

Triplets On SM 1301

Chapter 1301-Ben was lively and cute. Surrounded by the good-smelling ladies, he said in a sweet angelic voice, “Ms. Pretty, what perfume are you wearing? You really have good taste. Could you tell me? Then I will buy a bottle for Mommy sometime.

“Miss, your dress is very beautiful, and you look really nice. There must be lots of men who want to win your love.”

These socialite ladies were so pleased to hear that.

“Oh, you really have a sweet tongue, little young man!”

But Claudia was a little timid in the presence of so many people. She held her daddy’s leg and flinched.

With her big eyes fluttering, she looked so cute.

Seeing the father and his daughter behave so differently, all the people were astonished again.

One was cold and noble, while the other was sweet and cute.

They were so adorable!

Some of them even came up to flatter the children.

After all, the three kids were the successors of Anderson Corporation.

It was worth it to praise the kids now because Sean would remember it!

They might get unexpected profits in the future!

Sean was slightly unhappy with that.

He was about to stop them when Molly swayed.

He immediately kept her steady and asked caringly, "What's wrong?"

"Nothing. I just... feel a little dizzy."

Molly shook her head and answered.

She had not felt anything moments earlier, but she felt the power of the alcohol now.

Sean said worriedly, "Let me take you to the lounge."

Molly immediately refused, "No. I'll go to the restroom and clear my head.

There're so many guests on site. It'll look awkward if I leave."

"Don't care about them," Sean said casually.

Maybe the guests were important, but he cared more about Molly.

But Molly insisted on staying.

Sean had no choice but to agree, "Okay then."

But he would be worried if she went alone. He asked Caitlyn to come over and told her, "Please walk her to the restroom. I don't want anything to happen to her there."

“No problem.”

Caitlyn agreed willingly and then left the banquet hall with Molly.

Just about ten minutes later, the two of them returned.

Afraid she would smear her makeup, Molly had just patted her face with cold, watered hands. Now her head was indeed a little clear.

Yet, as soon as she entered the banquet hall, she saw Eaton.

Eaton was here waiting for her.

Seeing her come back, he called, “Molly.”

“Yes, Eaton?”

Molly was a little cold to him, probably because of what had happened a couple of days ago.

Eaton sensed that. He came to her and said sincerely, “There were so many people around us just now. It was unsuitable to bring up something on that occasion, so I came to you... I want to apologize to you for what happened a couple of days ago. I was irrational that night. I hope you won’t take it to heart.”

“I persuaded you in that tone because I was prejudiced against Sean. I meant to show my care, but I made you unhappy.”

Molly froze for a brief moment, but then said, “I didn’t take it to heart.”

Eaton said helplessly, “You ignored me, but you say you didn’t take it to heart!”

Anyway, this is indeed my fault... sorry.

And I want to tell you, I wish you happiness.”

Molly was slightly surprised because she had never expected him to tell her something like this.

After a few moments, she replied, “Thanks.”

“You’ve forgiven me?”

Eaton seemed relieved. He smiled, “To be honest, I really don’t want us to be estranged from each other.”

“You think too much, Eaton. I’m not so mean. As long as I know what kind of person Sean is, it’s enough,” Molly said calmly.

Chapter 1302-Molly’s words were inexplicably unpleasant to Eaton’s ear.

Molly was defending another man with all her will.

He felt so unhappy, but didn’t show it on his face. He even smiled, “You’re right.

After all, you’re closer to each other than to others.”

When the two began talking, Sean, who was not far away, had noticed it.

He narrowed his eyes and excused himself to the guest beside him.

Then he walked in this direction.

Seeing him from the corner of his eye, Eaton said to Molly, "You'll have lots of things to do today. Go to Mr. Anderson now."

After that, he reached out his hand toward Molly's face.

Molly froze, going to avoid it subconsciously.

But Eaton said, "Your hair is a little messy."

Molly was about to tell him don't bother and that she could take care of it by herself.

At this point, Sean came and took Eaton's hand.

