

Triplets On SM 1311

Chapter 1311-Hearing this, Merak's little face puckered up.

It was really troublesome to take care of people!

She would rather go on a mission, which was a bit more fun.

However, she was already here, so she had no other choice but agreed with a nod, "Got it."

Soon, Tony left to find Sean and Molly to report the result.

In the hotel suite, Merak went to the bathroom to get some hot water according to Tony's words.

Then she came out and wrung out the towel. But for a moment, she didn't know how to start.

Should she wipe his hands or his face first?

After staring at his gentle and handsome face for a while, she decided to start with the face.

Perhaps because she hadn't taken care of anyone, while she was just about to wipe Chester's face, the towel entirely fell on his face due to her unsteady hand.

Chester, He was dumbfounded inside but still pretended to be asleep.

Merak fumbled back the towel and finally began to wipe his face.

However, his face was immediately rubbed red because of her inappropriate strength.

Merak was startled and hurriedly threw the towel back into the basin, and leaned over to check his face.

After seeing several red marks on his cheek, she could not help muttering, "Are you the princess in the Princess and the Pea? I just touched it. Even my skin will not be like that!"

Despite saying that, her hand still carefully reached over and touched his face.

This gave her a big surprise!

She found that Mr. Merrick's face was extraordinarily soft, and the skin was so good that almost no pores could be seen. Together with his delicate features, he was so shining that no one could move his eyes from him.

Merak instantly thought of what others said of him in the Grandset.

"A flawless man of noble birth, a combination of good looks and manners."

The man in front of her was gentle, noble, and refined. And with his long hair, he really was an elegant man.

Merak stared at him and froze for a while. Her breath was even more careful.

Chester's eyes were closed, so he could not see Merak's expression.

But from hearing and perception, he could tell that she was very close to him at this moment.

Her breath was blowing on his face gently and warmly, just like a feather was blushing through his heart.

He breathed slightly and almost could not help opening his eyes.

“How did you grow up to be so good-looking? The eyes, the nose, and the mouth are all perfect. Even the eyelashes are so long...”

Merak finally regained her senses and murmured in a low voice. She even ventured to touch his eyelashes slightly.

If it was in normal times, she would certainly not dare to be so reckless.

After all, Mr. Merrick’s status was noble and dignified. And the identity of the top one of martial arts was enough to be daunting.

But now, he was so drunk and unconscious that she had no such worries at all.

She also poked his chest and arm by this chance.

She heard from Dubhe that Mr. Merrick had a very strong explosive power, and he could kill one with a single slap while fighting.

She wanted to see if his muscles were strong!

Chester really did not expect that this girl would take liberties with him. His entire body tensed slightly because of her actions.

He squinted his eyes subconsciously to see what she was going to do.

However, what he saw was that this little girl was raising her arm and comparing their muscles.

He almost laughed out.

He should not expect this girl to be enlightened!

Moreover, what was the meaning of comparing him with her thin arms and legs?

She didn't have to be this tough on herself!

Chapter 1312-When Chester sighed in his heart, Merak finally dropped her arm.

Probably knowing she couldn't beat Chester, she had to twist the towel and go on wiping his hands.

After her previous experience, she wiped his hands gently this time.

His skin didn't turn red from her rub.

After wiping his hands, she took the basin to pour away the water and returned to sit by his bed.

Probably because it was so quiet in the room, she began to feel sleepy after an hour. Then she leaned back on the sofa and dozed off.

When Chester heard her even breathing, he opened his eyes and got out of bed.

He saw her, who slumped on the sofa, at a glance.

She fell asleep with a throw pillow. Her pretty face looked so sweet.

Chester walked to her with gentle eyes and pinched her face gently.

She frowned and muttered something. Then she shifted to a more comfortable position and went back to sleep, showing no signs of waking up.

Chester chuckled softly, simply bent over and took her over to the bed. Then he tucked her in carefully.

About Molly and Sean, after they left the hotel, they took the kids and Caden to Terahis Grove directly.

Both of them were tired from the engagement party today and had no intention of going to the seaside villa.

When they got home, the three kids were very considerate. The kids looked at them and said, "Daddy and mommy, you drank today, so you should go to bed early. We won't bother you tonight. When we finish our showers, we'll sleep with Uncle Caden and strengthen our family bonding by the way.

