

Triplets On SM 1161

Chapter 1161-“Mr. Ballard, you finally regain consciousness.”

Hearing the old man’s voice, Molly felt surprised. “Are you all right?”

Mr. Ballard glared at Sean and then said to Molly, “I’m fine and just feel tired.”

“It’s normal. Your fever was gone just now. You will feel better after you eat something later.”

Molly came up to him to check his condition.

His condition was much better than her expectation!

“It’s great that you regained consciousness. I was worried that you couldn’t get through it.”

Mr. Ballard knew that his previous condition was terrible. He said gratefully, “Thank you very much. You not only asked them to save me before, but you also take good care of me now.”

couldn’t get rid of the fate to be imprisoned at such an old age.

If he were caught by them, they would test medicines on him or force him to do research.

If he lived such a life, he would rather die.

To his surprise, it took a favorable turn in crunch time.

Dubhe saved him with his men.

'It must be Molly who asked them to save me!' This tired old gentleman felt grateful and moved. He couldn't help but praise her, "As expected, you're so kind and won't stand by."

Molly felt shy about his praise. "You're welcome! You're about my grandfather's age, so I'm reluctant to see you be tortured like that. Besides, SRS isn't something good."

Although I don't know why they research and develop it, I know that it will be a disaster for many people if it comes into the market!

"Up to now, no one has developed the drugs to resist the virus. As a doctor, I can't stand by."

Mr. Ballard nodded. "You're right. SRS isn't something good indeed! They want to profiteer from it. During this period, they disregard others' lives. They're heartless and cruel, and they're the chief culprit who makes Domster be like that."

When he talked about that, his tone became angry.

He was so indignant that he couldn't help but cough.

Molly patted his chest to smooth his breath. "Mr. Ballard, calm down. Now that we have saved you, we won't let you be in danger again. Please take a good rest. After you recover, I will ask Sean to send you home."

Mr. Ballard finally smoothed his breath and nodded.

Then he asked, "Who is Sean?"

Molly smiled, pulled Sean's hand and introduced Sean to him. "He's Sean Anderson, my fiancé."

"Mr. Ballard, nice to meet you."

Sean, who kept silent all the time, finally greeted Mr. Ballard.

His tone was aloof but didn't sound impolite.

Mr. Ballard widened his eyes. "What? He's your beloved fiance!"

Histone was filled with disgust. He examined Sean up and down.

Obviously, he was still angry that Sean said that he was more than one hundred years old!

Sean kept calm for Mr. Ballard's gaze.

Sean was tall and stood upright. His temperament was noble, and his face was handsome. He was perfect!

Although the old man wanted to find a quarrel in a straw, he found that he could say nothing for the time being.

Thus, he could only say angrily, "He's handsome but has bad eyesight."

Chapter 1162-Sean raised his eyebrows, not minding Mr. Ballard's words.

Holding back her laughter, Molly put in a good word for Sean.

"Mr. Ballard, Sean means that you're healthy. I told him that you recovered faster than I had expected. Moreover, if he hadn't dispatched people to help Dubhe, Dubhe and the others might not have rescued you quickly."

Hearing this, Mr. Ballard gave a snort.

But he expressed his gratitude to Sean, though reluctant." Well, thank you!"

"Don't mention it," Sean responded with a faint smile. "It is Molly who saved you.

I just asked some people to help Dubhe."

Molly didn't expect that Sean gave her the credit again.

Feeling slightly amused, she changed the subject. "Well, let's not talk about this.

Mr. Ballard, you are still very weak. It's necessary to take a good rest. I've asked someone to prepare medicine and food for you. Have it later. And we'll have to leave this place in the afternoon in case those people find you again."

Mr. Ballard was indeed feeling uncomfortable, so he nodded immediately.

Then Molly and Sean walked out of the tent.

The moment Sean returned to his tent, Tony came. "Sir, I've asked people to search for us. We'd better leave this place soon."

