

Triplets On SM 1001

Chapter 1001-“Shepard family?”Molly seemed puzzled.

Wayne immediately explained, “It’s a hidden ancient medical family in the country, the Shepard family!”

He was a little emotional and afraid that Molly didn’t know it. So he introduced in more detail, “Dr. May, you may not know it!

Shepard family is a medical family that has been passed down for hundreds of years. Their ancestors used to be imperial physicians. They come from a strong family background. Besides, their descendants are all capable people in the medical field!

“It’s said that their family has an independent cultivation base, which specializes in the production of various rare medicinal materials. But it’s not the most important thing. The most valuable thing in their family is the tens of thousands of ancient medical books and ancient prescriptions!

“Every year, the Shepard family will come out to conduct free clinics. Because of the limited manpower, they will recruit talented people to help, and give them some rewards! The reward is determined according to the degree of contribution... Anyone who can stand out from the crowd will have the opportunity to enter their library and read medical books.

“At present, basically all these famous domestic medical masters have connections with their families!

“I didn’t expect the Shepard family to take the initiative to send you an invitation letter. It’s a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, Dr. May! “

Hearing his words, Molly finally understood what was going on, and she became excited too.

Before she returned from abroad, her teacher had mentioned the domestic ancient medical families and told her that if there was an opportunity to get to know any of them, she must seize it.

She had been back for so long. She had been too busy dealing with all kinds of things to have a chance to get in touch with them.

Unexpectedly, the opportunity appeared at this time!

Tens of thousands of ancient medical books! Just hearing this, Molly felt her heart beat faster.

She opened the invitation letter and saw a line of golden writing “ Dr. Joye, you’re sincerely invited to create an act of love with us. Afterward, thousands of medical books will be available to you.” When Wayne saw the words, he couldn’t help but marvel, “Well... doesn’t it need to be based on the contribution degree? Dr. May, it seems that you’re really good enough to be respectfully recruited by the Shepard family.

Congratulations! With your abilities, you will help more patients and make more breakthroughs and contributions in the medical industry in the future.” Molly said modestly, “Mr. Harrison, I’m so flattered, but it’s just the duty of a doctor.”

Wayne shook his head, “Dr. May, you’re such a caring person. You have helped so many children and patients. I am much older than you, but I have a lot to learn from you.”

Molly was amused, “Mr. Harrison, let’s stop flattering each other. You are also a person with great love, and you help a lot of people every year.”

Hearing this, Wayne also laughed. The two chatted for a while, and Molly went back.

At noon, Sean called and asked her how she was doing at school, “ Is the class going well today? Is there anyone who is bothering you?”

“No, the students apologized to me,” Molly said with a smile, and she sounded very happy.

Sean couldn’t help laughing, “Are you so happy? Those little brats just did what they should do.”

“I’m not happy because of this, but because I received an invitation letter...”

Molly couldn’t wait to share her joy with Sean.

After Sean heard this, he was naturally happy for her, “ Congratulations, baby!

You get what you want.”

His tone was very gentle. Molly blushed. Baby? It was the first time that Sean had ever called her that.

She felt so sweet and said sincerely, “Sean, I feel very lucky! Not only do I have three children, but I also met you. Now, I can go further in my career. I’m so blessed.”

Chapter 1002-“Is that enough? I don’t think it’s enough.” Sean said in a doting tone, “In the past twenty years, everyone has treated you badly. You have suffered so much. Now, I just wish I could bring all the best things in the world to you.”

Molly laughed happily, “Mr. Anderson, I used to think that you were cold and unsympathetic. I didn’t expect that you would be so eloquent and sweet after we got together. Did you learn it secretly while I was away?”

“No, never had a lesson.” Sean said casually, “When I see you, it just came out of me.”

Molly was amused.

The two chatted sweetly for a while before hanging up.

As soon as the call ended, Sean called Tony directly and asked, “As far as I remember, when you were looking for doctors to treat my legs, you came into contact with many hidden families in the country. Is the Shepard family among them?”

Tony thought for a while, and replied, "Yes! But this family was too low-key and difficult to get in touch with. Even if we pulled some strings and tried to seek treatment from them, we were still rejected."

"What about the specific information? About their family members, how much do you know it?" Sean frowned and asked.

