

Triplets On SM 1011

Chapter 1011-“Although I’ve been psyched up, I didn’t expect it to be such short in supply. It’s out of stock”

Molly looked at the list of druggists provided by Wayne and lamented, “Now we only have one store to go to. If they run out of it too, we’ll have to look for it in other cities.”

Upon hearing that, Sean grabbed her hand. “Don’t worry, Tony has sent people to look for it. They may find it. Who knows? Let’s go to the last store.”

“Yeah.”

Molly nodded. There wasn’t any other option.

Ten minutes later, the three arrived at the last drugstore.

To be precise, it was an old-timey clinic.

It was small, but the decoration was antique. The chairs and table looked a bit old.

Behind the counter stood a wall of drawers that were marked with the names of various medicines.

Molly looked over. These medicines were very common.

But those she was looking for were rare. This was not a good sign.

Sean looked around and said, “No one seems to be here.”

Molly decided to ask about it since they were already there.

Before she could say anything, there came a cry. "Sir, are you all right? Wake up!"

Molly and Sean froze. They looked over and found a room inside.

The voice came from there.

Molly sensed anxiety in that person's voice and intended to go over.

Just then, the door opened, and out rushed a girl in a plain work uniform. It looked like she was a sales clerk here.

She was startled to see two people standing outside.

Then she came to her senses and apologized, "Sorry, you'll have to wait if you want to see the doctor or buy medicine."

Losing no time, she prepared to call an ambulance.

Perhaps because she was too anxious, her attempts all failed.

Molly grabbed her hand and said, "May I ask what is going on? I'm a doctor. I heard your cry. Is anyone inside ill?"

The clerk saw her as a life-saving straw. "Really? You're a doctor? Help me check on my boss. He suddenly covered his chest and collapsed on the floor. I don't know what's going on. My duty is to fetch medicine. I don't know how to treat people.

Without further ado, Molly turned around and headed to the room.

As soon as she got in, a silver-haired old man came into view. He was lying on the floor.

She hurried over to check on him.

She did a double-check before concluding, "He's having arrhythmia and polypnea. His breathing is getting weak and difficult. It's quite likely to be a heart attack. No time for an ambulance. Do you have a silver needle? I need to treat him immediately!"

"Yeah, I'll get it for you."

Perhaps because a doctor was here, the clerk gradually calmed down and immediately carried out her order.

She hurried to get the silver needle. Molly beckoned to Tony. "Help me get him on the bed."

"Got it."

Tony came up and got the old man on the bed.

The clerk hurried back with a box and opened it.

Molly quickly disinfected her hands, took the needles, and started the treatment.

Her movements were fast and steady. Several major acupoints were stuck.

After ten minutes or so, she stopped and let out a deep breath. "Okay, he will come round in a moment."

The clerk said grateful, "Thank you, doctor. Luckily, you're here, or else, I don't know what to do."

Molly waved her hand. "You're welcome, but this is a major event. I think you should tell his family about it."

The clerk hurriedly nodded. "You're right. I'll do it right away."

With that, she hastened away to make the call.

Molly glanced at Sean and said apologetically, "Sorry to waste your time. I'm afraid our trip is fruitless today."

Sean shook his head. "Silly girl, I like to spend time with you. Besides, I had a chance to see you save someone's life."

The little woman might not notice it, but she looked so brilliant when she was treating the old man.

Chapter 1012-Hearing Sean's words, Molly felt happy in her heart.

When she was with him, even if they didn't do anything, she felt extremely content.

While the two were talking, the clerk, Lily, came back after she made a phone call.

When Lily got into the room, she turned to Molly and said, "My boss's family is on his way..."

Lily thanked Molly again, "Thank you so much, Doctor! I don't know what would have happened without you."

Molly waved her hand, "It's okay. No need to thank me. When he wakes up, give him his medication. I don't see any Western medicine here, but I see you have plenty of herbs. And you also have pots for boiling herbs."

I will write a prescription. Prepare the medicine according to it. When he wakes up, let him drink the medicine.”

“Yes, please follow me.”

Lily led Molly to the counter and gave her a pen and a piece of paper.

Molly wrote the prescription. Soon, Lily got the herbs and began to decoct the medicine.

Molly, Sean, and Tony waited as Lily was busy boiling the medicine.

