Of course, you may choose to do so if you want the Jordans to have no status in Angelbay from now on.”

Evan raised his head and tapped on his temple. “You should know that the ways to maintain MK’s position are here.”

Draco knew Evan’s capability better than anyone else. Otherwise, he would not have placed his most hated son in MK.

He could not vote Evan out of MK, yet he could not watch MK’s collapse, either!

On the other hand, plenty of people were watching the company closely, and he had taken many lives of the enemies in order to get to his current position!

Chapter 807 Look Into Scott

Draco took a seat, warning. “Don’t even think about taking 30% of the shares!”

Evan replied firmly, “Since it’s non–negotiable, let’s end this conversation.”

Draco slammed the desk in frustration and retorted, “What do you want then? Don’t assume I can’t find someone else to do your job!”

Evan sneered and shot back. “I’m afraid MK will hit rock bottom long before you think about training a replacement for me.”

Draco questioned, “Do you doubt my ability to continue managing the company?”

Leaning back, Evan challenged him, 'After a decade away, how well do you know the company, industry needs, and the research and development of new products? How much can you catch up on?'

Draco was rendered speechless.

Evan continued. "And Casey's reputation will impact the company. How long do you think it can survive after the recent mess?"

Draco felt the urgency to keep Evan at MK and clenched his fists, fearing the consequences.

If he let Evan go, the latter could easily take over MK within a few years, jeopardizing not only shares but also Draco's standing in Angelbay.

However, surrendering the shares meant losing control over passing down the company to Casey. Evan's disrespect would only worsen.

After careful consideration, Draco finally spoke. "Fine, I'll give you 30% of the shares."

Evan smirked, "The lawyer is on the way. We'll transfer the shares immediately."

Glaring, Draco accused, "So, this was your plan all along!"

Evan said, "You taught me to be ready for unexpected things."

In the afternoon, Draco angrily left MK after signing the share transfer agreement.

Evan was about to call Neil when Reuben swiftly entered the office.

“Sir! There’s news from Murcia again,” Reuben said sternly.

+15 BONUS

Evan frowned. “What’s the situation?”

2

Reuben reported, “The firewall was breached to the third level last night, and the IT department is overwhelmed. The branch’s VP suggests you visit Murcia to discuss relocating important projects.”

“What a bunch of incompetent people!” Evan’s expression turned cold. “Find capable hackers with separate payrolls. If we can’t find a breakthrough, I’ll go to Murcia.”

Reuben mentioned, “The VP insists you provide him with an exact arrival time in Murcia.”

Evan narrowed his eyes. “One month. I have other matters now!”

Reuben acknowledged, “Yes, sir!”

As Reuben prepared to leave, Evan called out to him, “Reuben!”

Reuben turned. “Is there anything else, sir?”

“Look into Scott Wilson.”

‘Dr. Wilson?’

Reuben was confused about why Evan would investigate a doctor. Despite his curiosity, Reuben nodded and left.

On Wednesday, Caroline woke up early to take the children to the hospital.

She was clearly distracted on the way. Liora called out to her a few times, but she didn't respond.

Neglected, Liora climbed into Caroline's lap. 'Mommy...'

Caroline looked at Liora in a daze. "Hmm? What is it, Lia?"

Liora pouted and stared at Caroline innocently. "I called out to you a few times, but you didn't hear me, Mommy."

Chapter 808 Who Are You Referring To

Caroline caressed Liora's face in quilt. "Sorry. I was thinking about something."

"Are you thinking about him?" Liora asked.

Caroline feigned her confusion. "Who are you referring to, Lia?"

"Scumbag Daddy," Tyler reminded her from the side.

Two days had passed since Evan left, and Caroline realized he hadn't called or texted once. It felt like he was throwing a tantrum,

Caroline sighed. "No, I was thinking about something else."

“You’re lying! You’ve constantly been staring at your phone for the past two days Liora accused.

Caroline was at a loss for words. Is it that obvious...’

Tyler chimed in. “Mommy, why do you like scumbag Daddy so much?”

Caroline shifted the conversation. “Oh right, the weather’s getting warm. Let me make you some outfits.

What do you think?”

Tyler said, “Mommy, it’s not nice to change the topic of conversation.”