At Tony's words, Sean queried, "Have you gotten the cars?"

Tony nodded. "Yes. The cars have been prepared. We can start off anytime."

Sean ordered straightaway, "Don't delay. Pack up the things right now and set off to Hurmante city."

"Yes, Sir." After receiving the order, Tony went to implement it at once.

As efficient as ever, Tony spent one hour making all the preparations.

On the way to Hurmante city, Sean took Molly's hand and said softly, "It will take some time to get to Hurmante city. Are you tired? If you are tired, just lean against me and sleep for some time. I'll wake you up when we arrive."

"Okay." Molly nodded, as she was indeed tired.

Although she had a sound sleep last night, it was short. After the busy morning, she felt somewhat fatigued.

The next moment, she put her head on Sean's shoulder and shut her eyes.

She smelled Sean's scent and felt his warmth through her hand.

She fell asleep, very reassured.

Looking at her expression closely, Sean felt settled.

'Sure enough, I can rest easy only if she is with me.

'From now on, I won't let her be away from me for that long in any case.' Later, Sean also closed his eyes leisurely.

Molly had a sweet slumber.

She was awakened by Sean.

Opening her eyes in a daze, she found herself in a totally different place.

No more scars and patients, no more forests and wilderness.

The building was intact!

Moreover, it was even a quite luxurious villa.

“We... have we arrived in Hurmante city?” Molly came to a realization promptly and asked in surprise.

“Yes. This area is the undamaged area in Hurmante city, and many buildings are still intact,” Sean answered with a smile and then extended his hand. “Let me take you to visit the villa.”

“Sounds great.” Molly agreed with a smile. She put her hand on his and let him hold it.

They got out of the car.

Molly felt a little unreal somehow at the sight of the trees and flowers filling the garden.

“All I see is the dilapidated slums these days. The view in front almost seems to be my illusion,” she uttered.

Chapter 1163-ated by other medical teams. This time, you’ve done a great job! Even though you leave, your contribution is still the greatest.

No one dares to criticize you.”

Molly was touched and amused. “Speaking of credit, it should be yours. I was only responsible for treating the wounded, but you sent so many supplies over.

You are the biggest contributor.”

“What’s mine is yours. Didn’t we say that we would share everything with each other?”

Sean spoke as he interlocked his fingers with hers.

Seeing this, Molly smiled, "Well, you're right. We share everything with each other."

Sean's lips curled in pleasure. "Let's go. I'll show you around. See if you're satisfied with it."

"Okay."

Molly nodded her head and asked, "Is this villa yours?"

'No! My property is only in Ferro City! This place is rented. It is said to be the private property of a medical doctor. It has a medical research lab with complete equipment. Don't you need it right now?"

Sean said with a slight smile.

Molly's eyes lit up. "Really? Let's go check it out."

She pulled Sean, and her pace quickened.

But after taking a couple of steps, she remembered that Sean could not run at the moment, so she slowed down.

Sean saw these small details. A gentle smile appeared in his deep eyes.

Soon, the two walked around the villa.

The upper floors were the normal residence, and the environment was luxurious and elegant.

The research lab was located on the second underground level.

Because the villa covered a large area, the research lab underneath was very spacious.

There were all kinds of facilities and medical equipment.

Molly was particularly satisfied after looking at it. "With these things, I will be able to make the antidote that Mr.

Ballard needs, and your seriously injured subordinates can get better treatment."

Sean gazed at her indulgently. "As long as you are satisfied with it."

After the tour of the villa, the two returned to the hall on the first floor.

Tony came in and reported, "Mr. Anderson, everyone has settled down, and the perimeter is being guarded."

"OK."

Sean nodded and asked, "Where's Mr. Ballard?" "As you instructed, I arranged for him to live in the guest room upstairs. You can see him at anytime."

Tony answered truthfully.

Sean nodded. "Got it. Go about your business."

Tony nodded and quickly left.