Lily poured three glasses of water for the three of them, and she asked Molly’s name.

After introducing each other, Lily asked, “Dr. May, are you looking for any herbs? Is there anything I can help you with?”

“Yes, I’m looking for an herb.” Molly was honest. But it was time to remove the silver needles, so Molly said, “Well talk about it later. I need to remove the needles for this gentleman.”

“All right.” Lily nodded and followed Molly back into the room where the patient was lying.

Just as Molly was about to remove the needles, a young man and woman rushed in.

They shouted anxiously, “Grandpa... How are you?”

Molly was interrupted. She raised her eyes to look at them.

Immediately, she saw a familiar face.

It was the woman Molly had met in the restaurant bathroom last night!

Beth was surprised to meet Molly here, too. She froze.

Seeing that Molly was pinching the needles in their grandpa's body, Beth exploded with rage, "What did you do to my grandfather?"

Molly frowned and replied with a sneer, "Can't you see? I'm treating him!"

"Miss and Mr. Shepard, this is Dr. May. She saved Mr Shepard Sr.'s life!"

Lily then briefed Selon on what had happened.

Immediately, Beth was furious, "Are you kidding me? Do you know who she is and you allowed her to treat my grandpa? If something happens to my grandpa, can you take responsibility?" Then Beth turned to Molly and glared at her. "Anyone can call themselves a doctor. I'm telling you: if anything happens to my grandpa, I won't be easy on you."

Sean heard the argument in the room and he was annoyed.

Tony frowned too. He told Sean, "It's the Shepard family."

As Beth and Selon hurried in, Sean didn't see them clearly, but he caught a glimpse of Selon's face.

He noticed Selon looked familiar.

Now that he heard Lily call the young man Mr. Shepard, he remembered it was Selon!

Sean's brows furrowed even more. Just as he was about to ask Tony to wheel him into the room, he heard Molly's voice.

“Since I gave him treatment, I’m sure I can cure him. Do you think I was bored, so I got myself into trouble?”

You better have some decency! How difficult it is to say thanks with your foot in your pretty mouth.”

Chapter 1013-h was so angry. She tried to stop Molly, but Selon stopped her.

Brother, what are you doing?” Beth struggled as she asked angrily.

Selon snapped, “Don’t make a scene here! Look for yourself! The silver needles are all in the right place.”

Lily had just told them on the phone that Mr. Shepard Sr. had a heart attack.

When Selon arrived, he checked the silver needles on Mr. Shepard Sr.’s body and was reassured that they were in the right place.

At Selon’s reminder, Beth looked at the silver needles in Mr. Shepard Sr.’s body.

Beth also studied medicine, so she could see that Molly’s treatment had no problem indeed.

Soon, Molly removed all the needles.

Molly put the needles away and checked Mr. Shepard Sr.’s condition. After making sure he was okay, she got up and said to Lily, “Since his family are here and they seem to know what the patient needs, I’m out of here.

As for the medicine, let them decide whether to give it to him or send him to the hospital.”

Molly then got out of the room after casting a glance at Beth and Selon, without saying anything to them.

Selon froze. He sensed that Molly was unhappy.

'She must have been annoyed by Beth.' After instructing Beth to keep an eye on Grandpa Shepard, Selon went after Molly.

Molly was about to leave with Sean.

Selon stopped them. * Dr. May, please wait."

Molly was surprised. She looked at Selon with confusion, but soon she came back to her senses.

A few days ago, Molly's news went viral on the Internet, and there were also her photos. It was not surprising that someone recognized her.

Molly asked indifferently, "Is something wrong?"

Selon had a pretty face, which made it difficult to tell his gender, but he absolutely behaved politely and gracefully.

He explained, "I came to say thank you. Thank you for helping my grandfather. And I apologize for my sister.

She was rude. I hope you don't mind her."

"It's not the first time she's offended me." Molly said in a nonchalant tone.

Since Selon was sincere, Molly's tone softened. "It's okay. It's a doctor's duty to save people's lives!"

“Dr. May, you may not need my thanks, but you saved my grandfather’s life. Grandpa had a heart attack. He might have lost his life if the rescue got late. My family must repay you for your kindness.” Selon said sincerely.

Lily also followed Selon out. She interjected, ‘ Mr. Shepard, Dr. May is here to get some herbs!’