“No. I just want to focus my attention on all of you more,” Caroline reassured.

Liora cupped Caroline’s face. “Can you stop frowning all the time, then, Mommy? If you really miss him, send him a text,” she suggested.

Caroline shook her head. “No, he must be busy, so it would be better for me not to disturb him.”

Moreover, she had already explained everythin unnecessary.

she could. Pleasing a man who didn’t trust her was Liora had an idea. Since Mommy doesn’t want to reach out to him, I just get Daddy to reach out to her! I’ll send him a text when we get home later! Why won’t he take the initiative? That’s not very nice!’

Caroline took the children for a consultation at the hospital. She wasn't fully convinced by Naomi's claim of innocence. Her mind would only be at ease after seeing the test results.

Half an hour later, Caroline handed the children's examination results to the doctor..

The doctor checked through briefly and said, "You can set your mind at ease, Ms. Shenton. The children are very healthy."

Caroline was relieved.

Her phone rang as she prepared to leave the hospital with the children. Paige was calling, and Caroline picked up.

Caroline walked out of the hospital with the children. "Paige."

"Carol... Where are you?" Paige sounded weak..

Caroline was shocked. "What's going on with you? Why do you sound weak? Do you have a cold?"

"Maybe. I forgot to remind Alex about my prenatal checkup today. He went to another city to buy me food early in the morning. Can you come with me to the hospital, Carol?

Caroline took a glance at the children. "Sure. I'll drop the children home first, then come and pick you up."

“Hmm... Call me when you’re almost here. I’m going to sleep in... Paige said.

“Of course.”

Fifteen minutes later, Caroline sent the children home. She reminded Elra to take them out to lunch and then send them to school. After that, she left Bayview Villa.

Liora rushed upstairs the moment Caroline left. She grabbed the phone Evan bought and sent him a voice message.

“Mommy has been in a bad mood for the past two days because of you. Why can’t you come and comfort Mommy? You have to behave like a boy and not ignore someone because of a trivial matter!”

Chapter 809 Get a Virus Screening

Meanwhile, Evan received Liora’s text message while he was having lunch.

He cracked a smile when he heard Liora’s sweet voice, but his lips twitched when he heard the end of the voice clip.

‘Boy? How did I transform from a man to a boy? he thought.

Evan sent a message.

Evan: [What would you like me to say to your mom?]

Liora: [Anything is fine]

Evan pondered.

[Lia, was your mom very close with Scott previously?]

Liora realized that Evan was trying to get information from her.

Liora: [Yes. Papa Wilson takes good care of Mommy very much, and she treats him well, too.]

an taking c

Evan: [Did he do anything else other of her?]

Liora pondered and wondered why Evan would ask this. Is he jealous of Mommy and Papa Wilson?"

She knew what jealousy was and that one would only be jealous when one was in love.

Moreover, the more jealous one was, the more one loved the other person.

Kenny had told her that.

"If that is the case, let Daddy be jealous so he can love Mommy even more!" she thought.

Liora replied smilingly.

Liora: [They would hold hands and hug when I didn't see them. After all, Papa Wilson was very anxious when Mommy choked on her food!

Evan's expression turned solemn, and his heart wrenched in pain upon seeing that.

Hold hands and hug?!'

He felt uneasy at the thought of his woman having more than just physical contact with another man.

He replied in agitation.

Evan: [Understood!]

Liora: [Remember to comfort Mommy!]

+15 BONUS

Half an hour later, Caroline arrived at Paige's place.

Paige walked out of the residential area and got into Caroline's car, feeling dispirited.

Caroline checked Paige's temperature after seeing her flushed face. She frowned and said, "Are you having a fever?"

Paige looked up weakly. "I don't know, but my head feels woozy..."

Caroline told the bodyguard, "Get to the hospital quickly."

Paige fell asleep, leaning on Caroline's shoulder on the way to the hospital.

The doctor checked Paige's temperature and found that her body temperature was 38°C.

The doctor said, "Let's start by getting a blood test to determine the cause of the symptoms. Taking medicine during pregnancy can be complicated."

Caroline helped Paige to stand up and headed to the lab after thanking the doctor.

Caroline said guiltily, "You might have caught a cold from the ski trip the other day. I shouldn't have invited you to go if I knew."

