

Triplets On SM 1331

Chapter 1331-Eaton stared at the bottle in his hand for a while, then looked up at her, smiled, and said calmly, "Nothing. I'm just thinking about one thing."

Kara became serious. "What is it?"

"It is... I let the Child Insect out earlier, so it's useless to keep this empty bottle."

Kara had no idea what he really wanted to do, so she could only stare at him vigilantly.

"Do you think... I should throw it away?"

Eaton approached her.

Standing beside the wastebasket, she took a few more steps back, keeping her distance from him.

Finally, she saw him throw the bottle into the wastebasket.

When she was about to heave a sigh of relief, Eaton suddenly strode forward and held her wrist.

Kara instantly became so terrified.

"What do you want to do?"

She turned pale and widened her eyes, where there was only fear.

Eaton leaned close to her and sighed softly, "Kara, my Child Insect has a place to lodge in, but my Mother Insect still needs a human container."

'A human container?!' Kara was astonished. 'He wants to...1 As expected, Eaton said, "I think you're a very good container."

Hearing that, Kara turned cold from head to toe as if she had fallen into an unfathomable ice cave.

'Will what I'm afraid of happen again?' Having no time to think further, she screamed angrily," Eaton, are you out of your mind? Get off me! Let me go!"

She began struggling.

But a woman was always much weaker than a man in physical power, so she couldn't break free from Eaton's grip.

While holding her firmly with one hand, Eaton took out a glass bottle from his pocket with the other hand.

There was less than half a bottle of transparent potion in it.

A very thin blood red something was swimming in it.

The moment she saw the bottle, Kara turned ashen in fear.

'No, I can't let him do that to me!' In a panic, she lowered her head and bit Eaton's arm hard.

"Ah! Eaton let go of her in pain.

Kara took the chance to run.

But Eaton was faster. He instantly went up and covered her nose and mouth from behind.

Off guard, Kara was forced to inhale some medicinal powder. Then, as her legs gave way, she fell to the ground.

Despite the pain, she wormed forward with much difficulty.

She knew that if she didn't escape, she would wind up being Eaton's tool, just like the last time.

Eaton glanced expressionlessly at the bite mark on his arm and looked at the worming woman on the floor. As some ridicule appeared in his eyes, he said with perfect calmness, "Why do you have to struggle?"

Since he had come tonight to her, he would do that.

As she was losing strength, Kara cried.

She looked up at the man and said, "No, you can't treat me like this! Eaton, I'm so nice to you. Why do you have to treat me like this time after time?"

"Why?"

Facing her tearful accusation, Eaton was unmoved. He squatted down slowly and smiled at her helplessly, "I don't want to do this, but I really can't find anyone to help me, so I have to let you do this for me."

"No..." Kara shook her head.

'He can't treat me like this!' "Be good."

His voice was soft, but his hand moved roughly.

Eaton held her lower jaw tightly, forced her mouth open, and poured the glass bottle of liquid down her mouth despite her resistance.

Chapter 1332-Kara was forced to swallow the potion, her eyes full of despair.

In this instant, she knew she was doomed.

As soon as Eaton let go of her, she began scratching her throat desperately.

“Blech!”

She was trying to vomit the potion.

Eaton didn’t stop her, but stood up and threw the bottle into the wastebasket.

Then he looked down at her, raised his brows, and said slowly, “Don’t waste your energy. Once it enters your body, the Mother Insect will burrow into your veins to drink your blood and eat your flesh. You can’t get it out through vomiting.”

Hearing that, Kara stopped scratching her throat. She cocked her head and glared at him with resentment. “Eaton Scott, have you no soul? You devil!”

Eaton was neither annoyed nor angry. “Right, I am,” he smiled.

He squatted down, patted her cheek, and said in a halfcoaxing and half-warning tone, “So you have to listen to me.

I won’t let you suffer too much.”

After that, he rose and left.

“Eaton Scott!”

Kara roared toward his back which was moving away, her tears flooding down.

At a hotel.

Molly had had a sound sleep last night.

When she got up today, she felt a pain in her head because of the hangover.

She couldn't help but moan a few times.

Sean happened to come out of the shower room. Hearing that, he immediately walked over and asked softly, “Awake? Do you have a bad headache?”

As he spoke, he put his hands on her temples and began massaging them softly.

When her eyes met his gentle eyes, Molly felt like much of her pain was gone.

She smiled and answered, “Not so bad. Just a little uncomfortable, not so painful.”

Sean helped her sit up and said, “Then go wash first. I've ordered breakfast and bought hangover-prevention pills. Take some pills and your pain will ease.”

“Okay.” Molly nodded.