Seeing him handle everything well, Molly was relieved.

She couldn't help but sigh, "Is this the benefit of having someone to rely on? I feel at ease, and I don't have to worry about anything."

"Well, by my side, you don't have to think about anything. Even if you don't do anything, it's fine."

Sean gently touched her head, his tone soft.

Molly blinked and laughed, "No! You'd be tired if I relied on you about everything."

"It's okay. I'm happy to be relied on by you."

Sean said with a smile.

Molly was delighted, feeling like she was almost spoiled by this man.

Later, it was getting dark.

After a long afternoon of driving, they came back here and then settled down.

Everyone was exhausted.

After dinner, Molly went to check Mr. Ballard's condition.

The old man had eaten enough and had a big, comfortable bed to sleep in, so he was in great spirits.

Molly put her mind at rest and went back to her room. She was pulled onto the couch by Sean. "I have a surprise for you."

Chapter 1164-Molly was taken aback at first and then said with a smile," What surprise?"

Sean sat by her side and took out a tablet from under the pillow.

Before Molly realized what was going on, she heard the sound of the three children coming from the tablet." Mommy, Mommy, can you hear us?"

"Mommy, we miss you so much. Did you eat your meals on time? Did you sleep well?"

"Mommy, have you missed us?"

Molly looked at the tablet and saw the faces of the three children.

The three of them were squeezed together in front of the camera and all of them were very excited. Their eyes were a little red as well. They were all saying hello to Molly desperately.

Molly was stunned.

When she was in the slums, there was no signal, so she couldn't contact the outside world at all.

Plus the fact that she had been busy every day, so she had no time to look at her phone either.

She didn't even have time to charge her phone after her phone had run out of battery.

What she didn't expect was that she was able to make phone calls in such a place.

Molly quickly came back to her senses and became excited as well. There were even tears welling up in her eyes.

She hadn't seen the three children for ages. She missed them so much.

She quickly said with a trembling voice, "Hello, my babies, I haven't seen you in ages. Of course, I've missed you. I've missed you so much."

"It's really Mommy, Daddy didn't lie to us."

"Mommy, are you hurt?"

Alex had a face full of concern as he looked at Molly. After that, he said with a frown, "Mommy, looks like you've lost weight."

Claudia didn't say anything, but tears trickled down her cheeks.

Molly felt heartbroken.

Her heart ached and she felt guilty as well. She quickly tried to comfort the children. "Mommy's fine. I'm not hurt at all. It's just that I've been quite busy.

However, I have been eating my meals regularly and I've been sleeping well as well. I'm sorry to have you worry about me."

When Alex and Ben heard those words, their eyes turned red as well.

They wanted to cry as well, but they thought of themselves as men, so they suppressed the urge to cry and said," Mommy, you don't need to say sorry.

We're fine. To us, Mommy's the best and the greatest."

"That's right. It's...it's just that we've missed you."

Claudia was already crying her eyes out. However, she was still able to open her mouth to speak.

Her voice was full of sobs. "Mommy, are you able to come home with Daddy?"

Molly's heart ached and she wanted to head back home straight away.

Sean saw the tears in her eyes and quickly pulled her into his arms.

He then comforted the three children. "Daddy and Mommy missed you as well.

But Daddy has things to take care of here as well. We can only go back home in a few days.

However, I promise we won't be long. We'll only take one more week at the most. I want you guys to stay at home during this time and behave yourselves, alright?"

The three children were a little disappointed because they couldn't see their parents immediately, but when they heard their daddy's promise, they immediately nodded their heads.

"Daddy, I hope you can keep your word."

"I believe in Daddy! You said you were going to find Mommy and you really did it. Then you'll definitely be able to bring Mommy back. Daddy, you're the best!"

"Yes, I believe in Daddy as well..."

The three children expressed their trust in Sean and their eyes were full of confidence.

Sean felt satisfied and said, "Alright then, you guys are the best as well."