Sean's expression was cold.

He warned and threatened with cold eyes, "Mr. Scott, watch your behavior!

Molly is now mine. You behave roughly at our engagement ceremony. You don't think I will do anything to you?"

Eaton's eyes met Sean's. He smiled disapprovingly and said, "Mr.

Anderson, you're mistaken. I just noticed that Molly's hair was messy, hoping to straighten it up for her." His tone didn't convey even a hint of apology.

Sean said with fierce, cold eyes, "Then you didn't have to bother. Molly is already married. When you meet her next time, please make a detour. You should avoid bringing some unnecessary gossip to her. And, if you dare to do that again, your hand will be gone!"

After that, he shook off Eaton's hand.

But Eaton didn't care about it at all.

He even grinned a little hideously, "Mr. Anderson, your words are something to fool yourself. No matter what, Molly and I are students of the same teacher.

Maybe we'll develop the same project in the future. Making a detour when I meet her is obviously impossible."

Sean looked colder, making the atmosphere around him so tense.

Feeling his anger, Molly immediately took his hand to pacify him.

The latter felt her touch and turned to look at her.

Molly smiled at him softly, gave his hand a hard squeeze, and then looked at Eaton. "Eaton, Sean is right. Your behavior was really improper. I hope you don't do that again! Because it will give me trouble."

His face stiff, Eaton looked at her deeply.

After a few moments, he finally said with a normal expression, "Okay. Since you don't like it, I won't touch you."

Then he glanced at Sean nonchalantly and left.

Sean's eyes turned grave. He did feel Eaton's glance was a little strange.

He frowned and looked at Molly, "Was your face touched?" "No, he didn't have the time."

Molly shook her head and observed his expression gingerly.

The man tightened his facial muscles, obviously unhappy.

Of course, she knew it was because of Eaton.

Holding his hand, she soothed him, "Calm down. Even if you hadn't come, I wouldn't have let him touch me."

Sean didn't doubt that.

But his tolerance of Eaton had reached the limit.

If something like that happened again, he would likely make him suffer!

Seeing he was still angry, Molly leaned over and said softly, "I'm serious. Only you can do something so intimate to me in this world, so calm down! This is our engagement party! You're the groom. How could you keep a straight face?"

Although you're still handsome, I want to see you smile, okay?"

As her talk went further, she began gently shaking his arm like a little girl.

Chapter 1303-Seeing her girlish manner, Sean finally regained some of his calmness.

He subconsciously lifted her chin and said, "Okay, I'll calm down. You can only be mine in this life."

Then he lowered his head and kissed her lips.

These rich girls around the three kids all put hands over their hearts and said, "Is the rumored cold Sean so gentle?" "This is the third time I've been impressed tonight. Sean's unswerving love of one person is so admirable!"

"Once again, I want to steal him from his wife."

But Ben immediately said, "Ms. Pretty, you should never have such a dangerous thought! Daddy is Mommy's only. She won't share him with others!" "Yes, right.

You're so beautiful. You'll meet an excellent guy in the future.

Don't fix your eyes on our daddy!"

Claudia echoed, afraid these girls would really think about having a relationship with her daddy.

Alex suggested, "We have three uncles. They are also quite excellent. If you really want boyfriends, we can introduce them to you."

As he spoke, he pointed to Brycen and his two brothers who were not far away.

These girls naturally turned to look and saw the three brothers.

To be honest, the three men of the May family all looked handsome with good figures. Right, they were of high quality in every aspect.

They looked impressive even by only standing there.

Nathan had already gained some reputation in the business world. Among the young businesspeople, he was one of the best.

Immediately, lots of girls thought about getting him.

The brothers of Molly were now the brothers of Sean. Building ties with them also seemed to be a good choice, didn't it?

Many of the girls instantly changed their targets. "Little young man, little Miss, could you introduce them to us?" "Of course."

The three kids agreed without hesitation.

As long as they didn't fix their eyes on Daddy, anything was okay!

Then, ten minutes later, the three brothers were surrounded by a group of young ladies.

