

Triplets On SM 1091

Chapter 1091-Molly fell silent. The current situation had reached the worst!

Folke's face was also very gloomy.

After a while, he said firmly, "All the team members were injured this time. I gonna recuperate for a short time and continue to take two teams to investigate the supplies' whereabouts. If possible, we'll see if we can borrow medical supplies from other places."

When Molly heard this, she was so impressed.

At this time, Folke and his teams were indeed the people they could count on.

"Thank you, Captain Green!"

Folke replied, "You're welcome."

Then, he turned his head to look at Selon and asked, "Is there any progress with Jose? Didn't he also take men to investigate the whereabouts of the supplies?"

Selon said, "Uncle Jose and his men left yesterday, but he hasn't come back yet."

Hearing this, they fell silent again with heavy hearts. If things went on like this, what should they do?

After bandaging Folke and the others, Molly returned to the critically ill area with a heavy heart.

As soon as she entered the door, she heard the old man Dan who was supposed to be asleep groaning, "I feel so uncomfortable. I feel terrible all over... Hurry up. Tell that little girl to prescribe some medicine for me..."

Jean was, after all, a young nurse without too much experience in these situations. She was frightened and flustered when she saw him like this.

When Molly walked in, Jean was immediately overjoyed, “Dr. May, you are finally back.”

Molly approached, patted her on the shoulder, and comforted her, “Well, don’t worry.”

Jean nodded repeatedly. With Dr. May here, she somehow felt much more at ease.

When Dan saw Molly, he wailed even more, as if he would die if Molly didn’t rescue him immediately.

Molly stood by the bed, folded her arms, and looked at him helplessly, “Sir, please be quiet. There is not enough staff now, and everyone is very busy. So please don’t cause trouble for others.”

Dan just glanced at her and continued to howl.

Seeing Molly so calm and thinking about what Molly said, Jean instantly realized what was going on.

It turned out that the old man was just faking it. Jean was relieved yet angry.

They had kindly rescued him, but he deliberately pretended to be uncomfortable and lied to them!

Molly raised her hand, pressed her aching eyebrows, and continued, “Sir, to be honest, there is a serious shortage of medical supplies here, and there are only two options left for you... If you use it now, you may not be able to use it later. ■ She didn’t understand what Dan wanted to do!

Hearing this, Dan finally stopped howling. He looked at Molly with cloudy eyes, and said in disbelief, “Are you bluffing? I don’t believe it.” “I’m not bluffing.”

Molly's tone was light, "I'm very serious. The medical supplies are running out now, and they can last two days at most. If we can't replenish them in time, many people will die, including you! Your chest wound was affected by poison after all. If there is no medicine, it will still be inflamed and festered, understand?"

Dan blinked and stared hard at her. Her expression was very serious and she didn't seem to be lying.

He pursed his lips and said, "Well, you should have told me earlier. When I was injured, I passed a place where a lot of medical supplies were hidden... I heard that many places have been robbed of medical supplies. Maybe that warehouse is full of them. You can go there and get some." Hearing this, Molly was stunned, "What did you say?!"

Chapter 1092-Molly couldn't react at all at first.

Dan thought that Molly hadn't heard clearly, and he was about to say it again.

But she suddenly grabbed his hand excitedly and asked, "Sir, is what you said true? Did you lie to me?" "Ow.It hurts!" Dan cried in pain and frowned deeply.

Seeing this, Molly quickly let go of his hand, "I'm sorry. I'm so sorry."

Dan rubbed his aching hand and complained, "Little girl, why are you so strong?"

She looked thin and weak, but she was quite strong!

Molly didn't care that much, and asked eagerly, "You just said the medical supplies are stored in a warehouse. Is it true?" "Why would I lie to you?" Dan rolled his eyes at her and said, "I know what I'm doing. I went in to have a look, and the house smelled of medicinal herbs."

Although Molly was very excited, she didn't lose her mind. She squinted her eyes and looked at Dan, "Really? Why did you go to that kind of place? Since it's a warehouse, someone should be guarding it, right?"

Dan hadn't expected her to be so quick-minded. He paused, and said vaguely, "Of course, someone is guarding it. So I was injured. Don't you see? I almost died, and the wound is right here..."