"I'm not that delicate. I overheated that day." Paige waved her hand dismissively.

Caroline said, "Or it might be because you got out of the car before you were fully awake. It's easy to catch a cold due to the temperature difference."

Paige thought about it. "I think I was wearing a jacket when I got out of the car."

Caroline heaved a sigh. "I'm sorry that I got you sick."

"This is not your fault, Carol. I think I was being too sensitive to heat, which led to me catching a cold."

Caroline did not comment further, but she went with Paige to get her blood tested and returned to the doctor with the test result.

The doctor frowned upon receiving the test result. "Ms. Watson, I suggest you get a virus screening."

Paige was stunned. "Is the cold caused by a virus? Does it have any implications for the baby?"

The doctor said, "Get the screening first. I can't be entirely sure now because I only have this one report. I need more detailed data."

Caroline patted Paige's shoulder. "Don't worry, we'll get one."

Paige nodded, her face ghastly pale.

She received Alex's call on her way to the examination room and picked up with joy on her face, "Are you back, Alex?"

Chapter 810 Will That Please You?

"Where did you go, darling?" Alex sounded anxious. "I came home, but you were not here. Why did you leave without telling me?"

Paige glanced at Caroline. "I have a prenatal checkup today, but I forgot to tell you yesterday. So, I asked Carol to come with me."

"Ah, alright then. I'll pick you up from the hospital later!" Alex assured.

"It's fine! I want to go shopping with Carol later," Paige rejected Alex.

*Alright then. Be careful, and I'll wait for you at home," he said.

After hanging up. Caroline asked, "Why won't you let Alex know that you're having a fever?"

"Better not. Alex has been really attentive to me during this period. He'll be anxious if I tell him everything.

I don't want to make it too hard for him," Paige said, caressing her belly with a gentle gaze.

Caroline placed her palm on Paige's slightly bulging belly. "The baby will certainly be attentive, considerate, and responsible like its father."

Paige smiled at Caroline. "Carol, what do you think I should name it if it's a girl? What if it's a boy?"

Caroline said, "It's too soon. Plus, you need to discuss picking a name with Alex."

Paige looked dejected. "He wants to name the baby Paige Price if it's a girl and Watson Price if it's a boy."

Caroline's smile faltered halfway. "Uh..."

Paige said, "So... It's a bad choice to discuss baby names with him! I'm not going to discuss it with him!"

At the examination room's entrance, Caroline had a strange feeling about coming to the same place as they did this morning.

However, she couldn't explain the strange feeling, describing it as a sense of uneasiness in her chest.

She sat on the chair and waited for Paige.

Paige didn't come out after 20 minutes, but her phone rang in the meantime.

Caroline frowned when she saw Evan calling. Is he feeling better now?'

Caroline picked up the call and walked to the end of the corridor.

"Hello?"

1.3

+15 BONUS

“Where are you?” Evan asked in a deep tone..

Caroline answered, “I’m at the hospital with Paige for her prenatal checkup.”

Evan kept quiet briefly. “Do you enjoy taking supplements?”

“Are you still hung up on the fact that Scott brought me supplements?” Caroline asked.

“No! I just want to know if you enjoy taking them!” Evan said rigidly.

Caroline sneered. “It seems that you still haven’t figured things out in the past two days, so you’re bringing this up again Evan, how would you like to explain it? Must I declare that something was going on between Scott and me? Will that please you?

Evan kept quiet.

Caroline said angrily. “I’m just going to explain it to you one last time. Nothing is going on between Scott and me. None of those things you imagine have happened!”

Evan said, “Let’s put the past behind us! Just remember that you’re mine from now on, and no one is allowed to touch you!”

Caroline chuckled in exasperation. “Do you really think that I’d still have something going on with Scott after being with you?”

Evan diverted the topic. “So, do you like taking supplements or not?”

Caroline said, “Who doesn’t enjoy getting essential nutrients for health?”

“That’s good because I told Reuben to bring over some supplements to Bayview Villa. You have to finish them all! I’m coming over tonight to check!” Evan hung up right away.

Caroline looked at the phone in confusion. ‘He told Reuben to bring over some supplements? Scott brought supplements, so he did, too? Why is he suddenly so insistent on this matter?’”