The three men were all wondering why these girls suddenly became so warm.

Molly and Sean were so surprised when they came over and saw this.

"What's going on? Why did our engagement party suddenly become a large blind dating site?" "I don't know."

Sean shook his head.

As soon as he finished that, he saw the three kids pushing their way through the crowd.

Seeing their parents, they immediately came over to claim their credit.

"Mommy, are we smart? We've driven away so many of your rivals."

Sean praised, "Well done!"

Molly laughed, "Really smart, but... your three uncles are suffering!"

The three kids didn't agree, "That's not true! If they are lucky, they will get girlfriends."

But Molly doubted it so much.

She wouldn't smear the image of her three elder brothers, but she had to confess something.

Her brothers looked brilliant but had flaws. Nathan was probably a workaholic, and he didn't seem to be interested in women.

Brycen was worse. He was only interested in sports cars, and his EQ was quite low. No one knew when he would have feelings for women.

Giving him a ticket to an auto show might be better than giving him a woman!

Her youngest brother had a quiet, dark character. She had never heard he had a woman around him. She guessed he was not going to marry anyone in this life.

Could the three of them really get girlfriends?

Chapter 1304-Molly's comments on her three brothers were accurate. While dealing with the rich girls, they had weird thoughts.

Nathan thought, 'The families of these people are socially influential. It's a good thing to build relations with them.' Brycen simply thought, "Let me make them my friends. Who will hate to have many friends?"

Sawyer wanted to avoid them. He even wished to turn and leave.

On another spot.

Eaton seemed to look very happy after he returned.

His eyebrows were with joy as if he had won hundreds of millions in the lottery.

Seeing that, Kara was naturally wondering why.

When he went to Molly just now, he didn't do anything unusual. But he seemed to have already got what he came for.

When did he do that?

He did that when he reached out his hand toward Molly?

She was not sympathetic to Molly at all, but Eaton used that method on the woman he liked, which was scary.

This man...would do anything by hook or by crook.

His previous gentleness and kindness were just what he had faked!

Seeming to feel Kara's gaze, Eaton turned to look at her and asked nonchalantly, "Why look at me?" Her expression slightly stiff, Kara looked away and said, "Nothing."

Eaton glanced at her, not taking it seriously. He ordered her coldly, "Come to my room tonight."

Kara trembled, silent.

Soon the engagement party came to an end.

The site was livelier.

The guests gathered in twos and threes to chat and drink.

Having worn her high-heeled shoes for too long, Molly got tired and sat down to rest.

Lynn and Caitlyn came to her.

As soon as she sat down, Lynn whispered, "Molly, I have hangoverprevention pills. Do you want one? I saw you drink some wine just now. I think you must feel a little uncomfortable, right?"

Molly didn't refuse.

A little dizzy, she took the pill and swallowed it. 'Thanks.' "Oh, no problem."

Lynn waved her hand but then sighed, "I didn't expect getting engaged to be so complicated." "A family like the Anderson family has many rules and emphasizes the display of splendor and grandeur, so this is unavoidable," Caitlyn echoed.

Brycen was not far away. As she spoke, her eyes seemed to fall on him unintentionally.

The latter was chatting enjoyably with a sweet, beautiful girl.

Caitlyn felt some bitterness. She picked up her wine glass and gulped down a mouthful.

The wine was slightly sweet, but it tasted bad in her mouth!

Realizing that she was in a bad mood, Molly looked in that direction. Then her heart sank.

Why did she forget that?

She thought it was necessary to explain something.

“Don’t think too much. You know, Brycen’s EQ is quite low. He has no idea about human feelings. Just now, the three kids played a trick, and those rich girls went over. I think he just treats them like friends. He won’t think about dating them.”

Stunned, Caitlyn seemed to feel a little embarrassed.

Trying to avoid Molly’s eyes, she said, “Why did you tell me that? His actions don’t have anything to do with me.”

As she spoke, she drained another glass.

Seeing she was lying, Molly shook her head helplessly.