Caden said thoughtfully, "Molly, don't worry. I'll take good care of them."

Feeling a little dizzy, Molly agreed and said, "Okay, then you have to go to bed early, and don't play until late." "Mommy, we got it. Don't worry."

The three kids nodded and quickly waved to their parents. Then they happily took Caden by the hand and went back to Villa Two.

With excitement in his eyes, Sean took Molly back to Villa One.

After they reached the room, Molly took her nightgown and was about to take a bath.

Before she could get into the bathroom, Sean grabbed her wrist.

He said meaningfully, "Don't rush."

Molly didn't react at first and said, "How can I sleep without a bath? I smell like wine, and I have to take my makeup off..."

Sean smiled, took her in his arms and said, "I didn't tell you not to take a bath.

You have to take a bath, but... do it in another way. It's hard to take off your dress, right? Let me help you..."

He said in a deep voice, leaning deliberately close to her ear.

This distance allowed her to clearly feel his breath.

She could not help but tremor and recover to her sense.

"Aren't... you tired?" Molly blushed and asked him.

There were so many guests today. She was tired after a round of toasting, not to mention drinking, and now she just wanted to lie down and sleep.

But how was this man still in such good spirits?

Sean smiled and said meaningfully, "I have good physical strength. I think you should be familiar with that."

Molly blushed more as she remembered what had happened the night and this seemingly indefatigable man.

She said subconsciously, "We can't do it tonight. I'm so tired. If we do it, I won't be able to bear it..." "I know. I'm not about to do it for so long, but... It's okay for me to do it once. So I'll help you and we'll take a shower together later, okay?"

As he spoke, his hand slowly moved up and caught the zipper of her dress.

Molly looked at him and her ears went red.

Chapter 1313-accident night many years ago, they weren't sober and she barely had any memory.

And in recent times, it was Sean who got the upper hand when he had sex with her.

She was, after all, still a novice!

Sean then smiled, "It's ok. I'll teach you again and again until you become familiar with this matter."

Molly's neck turned pink with shame. She said nastily, "It seems that you're quite experienced, Mr. Anderson. You've done this with a lot of women besides me?"

"Nonsense. I learn it by myself. It's absolutely unteachable. I'm a green hand like you. I've never done this with any woman except you."

A glimmer of amusement showed in his eyes as he said, "All my experience will be gained with you. It's the kind of thing that makes sense to do with someone you love."

After that, he bowed down and kissed her gently.

Hearing that, Molly blushed and felt her heartbeat quicken.

'Jesus, he's really good at flattering me!' His causal remark could make her blush and her heart go pit-a-pat.

But she loved that!

Soon, she flung her arms around his neck in return for his kiss.

Alcohol left a sweet and bitter taste in their mouths.

Although they were not drunk, alcohol seemed to have scrambled their brains.

After a while, Sean took Molly to go to the bathroom.

Waters trickled down from the sprinkler head, and the small room was enveloped in the mist. The temperature increased gradually as time went by- Two hours later, Sean took Molly, who had already taken a shower, out of the bathroom and placed her on the bed.

She was sleepy, but her hair was still wet.

“I am too tired to move...”

She looked at Sean with a sullen look.

‘Liar!’ She thought it would be over in an hour.

However...

‘I shouldn’t believe him!’ Sean looked adoringly into her eyes, “You sleep, and I’ll dry your hair.”

After getting the hairdryer, he sat with Molly’s head resting on his leg.

Without declining, Molly tried to maneuver her body into a more comfortable position and closed her eyes lazily.

By the time Sean finished, Molly was in a deep sleep.

Midnight.

In a hotel suite.

After returning from the engagement party, Eaton sat by the french window and drank whisky.

Kara came to see Eaton as promised. Hardly had she entered the door than the smell of alcohol assaulted her nostrils.

She moved toward him with a frown and seized him up.

He had drunk a third of the whisky in the bottle. He was a bit tipsy, and his eyes were reddish.

Only a floor lamp was on in the room, shining where he was sitting.

In the faint light, half of Eaton's face was hidden in the shadow.

Kara felt a little nervous for no reason.

She swallowed hard and asked in a calm tone, "What is it you want to see me about?"