Tony respectfully said, "There is specific information about some of the family members, and I will retrieve it for you later. But why did you suddenly ask about the Shepard family?"

"Molly received an invitation letter to help with their free clinics! As far as I know, very few people have received this kind of treatment in the past. I'm afraid there is something wrong." Sean looked worried.

But Tony was optimistic, "Maybe it's because Ms. May has good medical skills.

Moreover, there was so much news about her a while ago. Everyone knows that she has a kind heart and has helped many children and patients. It may just happen to impress the Shepard family."

"It would be best if this is the case." Sean pondered for a while, and ordered, "Go get the information first."

"Okay." Tony left quickly.

After a while, the file was in Sean's hands.

Sean opened it, and there was quite specific information about the Shepard family inside.

There were records of their family's free clinics over the years as well as the identity information of medical masters who had improved their medical skills by leaps and bounds after entering their library.

Even, the family business of the Shepard family had been found out, including private hospitals, pharmaceutical companies, medical equipment, and medical research institutes all over the world...

It showed the grandeur that a medical family should have!

After reading the information, Sean learned about the family members.

The current head of the Shepard family was named Williams Shepard, who was over eighty years old. His eldest grandson was named Selon Shepard, and he was young and promising and was the new successor of the family.

There were only several other family members and their situations were not specific.

After reading it, Sean was a little dissatisfied, "Is that all for their family members' information?"

"Yes." Tony broke into a cold sweat, and said, "You know those hidden families..."

They say they act low-key, but in reality, they are extremely arrogant and disdain to have too much contact with the outside world. We have spent a lot of time and effort on these materials."

Sean narrowed his eyes and said, "Well, this is interesting. Is there something that Anderson Corporation can't find?"

Putting the file in his hand back on the table, Sean raised his eyes and ordered, "Now, Molly is about to contact the Shepard family! Before that, try to find ways to investigate things about this family. 11 "OK." Tony had no objection, but he secretly wondered if his boss cared too much.

It was a good thing for Ms. May to go to the free clinic and contact the Shepard family after all. Why was Sean so vigilant?

But after thinking about it, Tony realized that Sean always had to be 100% sure in doing things. Maybe the Shepard family was too mysterious, so Sean was not at ease, which was understandable. Tony quickly left!

Chapter 1003-Molly didn't think too much about it. After finishing talking with Sean, she called Mr. Scott abroad to share the news.

Mr. Scott was happy and said, "The Shepard family is the leader of the hermit medicine families. And even the Scott family is inferior to them... I betrayed the Scott family, so I can't introduce you to them. It is a once-in-a-blue-moon opportunity that the Shepard family likes you. If you make good use of the free clinic, you will gain a lot of benefits."

Molly nodded, "I will."

Mr. Scott asked, "When is the free clinic?"

"At the beginning of next month!" Molly replied.

Mr. Scott pondered for a while and said, "You may not be able to participate in the research and development of the reagents at that time. But it doesn't matter.

I will send more people to the lab to help."

"No, thanks. I can handle it," Molly hastily refused.

Mr. Scott sighed softly, "Kid, can you stop going ahead of yourself? Working in the free clinic will be tiring. You may not get a break for an entire day. Do you want to overwork and make yourself ill? Your priority now is to seize the opportunity and get into the Shepard family's library. If you succeed, you will help more people in the future."

After a pause, he continued earnestly, "Molly, I know you have always been responsible and initiative-taking. But you should treat yourself better. After all, your health is your life. You can't get ill. What's more, compared to letting you learn, my reagent is unworthy of mentioning! You must know the order of priority."

Hearing this, she finally agreed, "I see."

After lunch, she went to the research laboratory to work.

To go to the free clinic without worries, she turned on the workaholic mode. She wanted to speed up the program's progress, so she spent all day in the lab.

Influenced by her, her team members all worked harder. When they successfully developed Reagent Two a week later, they couldn't be happier!

Lynn pretended to wipe her tears off and said with emotion, "I've had a long week! I almost dropped dead in the lab out of tiredness. Molly, you're a terrible workaholic like a robot!" All the other members thought the same.

Molly said helplessly, "I've never asked you to work overtime..."

"Yes. However, you are stronger than us but work harder. So, we were all stimulated! And we were too embarrassed to loaf on the job when you worked overtime."