Molly felt a little suspicious. She firmly believed that there was no free lunch in the world.

There was a shortage of supplies here and the old man mentioned a supply warehouse. What a coincidence!

She thought for a moment, and then simply told Jean, "Go and ask Captain Green to come over."

Jean nodded, turned around, and ran out in a hurry.

After a short while, Folke and Selon hurried over after they got the news.

As soon as he entered the door, Folke asked, "I heard that some patient knows the location of the warehouse. Is it true?"

Molly nodded, and pointed to the old man on the bed, "He said it."

The two immediately looked at Dan.

Molly approached the two of them and said in a low voice, "Captain Green, you have been outside to investigate. I'm not sure if it's true, so I want you to confirm..."

Folke and Selon immediately realized what she meant.

Selon took a step forward and said politely, "Sir, could you tell us where that place is?"

Afraid that the old man would not say it, Selon added, "Right now, medical supplies are needed here, and many people are waiting for help."

After seeing this, Dan snorted, "You don't believe me anyway! Forget it. Pretend I didn't say it."

Molly was surprised, feeling a little amused. Was Dan targeting her?

She said immediately, "It's not that I don't believe you. I just want to check. Sir, if you know, please tell us the address."

Dan turned his head away and said, "I won't say it... It's useless to say it anyway. That place is very remote! You can't find it."

Folke hurriedly said, "It doesn't matter how remote it is. We will find it." "Sir, please. For the sake of Dr. May saving you, just tell us, okay?" Selon persuaded.

Dan suddenly got angry, and said, "Well, it's not a question of whether you're going to find it. There are guards over there, and their fighting skills are very good. I had a narrow escape. You are younger than me, but I think you will end up no better than I did."

Folke thought about it carefully, and decided to go there," How would we know if we don't try? Sir, can you draw a map for me?" "Well, the map won't work. As I said, the place is very remote!" Dan refused.

Chapter 1093-Molly bit her lips and asked, "What on earth would it take for you to agree? You can make a request." "That's right. We'll bring more people there. Nothing will happen." Folke echoed.

Seeing the three of them so insistent, Dan felt speechless and finally sighed heavily, "You kids, why are you so stubborn?" "Please." Molly pleaded again.

"All right, I'll tell you. It's located at the junction of Ceadan City and Xima City...

But that place is remote! It's useless to draw a map of that place, and someone needs to lead the way." Dan finally gave up.

When Folke heard his words, he immediately recalled what he had found out.

Many supplies had indeed been lost near the junction of Ceadan City and Xima City. It seemed that this old man was not lying.

He secretly nodded to Molly and Selon, implying that they could go there and have a look.

Molly and Selon couldn't help being overjoyed.

But what Dan said also made them frown again, "Someone needs to lead the way? Does that mean we need to find someone familiar with Ceadan City and Xima City?" "What are you talking about? Even if they know it well, do they know the specific location of the warehouse?" Dan looked annoyed, "I'll lead the way."

Hearing his words, they were stunned.

"With your condition...can you do it?" Selon asked.

Dan said unhappily, "Even if I can't do it, I have to do it! You can carry me there, and find a doctor to take care of me on the way."

Then he glanced around. His eyes finally fell on Molly, and he grinned, "Little girl, it's you."

Molly was taken aback when she heard his words.

Before she could react, Selon took the lead and said, "No, Dr. May is a lady. It would be dangerous for her to go to that kind of place. I'll go instead of her." "I also think it's inappropriate to let Dr. May go." Folke also disapproved.

This time when he led the team out, they had come back with injuries. Molly was unarmed, and he didn't think she would be able to protect herself.

If something happened to her, he would not be able to explain it to Mr.

Anderson!

After Molly heard this, she didn't say anything.

She was a little hesitant. It was not that she was cowardly. She was just afraid that it would hinder Folke and the others if she went with them!

The old man had said that there were guards over there.

If Molly went with them, she wouldn't be able to help, and Folke and the others would have to be distracted to take care of her, which wasn't a good idea!

But Dan insisted on letting Molly accompany him, "I like this girl! You..."

He looked Selon up and down, and said, "He looks handsome, but he's not my type."

When Selon heard this, he felt speechless, "Sir, the current situation is special.