Eaton gave no response to her question.

He leaned back on the sofa casually and stared at her critically with his bloodshot eyes.

Chapter 1314-ger.

She subconsciously clenched her fists and queried coldly, "What do you want to say? If you don't have a thing to tell, I'll go back to sleep. It's very late now."

"Don't hurry," Eaton finally uttered casually.

His voice was hoarse as he had drunk alcohol. "I'm just thinking how long you have been with me. It seems to be... more than five years?"

Kara didn't expect him to ask this. Hearing it, she became startled and then sneered, "Huh! I didn't anticipate that you would remember such a trivial thing.

Yes, more than five years. What's up? Do you suddenly think about the past and feel nostalgic after drinking too much?"

Her tone was sharp, and her expression was sarcastic.

Eaton didn't care about her attitude, and he replied nonchalantly, "It's true that I remember some things... I know it's not easy for you to be with me these years.

I'm sorry that I injected you with the drug in a fit of anger and made you suffer.

You must detest me, right?" At his words, Kara became stunned. Staring at Eaton, who suddenly made an apology, she couldn't see through his intention.

'What does he mean?

'Does he really realize his mistake and apologize to me or does he have an ulterior purpose?' As being with him for several years, she tended to believe the latter reason.

Wearing a cold expression, she uttered, "How dare I? It's you who decides whether I can live. I dare not incur trouble."

Eaton gave a chuckle. "Don't be stubborn. I know you well. Although you're my subordinate, I know you very well... Kara, you love me very much, but you also hate me very much because what I've done hurt you, right?"

Kara's pupils contracted when she heard his words.

And there was a pain in her heart as he touched her raw nerve.

Yes... She did love him deeply.

That was why she loathed him when he cruelly injected her with the illegal drug and made her be tortured!

She thought that he was heartless.

But in fact, he was not heartless. He just cared about another woman, deliberately turned a blind eye to her love, and maliciously hurt her feelings and self-esteem.

At the thought of this, her eyes turned red. She questioned him coldly through gritted teeth. "What are you going to do by mentioning this? Are you trying to humiliate me one more time?"

"How is it possible?" When Eaton said this, he stood up slowly.

He walked toward her step by step. "I just... I feel sorry for having hurt you. I asked you to come here tonight just to give you the antidote. Kara, I shouldn't have injected you. Could you forgive me?"

When he said these words, he raised his hand, wanting to fondle her face.

But Kara seemed to have been greatly frightened and took several steps back.

She looked at Eaton up and down with horror, as she didn't believe that he would be so kind. "Eaton, don't take me for a fool. I won't trust you anymore."

Eaton gave a resigned smile. "I know you're cautious of me, but what I say this time is true. If you don't believe me, you can check to see if the thing I give you is the antidote."

Then he directly walked to the kitchen and opened the refrigerator provided by the hotel.

Kara looked over and saw a tube of blue potion in the refrigerator.

Although she didn't think that he would be so kind, she ran toward him.

It was not that she believed him, but that she felt intensely anguished when the illegal drug kicked in, as if countless ants had gnawed at her heart. The intolerable agony could almost tear her apart.

Chapter 1315-Kara quickly arrived at the refrigerator and wanted to take out the potion.

However, before she could reach it, she was stopped by Eaton. "Don't touch it.

This potion needs to be preserved at a certain temperature. Even if you want to take it, you have to use a special method. The high temperature of your palm will destroy its potency."

Kara looked at him and said, "If I don't check it, how can I know whether the potion is real or not?" "It is not difficult to judge. During this period, you must have secretly researched the drug I injected. Perhaps you already know the ingredients. I have the data and formula for this antidote. With your professionalism, you can easily know whether it is real."

Saying that, Eaton took a document from the side and handed it to Kara.

Kara immediately took it and looked at it carefully.

After ten minutes, she gradually figured it out.

This antidote didn't seem to be fake.

But even so, she still didn't believe Eaton.

Eaton seemed to understand her thoughts, and he said at once, "If you don't believe me, you can take the potion back for a test and inject it when it is confirmed to be true... I happen to have a medical cooler. I'll fetch it, and then you can take it away."

After saying that, he turned around, went to fetch the cooler, and put the potion in it.