Then, Lynn took Molly's arm and said pitifully, "Molly, since we've successfully developed the reagent, can you go home to sleep tonight? We all need a rest."

Molly couldn't help laughing, "Sure."

Lynn continued, "Can you treat us to a slap-up meal to reward us?"

"I support this proposal!"

"We want a treat!"

The other team members all echoed.

Molly laughed, thinking they might like a sumptuous dinner. She was not a stingy person, so she quickly agreed, "Okay! You can eat whatever you want tonight! My treat."

"Great! I want a super expensive meal. Fellows, don't try to save money for Molly! She is rich!" Lynn shouted excitedly.

The other team members said, "Dr. Joye, you're generous."

Although they had said they wanted to have an expensive meal, they went to a tasty and affordable restaurant in the end.

"Well, pot roast is the best in such weather."

"Yes! I heard it will snow tomorrow. It will be freezingly cold."

Eating around the table, they all flushed because of the warm night.

When Molly listened to their conversation and smelt the aroma of the food, her body also warmed up. After dinner, she paid the bill, said goodbye to everyone, and directly went home. Unexpectedly, as soon as she entered the door, someone hugged her.

Chapter 1004-Sensing the familiar body temperature and smell, Molly was slightly stunned and then asked in surprise, "Why are you here?"

She looked at Sean standing in front of her with a smile.

Sean held her and said, "I of course came to see you. But I didn't expect you were not at home. I took the opportunity to practice my legs. But when walking here, I happened to hear you coming back."

Molly was happy. While helping him sit on the sofa, she said, "My colleagues clamored for a treat, so I came back late. Can you notify me before you come next time? You should not have launched a sneak attack every time. I didn't know you were coming at all."

“But I want to surprise you.”

Sean touched her hands. Feeling they were cold, he wrapped them into his palms to warm them up and said, “What’s more, if I had not come, you would ruin your health sooner or later.”

She had been so busy for the past few days that she had barely contacted him, so he was annoyed! Therefore, he had come here in person to teach her a lesson. But when he saw her, he could not bear to blame her but could only ask tenderly, “What did you eat tonight? What’s that smell?”

“Maybe it’s the roast,” Molly replied and smelt herself. Then, she added, “The smell got on me when I was eating. It will be gone after I take a shower. Stay away from me. Otherwise, you will smell like that too.”

While speaking, she tried to push him away.

However, he didn’t move at all but said with a frown, “You haven’t eaten regularly recently! Is it ok to eat so much greasy food? Can your stomach take it?”

“I don’t feel any discomfort for the time being. Don’t worry.”

Molly couldn’t push him away, so she gave up and asked, “How about you?”

Have you had dinner?”

Sean shook his head, “I came here as soon getting off work because I wanted to have dinner with you. Unexpectedly, you had dinner without me. You little prick!”

“What?” Molly patted him and said, “You should have told me earlier. Let go of me. I’ll cook you something to eat.”

Sean couldn't bear to let her cook because it would be tiring. Therefore, he said, "No need. I've asked Tony to go to buy me something to eat. You haven't had a good rest for days. Don't go to cook for me."

While speaking, he pulled her and let her sit on the sofa.

They hadn't seen each other for days, so they didn't want to part and had a lot of things to talk about.

When Tony came back with the food, Molly stopped their chat and let Sean eat first. Then, she took the opportunity to go upstairs to take a shower.

When going downstairs after the shower, she heard the triplets having a video call with Sean.

One complained childishly, "Daddy, you sneaked to see Mommy again. Why didn't you take us with you? You bad!"

"After you have a wife, you don't need your children anymore. If Mommy gives birth to more babies in the future, we will become less important in your heart, right?"

"Daddy, you're a liar..."

Listening to the three kids' complaints, Sean didn't feel guilty at all. Instead, he smiled, "I was in such a hurry that I forgot to take you with me. I will try not to forget you next time. As for your status, you have always been the second most important in my heart."

"We're the second most important? Aren't we as important as Mommy?"

"Daddy, you just want to monopolize her!"

"I see! Mommy is the love of Daddy's life, but we are just an accident..."

Hearing this, Molly was amused. She then walked over, took Sean's phone over, and said, "Don't talk nonsense! You are my treasure, so I risked my life to give birth to you. You're not an accident!"

"Mommy, you finally finished the shower! We miss you so much! Daddy is bad!"