Selon understood. “Dr. May, what herbs do you need? We have a lot of herbs here. Tell me what you need.”

Sean was unhappy with the Shepard siblings. But since Molly seemed not to want to waste time here, he didn’t say anything.

Now Selon asked, and Sean was straightforward.

“We’re looking for ginseng of seven hundred years old, Ganoderma, golden phoenix grass of a hundred years old, and...”

Sean named about ten names of rare herbs.

He had seen the names of these herbs in Molly’s medical book by chance earlier.

Then he turned to Molly and asked, “And there is the herb you’re looking for. What’s its name?”

Chapter 1014-Molly was dumbfounded. She didn’t need all those rare herbs.

‘What’s Sean doing?’ She glanced at Sean.

Sean had a serious look as if he was really waiting for her answer.

Although Molly was confused, she answered, “Purple Spirit Vine, best to be fifty years old...”

Then she looked at Selon and thought to herself, 'They don't have that, do they?' A surprised look flashed across Selon's eyes, but he quickly calmed down.

Molly was surprised. 'No way! They do?' Just then, Beth, who was taking care of her grandpa in the room, came out and said with mockery, "I thought you were saving my grandpa's life. It turns out that you are trying to blackmail US. Shame on you for asking for so many precious herbs! Get out! We don't have those herbs."

Sean's eyes clouded over. He stared at Beth and scolded, "We saved your grandfather's life. Instead of thanking US, you insulted US. That's very impressive.' Beth got angry. She argued, "Are you saying that I'm rude?" She glared at Sean and roared, "Who are you?"

How dare a cripple lecture me?"

Sean's eyes immediately turned fierce. Just as he was about to retort to Beth, Molly walked past him and up to Beth. She raised her hand and slapped Beth across the face.

She looked down at Beth and spat, "You're rude. Is that wrong? You bumped into me the other day, but you didn't apologize. Today I saved your grandfather's life, and you didn't thank me... Now you insult my fiancé! If you haven't learned any manners, shut your mouth!"

Immediately after that, Molly slipped a pill into Beth's mouth.

Beth was caught off guard and swallowed the pill.

Molly let go of Beth, and the latter stumbled a few steps backward.

She gripped her throat and tried to spit the pill out, but she couldn't.

She growled at Molly, "Bitch, what did you give me?"

After a few violent coughs, Beth continued, "How dare you slap me?"

"So what? If you insult my fiance again, I'll kick your ass!" Molly snapped. Her tone was intimidating.

Beth's cheeks burned with pain, and her body shook.

She then turned to Selon.

"Brother, won't you help me?"

Selon didn't expect Molly to have such a fiery temper that she would slap Beth in the face.

But he thought it was Beth's fault for offending Molly in the first place.

He frowned and placated Beth, "That's enough! What do you want? You're spoiled! Behave yourself! They saved Grandpa, but how did you show your gratitude?"

"Brother!"

Beth was furious that Selon took Molly's side.

Selon showed a solemn face. "Get out of here! Go take care of Grandpa!"

Beth was stunned. After a few moments, she gritted her teeth in hatred and turned into the room.

Molly didn't speak to her again. She had a sullen face. She turned to Sean, 'Let's go home! We'll look for that vine somewhere else.'

She had no intention of getting herbs from here when she slapped Beth in the face.

Selon interjected, "Dr. May, we have all those herbs you just mentioned. Are you sure you don't want them?"

Chapter 1015-s favors, so I will give you the herbs in return." Saying that, he ordered Lily, "Go and fetch the herbs Dr. May needs."

Lily nodded. "Yes, Mr. Shepard."

With that, she went into the next room.

A short while later, there was the sound of a secret door opening.

Molly raised her eyebrows and realized that this old pharmacy had a secret space.

There might be another storeroom inside to keep rare herbs.

Lily quickly delivered a dozen kinds of rare herbs that Molly had mentioned earlier.

Each kind of them was packed in an antique box.

Selon said, "Dr. May, please take a look. Is anything missing?"

Molly cast a glance and found that the herbs were pure and very well preserved, so they must be very potent.

She was surprised, guessing that the siblings were not ordinary people.

However, she did not show it on her face and instead responded calmly, ' No. Thank you very much. But I don't like to owe people favors either.