He had always been so considerate that she didn't have to worry about anything.

Over breakfast, Sean suddenly said, "Send a message to Selon Shepard, telling him we'll meet him this afternoon."

Not so surprised to hear that, Molly nodded and said, "Okay."

As she spoke, she picked up her phone to inform Selon of the time.

Soon she got Selon's reply, "Okay, see you there."

Molly showed Sean the text message. After that, they stopped talking until they finished breakfast quietly.

"Take some pills."

Sean put the hangover-prevention pills and the glass of water in her hands.

Molly took the pills obediently and asked, "Do you have any plans this morning?"

"No. I'll be with you at the hotel."

Sean stared deeply at her.

"Is there anything to deal with at the subsidiary?"

Although his words made her happy, Molly asked caringly.

"No, there isn't. After meeting Selon in the afternoon, I'll deal with a few things at night. Then we can return to Northfolk tomorrow."

Molly thought about it and suggested, "Then let's take a walk, shall we? Let's take the chance to go shopping and dating."

After getting engaged, the two had rarely been together alone, so she didn't want to waste the chance.

Sean said with a smile, "It's not fun to go shopping. If we have to date, we can date at the hotel."

Molly froze, inexplicably feeling something else from his words.

She looked at Sean subconsciously.

The latter's gaze was with some interest and a hint.

Molly immediately remembered the scenes in the shower room last night.

As her ears turned a little red, she smacked him on the back. "I do feel you're showing signs of lethargy! You don't do your work. In the daytime..."

With dissolute eyes, Sean came over and whispered in her ear, "Because I'm with a charming little woman."

Chapter 1333-hy run?"

"You ask me why? Should I let you do whatever you want to do to me?"

She grumbled coyly and glared at him.

Seeing she was so thin-skinned, Sean chuckled, "You're already a mother of three children, but why do you become shy so easily? It seems you need more practice."

“To become thick-skinned through practice?” Molly asked in reply.

Sean laughed, “Are you accusing me?”

“I’m just telling the truth!”

As she spoke, Molly poked his chest with her finger. “Go or not? If you don’t, you’ll stay alone at the hotel.”

“Okay, you’re the boss.”

Helpless, Sean agreed.

After plainly dressing up, the two went out. They would take the chance to tour a few scenic spots in Xesxia.

At noon, Tony reserved a table at a very good restaurant.

The two then ordered their food and took their time to eat.

When they had almost finished lunch, Sean received a message from Chester.

“Selon has left the Shepard family. I think he’s going to meet you, but someone is after him.”

Sean took a glance and put his phone away.

As soon as they finished lunch, he would send Molly back to the hotel.

Molly froze and frowned. “You aren’t gonna bring me?”

Sean rubbed her head and said with a smile, "No, I won't bring you this time. I'm gonna meet Selon alone. Now I still don't know about his intention for the meeting, and I'm not sure whether the man who was following him was from the Martial Art Union. To protect you, I have to send you away."

"What about you?"

Molly knitted her brows more tightly, so worried.

"I'll make an early ambush with enough men. Don't worry. I promise I'll return untouched, okay?" Sean consoled her in a soft tone.

Molly didn't agree, but she knew she couldn't fight at all. If she went, she would be a drag for him.

So she nodded. "Okay."

"What a good girl!"

Sean kissed her forehead with a smile and said, "Merak will be here to protect you in a while. Stay at the hotel to wait for my return."

"Okay."

Molly nodded, watching him leave.

At 2 p.m. at an outdoor cafe in the city center.

In order for them to talk without being heard, Sean booked the whole cafe.

When Selon arrived and noticed that Sean was the only one there, he froze but then quickly walked in.

“Good afternoon, Mr. Anderson.”

Sean barely nodded, signaling him to sit down. Then he glanced at the street downstairs.

Selon noticed that and smiled, “Mr. Anderson, don’t worry. I had shaken off the stalker when I came here!”

Sean raised his brows slightly, looked at his face, and said nonchalantly, “You’re honest, Mr. Shepard.”

“Even if I want to hide such things from you, I can’t!”

Selon smiled and asked, “Why didn’t Doctor Joye come?”

“She didn’t have to.”

Sean said casually, “After all, I’m sure whether you’re my friend or enemy... I won’t put her in danger like this.”

Selon couldn’t help but laugh.

It made sense.

Now the Shepard family and the Anderson family were deadly foes.

And the Martial Art Union also bore evil intentions. Right, there was no need for Doctor Joye to get involved.

He became serious and began talking about business, “Then let’s cut to the chase... I asked you out because I hope you can show mercy, letting my family off!”