He went to see you without us!"

"Next time, we will go to see you without him!"

"Mommy, shut him out of your bedroom at night! Don't let him in..."

When the kids complained together, their little faces were full of anger, looking extremely cute.

Chapter 1005-While speaking, she deliberately glanced at the man next to her.

Sean raised his eyebrows and he didn't say anything. But in private, he stretched out an arm and wrapped it around her waist as a gesture of proclamation.

Molly blushed because of his little action.

The three children on the other end of the phone didn't notice, and began to tell how they had missed mommy, and also told interesting stories about them at school.

They were chattering, but it was very lively.

After Sean finished his dinner, he didn't take his hand back and just hugged her like this while quietly listening to the children talking.

He could smell her fragrance after taking a bath. From this angle, he could see her delicate side face and smooth skin.

She was wearing simple pajamas, and her long hair was put down. Her slender neck and beautiful collarbone were visible.

Sean suddenly felt... a little thirsty, and he even felt like he hadn't had enough!

Molly seemed to feel a scorching gaze from the side, and couldn't help but look over suspiciously. The next second, she saw his somewhat longing eyes.

Her heart skipped a beat, and her face instantly flushed.

The three children saw it and wondered, "Mommy, why are you blushing all of a sudden?"

Molly was taken aback for a moment and quickly came to her sense, "No. It's nothing. It's just that the heating is turned up."

"Well, I thought you were not feeling well..."

The children had no doubts.

Molly felt that they couldn't talk like this anymore, or the three children would suspect something. So they chatted a little more before hanging up the phone.

As soon as she put away her phone, she raised her hand in embarrassment to cover Sean's deep and tender eyes.

Sean chuckled, "Why are you covering my eyes?"

Molly complained, "You still have the nerve to ask? I was talking to the children."

Couldn't you behave?"

Sean laughed, "You're already mine. Why don't you allow me to look at you?"

Molly was even more ashamed and annoyed. He could look at her, but couldn't his eyes be less...sultry? Just now her legs had felt a little weak under his gaze!

Sean probably didn't want to annoy her, so he finally calmed down a bit, pulled her hand down, and said, "Okay, I won't tease you... But, my fiancée is so pretty, and it's really hard for me to behave. Well, I can only ask you for something sweet!"

As he spoke, he lightly kissed her on the lips.

After dinner, Sean handled some work in the living room, and Molly accompanied him with her laptop. Both of them were very busy. But even if they stayed together like this, they felt delightful and satisfied.

Later, after finishing their work, the two went upstairs to go to bed together.

When lying on the bed, Molly suddenly felt a little discomfort in her stomach.

She frowned, wondering why she was being so unlucky.

Unexpectedly, she was woken up by stomach pain in the middle of the night!

She sat up with cold sweat on her forehead, and her face was a little pale. She threw back the quilt, got out of bed, and was about to go downstairs to find some medicine when she woke up Sean, who had been sleeping lightly beside her.

"Babe, what's wrong?" Sean's voice was drowsy and hoarse, and he stopped her.

Molly was afraid that he would be worried, so she shook her head and said, "It's okay. I'm just a little thirsty. I'm going downstairs for some water."

Sean heard something wrong in her tone and found her trembling a little. He instantly became sober and turned on the light in the room.

The lights were bright, and he saw her face.

He frowned tightly and asked, "Are you not feeling well?"

Chapter 1006-"It's quite late. Let's not trouble him. I'll go downstairs and get it. Wait for me here."

Molly's voice was gentle and tried to rid Sean of his worries. She then stood up and headed downstairs.

Sean furrowed his brows even more. He looked at his legs with frustration.

Under such circumstances, he should be the one going down the stairs.

However, he had to be the one who couldn't walk. This meant that Molly had to go downstairs herself even though she didn't feel well.

Sean's face darkened even more.

Molly went downstairs, found the medicine and took it. She quickly came back.

When Molly walked through the door, she saw how dark Sean's face was and was shocked. "What is it? Did I upset you in some way?"

I promise I won't do it again in the future."

“No, it’s not you.” Sean shook his head.

He was mad at himself.

Molly didn’t know what was going on, but when she lay back on the bed, she was pulled into Sean’s arms. “Do you still feel uncomfortable?”

Molly found a comfortable position and said, “I’m fine. The medicine takes effect pretty quickly.”