These herbs are valuable. I won't take advantage of you."

She asked Tony, "Do you have a check with you?"

Tony nodded his head. "Yes."

Then he took out a checkbook from his pocket.

Molly roughly calculated the value of the herbs and immediately filled in the check.

After writing down an account, she pushed it over and said to Selon, "If I estimate correctly, they are worth about 80 million dollars. Take it."

After that, she told Tony, "Carry the herbs to the car."

Then she brought Sean away.

Inside the room, Lily and Selon were left alone.

Lily hesitated before saying, "Mr. Shepard, do you really want to accept this check?"

Molly saved Selon's grandfather anyway.

Selon's grandfather was worth much more than that.

Selon replied, "Can't you see? With her character, even if I run out and return it to her, she won't take it back."

The check was thrown to Lily. Selon shook his head, turned around, and went to the inner room to see his grandpa.

Beth, at that moment, was sitting on a chair with a sullen face.

Seeing her brother enter, she immediately asked, "Is that woman the Joye who is coming to our free clinic?"

"Yes," Selon answered.

Beth said without a second thought, "I'm taking her off the list. She doesn't deserve it."

As Molly and Sean went back, she was still furious.

Feeling very upset, she took Sean's hand and said, "I'm sorry..."

'Why do you say that?' Sean looked at her gently.

Molly gritted her teeth. 'That woman said you were...'

She could not say it.

She understood better than anyone that although Sean couldn't walk, he was prouder than anyone else.

He grew up in an influential family. He was outstanding no matter what he did. Many people respected and admired him.

Even though his legs were injured, he was still the distinguished head of the Anderson family.

Yet today, he suffered such an insult.

If it were her who had been cursed, she would have been indifferent.

However, she felt extremely depressed hearing Sean being humiliated like this.

The more she thought about it, the more distressed she was. Her eyes turned red. "If I had known that unbelievable woman was related to that pharmacy, I wouldn't have taken you there today to put you through it."

Chapter 1016-Sean was touched by Molly's words. His heart welled up with tenderness.

He held Molly into his arms and asked, "You've been mad at her for me. Are you still angry?"

"Yes!"

Molly still felt angry. "One slap wasn't enough for her!"

Tony was driving. Hearing Molly's words, he interjected, "Mrs. Anderson is right.

One slap is too easy for that woman! She has a pretty face, but she has no manners. If Mrs. Anderson hadn't slapped her, I'd have taught her a lesson!"

'No one ever dared to offend Mrs. Anderson like that!

'That woman is out of her mind!' "Mrs. Anderson, what kind of pill did you put in Beth's mouth?" Tony asked curiously.

Molly was surprised. "Beth? How do you know her name?"

Tony then remembered that Molly didn't know the Shepard siblings.

Sean explained, 'They're the Shepards. The woman's name is Beth Shepard, and the man who sold you the herbs is Selon Shepard.'

"What? They're the Shepards?" Molly was surprised.

She didn't think she'd know the Shepards in this situation!

She turned to Sean. "No wonder you ask for so many rare herbs. You know who they are!"

"Hmm." Sean nodded and said, "The Shepard family has been very mysterious.

I was worried about you, so I asked Tony to investigate them in advance. That's why I knew them. But now, I am afraid Beth will hold a grudge against you because of today's incident and your invitation to the free clinic will be affected."

He knew how much Molly wanted the Shepard family's medical books.

Molly would be so disappointed if her plan was messed up!

However, Molly wasn't worried. "If I lose the opportunity due to today's incident, I'd rather not have it! I have always admired Shepard's medical skills and their medical books, and I look forward to reading those books. But today I met Beth, and I doubt the character of the family. If they don't give me this opportunity because of Beth, I don't want to work with them."

"Bravo, Mrs. Anderson!"

Tony interjected, "Many doctors want to make friends with the Shepards. Only you don't care about them."

Molly compressed her lips and then looked at Sean and said, "In my mind, the Shepards are nothing compared to Sean."

Tony, the only single person in the car, choked. 'Aaaaaah! I'm so jealous!' Sean laughed softly. His laugh was low and he looked quite happy.

"What are you laughing at?" Molly felt a little embarrassed.

She rarely said a word of affection, but Sean laughed at her!

Sean shook his head, "I'm not laughing at you. I'm just happy... It feels wonderful to be protected by a woman for the first time."