Kara naturally would not stand on ceremony. She took it and hurriedly left Eaton's room.

The innocent look on his face was replaced by a wicked smile as he muttered, "Go ahead. The earlier you solve the problem inside your body, the earlier you can be the carrier of the Venomous Insect... Since the Child Insect has a place to go, how can the Mother Insect be homeless? Molly, wait for the surprise I have prepared for you! Hahaha."

The next day, Molly slept in.

When she woke up, Sean had gone to work.

She washed up and went back next door.

Her grandpa and the three kids were exercising in the courtyard in high spirits.

Mr. Ballard was directing Grandpa Dave. "Raise your hands higher, and squat lower..."

Grandpa Dave complained, "I've reached my limits, so don't be too picky."

"I'm not picky. I said that for your health."

Mr. Ballard said righteously and put his hands on Grandpa Dave to adjust his movements.

Grandpa Dave made a grimace.

Compared to him, the three little ones next to him looked much more relaxed.

“Mr. Ballard, is it like this? Is my posture right?”

Ben waved his hands and asked Mr. Ballard in a cute way.

Next to him, Alex also posed with a serious look.

Claudia was always coordinated, so she easily did what Mr. Ballard asked her to do.

Mr. Ballard looked at the three lovely little guys and said with a smile, “Yes, great. You learned it so quickly!”

Being praised, the three little ones immediately grinned.

When Molly saw this, she smiled and came over. “What are you doing?”

Seeing Molly coming, the others greeted her.

Mr. Ballard replied, “Your grandpa is weak. He needs to exercise, so help him do some physical exercise. The three little ones are here to join the fun.”

“Good morning, Mommy!”

The three little kids greeted Molly in milky voices, and their postures didn’t change.

Molly was so amused that she took out her cell phone, took a few pictures of them, and sent the pictures to Sean.

Chapter 1316-Alex looked up at Molly and reminded her warmly, “Mommy, the cook has reserved breakfast for you. You can go to have breakfast.”

Molly said with a smile, “OK. You continue to take exercise, and I will go to have breakfast.”

She didn’t forget to encourage Grandpa Dave. “Grandpa, come on. Mr. Ballard is an outstanding doctor. Just listen to him.”

Grandpa Dave was reluctant to listen to Jordan.

But Molly had said so. He could only agree. “OK, I will listen to him.”

Molly felt satisfied and walked into the villa.

As soon as she arrived at the dining hall, Sean texted her.

Sean: [What are they doing?] Molly happily shared the news that the three kids took exercise.

Sean burst into laughter.

Although the three kids took exercise seriously, the scene was funny. The more he looked at the video, the cuter he thought they were.

After they chatted for a while, Sean suddenly asked her.

Sean: [What are you going to do today?] When she was about to reply to him, she received a phone call from Jadon.

“Joye, you have just gotten married, and I shouldn’t have disturbed you, but I think that I’d better inform you before I set off. I will go to Xesxia with Eaton and others. There is a problem in the research laboratory there. I need to go to deal with it and thus can’t stay in Northfolk.”

Hearing that, Molly paused. "What happened in the research laboratory? Is it serious?"

"It's not serious. Something is wrong with an urgent set of data. I need to find out the mistake as soon as possible. Don't worry."

Jadon kindly comforted her on the phone.

"So that's it. It's fine that it isn't serious...' She breathed a sigh of relief but felt regretful. "It's rare for you to return from abroad. I'd like to make time to entertain you. Unexpectedly, you will leave so soon."

Jadon smiled. "It doesn't matter. I'm happy that I can take part in your engagement party. Besides, you will return to Xesxia later. We will meet again sooner or later!"

"You're right.' She let it go soon. "A pleasant journey to you! After I arrange everything at home, I will go to Xesxia to meet you.' "OK. I will wait for you."

Jadon agreed happily.

They chatted for a while and hung up.

In Anderson Corporation, although Molly hadn't replied to Sean, he wasn't anxious. He put his phone aside and dealt with his work intently.

After a while, Tony suddenly walked in and reported to Sean in a low voice, "Mr.

Anderson, Mr. Merrick is coming."

Sean arched his eyebrows, put down the document and said, "Let him come in."

Tony nodded and walked out to invite Chester to come in.