Sean nodded and didn’t say anything else. However, he placed his warm hand on Molly’s belly and rubbed it gently.

There was a layer of clothes between Sean’s hand and Molly’s belly, but Molly felt that her stomach was getting warmer and the aching slowly began to disappear.

Before she knew it, she fell asleep.

Sean kept his eyes on Molly. He breathed a sigh of relief when he saw that Molly was no longer feeling uncomfortable.

Molly was up later than usual the next day.

When she woke up, Sean was no longer present.

She went downstairs after washing up. That was when she saw Sean in the dining room. Not only that, she saw a busy middle- aged woman.

“Who is this?” Molly was a little taken aback.

The woman heard Molly’s voice and said politely, “Good morning, Mrs.

Anderson.”

Molly felt surprised and looked at Sean.

“To make sure that you have your meals on time, I’ve hired Lynsey to look after you. In the future, have your meals on time. If you can’t get home then Lynsey will get the food to you. I’ve already prepared a car for her. You shouldn’t eat so much unhealthy food from takeaways.”

Molly was a little taken aback after hearing what Sean said.

She didn’t expect Sean to be this worried just because she had a stomach ache all of a sudden. All the arrangements were perfect as well.

“To be honest, there’s no need for all this trouble. I won’t be here for long. I’ll be going back after the reagent development has finished. Besides, it was only an accident this time.”

Molly sat down beside Sean.

Sean interrupted her. “Since it was an accident, then we can’t be certain that it won’t happen the next time. Besides, you may not know that the base camp of the Shepard family is in Xesxia.”

This meant that it would be impossible for Molly to return to Northfolk within a short period of time.

Molly was surprised. “How did you know?”

“I’ve done my research, of course. Not a lot of information about the Shepard family is known by outsiders. You will come in contact with them in the near future, so I’m a little worried. Therefore, be good and listen to me, so that I won’t be worried, alright?”

Sean’s voice was gentle, but also domineering at the same time.

Molly wasn't going to refuse anyway.

She felt happy that someone cared about her.

"Alright, I promise I'll listen to you and eat my meals on time. I won't ruin my own health because of work."

"That's a good girl."

Sean felt satisfied and then signaled Molly to eat her breakfast.

Lynsey was very good at cooking. The food she made was no inferior to the chefs of the house in Northfolk.

It was obvious that Sean had put a lot of attention to this aspect.

Chapter 1007-After breakfast, Molly was getting ready to head to the research laboratory.

"Are you going back to Northfolk today, or are you going to stick around for a few more days?" asked Molly before she set off.

Sean curved his lips but didn't answer Molly's question. "Do you want me to stay or do you want me to go?"

"Isn't it obvious?" Molly asked sulkily. "Of course I want you to stay."

"As you wish. I'll stick around for another couple of days." Sean smiled.

Molly gave Sean a puzzled look. "Then that's decided? What about work?" She then squinted her eyes. "Or did you come here because of work?"

Sean smiled. "I came here mainly to see you. The work here is unimportant. I'm not needed when dealing with those matters. But since I'm here, I might as well stick around a couple more days to keep you company."

Molly smiled. "Alright then, that's settled. How about having lunch together?"

"Okay, I'll go pick you up." Sean said goodbye to Molly and then saw her off.

Not long after Molly had left, Sean left the house with Tony as well to meet up with their customer.

Both parties had been cooperating for quite a few years. The contract for the new project was going quite smoothly.

At noon, Sean kept his word and went to pick Molly up for lunch.

Sean deliberately chose a restaurant owned by the Anderson Corporation. He even told the chef to cook a few lightly flavored dishes for Molly.

Molly was very satisfied.

Near the end of the meal, she went to the bathroom. When she came out, she didn't expect someone to be outside the bathroom and was about to go in.

Therefore, the two of them bumped directly into each other.

Neither of them expected this to happen, so both of them took a few steps back.

When Molly just about steadied herself, she heard an arrogant female voice scolding her. "Watch where you're going! Are you blind?"

Molly was a little taken aback. She raised her head and saw quite a good-looking woman.

From what the woman was wearing and the aura that she was emitting, Molly could tell that the woman was from an affluent family.

It was just that her arrogant attitude was very displeasing.

However, Molly didn't want to make a fuss over it, so she said, " Sorry, I didn't do it on purpose."