Then he teased, "If anyone offends me again in the future, you must protect me like you did today."

Molly was amused. She slapped him on the chest and retorted, "Come on! How many people dare to mess with you? People like Beth are rare; she is a stupid spoiled brat."

"Honestly, Mrs. Anderson, I'm amazed! You are a valiant soldier!" Tony gave Molly a thumbs up as the car waited at a red light.

Chapter 1017-This was the first time Sean had been protected. Yes, this was something new.

He was curious about one thing. "What did you put into Beth's mouth?"

Molly blinked and calmly said, "Mute pill."

Tony was holding the steering wheel, about to turn. When he heard that, he almost lost control of the wheel.

Sean was also surprised."... the pill that will mute one forever?"

“Not that magical.”

Molly couldn't help but laugh. “One will recover after a week or so. Her talk was so unpleasant to the ear. She needs a lesson.”

Sean's feelings were so much stirred after hearing that.

Tony was so surprised.

But he then praised, “This lesson... is really wonderful! I didn't expect you could do it that way! But madam, why do you bring such a drug with you all the time?”

Molly explained perfunctorily, “The research laboratory will sometimes develop some strange things. I thought the drug might be useful, so I... simply put it into the medicine bag!”

Tony thought, ‘What's the use of this stuff?’

‘Whose mouth needs to be shut?’ But he didn't dare to say it.

Without such concerns, Sean asked directly, “Why did you think it would be useful? Meeting Beth was accidental. I don't think it is useful in your daily life, right?”

Molly had not expected him to ask such specific questions. She answered carefully, “It is usually useless, but I keep it for safety concerns and unexpected situations. When I was abroad alone with the three kids, I would sometimes be chatted up... by some men. If they were gentlemen, that was fine. But I was afraid to meet the stubborn ones who wanted to use force. Then such drugs were useful.”

Sean had a pinch in his heart.

He didn't know there were such things.

Back then, when he didn't know their existence, the mother and her children had suffered a lot. And he felt so guilty about that.

Now, when he heard that she had also gone through dangers, he felt guiltier.

Only if he could have met them earlier!

Seeing his expression, Molly knew what he was thinking. She immediately comforted him, "Don't worry. Those people all failed. The things I brought with me were real."

Sean nodded, took a deep breath, and barely suppressed his emotions. "Fortunately, you had a 'weapon' you could use to protect yourself. In the future, you can bring more of something like this with you. Tell me about those things in detail."

Molly said, "They have many kinds, such as tickle powder, chili spray..."

Counting with her fingers, she spoke of seven or eight kinds.

But it seemed that they wouldn't cause serious results. They were almost the same as pepper spray.

As she spoke, she began to use vague words unconsciously.

And the last one's name was even unclear to the ear.

Tony was so curious. "What's the name of the last one you mentioned? I seemed to hear some, im... something important, didn't I?"

Molly had a light cough, not answering. Instead, she looked out the car window.

Sean was a little confused. "What's the name of the last one?"

“Ahem, ahem...”

Molly continued to cough, a little embarrassed. She mumbled, ‘Not’ important’, but urn... some powder causes impotence.”

“What do you mean?”

Tony was confused for a moment. Obviously, he didn’t realize what it was.

Only after a few seconds did he see the light.

As if he was so frightened, he widened his eyes. “No, no, no, no... that drug?

Madam, you bring something like that with you in your daily life?” “Mm...

generally yes!” Molly answered awkwardly

Chapter 1018-Tony was terrified, “When you stay with Mr. Anderson and talk to me, have you always taken it with you?”

Molly glanced at Sean and nodded, “Yes.”

Tony was quite frightened, “Madam, please listen to me. If I offend you in any way or do something that makes you unhappy in the future, don’t be angry with me! I can apologize to you. I just hope that you put away the powder! Don’t use it easily or accidentally shake your hand, or it might affect innocent people. I...I haven’t found a girlfriend yet!”

Molly was amused by his reaction and she said, “I am not a psycho. Why would I use it on you?”

"I'm just afraid that you will accidentally leak or drop it. Mr. Anderson stays with you all the time. If something happens, wouldn't he suffer?"

Tony was so worried that he couldn't stop talking. After Molly heard this, she blushed and glanced at Sean.