“Maybe others can’t see it, but I can, can’t I? You... like Brycen, right?

Although you usually act as if you dislike him, he’s in your heart. Your look at him is different. Don’t deny it.”

Chapter 1305-“What’s going on? What’s going on?”

Lynn’s eyes lit up when she heard that.

She realized that a secret was exposed. “Molly, Caitlyn likes your brother?”

Caitlyn denied, "Don't believe her nonsense. I don't..." "But why are you drinking like crazy?"

Molly exposed her lie.

Lost for words, Caitlyn immediately put down her wine glass.

But this action just proved she liked him.

Even Lynn had found that she was trying to cover it up. She hit her gently with her shoulder and said, "It's not a shame to admit it. You like him.

That's all right. There's nothing you should be ashamed of."

Caitlyn fell silent.

In fact, her feelings for Brycen had been vague in the beginning.

When she treated him, she thought that the person was annoying because he screamed everytime he got acupuncture.

Later, when they had been getting along for a while, she had a different feeling.

But she habitually talked to him sharply, mainly because the man was dull.

But he was very attentive in the other aspects.

She had not thought about exposing it so soon, but Molly had found it.

After being silent for a long time, she said in low spirits, "I don't want to admit it because I don't want to give him a mental burden. He doesn't have this thought at all. He doesn't treat me like a normal woman. I don't want to be his problem."

Molly immediately comforted her, "My brother is indeed slow in this aspect. You two usually have playful fights, and he won't think about that... but I think that if you speak it out first, he might not necessarily be unaware of it. Don't belittle yourself too much."

"And I don't think he really has a beef with you...Cause he also treats the other women like this!" "Right, Caitlyn! You're so excellent and beautiful. You have good looks and a nice figure. When you were working in the institute abroad, so many men tried to win your love! I don't think a man in the right mind will not like you," Lynn echoed.

Caitlyn didn't really believe it.

'Is that true?' Brycen was not far away, and she subconsciously looked at him.

But the girl beside him sprained her ankle and almost fell at the moment.

Brycen immediately kept her steady.

Viewed from her angle, the two looked so intimate.

And Brycen also seemed to be saying something to the girl.

Although she couldn't hear anything, she could see from his expression that he obviously cared about the girl somewhat.

Caitlyn smiled without joy, "Maybe..."

Molly instantly felt a pain on her face.

'I tried so hard to put in a word for my brother, but the guy immediately contradicted me with his action!

'Sure, he's unreliable!' Lynn was also a little speechless.

Caitlyn said nonchalantly, "I'm fine. You girls don't have to be like this... Let's drop this. Come on, my dear tutor, congratulations on your engagement. May you and Mr. Anderson live together till old and gray."

As she spoke, she picked up her wine glass, proposing a toast to Molly.

Molly hadn't heard this title for a long time. She was dazed but then sighed, "Thanks for your good wish."

Caitlyn smiled and nodded.

Then the three of them began drinking, putting the earlier topic at the back of their minds.

Sean was chatting with some businesspeople on another spot, but he would glance at Molly from time to time.

Seeing the three of them drinking, he wanted to come over. But the hotel manager hurried over and whispered to him, "President, a middle-aged couple came to the entrance, claiming they are Madam's biological parents. They are trying to break in. How... to deal with it?"

Chapter 1306-Sean was taken aback.

'Does he mean Lara and Walter?' That thought made him furrow his brows.

'Don't those two know when to give up?' wondered Sean. 'They've already made Molly unhappy because they went to Terahis Grove unannounced and now they're coming here today as well? If Molly finds out, then she'll be pissed again.<sup>1</sup> Sean quickly gave the order. "Tell them to leave. Don't let them in without my permission."

The manager was a little stunned, but didn't dare disobey. "Okay."

He then left the banquet hall and went downstairs.

Meanwhile, at the entrance of the hotel.

Lara and Walter were looking inside.

The two of them were obviously dressed especially for today's occasion. Both of them were dressed formally.