"Do you think you can get away with it by just saying sorry?"

The woman had no intention of letting Molly go. She was even overbearing.

"What do you want then?" Molly asked with a frown.

Strictly speaking, the woman was the one who bumped into her just now.

Molly was already being kind by taking the initiative to apologize.

When the woman saw Molly's attitude, it was obvious that she wasn't satisfied.

"Don't you know how to apologize? You should at least bow and say sorry.

Didn't your parents teach you manners?"

When Molly saw how arrogant the woman was, her eyes darkened.

“Looks like this woman’s trouble,” thought Molly.

However, she had never been someone who was afraid of a little trouble.

“You’re right, my parents haven’t taught me manners. However, since your parents did teach you manners, then why don’t you be an example and apologize to me the way you’ve just described? You were the one who bumped into me just now.”

“What did you say?”

The woman acted as if it was the first time someone dared to talk to her like that. Her face immediately turned cold.

“What? Is there a problem?” Molly asked coldly.

The anger was evident on the woman’s face. “How... how dare you ask me to apologize to you?”

“Why won’t I dare? Are you a member of the royal family, or are you a princess of some kind? Why should I listen to you?”

After making the sarcastic comment, Molly didn’t want to waste her time here.

She walked straight past the woman and left.

The woman was still standing where she was and was infuriated.

“Damn you, woman! Don’t let me see you ever again!”

The woman looked in the direction that Molly left with gnashed teeth. She stomped her feet and didn't even go to the bathroom. She returned to her private room angrily.

There was a young man in the private room when she went inside.

The young man had medium-long hair and was emitting an elegant aura. His facial features were so good-looking that he didn't look like a male at all.

He looked a little like the woman who had just entered the private room.

"How can you be so angry after going to the bathroom?"

The young man smiled and drank some tea. His smile was elegant.

Beth Shepard was infuriated at the moment. "Bumped into a woman who didn't know her place. She even dared to teach me a lesson!"

When Selon Shepard heard those words, he couldn't help but smile. "It's alright if you're arrogant at home, members of the family can spoil you. However, you should behave yourself when we're outside. It must be you who provoked the other person first."

"Selon, why are you speaking on behalf of a woman you haven't even met?"

Beth was a little upset and her voice became a little sharp. She didn't feel that she was in the wrong at all.

Chapter 1008-When Molly returned to her private room, her expression had already returned to normal.

However, Sean was still sensitive enough to sense something wrong. Therefore, he asked, "What's up? Why do you seem a little unhappy?"

Molly was a little taken aback at first and then smiled. "How are you able to spot that I'm a little unhappy?"

"Of course. I can sense your mood clearly." Sean grabbed her hand and continued, "Tell me, what happened? Is it the food or is it something on your mind?"

"No, it's just that I've just bumped into an unreasonable person."

Molly roughly described what had just happened to Sean.

After Sean heard what happened, he comforted Molly domineeringly. "If you bump into someone unreasonable again, then just fight back. I'll back you up if anything happens."

Molly felt warm deep down and smiled. "Don't worry. A nobody like that will never get the better of me."

As she said those words, Molly looked at the time and said, "Are we all finished?"

Shall we go? The results for Reagent Three will probably be produced this afternoon. I'll need to keep an eye on it."

"Okay, I'll give you a lift back first," Sean replied gently.

Soon, Tony went to pay the bill and pushed Sean out of the restaurant. Molly was beside the two of them.

Not far away, Selon and Beth were about to leave as well.

When Beth saw Molly in the distance, her face darkened. "Selon, that's the woman who picked on me in the bathroom."

Selon looked in the direction that Beth pointed in. He only saw a beautiful figure, but he didn't get a clear look at Molly's face before she got into the car and left.

Selon smiled and turned back around to comfort his sister. "Forget it, why bear grudges over such a small matter? Let's go do what we have to first."

Although unwilling, Beth had no choice but to leave it for now.

When Beth returned to the research laboratory, she went straight to the lab. 2 At past one o'clock in the afternoon, after a series of tests, there seemed to be some unstable data for Reagent Three. In the end, the product could only be counted as a half-finished product.

Everyone on the research team had sad expressions on their faces when they saw the results.

Especially the new members of the team. They felt extremely uneasy.