Sean raised his brows, looked at her, and said, "Please show mercy to me, my dear fiancée, for the sake of our future happiness."

Molly immediately blushed even more and became angry in embarrassment.

She said to Tony in the driver's seat, "Can you focus on the road? If you talk again, I'll poison you dumb for a week!"

"Sorry, I was wrong and I'll shut up!" Tony quickly apologized. To prevent himself from being hurt, he raised the partition of the back seat.

Molly blushed and complained to Sean, "Your assistant is good at everything else, but he's just so chatty!"

"Well, I'll tell him not to speak for a month later," Sean responded perfunctorily and couldn't wait to pull her into his arms to kiss her.

Molly struggled symbolically. But soon, she melted in Sean's kiss.

Sean was extremely gentle on her lips. His breath was warm and close, and they made out with each other.

Molly's whole body went weak...

Sean hugged her tightly and constantly kissed her soft and sweet lips. They didn't let go until they were almost out of breath after quite a while!

Molly was out of breath and leaned against his arms. Sean's breathing was also a little heavy.

After a while, he whispered in Molly's ear in a hoarse voice, "Baby, don't bring that medicine powder with you next time when you're by my side, or you might accidentally hurt me! Don't risk our happiness for the rest of our lives!"

Molly's ears tingled due to his deep voice, and she felt amused at the same time. Was it impossible to get over it?

She pretended to be serious, "Don't be afraid if you get accidentally hurt. I will develop an antidote and cure you."

The expression on Sean's face was quite complicated, "Babe, I still think we should try to avoid it. What if it can't be cured?"

"With me, nothing will go wrong!" Molly answered affirmatively.

Sean narrowed his deep eyes, pulled her into his arms, and started kissing her again.

Molly was caught off guard, and she was so passionately kissed that she couldn't breathe.

Sean let go of her and continued, "Now, can you agree to my proposal?"

Molly blinked and said, "What if...I don't?"

"If you don't agree, I will kiss you until you do!" Sean remained expressionless, pretending to want to kiss her again.

The two were intimate all the way.

When Molly got out of the car, her lips were very red and even a little swollen.

But Sean looked happy. He had eventually taken the upper hand in this so-called negotiation!

Later, Sean and Tony set off for Northfolk.

Molly couldn't stay idle. She returned to the research laboratory with the medicinal materials she had bought during the day!

Chapter 1019-At this time, in that clinic of the Shepard family, Mr. Shepard Sr. had already woken up and taken the medicine. It seemed that there was nothing serious with him.

But Selon was worried, "Grandpa, why don't you go to the hospital? The arrangements have been made there, and you can go to have a full-body examination. Your sudden myocardial infarction scared us."

"Well, let's go." Mr. Shepard Sr. had no objection.

He had always paid more attention to his health than anyone else.

Selon heaved a sigh of relief, helped him get up, and prepared to go out.

Mr. Shepard Sr. sighed, "This time, thanks to the doctor who came to buy medicine. Without her, I would have died. Have you thanked her?"

Selon hesitated for a moment, not knowing how to answer.

"What's wrong?" Mr. Shepard Sr. saw something strange and couldn't help asking.

Selon looked helplessly at his sister next to him.

Beth said angrily, "Why would you thank her, Grandpa? You don't even know how far she went..."

She took Mr. Shepard Sr.'s arm and began to complain about Molly.

After listening for a long time, Mr. Shepard Sr. roughly knew the ins and outs. He couldn't help frowning, and asked Selon next to him, "Is it really what your sister said? That doctor beat people for no reason?"

Beth was stunned for a moment, and said, "Grandpa, don't you believe me?"

"Of course, I believe you. But if that doctor, as you said, is a person who doesn't know right from wrong, how could she have saved me? I just want to know the truth."

Mr. Shepard Sr. comforted his granddaughter, and continued to ask his grandson, "Selon, tell me, what's going on?"

Hearing his grandfather's question, Selon glanced at his sister. Her eyes were pitiful, full of begging.

But Selon ignored it directly and roughly explained the ins and outs of what had happened today.

After hearing this, Mr. Shepard Sr. couldn't help scolding Beth, "You treated my lifesaver like this? It seems that I've doted on you too much and made you so spoiled and arrogant!"

Beth froze in disbelief.