Walter was wearing a suit and Lara was wearing a red dress. The way they were dressed matched the occasion.

"The engagement party is almost over. Are we too late?" asked Walter as he lowered his head to look at the time on his watch.

Lara had a confident look on her face. "No, we're not. I've especially chosen to come at this time. During the second half of the engagement party, Molly must have quite a lot to drink, so she would definitely be a little drunk. Plus the special occasion today, she wouldn't want things to become ugly. Therefore, she would definitely let us in."

After hearing those words, Walter didn't feel as optimistic at all.

He felt that according to Molly's temper, she wouldn't give in so easily.

With that thought in mind, the manager of the hotel finally came to the entrance.

When the two of them saw the hotel manager, they quickly walked up to him and asked desperately, "How did it go? Did Molly say that we can go in?"

The hotel manager replied with an indifferent expression on his face, "I'm sorry, Mr. Anderson said that we can't let you in without his permission. Therefore, I'm going to have to ask you to leave." "What the..."

Lara was dumbfounded. She couldn't believe her ears and asked desperately again, ' Did you tell him our identity? We're Molly's biological parents.' "I'm sorry, I did. However, this is what Mr. Anderson said."

The hotel manager's voice was indifferent as he gestured at the two of them.

"This way, please."

Lara and Walter's faces were both very dark.

They were definitely not going to leave so easily.

I'll give Nathan a call..."

With that said, Lara was about to take out her phone.

However, before she could dial the number, she saw a figure walking out of the hotel.

It was Brycen.

Brycen had been talking to the daughters of affluent families, but was temporarily called away by Molly to come downstairs and pick Caden up.

It was term time for Caden, but in order to attend his sister's engagement party, he asked for a day off. He came over on his own in a taxi and was about to arrive.

As the bride, Molly didn't have time to come downstairs, so she sent Brycen.

This was also a method to stop him chatting up other girls.

However, what Brycen didn't expect was to see his parents and the entrance of the hotel.

"Dad, Mom, how come you're here?"

Brycen looked at the two of them in surprise.

Lara and Walter gave up on the idea of making the phone call and quickly walked up to Brycen. "Brycen, how come you're down here? Did Molly send you to pick us up?" "No."

Brycen was a little awkward. "I came down here to pick Molly's adoptive brother up... Dad, Mom, Molly's been very clear that you're not to attend this event..."

You coming here unannounced will cause her trouble."

Lara and Walter's hearts skipped a beat as they listened to their son's words.

Lara then became a little angry. "What are you talking about? Your father and I came here to wish her happiness. We're not here to cause her trouble."

Chapter 1307-Walter was still able to keep his cool and said kindly, "Brycen, can you go and speak to her on our behalf? We're satisfied even if we can only just stand and watch in the corner." "That's right. We definitely won't cause any trouble."

Lara made her promise confidently.

Brycen didn't want to, but he still refused. "Dad, Mom, listen to me. Go back for now. It's Molly's engagement party today. She's in a good mood. Don't do anything to ruin that. If you have the time, you might as well think of all the wrong things you've done and how you can make it up to her. Also, think about how you're going to get her to forgive you before her wedding ceremony. This is just her engagement party. Are you going to get her to hate you even more and lose out on the opportunity to attend her actual wedding just for an engagement party?"

When Lara and Walter finished listening to those words, they were both frozen on the spot for a while.

They knew that their son had a point.

The best option at the moment was to leave and not go in.

However, they still felt it was a little hard to accept.

Even a brother who wasn't related to Molly by blood was allowed to attend her engagement party. Why weren't her parents allowed?

As they were in a daze, a taxi pulled over outside the hotel.

Caden got off with his school backpack.

When he returned home in the past, he had seen Brycen before. Therefore, when he saw Brycen, he quickly came over to greet him. "Brycen."

Brycen looked at the handsome young man in front of him and said, "You're here. Molly asked me to come and pick you up." "I know. Molly just sent me a text. Shall we go up now?" asked Caden with his backpack in his hand. He was really happy and looked forward to seeing his sister.