Because Molly hadn't seen the three children for a long time, so she was on the video call for over an hour.

During that time, Grandpa Dave and her two brothers came to say hello as well.

When they saw that Molly was alright, they felt relieved.

Sean stood by Molly's side all this time.

Only when it was getting late did Molly say goodbye to the three children and disconnect the video call.

After putting away the table, Molly immediately pounced into Sean's arms.

Chapter 1165-"Sean could probably guess why she said these words. He could not help kissing her hair gently.

"Are you feeling guilty about our children?"

"Hmm." Molly's voice was dull. "I don't think I am a good mother. They are still young and need their parents to be with them. Over the years, I have been very busy and actually neglected a lot about their growth. However, far from blaming me, they were very sweet..." "You taught them well." Sean noticed the remorse in her tone and hugged her tightly. "It's me who owes them more than you. I haven't been around them since they were born. I haven't been a part of their upbringing. I'm really not a good father. You've done your best, so don't think like that, okay? Besides, you work hard to give them better living conditions. They know your efforts and your love for them, so they are sweet."

Molly felt better after hearing his comfort, but she still felt somewhat guilty.

She shook her head and said, "Don't say that. At that time, you didn't know you had kids. Now you are doing very well. They like you very much and have never blamed you."

After hearing this, Sean could not help but resign. He touched her forehead and then said, "You are a good comforter, but why are you so hard on yourself? I'm much more dereliction of duty than you are. Since you don't blame me, then don't blame yourself. After we get home from here, we'll make it up to them, okay?"

"Hmm, okay!" Molly nodded with a faint smile and finally was not that depressed.

When Sean saw her smile, he felt warm and bowed his head to kiss her.

Molly blinked, then put her arms around his neck, and kissed him softly.

At this moment, with the beloved one alone, Sean's desire was burning. He was no longer satisfied with just kissing her.

Molly felt him hug her tighter and tighter, so her body was uncontrollably close to him, and soon there was no space between them.

The erotic kiss drove them crazy!

Unconsciously, Molly was pushed onto the sofa, and Sean leaned over...

Two buttons on her neckline were untied, and her delicate collarbone was clearly visible.

Below her neckline was her fair skin and a looming scene.

Sean was breathing fast, and the blood in his body seemed to roar wildly like an out-of-control beast.

The last bit of sanity left in his mind was about to disappear.

At this time, a fierce knock on the door suddenly interrupted them.

Molly had been psychologically prepared to accept what happened next.

She thought it was okay no matter what she and Sean would do.

However, the sudden knock made Molly come to her senses.

Feeling shy, she flushed and hurriedly pushed Sean away.” There is a guy...

outside the door. Get up!”

Sean’s face became cold and the anger in his body gave him an impulse to beat the guy outside the door!

Chapter 1166-‘Who the hell is it that dares to interrupt someone at such a time?’ wondered Sean.

He gritted his teeth in anger. He wanted to ignore the noise and continue to kiss the woman in his arms.

Molly’s eyes turned red and she was moaning quietly. Her voice was trembling a little. “Aren’t you going to take a look? It might be something important.”

“What I’m doing now is more important.”

Sean’s voice was hoarse as he spoke in Molly’s ear. His voice was unbelievably attractive.

As soon as he said that, he kissed Molly’s ear lightly.

Molly felt her ears burning. Her eyes were filled with passion.

However, the person outside the door didn't know how desperate Sean was and knocked even harder.

Knock! Knock! Knock!

The sound of the person knocking on the door completely ruined the romantic atmosphere.

It ruined what Sean was going to do next. He then asked angrily, "Who is it?"

Tony, who was standing outside the door was at a loss for words.

'Why does he sound like he was going to murder someone?' he wondered.

'Have I come at the wrong time?' Tony was muttering inwardly, but he had no choice but to say, "Sir, it's me. I have something to report."

In order to express how desperate he was, he added, "It's very important..."