We need medical supplies, but we don't want Dr. May to take risks! With my medical skills, I should be qualified for this job. Please bear with me, okay?"

"No." Dan was quite stubborn, "When I say I want her, it has to be her. Besides, who wants her to take risks? This time, I will lead the way, and she will take care of me. When we almost reach the area, just put us in a safe place. I'm not asking you to take us to pick up the supplies. Even if you are willing to do this, I may not agree."

Selon hadn't expected this old man to be so difficult to deal with, so he frowned.

Folke also frowned and was about to persuade again when Molly suddenly said, "Since you want me to follow, then I will!"

Chapter 1094-"Dr. May..." Selon wanted to stop her.

But Molly interrupted him, "It's okay. Selon, just let me go! Dan is seriously injured, but he is willing to lead the way for us. I am perfectly healthy, and I think I shouldn't have such misgivings! As he said, when we get there, just put us in a safe place. I will try not to hold Captain Green back."

But..." Selon wanted to say something, but Dan lost his patience and said, "Well, just let her. If you want to go, hurry up. If you go there late and the supplies are taken away, you will be very sorry."

When Selon heard what the old man said, his heart tightened, and he could only agree.

Seeing this, Folke didn't object anymore and he promised," Dr. May, since you're willing to go with us, I will do my best to protect your safety this time.

Time is running out. I will go make preparations right now. We will set off in an hour."

Molly nodded and soon went to prepare.

An hour later, Folke took four teams as well as Molly, the old man, and two other medical staff to find that warehouse.

These two people were specially sent by Selon. The purpose was to provide medical treatment in time when others got injured.

At the same time, on the way to the slums, dozens of trucks carrying supplies were lining up in a long queue and parked on the side of the road.

In the front was a black off-road vehicle. Merak was sitting in the passenger seat drinking water while Dubhe was looking at the map carefully.

After a second, he said, "Probably tomorrow, we will be able to arrive at the place where Mrs. Anderson is."

"Finally we're almost here. I'm exhausted." Merak swallowed the water in her mouth, and complained, "The road is bumpy all the way. If this continues, my bones will fall apart!"

Dubhe smiled and was about to comfort her when one of the subordinates came to report, "Boss, the man who went to explore the way came back and said that a warehouse was found tens of kilometers away from this location. It should be another stronghold of the previous group."

"Oh?" Dubhe raised his eyebrows, "There is another?"

Along the way, they found three warehouses, large and small. Without exception, all those materials had fallen into their hands!

He looked at Merak in the car, "Are we going?"

"Of course!" Merak's eyes lit up in excitement, "Let's go. How can I miss such a fun thing?"

The subordinate looked at Merak, who was not afraid of any trouble, the corners of his mouth twitched, and he continued to report, "The warehouse we found this time is quite large, and many people are guarding it. We may have to bring more men there. But the manpower here will be directly reduced. There are so many supplies here. What if something happens?"

When Dubhe heard his words, his eyes narrowed slightly, "Do you know the exact number?"

"There should be more than one hundred!"

The subordinate gave a conservative estimate.

"So many?" Dubhe frowned.

It seemed that it was not a small warehouse.

Merak looked casual, “Whether it’s hundreds or thousands, I’ll take care of it anyway! I haven’t had enough fun in the previous fights!”

She instructed the subordinate, “Arrange manpower. It doesn’t have to be so many. Just a dozen or so will be enough!”

The subordinate was taken aback, and he subconsciously looked at Dubhe.

There were more than one hundred people on the other side! Wouldn’t it be too arrogant to bring a dozen or so?

However, Dubhe didn’t even think about it, and directly ordered, “Do as she said! Send ten people here first. The rest won’t stay here. Tell them to escort the medical supplies, and go to the slums first, and we will catch up later. Let Sillow out. This time we will take him with us.”

As soon as the subordinate heard it, he immediately stopped complaining in his heart.

It definitely would be fine if they took Sillow with them!

Chapter 1095-The subordinate quickly nodded and left.

As soon as he left, Merak couldn’t help asking, “Is it alright to take Sillow with us? That’s Mr. Anderson’s treasure. If it gets hurt or has an accident, what should we do?”