Soon, Chester walked into Sean's office. Merak followed behind him.

Merak had a lollipop in her mouth and carried a large bag.

Sean glanced at it and asked tonelessly, "What is it?"

Merak replied, "Mr. Merrick bought the snacks for me in return because I had taken care of him for the whole night!"

She said as she put down the bag on the coffee table and reached inside the bag. After a while, she grabbed some sweets out of the bag and put them in front of Sean. "It's for Mrs. Anderson and your kids. Please help me give them the sweets."

Sean smiled and looked at Chester. "You're good at handling children."

Chester smiled gently and said, "It has always been so."

"Children... Are you talking about me?"

Merak blinked and felt unsatisfied. "I have been of age!"

Chester echoed kindly, "You're right. You have been of age."

Merak nodded confidently. "Of course! Although my face looks like a kid, I have grown up indeed. Especially my height, I have grown several inches!"

Chapter 1317-"Okay, got it. I won't treat you like a child."

Chester rubbed Merak's head, his eyes flooded with tenderness.

Sean looked meaningfully at Chester and quickly changed the subject." You suddenly came over. Is there something wrong?"

Chester straightened his face and said, "Yeah, Megrez and Alioth sent us messages. They found suspicious people trying to approach Anthony, and something seemed to have happened near the Shepards' place. Dubhe has gone to investigate it... Those people were probably sent by the Martial Art Union."

"Sure enough, they haven't given up on the Shepard family."

Sean's eyes darkened. "But since they came, they should be prepared for the possibility that they can never return. Arrange for our people to go there soon.

No matter what, the Shepard family must stay in the country."

"OK, but we're still in the country. If we make a big move, it may cause a sensation. Will it get you into any trouble?"

Chester looked at Sean worriedly.

Sean replied, "If we can't deal with them in the open, then we'll do it in private. I don't think the Martial Art Union wants to bring things to the surface. After all, this is not Domster. So we can let the police investigate the Shepard family at the same time.

"As long as the Shepard family is held in check, the Martial Art Union will be restrained. At that time, it will be more convenient for us to take action."

Chester thought it was a good idea, so he nodded and said, "Okay, let's do what you want. I'll leave with Merak later and go to Xesxia to meet Dubhe first."

Sean nodded. "Go ahead. Be careful."

As soon as he said that, Merak's expression became visibly excited." Finally, we've got something fun to do."

She rubbed her hands as if she were going for spring break.

Chester patted Merak's head and said, ' Restrain yourself. I'll let you have fun when we get there."

Merak nodded, quickly said goodbye to Sean, and followed Chester away.

Shortly after that, Tony said, "Sir, if I remember correctly, Mrs. Anderson will go to Xesxia in a few days, right? The Shepard family's base is over there. Should we be on guard or just prevent Mrs. Anderson from going there?"

"No need. I can protect her even in Domster, not to mention in our country.

Besides, with Chester around, who do you think has a chance to target her? n Sean was not worried about Molly's safety.

What he was worried about was whether Selon would contact Molly privately.

Anyway, in Domster, Selon saved her.

If Sean wanted to solve the Shepard family's matter, he would definitely have to deal with Selon.

And Molly was the best intermediary.

At this thought, Sean could not sit still. He took out his phone and called Molly.

She picked it up quickly.

Sean asked, 'Why didn't you reply halfway through the conversation?'

Molly explained, "Just now, my teacher called me. He would go to Xesxia, so I talked to him for a while about the handover. In a few days, I will go to Xesxia."

"I see."

Sean was not surprised. "Go ahead and handle the things there. I've got something to deal with too, so I'll be with you then."

Molly was amazed and happy.

After all, they had just gotten married and were deep in love, so she didn't want to part with him.

Chapter 1318-tter, don't you? Did something happen?"

Sean did not want to hide it from her, "Recently, our people found some suspicious people in Xesxia, who are suspected to be sent by the Martial Art Union. I am worried about your safety there, so I naturally have to follow you.

"In addition, I want to solve the Shepard family's matter once and for all. Right now, Selon has returned. He will definitely get involved in this matter. Whether he will go against us or negotiate with us, there should be a result.

"So, if Selon contacts you, you have to tell me at once, okay? Don't hide it from me."

When Sean said the last sentence, his voice was stern and firm.