Sean was rendered speechless.

Tony had always known what he should do at different times. If it wasn't really important, he wouldn't have come to disturb Sean.

However, at that moment in time, Sean would rather Tony didn't know what he should be doing.

He gritted his teeth and got up from the sofa. He didn't forget to pull Molly up as well.

Molly's long hair was in a little bit of a mess. Because her clothes weren't properly buttoned up, it made her look even more attractive.

Sean closed his eyes and forced himself to suppress his anger.

Only after a while did he calm down and help Molly to button her clothes up.

Molly was still blushing as she raised her hands to finish buttoning her clothes up and said, "Go, I'll do it myself."

Sean nodded, stood up and walked towards the door.

Outside the door, Tony immediately saw the unsatisfied look on Sean's face.

This caused Tony's heart to skip a beat.

He hadn't seen what was happening inside the room, but from the noise that was sounding inside the room, he knew that Molly was inside as well.

It was obvious what a man and woman could be doing in a room at night.

Tony realized that he had spoiled Sean's day.

He was scared that he wasn't going to live past tonight. He wanted to stay alive, so he said, "Sir, I do apologize. I didn't interrupt you on purpose. Don't worry. I'll punish myself after I leave. However, there is something important to deal with at the moment."

Sean gave him a "you'd better be right" look and said, "Speak. Let me see how important it is."

Tony looked inside the room hesitantly.

Sean saw the look on his face and guessed that there was something that Molly couldn't hear.

Sean frowned and signaled Tony to go to the study.

Tony nodded and was about to leave.

What he didn't expect was that Molly came up behind Sean and said, "What happened? I want to know as well. Don't hide anything from me."

Sean was taken aback and turned around to look at her.

Molly had already put on her clothes and her long hair was hanging down from her shoulders. Her face was slightly red and her eyes still showed that she was aroused. It made her look a little lazy and beautiful.

Tony didn't dare to take a second look. He subconsciously looked at Sean.

The latter was in a little bit of a daze.

Molly followed his gaze and asked, "With our relationship, what is there that I can't know?"

Seeing this, Sean said helplessly, "Nothing..."

Chapter 1167-Molly nodded in satisfaction and said to Tony, "Go on then."

Tony was at a loss for words.

'Sir is definitely going to be a hen-pecked husband in the future, since he agreed to her request so quickly,' he thought.

However, even with that thought in mind, he still didn't dare to speak out.

Tony nodded and got straight to the point. "Mr. Merrick has sent news. Word of the Stars Group's activity here has already been passed to the Martial Art Union.

They guessed that you would probably be here, so they've sent quite a lot of people over in secret. Mr. Merrick said that those people might be targeting your life."

When Sean heard those words, his face darkened. "No one should know of my travel plans this time. How did they know about my whereabouts?"

Molly's heart skipped a beat as well.

If she remembered correctly, back when Sean was attacked last time, it was also because his whereabouts were leaked.

The same thing happened this time. Could it be that...

"Is there another mole?" Molly couldn't help but ask.

When Tony heard those words, his face turned serious."

That's what I'm suspecting as well. When sir came to Domster, his whereabouts hadn't been a secret to us, but the seven leaders of Stars Group were all sir's reliable subordinates. And their subordinates were all selected through a very strict method. Normally, no intel should have been leaked. However, since things have already happened, I have to be alarmed and report to you."

When Sean heard those words, he squinted his eyes and asked, "Who did they send this time?"

"From what we know so far, they've sent five squads of SSS ranked mercenaries," replied Tony.

SSS ranked mercenaries were at the same level as the top assassins in the world. They had all gone through inhuman training.

Every one of them was ruthless.

This was something Molly didn't know.

However, from the conversation between Sean and Tony, she could tell how dangerous those people were.

She couldn't help but grab Sean's hand and ask worriedly, "Was it those mercenaries who ambushed you back then?"