Hearing this, Dubhe glanced at her lightly, “Sillow is much stronger than you!

Instead of worrying about it, you should worry about yourself.”

Merak choked and protested, "How could I lose to him?!"

Dubhe just smiled and said nothing. He didn't discourage her again, turned around, and went to prepare.

On Molly's side, it had been more than an hour since the group left the slums.

Although they were riding in military armored vehicles, they were driving very slowly due to the harsh environment.

Taking this opportunity, Folke asked Dan about the situation in the warehouse, "Could you tell me what kind of environment the warehouse is in? And how many people are there? So I can deploy it in advance."

Dan's chest was aching from the bumps of the car, and his breath was a bit uneven, "The environment is very bad... It's an abandoned warehouse, located halfway up the mountain. Behind the warehouse, there is a cliff. Anyway, it's a dangerous place! If you accidentally fall, you will die. As for the manpower..."

Then he took a deep breath and continued, "I don't know how many there are. I only know that there are dozens of guards at the gate, and there are probably more in the house. Maybe... there are more than one hundred."

When Folke heard this, he couldn't help frowning, "So many?"

'Do we have any chance of winning?' Hearing it, Molly couldn't help feeling a little worried.

This time, the four teams transferred by Folke had only about fifty people in total. They had only half as many men as the opponent!

Folke was still calm, "The fighting skills of my men are pretty good. If we get into a fight with them, it wouldn't be a big problem..."

He glanced at Dan and continued to ask, "They should be carrying weapons, right?"

Dan said, "Of course! You don't even need to ask. It's such a large warehouse!

They not only have knives but also have guns!"

Folke's complexion changed slightly after he heard it, but he wasn't very surprised. Such a large-scale robbery was a gang crime, and it was normal for them to have some weapons!

It was just that it would be very troublesome to deal with them.

"It seems that a fierce fight will be inevitable." He sighed.

When Molly heard this, her heart tightened! She hadn't expected that the situation would be so dangerous this time.

She saw knives and guns mostly in action movies. Right now, they just appeared in real life so bluntly!

She couldn't help feeling a little worried.

It would be great if the supplies could be retrieved smoothly on this trip.

She was just afraid that they wouldn't be able to get them back, and these teammates would be injured and killed in vain!

When the sharp-eyed old man next to her saw her solemn expression, he couldn't help teasing, "Little girl, are you afraid?"

Folke also looked over.

Molly came to her sense and said honestly, "Yes, I'm afraid. How can I not be afraid? After all, knives and guns are dangerous. If one is not careful enough, he may die. I used to live in a place for a few years where guns are legal ...I once saw someone stabbing a man with weapons on the street. I can still vividly remember the feeling at that time. If possible, I don't want to experience it again!

But right now, it's impossible not to face it. After all, we need those medical supplies too much... But I am more worried about Captain Green and the others than myself!"

She looked at Folke on the opposite side and said, "This time, he and his teammates are going to deal with those people. I'm afraid there will be an accident... I hope everyone can go back safely."

Chapter 1096-When Folke heard what she had said, his cold face softened.

He comforted, "Dr. May, don't worry. My teammates are soldiers who have experienced many battles. They fought in many dangerous wars with knives and guns. This time, we are fully prepared and will definitely come back alive and with medical supplies."

When Folke said this, his voice was sonorous and forceful, and his serious face and unyielding manner exuded firmness.

Molly was filled with deep esteem, "Captain Green, you and your teammates are real heroes who deserve respect."

"Dr. May, you flatter me. You medical workers are also terrific."

Folke replied modestly and praised them as well.

Molly shook her head. She still wanted to say something, but she was interrupted by Dan, "Well, stop praising each other. Ouch, my chest hurts. Girl, help me see if my wound has opened up."

When Molly heard it, she stopped talking quickly.

The car had been jolting all the way, and it was possible that his wound had been shaken open.

She quickly pulled open Dan's clothes and checked his wound.

His wound was indeed a little open and oozing with blood.

"Stop moving. I will get your wound dressed again."

Molly fetched the medkit and treated his wound dexterously.

And she comforted him, "When we stop the car to rest later, I'll soften the mat for you so that you can feel comfortable, and you won't feel too bad about the jolt."