They were afraid of being kicked out of the team after what just happened.

The atmosphere became a little depressing.

Molly saw everyone's reaction and stopped what she was doing. "What's up with all the unhappy faces? Since there's a problem then let's get moving and find the source of the problem. Don't be so down. Even I can't promise that the research will be successful after one go. It's normal to fail. Only by failing can we gain more experience and develop a more effective reagent. If you lose confidence over this then I think you should take the initiative to quit."

Molly's words were a little strict but at the same time comforted everyone in the room.

The research and development members who were responsible for Reagent Three immediately became energetic. "Dr. Joye is right. We're on it right away."

Soon, everyone in the lab became mobilized. They began comparing the data.

When Lynn saw this, she smiled. "They're still kids who don't have much experience in society, so they're not very good with pressure. Unlike me, who's been whipped and scolded by my tutor and trained to be someone who's invulnerable to pressure. Compared to him, you're too nice, Molly."

Molly couldn't help but laugh at Lynn's words. "Are you saying that you now know no shame after being scolded by him? Stop messing around and go help."

I'm really worried about the progress we're making. I'll be busy with something else next month and might not have time to keep an eye on things here."

"Didn't Mr. Scott say that he would send someone over? Did he say who it will be?" asked Lynn.

Molly shook her head. "He didn't say who he'll send, but there aren't many people by his side that can take my place. It's probably Eaton or Kara."

Chapter 1009-When Lynn heard the two names, she suddenly furrowed her brows. There was an obvious sense of disdain in her eyes.

She looked at Molly and wanted to say something.

However, the expression on Molly's face didn't change, so in the end, she could only give up.

In the afternoon, the whole research and development team was checking their data and the ingredients of Reagent Three.

Molly had been keeping an eye on everything throughout the whole process as well. She was so busy that she even forgot about dinner.

However, none of her hard work had gone to waste.

In the end, Molly and Lynn were able to confirm where the problem was.

“Looks like this medicinal ingredient is the one that’s causing the failure of Reagent Three. However, why is it causing such a problem? Could it be that the ingredient isn’t pure enough?” asked Lynn whilst stroking her chin.

Molly looked at the different data in her hand and said, “No, the samples we used were already in their purest state. I’ve taken a detailed look at everything. I think the problem’s caused by the incompatibility of the medicine’s effects. When this medicinal ingredient reaches a certain purity, it will become incompatible with other medicinal ingredients. Therefore, the final result I’ve come to is to change this medicinal ingredient to something else.”

“Huh?” After Lynn heard Molly’s conclusion, she couldn’t help but feel puzzled.

“Change the ingredient? That means we need to change the ratio and amount of the other ingredients used.

Wouldn’t that make all our hard work previously go to waste?”

“We have no other choice. If we don’t start from the beginning, then we will make no progress in this research. Therefore, I’ll leave this to you. I’ll get Selina to help you. As for which medicinal ingredient to use as a replacement, I’ll need to reconfirm that myself.”

With that said, Molly put down the data sheet in her hand and massaged her temples. “Let’s call this a day. We’ll start working on it tomorrow morning.”

“Okay.”

Lynn had no objections.

Molly’s job was most difficult than any of theirs.

Lynn knew she was in no position to complain.

When Molly came out of the lab, she went straight to her office and got changed.

The phone in her bag had a few missed calls. They were from Sean. There were also a few text messages.

Molly smiled as she replied to the text messages. "I've been busy. I'm about to head back home right now."

Sean's reply came very quickly. "Okay, I'll be waiting for you at home."

When Molly arrived back home, Lynsey had already prepared quite a lot of dishes for dinner.

Sean was waiting for her in the living room.

When he saw that Molly had arrived back home, he went and led her to the dining room for dinner.

During the whole meal, the only thing Molly could think about was what medicinal ingredient to use as a replacement. This caused Molly to be distracted throughout the meal.

Sean watched as Molly fed herself a few spoons of thin air. He reached out and knocked on her forehead lightly. "Would thin air fill your stomach?"

Molly came back to her senses and realized how embarrassing she was.

"I didn't do it on purpose. I have something on my mind."

Sean looked at her face and could roughly guess what Molly had on her mind.

"The research and development aren't going very well?"

“Yeah. It could be said that we’ve failed. The medicinal ingredients aren’t exactly right and would need replacing,” Molly said honestly.