Sean came back to his senses when he heard that question.

He didn't want Molly to be too worried, but neither did he want to keep anything a secret from her.

He nodded. "Yes, but there were more of them back then. I was seriously injured, but most of them were dead. The squads that they've sent this time should have been newly trained recently. They're down in numbers, so there's nothing to worry about."

When Tony heard those words, he didn't say anything.

That was because he knew Sean didn't want Molly to be worried, so he didn't tell her the truth.

The truth was that any SSS ranked mercenary would need 10 years to train.

Five years would be too short.

However, back then, the Martial Art Union did suffer quite a big loss.

The five squads they had sent this time were probably the most elite force they could use at the moment.

Molly seemed to have her doubts. She looked at Sean with her beautiful eyes.

“Really? You’re not lying to me?”

“Of course! Why would I lie to you?” Sean smiled and held Molly’s hand. “You don’t need to be too worried. Since Chester was able to find how the number of people they sent, then he must have also sent reinforcements as well. Our men aren’t weaklings either.”

Molly didn’t feel relieved at all when she heard those words.

She had thought everything would be back to normal after what had happened last night.

What she didn’t expect was that there was even a bigger danger waiting for them.

At that moment, she couldn’t help but lean towards Sean and wrap her arms around his waist. “Promise me that you’ll keep yourself safe no matter what you’re doing. Not only that, you have to tell me honestly what danger you have encountered in the future. Don’t keep anything from me.

You’ve promised the three children... that you’ll bring me home.”

Chapter 1168-art softened.

He reached out and hugged Molly, patted her gently and said, “Alright, I promise.”

Tony was standing to one side and suddenly felt that he was the third wheel.

He rubbed his nose and then coaxed, “Don’t worry, Mrs.

Anderson. We will make all the preparations necessary. We won't let what happened a few years ago happen again. Sir will not be in a dangerous situation again."

Molly nodded and said to Tony, "You need to be careful as well. I hope everyone will be okay."

Tony felt touched and said, "We will all be okay."

He then bowed respectfully. "Sir, Mrs. Anderson, if there's nothing else, I'll be leaving now. Rest well."

Sean nodded.

Tony quickly left. Sean then came back into the house with some men.

It was probably because they knew that something was going to happen, Sean and Molly were no longer in the mood to continue where they had left off.

However, later on in the day, when Molly just finished having a shower, she suddenly wrapped her arms around Sean's." Let's sleep here tonight, alright?"

Sean listened to the woman's request. He knew that she was still worried about him.

He smiled and deliberately teased her. "It's late at night.

Miss May, since you're making such a request, can I take it as you want to do something with me?"

When Molly heard those words, she couldn't help but think of where they had left off during the day and her face turned red.

"That's not what I mean..."

She might have said those words, but she didn't seem to be letting go at all.

Sean smiled mischievously. "What do you mean then? Do you just want to sleep with me and do nothing?"

Molly was a little frustrated. "Can't we do that? Do you have to do something when we sleep together?"

She couldn't help but slap Sean lightly. "Can't you just think of something pure?"

"That's kind of hard for me." A troubled expression appeared on Sean's face. "I didn't want to scare you back then, so I could suppress my desires. Now that we know what each other is thinking, it would be torture if you want me to remain pure."

With that said, Sean bit Molly's earlobe lightly as if he was punishing her.

"Aren't you scared of me having a problem after suppressing my desires for too long?"

Molly backed away a little. Her ears turned red as well. She couldn't help but mumble, "What do you mean you're suppressing your desires? I've already helped you to..."

As Molly said those words, she slapped Sean again lightly. "Don't you know what situation we're in? Why are you still being like this?"

Sean looked at Molly, who was a little angry. He was scared that he would make her really angry, so he smiled and pulled her into his arms. "Alright, alright. I'll stop it. I'm just trying to make you happy. I know you're worried about me. Just relax, I treasure my life more than you think. After all, I still have to stay by your side and protect you for the rest of our lives. I also want to see the children grow up, so I won't put myself in danger. Alright?"