Molly knew that Sean wanted to protect her, so her heart softened, and she didn't even think about it before replying, "OK, I promise you I'll tell you."

Seeing that she did not hesitate, Sean was very satisfied. "That's good! I'm going to take care of my business. I will go back early tonight to pick you and the kids up and have dinner with Mom and Dad at the old house." "Okay, well wait for you then."

Molly responded, her voice gentle, "Don't work too hard, or I'll be distressed." "I won't."

Sean smiled, his heart overflowing with tenderness.

He was about to hang up when his heart suddenly tingled.

It was as if someone had taken a knife and stabbed it hard.

Sean's face changed dramatically. His phone suddenly fell onto the desk.

A loud bang sounded in Molly's ears on the phone.

Molly was startled and hurriedly asked, "What's wrong, Sean?"

Sean covered his heart with one hand, his face pale. He forced himself to endure the pain, took the phone, and answered in a natural tone, "I just didn't hold my phone steadily and dropped it." "Really?"

Molly doubted.

Sean swallowed and gave a light laugh. "Of course, I won't lie to you."

Molly felt there was nothing wrong with his tone, so she rested assured." OK, then I'm hanging up."

The call ended.

Sean let go of the phone and fell into the chair.

Tony happened to come in with the documents and was startled to see Sean's face. "Sir, what's wrong? Are you not feeling well?"

Sean did not respond. He just pressed his heart.

The tingling sensation just now was rapidly fading. It seemed short.

After a few moments, Sean returned to normal.

He knitted his good-looking brows and replied, "Nothing serious. It was probably because I was too tired and didn't rest well yesterday."

Tony did not believe it. "Really? How about we go to the hospital? Your legs finally recovered. We should be more cautious."

Sean waved his hand.

He did not think there was anything wrong with his body.

The stabbing pain in his chest had never appeared before.

Sean thought he was just tired.

So, he didn't take it seriously and said casually, "No need. I know my condition well. It's not too late to go to the hospital when I feel discomfort again."

After saying that, he rested for a while and continued his work.

Although Tony was worried, it seemed that Sean was fine now, so Tony put his mind at rest.

Chapter 1319-For the next two days, Molly dealt with some trivial matters at home and finally had time to go to Xesxia with Sean.

After the plane landed, Sean first sent Molly to Xesxia University to report back.

Wayne hadn't seen Molly for a while, and he joked, "Joye, you finally came back. I thought you forgot that there is a group of students waiting for you." "Of course not." Molly responded with a smile, "How could I forget? See, I hurry back as soon as the thing is over."

When speaking, she greeted several teachers in a friendly manner.

These teachers smiled and said, "We've heard that you got engaged.

Congratulations... But why didn't you invite us?"

Another teacher said, "That's right. We're still waiting to see your photos taken at the engagement ceremony!"

Molly smiled, and said, "The engagement banquet was held in a hurry, so I didn't think carefully enough. But I will show you the photos. And I will definitely send you the wedding invitations. You must come!" "That's great. Well be waiting then..." They chatted and laughed, and soon they all went back to work. Molly breathed a sigh of relief and looked at Wayne. Wayne smiled kindly, "Please send me a wedding invitation too." "Of course." Molly laughed, and then changed the subject, "I'm sorry for causing you trouble during my absence. You had to find someone to sub in for me."

Wayne waved his hand and said carelessly, "Never mind! But since you're back, why don't you go to a class today? Domster was in a state of chaos before, and there were frequent news reports about it. Those kids in your class were quite worried about you. Just take this opportunity to tell them that you've come back safely."

Molly nodded, "Okay, I'm going to make preparations now."

Wayne nodded and said, "I have already helped you coordinate your class change. I'll send the new class schedule to your phone later. Please remember to check it."

Molly was stunned for a moment, and she looked surprised and happy.

Yesterday afternoon, she sent a message to Wayne, expressing her willingness to change classes.

She had thought it would be a little difficult, but it was dealt with today!

"Thank you very much, Professor Harrison; you're being a little too efficient.

Wayne teased kindly, "To keep you, I have to be efficient! After all, your attendance rate in class is amazing and no one can break your record so far.

So, the school will naturally do its best to meet your wishes."

Molly felt a little embarrassed to be praised.