Brycen nodded and looked at his parents, who were at the side, indifferently.

“Dad, Mom. Think about what I’ve just said to you. If you agree, then I’ll find a time to discuss things with Grandpa, Nathan and Sawyer. We’ll speak on your behalf when the time is right. But if you want to go in now, then forget about what I’ve just said.”

After saying those words, Brycen didn’t wait for the two of them to react and took Caden inside.

After taking the elevator upstairs, Brycen led Caden to his room to change into a set of formal clothes.

The set of clothes was prepared in advance by Molly.

After that, Brycen led Caden to the banquet hall.

By then, Molly had already stopped drinking and was talking to Lynn and Caitlyn.

Caitlyn wasn’t in a good mood. She had quite a lot to drink and was a little drunk.

Molly had already taken medicine to prevent herself from being too drunk, so she was still quite sober.

As soon as Caden saw her, he was especially happy. He took a few steps forward and said, “Molly.” “You’re here.” Molly smiled at Caden and at the same time sized him up and down. “This suit suits you. You’re quite handsome wearing this.

Moreover, you’ve got a little taller after not seeing you for a while.” “That’s right.

I’ve grown by about two inches.” Caden nodded in agreement and was grinning very happily.

Molly’s eyes brimmed with tenderness.

Caden was at the age where he would grow the most, so his height would increase at a quite high rate.

“Congratulations to you, Molly, and Sean.” Caden sounded a little excited.”

Molly’s the most beautiful bride I’ve seen in my life.”

Chapter 1308-You have such a sweet mouth.”

Molly smiled and pinched Caden’s face.

Caden was a little embarrassed, but still said, “I meant everything I said.”

As the two of them talked, Sean came over with the three children.

Caden’s eyes lit up and he greeted Sean. “Sean, congratulations on being engaged to my sister. I’ll leave you to take care of my sister in the future.”

Sean’s lips curved into a faint smile. “Of course. I’ll protect her well.”

Caden nodded. “You’re very capable and will definitely be able to take care of her.”

With that, he lowered his head and looked at the three children.

“Alex, Ben, Claudia, we meet again.”

The three children nodded their heads and replied passionately, “That’s right.

We meet again. When did you arrive, Uncle? How come we didn’t see you just now?”

I’ve only just arrived,” Caden replied honestly.

"I see. No wonder..."

The three children realized why they didn't see Caden earlier on. Claudia then walked forward intimately and grabbed Caden's hand. "You're so handsome today, Uncle Caden." "I agree, even though, he's still not as handsome as me," said Ben as he praised himself.

The cute tone of voice and temperament made everyone laugh.

Caden laughed as well and didn't feel offended. "You're right. You're the most handsome. Claudia and Alex look good as well. The three of you are the cutest tonight."

The three children felt very happy after being complimented. They seemed to have endless things to talk about with their uncle Caden.

Molly looked at them getting along and was very happy.

Sean walked over, reached out and touched Molly's cheeks. He then asked with a deep voice, "Are you feeling alright?" "I'm fine. I can hold up until the end."

Molly tilted her head, rubbed her face on Sean's hand and smiled.

It was probably because she was a little drunk, when she said those words, her voice was a little lazy.

Molly's action was a little charming as well.

She was like a cute little kitten.

When Sean saw her like this, his eyes darkened.

'She's so... delicious, when she's drunk.'

If it weren't for the fact that the engagement party was about to end, the guests were not all gone yet, Sean really wanted to take her back immediately.

Sean forced himself to suppress his desires and his voice lowered a little again as he leaned in next to Molly's ear. "We still have guests here. Let's not show such a temperament right now."

Molly was a little slow to react. She blinked her eyes in confusion and asked, "What's wrong with my temperament? Is there anything wrong?"

Sean's voice was hoarse. "Yeah, there is. You're too seductive. I don't want other people to see you like this. Therefore, let's not be so cute and adorable.