After hearing what he said, Molly finally felt a little at ease. She then leaned into the man's arms and nodded. "Alright then. Remember what you've said. Nothing can happen to you. You can't get injured. You have to always remain by my side."

“Okay.”

Sean agreed without hesitation. His voice was gentle. “I promise. I will always be by your side.”

Molly was finally satisfied and didn’t carry on the subject.

However, she wrapped her arms tighter around Sean’s waist.

It was as if she was afraid that Sean would disappear.

A while later, Molly seemed to be tired. She then fell asleep whilst listening to Sean’s heartbeat.

Sean noticed that the woman in his arms had fallen asleep, so he lowered his head.

What he saw was Molly’s quiet face.

His eyes turned soft and he pecked her lips and said quietly, “Goodnight.”

Chapter 1169-On the morning of the next day. When Molly woke up and opened her eyes, she saw the building was intact. This caused her to be in a little bit of a daze.

Only after a while did she remember that she and Sean had left the slums.

She sat up and a warm voice sounded next to her. “You’re awake?”

Molly turned around.

She saw Sean sitting on the sofa and smiling at her.

There was a laptop in front of him as well. He seemed to be taking care of some business matters.

Sean was wearing a casual set of clothes and was leaning on the back of the sofa. His legs were crossed and he looked lazy and casual.

The sunlight shone in through the windows and seemed to make him look like he was glowing. This caused Sean to look handsome and dazzling.

Molly blinked her eyes and thought, 'I'm so lucky to be able to see such a beautiful scene as soon as I wake up.' She climbed out of bed and walked up to Sean. She leaned in, kissed him on the cheeks and said, "Good morning."

"Morning." Sean's lips curved into a smile. This made him look a little breathtaking. "So passionate after only just waking up?" Molly straightened her back and smiled. "That's right. You're too attractive, so I couldn't help it."

Sean looked at Molly and the smile was evident on his face. "Really?"

He then sized her up and down in detail.

Molly had just woken up. Her hair was still in a mess and looked a little silly.

She hadn't yet washed her face, but her skin was still snow-white.

Combined with her fine facial features. It would be difficult for one to not like her.

Sean hooked his finger as a signal for Molly to come close. "Come here."

"Huh?"

Molly walked over with a smile on her face. "What is it?"

Sean kissed her on the forehead and said, "What goes around comes around.

Miss May's beauty seems even more attractive."

Molly chuckled. "I haven't even washed my face yet."

"You're still good-looking though." Sean wasn't holding back on his compliments.

"To me, you're beautiful no matter what.

When Molly heard those words, she was overjoyed.

Sean saw how happy she was, so he raised his hand and pinched her cheek.

"Go wash up. I'll take you downstairs for breakfast when you're done."

"Okay."

Molly nodded and quickly headed to the bathroom to wash up.

After washing up, she got changed into a new set of clothes and went downstairs with Sean.

They had a lot for breakfast. The breakfast consisted of all of Molly's favorite foods.

When Molly saw the food on the table, she was surprised." Who made all of this?"

"I ask Tony to find someone to come and make breakfast."

Sean poured a glass of milk for Molly. "We still have a lot of patients at the moment. We need someone to look after them. Coincidentally, a lot of people in Domster are unemployed. This is a chance for them to get a job as well."

Molly understood what Sean was talking about. "I see. I have to admit, you're more considerate."

"Just doing what I can, that's all. I can help a few of them, but I can't help all of them," Sean said casually.

As he said those words, he passed the glass of milk to Molly. "Be careful, don't drop it."

Molly nodded and took the glass carefully before taking a sip. "What plans do you have later on? I have to check on Mr. Ballard and the other wounded after I finish breakfast. After that, I have to go to the research lab to mix some agents."