Sean got the point and comforted her in a low voice. “I won’t be of any help for that, but it’s out of working hours right now. You need to give your mind a rest.

You might be able to come up with a solution soon. Don’t put yourself under too much pressure, alright?
11 Molly knew that Sean cared about her, so she nodded. “I know, but I just can’t help myself.”

“Really? Then, I’ll find something for you to do.”

With that said, Sean took out his phone and opened the chat window. “My mom has just sent me this. She said that she’s picked a few sites for the engagement party, but nothing has been set at the moment. She wants to know if you have any opinions or suggestions.”

Chapter 1010-Molly’s attention was immediately distracted. She flicked through the contents on the phone screen with her finger.

The places that Alice had chosen were all very luxurious without a doubt.

Not only that, each site was of a different style.

The wedding planning team was top-notch as well.

After looking through everything, Molly exclaimed, “If the engagement party is so grand already, then wouldn’t the wedding be even more shocking?”

Sean couldn’t help but laugh at those words. “Of course, the wedding is going to be grand if we’re getting married. This is only a formality, but I won’t lack anything that you should get. You’re worth the best of the best in this world, got it?”

“Okay.” Sean’s words made Molly feel very sweet and she smiled.

The two of them didn’t really need the formality to prove their relationship, but the effort that Sean had put into their marriage still made Molly very happy.

Molly soon replied, “Let’s listen to your mom’s arrangements for the engagement. She can talk to Grandpa if there are any problems. That includes the arrangements for guests. I don’t have any opinions.”

When Sean saw that Molly made her decision so quickly, he found it a little funny. “Other brides cared a lot about their wedding’s formality, but when it comes to you, you just listen to others and don’t have any demands? Aren’t you scared that the Anderson family would not put any effort into this?”

Molly smiled at those words. “I want to make some demands, but you never gave me the chance.”

All the best arrangements were made, what was there for her to be picky about?

Because this topic was mentioned, Molly took this chance to chat with Sean about it.

They talked about the place of the engagement party, the number of guests, the food that would be served, their clothes, the ring, etc...

It was already quite late when they finished the conversation.

Sean looked at the time and knew that it was time for them to stop talking. He told Molly to take a shower and go to bed.

Molly was being obedient as well. She placed everything about work at the back of her mind.

When Sean saw that Molly was finally relaxed, he breathed a sigh of relief.

Tony took this chance to report something to Sean. "Sir, the police went to the Herring family to arrest Joelle today. The proof of her ordering Trevor to slander Mrs. Anderson was solid. However, Mr. Herring Sr. had sent Joelle abroad two days ago. She's probably going to get away with it. Joelle's probably not going to come back to the country in the future either. As for the Herring family, the recent news had quite a lot of impact on them. The development they made after they came back to the country had all gone to waste. Mr. Herring Sr. has begun to shrink their business. They would probably focus on the development of their businesses abroad in the future."

After Sean heard that, he snorted. "Well, she really knows when to run."

"Yes, but it's a good thing that she's gone. She won't be able to do anything behind our backs now. If she stayed behind, we still have to keep an eye on her," said Tony.

Sean nodded and didn't continue on this matter.

When Molly woke up the following morning, her mind immediately became active.

The problem of what to use as a replacement ingredient had troubled her the whole afternoon and evening the previous day, but she suddenly came up with an idea during breakfast.

When Sean saw how happy Molly was and her eyes lit up, he couldn't help but smile. "Then are you going to spend the day at the research laboratory after breakfast?"

Molly shook her head and said, "No. The medicinal ingredient that I thought of this time is very rare. There are no stocks in the research laboratory. It's probably going to be a lot of effort trying to get my hands on some of it. I've just asked Prof. Harrison and he provided me with a few medicine suppliers.

Therefore, I'm going to check them out after breakfast. The research and development can only continue after I've found the medicinal ingredient.

Besides, you're going back to Northfolk tonight, I want to spend more time with you when I have the chance."

Sean felt satisfied when he heard those words.

After the two of them had breakfast, they left the house together. Tony was the one driving.

In the morning, Sean and Molly went to a few medicine suppliers, but couldn't find the ingredient that Molly wanted.

In the afternoon, Molly didn't give up and went to a few more suppliers.

In the end, none of them had the ingredient that she wanted.