She was so grateful!

But she was very happy to be able to change classes so smoothly.

In this way, she wouldn't have to live here for a long time, and she could spend more time with the children and Sean!

After chatting with Wayne for a while, Molly took the textbook and went to the classroom.

Before entering the classroom, she sent a message to Sean, "The class has been adjusted. I have to attend a class before I can leave. If you are busy, go first, and don't wait up for me." Soon Sean's message texted back, "It's okay. I'll wait for you."

Molly smiled and then concentrated on her work.

Soon she opened the door and entered the classroom.

The students hadn't expected that Molly would come to class today. When they saw her, they were all stunned for a long time.

Standing on the platform, Molly glanced at their expressions and chuckled, "What? Don't you know me already? It's only been a little over a month... I'm a little sad to see you like this."

Chapter 1320-"Oh, my goddess is back!" A student finally came to his sense first and howled.

The others responded one after another, "It's Dr. Joye!" "Wow, Ms. May is finally back in class. I haven't been waiting in vain." "Ms. May, welcome back..."

Looking at a group of enthusiastic students, Molly couldn't help but smile,"

Thank you! I heard from Mr. Harrison that you missed me very much. It seems that it's not a lie." "Of course, it's not. Ms. May, I haven't seen you for a while.

You look even more beautiful. Do you need a boyfriend?" "Since I met you, I've known how it feels to truly miss someone." "Or do you need a girlfriend? Look at me ..."

Just as all the students were rushing to confess their love to Molly, Sean suddenly appeared at the back door of the classroom.

He had planned to wait for Molly to finish class in the car, but he ran into the principal at the school gate.

The Anderson Corporation had donated a teaching building to the school. So the principal didn't dare to take Sean lightly and invited him to his office immediately.

But Sean refused. He only asked to come and see Molly's class.

Unexpectedly, as soon as he arrived, he saw the scene of the students trying to steal his girl!

He narrowed his eyes, and his eyes slowly fell on the girl on the platform.

When their eyes met, he looked a little interested.

Molly was taken aback.

She had never expected that Sean would come to the classroom.

Surprised, she felt a sense of crisis and quickly raised her hand to stop the students who were getting out of control, "Well, stop. I know you like me, but unfortunately, I have a fiancée. So you have no chance. Now quiet down and let's start class..."

She ignored the disappointed boys and looked towards the back of the classroom pretending to be serious, "New student, please find a seat. Don't just stand there. Your legs will feel sore."

She sounded a little comforting.

Sean raised his eyebrows. Without hesitation, he chose a nearby seat, sat down, and then looked at her intently.

Molly was not uncomfortable being stared at but felt a little subtle.

She imagined that Sean was neither a well-respected rich man nor the powerful master of the Grandset, but a college student...

She found such a change of identity very interesting!

Soon, the order in the class was restored, and she began to give a lecture.

The content of the class was related to human nerves and meridians, and also included fields such as ancient medical techniques!

Most of the students in the class knew little about this aspect, so they were confused.

In class, many students raised their hands and asked questions, "Ms. May, I hear that you master very amazing ancient medical techniques. Is it true?"

"Can you show us?" "Ms. May, have you ever saved people with ancient medical techniques?" "Can you give us an example?"

Molly looked at the eager students, and she couldn't help looking at the man in the back.

With gentle eyes, she said with a smile, "Okay, then I will tell you about my fiance! He is the first patient I have treated since I came from abroad. Let's talk about his case..."

Molly hadn't taught for more than a month, but her class was still lively and interesting.

With the fact that the case of her "fiance" was included this time, the students listened with great interest.

At the end of the class, the students were still unsatisfied...

After class, Molly didn't want Sean to wait too long, so she hurriedly packed her things and wanted to leave.

Unexpectedly, the students surrounded her and asked her a bunch of questions.

When she managed to escape, she found that Sean was no longer in the back!

Molly had no choice but to send a message to Sean, asking where he was.

When she walked past the bathroom, a long arm suddenly stretched out and dragged her in.

Molly was taken aback. She was about to exclaim when she smelt a faint scent of cologne.

It smelt a little familiar!

She collected herself and immediately fell silent. Then she looked at the man in front of her with a smile, "It's... a lot like kidnapping."