"Grandpa, why do you say that about me?" She didn't think she had done anything wrong.

Why didn't they take her side?

"What else should I say? Do you want me to praise you?"

Since you were little, I have taught you to try to be kind to others, and not look down on others because of your status. But look, what have you done? If I had known this, I shouldn't have let you out." Mr. Shepard Sr. was a little furious.

Beth felt extremely wronged.

In the Shepard family, her grandpa and brother had always been most supportive of her, but it had changed.

"What's wrong with that girl Molly? Why are you all protecting her like this? Isn't it because she knows some medical skills? Just for such a person, you're lecturing me..." Beth's face was flushed with anger, and her voice was raised again and again.

But as she was talking, at a certain moment, her voice suddenly disappeared.

"What happened?" Selon was stunned for a moment, looking at his sister in confusion.

She opened her mouth, but there was no sound.

Beth also seemed a little surprised and continued to say a few words, but still couldn't make any sound.

She was completely dumbfounded.

Mr. Shepard Sr. had been angry. But when he saw his granddaughter like this, he immediately became worried, "Is it a stress reaction caused by being too emotional? Selon, quick... check your sister!"

Chapter 1020-Selon didn't dare to neglect it and immediately checked her.

But after checking, he didn't see what the problem was.

“There is no inflammation in the throat, and there is no discomfort in the body. It should not be a stress reaction.” He narrowed his eyes and suddenly remembered that Molly seemed to have stuffed something into his sister’s mouth.

“What did Dr. Joye give you to eat at that time?”

When Beth was reminded of this, his eyes widened, and then she became angry.

She opened her mouth, cursing, “It’s her. It must be that bitch!!!”

But there was still no sound.

Mr. Shepard Sr. didn’t know what was going on, so he could only urge, “What are you waiting for? Hurry up and go to the hospital to see what’s going on.”

Selon nodded and drove them quickly to the private hospital owned by the Shepard family.

After they arrived, the hospital quickly arranged for an inspection. Half an hour later, the results came out.

The doctor said, “Ms. Shepard has nothing wrong with her body. It should be caused by the medicine, so she can’t speak. We don’t know the ingredients of the medicine, so we can only treat her conservatively and try to prescribe some medicine. There is no guarantee that she will be able to speak immediately.”

After hearing this, Beth was so angry that she threw everything on the doctor’s desk on the ground, cursing and swearing.

But she couldn’t make a sound, so she became even angrier and lost control even more.

The doctor was too scared to say anything.

In the end, Selon stepped forward to stop her and said, "Okay, don't you think it's not enough? Can you stop it?"

Beth managed to calm down, and grabbed her brother's arm, asking him to find a way.

Selon was currently the most powerful in medicine in the younger generation of the Shepard family, and only he could help her.

Selon said, "Stay in the hospital for the next few days. I will cure you. Now go and see grandpa."

Beth could only nod her head, vowing secretly in her heart that she would not go easy on Molly when her throat healed.

When Molly was busy in the laboratory, she sneezed for no reason.

Lynn heard it, and couldn't help but ask with concern,

What's the matter? Molly, did you catch a cold? The weather has been getting colder and colder recently. Don't catch a cold. Do you want me to get you some preventative medicine?" "No, I just feel a little itchy in my nose." Molly rubbed her nose lightly and refused. She didn't feel any discomfort.

But Lynn was worried, "Why don't you go back to rest early? It's getting late, and the extraction is not a quick job! By the way, the people sent by Mr. Scott will arrive tomorrow morning. Maybe we will have a better solution after discussing it with them tomorrow."

Molly thought so too. They should wait for the new staff to arrive, and then conduct new project experiments, so she agreed.

Soon, the two packed up and left the lab. On the way back, they went to eat some supper together.

When Molly got home, she suddenly found herself not used to the quietness of the room.

When Sean was there, she didn't feel any difference. But now that he had gone back, she realized that she felt upset.

She couldn't help but send Sean a message. [I miss you.] Sean immediately gave her a video call.

Molly picked it up, and Sean said with the utmost tenderness, "I miss you too."

She couldn't help laughing, and her doldrums were shaken off immediately.

Sean sighed, "If it wasn't for worrying about delaying your work, I would have tied you by my side."

He had always been disciplined and restrained, but it was different with Molly.

He wanted to see her all the time!