Dan sighed while he inhaled, "I told you. Girls are more thoughtful. That Selon had objected to your coming..."

After finishing his words, Dan showed the whites of his eyes to Folke, "You guys aren't as thoughtful as girls."

Folke was a little embarrassed, "Sorry. We're used to a rough life, so we often miss these details."

The heavy atmosphere was softened by What Dan had done.

But Molly narrowed her eyes, glanced casually at Dan, who was joking, and asked, "Sir, you are so familiar with that warehouse. I'm assuming you didn't just 'pass by', did you? Have you ever... been in there?"

Dan didn't expect that Molly would ask him about this, so he looked stern, and his pupils contracted a little.

Then, he contradicted immediately, "You're talking nonsense. How could I possibly get in a place like that?"

Molly stared at him with sharp eyes, "If you didn't get in there, how did you know they had knives and guns? And the number of people on the other side you gave us was obviously an estimate after a double-check. You just deliberately used ambiguous wording so as not to arouse our suspicion, did you?"

N It Dan was alarmed when he heard Molly's sharp words.

He thought this girl was quite clever.

When Folke heard what Molly had said, he felt that something was not right. He looked sharply at Dan.

"Who the hell are you?"

Molly's voice suddenly turned cold. She was wrapping the bandage for Dan, and she abruptly put more pressure on his chest.

Dan gasped for air and shouted in pain, "Ow! Easy, easy! Are you trying to kill me?"

Molly relaxed a little, but she did not withdraw her hand, "Tell me the truth. Are you in league with the men who robbed the medicine? If you lie to us, I'll put some poison in your wound. The poison is stronger than the last one. Not only does it make your skin fester, but it also liquefies your whole body into blood."

Chapter 1097-Dan was very angry because he was threatened by Molly." Kid, you have no conscience. How dare you frighten such an old man like me! I was so kind and told you the location of the warehouse. I should have kept my mouth shut!"

"You were so suspicious!"

Molly did not hesitate to contradict him.

Dan didn't know what to say.

Captain Green frowned at his attitude and said seriously, "Mr. Dan, are you really friends with those who rob medicine?"

"Bah, of course not!"

Dan was very angry. "Who would make friends with the rats in the gutter?"

"Since you are not with them, why don't you say the whole truth?"

Molly glanced at him and said, "Although everyone has secrets he doesn't want to tell, the situation is different now. We are going to do such dangerous things, so we don't want someone stabbing us in the back."

Dan was speechless, "OK, I tell you the truth. I did go into the warehouse.

However, I was not with them. I was sick and wanted to go in to find medicine, so I went through a dog hole. But I didn't expect that when I went into the warehouse, I accidentally made a noise and was found by them. Later, you should also be able to guess that I was injured by them in the process of escape. It was a narrow escape."

"That's pretty impressive. Escaped after being chased by so many people."

Molly and Captain Green were both surprised.

Mr. Dan was at least 70 years old?

Other people at his age might not be able to walk easily. However, he can escape from that kind of ghost place!

“I’m so old. How can I run? It was my wolf cub who carried me. Later, it took me to a safe place, and led those people away. This time, I promised to lead the way for you, mainly because I wanted to find my wolf cub. It has followed me for many years, and I hope that it was not caught by them.”

When Dan said that, his face showed a thick worry.

Molly felt a little strange. “Wolf cub... is it a wolf? Pet?”

“Of course, don’t look down on it. My wolf cub is very intelligent! It is also big and can carry two people.”

Dan spoke proudly.

Captain Green was not surprised. “In some countries, there are many people who keep beasts as pets. It is not surprising.”

Molly also knew that.

It was just when she suddenly knew that Dan was carried away by a wolf, she was surprised.

She was speechless. “Your experience is really strange!”

“Well, you can trust me now. Can you finish your work, please?”

Dan glared at Molly and said angrily.

Molly smiled and said, “Of course. Wait a minute. I’ll give you the best medicine right away.”

“What a two-faced girl!”

Dan murmured discontentedly.

Molly replied to him in a good mood, “I am not two-faced, but have a sense of crisis! Anyone who is in the same situation will also be so cautious.”

“Others will not threaten me nor spread poison on me.”

Dan was specially vindictive!