You can do whatever you want when we go back to our room. Let's ease on your seductiveness, or I'm afraid that I won't be able to hold myself back." When Molly heard those words, her ears immediately turned red and she subconsciously moved to one side.

Her gaze was locked on Sean and embarrassment flashed in her eyes.

"What... what nonsense are you talking about? I wasn't being seductive."

Sean's gaze was locked on Molly. "You were. You might not have noticed, but in fact, you affect me more than you think. Especially tonight..."

Molly's dress was pink in color and innocent. It made her look even more attractive than she already was.

Some unspeakable images appeared in Sean's mind.

He wanted to rip the dress off Molly with his own hands.

However, this was something Sean didn't say out loud.

His gazes on the other hand, exposed his thoughts.

Molly locked gazes with Sean for a while and somehow knew what he was thinking.

The next moment, she blushed. Even her neck and collarbones turned red.

"You... you..."

Molly's face was red and she wanted to tell Sean to suppress his desires.

A lot of people were watching.

She would really be embarrassed if others found out what he was thinking.

Chapter 1309-when we get back."

After that, Sean pretended as if nothing had happened and began to talk to Brycen.

The hotel manager had already reported what happened at the entrance to Sean.

Sean then said to Brycen, "Don't tell Molly anything about the arrival of your parents. I don't want her mood to be affected at all." "Don't worry. I know what to do. Otherwise, I wouldn't have convinced them to go back. The only thing is that I don't know if they'd left or not," replied Brycen.

He was a little worried that his parents would cause something bad to happen because of their stubbornness.

“They’re gone,” Sean said indifferently.

Meanwhile, Eaton looked at the meaningful gazes between Sean and Molly. His happy mood disappeared instantly.

He had known Molly for such a long time. He had seen how she was calm, decisive, and capable.

He had also seen how she was domineering and distant and cold towards other males.

The only thing he hadn’t seen was a shy Molly and how she was leaning in Sean’s arms.

Eaton had thought that Molly was different to other girls.

However, now, when she was in front of Sean, she was being all cute and adorable. Molly would show a completely different side in front of Sean.

Only then did Eaton notice that Molly wasn’t just a strong woman.

She could also be a woman who required others to dote on her.

Eaton had never seen this side of Molly in the past, because she had never met the person who truly loved her.

Now that she had met her true love, she would show her complete self in front of him.

Somehow, Eaton felt a little frustrated.

He didn’t want to stay in such a place a second more.

He put down the wine glass in his hand and left the banquet hall.

Kara didn't follow when she saw this.

She had clearly seen in the change in Eaton's expression just now.

When she saw that Eaton was unhappy, she actually felt quite happy.

"Eaton, since you can't see the good in me then I wish that you won't be able to get what you want as well. Only then can we call it even."

Later on in the evening, the engagement party had come to an end.

The guests gradually left, and the people who stayed were all relatives or very close friends.

Due to the special occasion, everyone had at least had something to drink.

Even Mr. Anderson Sr. and Grandpa Dave had some alcohol to drink.

Ricky was so drunk that he could barely walk.

Alice stood beside him and supported him. She then said helplessly, "I've told you to watch the amount of alcohol you drink. Even if it's a happy occasion, you can't drink endlessly as you've just done. If you can't walk, then I'm going to leave you here."

When Molly saw this, she smiled and took out the medicine that Lynn had prepared earlier. "Get Dad to take a tablet. This medicine is developed by our own research laboratory. It's more effective than the ones on the market. He'll feel better when he's sober." "Thank you, Molly, for what you're doing."

Alice nodded with a smile and took the tablet. She then fed it to Ricky.

Molly shook her head and said, "It's something I should do."

She then gave the people around her each a tablet as well.

After taking the tablet, Sean arranged for cars to send the elders back home first.

Then, Molly looked at the three brothers of the May family. "What about you guys?"

Sawyer looked at Nathan who wasn't in a very good state and said,

Nathan's a little drunk. I'll see him back home."

Molly had no problem with that. She then looked at Brycen.