Sean poured himself a glass of milk as well. "I can accompany you whilst I take care of some business matters as well. We've been out here for quite a while.

There are quite a lot of things that I need to take care of. I need to get going."

"Okay!"

Molly was overjoyed.

She had been worried that Sean would need to leave the house to take care of local matters.

She didn't say anything, but she still couldn't help but feel worried.

After all, Molly didn't know when Sean's enemies would arrive.

Now that Sean said that he was going to stay by her side, Molly would obviously feel very happy

Chapter 1170-Sean knew what Molly was thinking. His eyes softened.

He knew that Molly would be worried, so he deliberately stayed by her side.

This was so that Molly didn't have to worry about him.

At that moment, Sean looked at Molly, who was smiling and felt he was in a better mood as well.

After breakfast, Molly went to check on Sean's men who were wounded and Mr.

Ballard.

Mr. Ballard was in quite a good state. His previous conditions didn't reoccur.

Neither did he look like he was going to have a fever again.

"Looks like the agent is effectively suppressing the SRS." Molly was a little surprised.

The agent was only a half-finished product. It shouldn't be such effective.

However, the agent was acting as if it was a finished antidote on Mr. Ballard.

"That's because I have good body conditions, so I can recover quickly," said Mr.

Ballard.

When Molly heard those words, she was even more surprised.

Even if Mr. Ballard had good body conditions, he wouldn't recover this quickly.

She had a feeling that something wasn't right.

Molly couldn't work out why for now. All she could do was to temporarily put this problem to one side and find a chance to do a full checkup on Mr. Ballard later on.

"I'm relieved that you're no longer feeling uncomfortable. I'll head to the research lab later on to mix a new agent. Only then would we be able to suppress the SRS in the future if anything happens."

After Molly had seen the wounded, Molly planned on heading to the research lab.

When Mr. Ballard heard those words, he couldn't sit still anymore. "Hey, take me with you if you're going to mix a new agent. I want to have a look at how you mix the agents as well."

Molly smiled helplessly when she heard those words. "You haven't fully recovered yet. Let's not run around too much, alright? Besides, how can I just let anyone see how I mix the agents?"

"It's only a half-finished product. What is there to hide?" Mr. Ballard continued impolitely, "Besides, I'm going to help you. I'm more familiar with medicine than you are. I might be able to give you some new ideas. And I'm only willing to help you as well. If it had been anyone else, I would just ignore them."

When Molly heard those words, she remembered something.

Dubhe had said in the past that those martial art families had been developing SRS in large batches. They had also intended to use Mr. Ballard's knowledge of medicine to improve SRS as well.

When Mr. Ballard escaped, he had taken a lot of research data with him.

This caused Molly to feel excited.

Back then, her tutor was only able to develop a half-finished agent because her tutor couldn't find the exact formula and data for SRS.

If that information could be fully understood, then the success rate for developing the finished agent would increase to at least 80%.

Molly immediately became overjoyed. “Mr. Ballard, is the SRS development data in your hands complete? Is there a way to allow the half-finished agent to become a finished agent? If you can do that, then you’ll be saved.”

“Looks like you’re quite smart, young lady.” Mr. Ballard gave Molly an admiring look. He then sighed. “However, the data in my hands isn’t complete. Back then, I was captured by them to assist the development. I was forced, so they kept an eye on me. Plus the fact that the development of SRS is quite complicated, so all the data couldn’t be kept in one place. Therefore, even though I’ve stolen most of the data, there were still parts missing.”

Molly wasn’t very surprised when she heard those words.

Since the other party was mass-producing SRS, then they definitely would have amended their process quite a number of times.

SRS was quite lethal, so the data would definitely be kept separately.

Molly tried to comfort Mr. Ballard. “Don’t be too disappointed. At least the data in your hands can increase the effectiveness of my half-finished agent. Even if it was only by 10%, it would still be enough.”

With that said she looked at Mr. Ballard. “However, can your body cope with it?”