Molly took it for granted: “If I didn’t do so, you would not tell us the truth! Facts have proved that threats are still very useful. So, you should be obedient, and you’d better tell everything! Otherwise, if my hands don’t obey my command and take the wound medicine into poison, it will be you who will suffer.”

“Mean girl!”

Dan was so angry that he didn’t want to talk to Molly. “Go away, stay away from me. I want to sleep!”

Chapter 1098-Molly was amused. She did not tease him anymore. “Okay, just sleep.”

Then, she really moved to the side.

Dan’s body was weak, so he quickly fell asleep.

Seeing this, Molly moved back and tucked him in.

Folke curved his lips and said, “This Dan seems to like you quite a lot, Dr. May.”

Molly smiled, "Maybe it's because I have saved his life and ... he likes my looks?"

Folke instantly thought of Dan's words to Selon: "You're not my type."

Folke couldn't help laughing.

Molly also laughed for a while and then asked Folke, "According to the route Dan provided, when will we arrive at our destination?"

Folke took out the map and said, "It will take a lot of time. At the earliest, we can get there after midnight."

Molly frowned. "At that time, everyone will be very tired.

After arriving, do we need to have a rest first?"

Folke shook his head. "There is no time to waste, and the night is the best time to do it. The other side will let down vigilance. If we don't take action tonight, we'll have to wait until tomorrow night. The wounded in the slums can't wait for a day."

Molly had nothing to say.

Folke was right. The wounded there needed treatment urgently.

The medicine must be sent back by tomorrow night.

Otherwise, many people would be short of medicine.

If so, the consequences would be catastrophic.

Molly felt heavy.

At this time, what could she do to help Folke and the others?

She pondered.

After a while, as if she thought of something, she raised her hand and slapped her forehead.

Folke was startled. He asked, "Dr. May, what's wrong?"

Molly didn't respond and instead went to look for her medical kit.

When she found it, she carried it over and opened it.

There were a lot of jars and bottles inside.

There were no labels on the jars and bottles, but they were all filled with medicine in different colors and shapes.

These medicines, which Molly had brought abroad, were all developed by the research laboratory.

After a brief browse, she took out a medicine bottle from the second layer.

The bottle was full of black pills.

She handed the bottle to Folke, saying, "This is what I led the team to develop before. It can increase people's energy. The ingredients are all good herbs."

These pills can relieve your fatigue without any side effects. Tonight, if you have to do something, you and your teammates can take them.”

Folke did not expect that there would be such good things. He immediately took the bottle and opened it.

Instantly, a strong smell of herbs drifted over.

The smell was heavy, even a little choking, but Folke was refreshed by it.

He brightened up and hurriedly put the medicine away.” Thank you, Dr. May.

These pills are very important to us.”

Molly smiled, “This is all I can do. I hope we can all get out of here safely tonight.”

“We will,” Folke said solemnly.

Molly told him, “When we stop later to rest, distribute the medicine so that the teammates can take it in advance to let it take effect.”

Folke nodded.

At dinner, they finally stopped for a break.

Folke gave the medicine to his teammates as Molly had instructed, and after that, they drove on.

Around 12:00 p.m., Molly was taking a nap in the car when she heard Folke come in and say, “Dr. May, Here we are.”

Chapter 1099-Molly could not help opening her eyes and looking out.

By this time, the car had been parked in an open space by the side of the mountain road.

All around them were dense forests, darkness, and silence, except for the rustling of leaves by the wind.

At this moment, Captain Green's teammates were preparing for the later mission.

Molly asked Captain Green, "Is the location near here? Don't you need to look ahead first?"

Folke responded, "I have sent someone to check earlier. The warehouse is about ten kilometers away from us, and we will walk there! The car should not go too close there, or it will alarm them. Moreover, it is also to prevent you and Mr.Dan, as well as two other doctors, from being in danger!"

Speaking of which, he looked outside and said, "This place is very hidden. No one will find the car here. After we leave, my two teammates will protect you!"

Until we come back, please stay here and don't leave the camp area. If it is successful, I will send someone back to tell you. Tomorrow morning at the latest!"

Molly felt somewhat nervous, but she nodded heavily, "Don't worry, well be here waiting for you to come back."