Brycen was just about to say that he would take Caden back with him, when he heard Molly say, "Caitlyn has had quite a lot to drink. You see her back home."

Before Brycen could reply, Caitlyn had beaten him to it. "No need to trouble him.

I can go back home by myself."

With that said, she turned on her heels and left without looking back at all.

Chapter 1310-Brycen was taken aback.

'Alright, alright. What's with such a cold attitude?' Molly saw that Brycen wasn't moving at all and couldn't help but remind him.

"What are you standing there for? If she goes home alone in this state, what if something happens to her?"

Brycen was rendered speechless.

'She didn't want me to send her home. I can't be blamed if something happens to her, right?' It seemed that Molly knew what Brycen was thinking, she squinted her beautiful eyes and her tone of voice became dangerous. "If anything happens to Caitlyn, then you can get your ass out of the house." 'How can I let this happen?' thought Brycen as he heard what Molly said.

"Alright, alright. I'll go and accompany her back home and make sure she gets home safe and sound."

After saying those words, he quickly followed Caitlyn in the direction she had left.

After the two of them had left, Sawyer and Nathan didn't stick around for too long either.

In the end, only Molly, Sean, the three children, Cadan, Tony and Merak and Chester, who had been staying in the lounge were left.

Chester had drank quite a lot tonight and was now lying on the sofa half asleep.

When Molly walked into the lounge, she asked with concern, "Is he okay?"

When Chester heard her voice, he wanted to open his eyes and respond.

However, Merak said, "I don't know. I think he's drunk. I've never seen him drink so much. I think he's reached his limit."

When Sean heard those words, he cocked his brows and looked at Chester, who wasn't moving at all.

'He's reached his limit? Is that so?*' thought Sean.

He then chuckled meaningfully. "He's really drunk?" Chester pretended not to hear. Even his eyelids didn't move at all.

"Looks like he's really drunk. He's not even conscious. Should we get someone to take care of him?"

Sean looked away calmly and said, "No need. Having Merak here to take care of him is enough." "Huh? Me?" Merak pointed at herself and widened her eyes. "I'm not suitable for this job. Mr.

Merrick is so heavy, I can't support him. Besides, you can ask me to kill someone, but I don't know how to take care of someone."

Accompanying Chester to the lounge and pouring him a glass of water was the most she could do.

It was a good thing that Chester didn't throw up.

Otherwise, she would have left him in the lounge all by himself.

When Molly heard those words, she couldn't help but smile helplessly.

'How can she make those words sound so reasonable?' she wondered.

Sean wasn't surprised at all.

He kept a calm face and said, "If you don't know how to take care of someone, then learn! If you can't support him then get Tony to give you a hand and teach you how to take care of someone who's drunk."

With that said, Sean signaled Tony to make his move.

Tony was half drunk and wasn't as quick to react as usual. It took him a while to realize what Sean wanted him to do.

He couldn't help but complain inwardly, 'I should be the one being supported, right? Mr. Merrick obviously wouldn't become drunk that easily. The alcohol he had drank was no different than water. How dare he pretend to be drunk? He's such a scheming person!' After complaining inwardly, Tony said calmly, "Okay, sir."

With that said, he took a few steps forward and helped Chester to his feet and said to Merak, "Let's go."

Merak followed with a confused look. She felt that something wasn't right.

However, before she could work things out, she had already gone into the presidential suite with Chester and Tony.

After walking into the room, Tony placed Chester on the bed.

The latter still had his eyes closed as if he was really asleep.

Tony glanced at Chester and sighed inwardly. 'He's such a good actor. It's a pity that Mr. Merrick isn't in the entertainment industry.' Even though he had thought that in mind, he still said to Merak, "When I leave later on, you can soak a towel in warm water and help Mr. Merrick wipe his face and arms. He's had quite a lot to drink and might feel uncomfortable in the middle of the night, so he might throw up. He might also feel thirsty as well."

Other situations might happen as well... Therefore, someone will need to remain by his side. You'd better remain in the room the whole night if possible."