Folke nodded and turned to Dan, "Thanks for guiding us."

"You guys also helped me. Please help me to see if my wolf boy has been caught! Besides, it's too dangerous for you to go there like this..."

At this time, Dan tried to sit up.

Molly was surprised and hurried over to help him, "What are you doing? Please lie down."

“Help me up.” Dan tugged on Molly’s arm and said, “I was in that warehouse. I can draw them a picture of the defense of the people in the warehouse, so that they can get in from a weak spot and have a better chance of winning.”

Folke was delighted. “Thank you so much. I’ll get you a paper and a pen.”

Dan leaned against the mat, nodded, and breathed slowly.

Seeing that he felt uncomfortable, Molly took silver needles and stuck two needles in his chest to make him feel better.

Seeing the therapy Molly used, Dan raised his eyebrows and said with a smile, “Interesting. Who taught you this?”

“My teacher taught me, and I’ve learned some from ancient books.” Molly answered honestly.

Dan asked with interest, “Oh? Learn from ancient books? Awesome! To tell you the truth, I’m also quite proficient in ancient medical techniques. Do you want to learn? I can teach you.”

“You?” Molly looked at him and didn’t seem to believe him.

From the first sight to this trip, her impression of this old man had been unreliable, so it was pretty hard to believe he might be a doctor.

“Why do you look at me like this? Don’t I look like a doctor?” Dan looked unhappy, thinking, ‘This girl is ungrateful! Many people want to learn ancient medical techniques from me, but she doesn’t believe me.’ Molly smiled, “You sure don’t look like a doctor! After all, you still have to rely on me to treat you... But since you can go to the warehouse to find medicine, it means that you must know pharmacology, and your body is unusually quick to recover, so I think you used to nourish yourself with many precious herbs.

Therefore, I believe you for the time being.”

“Good eye! I’m really good at... “Dan showed a smug look and was about to praise himself, but at this time, Folke came back with a pen and a piece of paper

Chapter 1100-ou, Mr. Dan! We will take care,” responded Captain Green.

He packed the map while his team members came to report, “Captain, our team sent in advance has come back. They found out that the warehouse was easy to be attacked at the moment. We can set off now.”

“Alright. Let’s gather and prepare to leave,” replied Captain Green.

He then turned around to Molly and Dan. “See you then.”

Molly nodded while taking out several medicine bottles.” Captain Green, take those please.”

Captain Green was confused, “What are those things?”

Molly was a bit embarrassed and answered, “Knockout drops. I made them for self-defense. If you spread it to the enemy’s face, it can faint him immediately.

I’m not sure if you need them, but I suggest you take them. They are not heavy anyway.”

Captain Green was amused.

He wondered how much more novel drugs she carried.

Considering the tight schedule, he resisted his curiosity to seek the answer. He took those bottles and thanked her,” I think they’ll help me.”

After saying goodbye, he got off the car swiftly.

Soon, four squads had gathered quietly and left the base.

After their leaving, two doctors and the two other members of Captain Green's team who didn't act together got off their cars and gathered.

They were too depressed to discuss anything.

It was so quiet that even a falling needle could be heard in the car.

Dan broke the silence first, "Okay now, stop drawing such a long face. Captain Green looked reliable. His members looked experienced and strong, too. They should be able to handle it. Don't worry too much. We'd better see what we can do to help when welcoming them back."

Those team members felt it was reasonable and responded immediately.

Molly calmed down, too. She replied to Dan, "You should avoid sitting for too long. Let me help you to lie down. I'm going to check our medical stock with our two doctors now and get useful items prepared. Is it okay?"

"Sure," replied those two doctors.

"Dr. May, do you need any help from us? Captain Green asked us to give as much help as we could before he left," responded the two Captain Green members.

"Please help to pitch the tents and carry those medicines inside. They might be needed after they come back," replied Molly.

"No problem." Those two members got off the car and moved.

As the night deepened, it was inconvenient to act.

They could only rely on the dim light of the flashlight to proceed.

It was too dark that they fell from time to time and were injured by the bush.

However, no one complained of tiredness or hurt.

At the same time, Captain Green led his team to march on the mountain road.

Harsh conditions as it was, they were not stopped.