Chapter 1338-Since Erik had said those words, it was inconvenient for the four of them to say anything else. All they could do was nod their heads. "Let's hope so. We hope there won't be any hiccups this time."

Erik squinted his eyes. "That's not going to happen. Even if Sean had special powers, he still won't be able to escape this time!"

Due to the agreement with Selon, Sean had no choice but to postpone the trip back to Northfolk.

In the evening, the three children called.

Daddy, Mommy, why haven't you come back yet?"

The cute and adorable voices of the children sounded on the other end of the line. Molly couldn't help but curve her lips and replied in a gentle voice, "Something has come up. Daddy and Mommy are going to have to go home later."

"How late?"

"Another couple of days probably. You have to behave yourselves, alright?"

"Okay. But we miss Daddy and Mommy as well."

The three children sounded very pitiful.

Molly's heart softened as well. "Mommy misses you as well."

"Then come back as soon as you can."

The three children were all very understanding. They didn't say much and hung up after only talking for a short while.

Molly looked at the phone and seemed to be unwilling to part with her children.

"We'll head back as soon as everything is over."

Sean rubbed Molly's head and his gaze was very gentle.

"Okay." Molly nodded.

Sean lowered his head and looked at the time. His lips curved and he suggested, "Let's go to the hot spring. We don't come here so often and we should enjoy ourselves."

Before Molly could say anything, he dragged her out of the door and headed to the top floor where the hot spring was in the elevator.

The staff passionately led them to an independent hot spring room.

"Enjoy, sir and madam."

After saying that, the member of staff left the room and closed the door.

Molly looked around. She had thought they were going to a public hot spring.

She didn't expect there to be an independent hot spring room. The room was very spacious as well.

As soon as she turned around, she saw Sean unbuttoning his shirt. This caused her heart to skip a beat.

They were married and they had three children, but her heart would still race under such circumstances.

Sensing Molly's gaze, Sean turned around.

The two of them locked gazes.

Molly quickly looked away. 'Til go get changed as well."

She then lowered her head and rushed into the changing room.

Seeing this, Sean couldn't help but curve his lips.

When Molly took off her clothes and came out with a towel wrapped around her, Sean was already sitting in the hot spring. His upper half of the body was above the water. He wasn't wearing anything and Molly could see his pecs clearly.

This caused her face to burn, so she quickly walked into the hot spring as well.

"It feels so nice." Molly heaved a long sigh of relief.

Sitting in the hot spring, she felt she was fully relaxed.

Sean looked at her and smiled. "We can get the hotel to get a top physiotherapist to give you a massage later on. You can also do a skin treatment as well."

"That'll be great."

Molly didn't hesitate to agree. "We rarely have such a chance to relax."

After saying that, Molly closed her eyes and leaned against the edge of the hot spring.

Sean looked at her beautiful face quietly. Something flashed in his eyes and he suddenly said, "Actually, I know how to massage as well. Do you want to try?"

After hearing those words, Molly opened her eyes and asked suspiciously, "I've known you for so long, how come I've never known that you know how to give massages?"

"You'll know when you let me give you a massage."

As soon as Sean finished speaking, he grabbed Molly's hand and began giving her a massage.

He didn't use much strength and was doing quite a good job.

Molly actually believed that he knew how to give massages and felt that they didn't even need to hire a masseur anymore.

However, a while later, she felt that something was wrong.

Sean's hands moved along her arms and down her back. It then stopped on her waist. He then suddenly pulled Molly into his arms.

Chapter 1339-Sean fixed his eyes on Molly's reddish skin with his black eyes. Then he lowered his head and gently kissed her neck and ear.

She slightly withdrew her neck and asked with a smile, "Didn't you say that you knew how to massage?"

He lowered his head and kissed her beautiful collarbones. "I lied to you.

Actually, I don't know how to massage."

She was turned on by his deep voice, and her reddish skin because of the hot spring became redder.

He stood behind her and said frankly, "I just would like to find an excuse to do something with you."

She felt that her skin was as red as a cooked shrimp.

Although they were in a private hot spring room, she still felt...

She felt shy and avoided him subconsciously.

Unexpectedly, he held her waist tightly, lifted her and put her down.

After she reacted, she was on his lap.

"You..."

Her beautiful eyes were filled with panic.

He didn't give her any chance to refuse. He raised his hand, gently pinched her chin, lowered his head and kissed her slightly opened red lips.

She could only hug his neck tightly and closed her eyes slowly.

The surrounding water became warmer and even hot in the end.

After an hour, everything quietened.

She leaned against his chest. Her face was scarlet. She opened her mouth slightly and panted.

Her heart beat so fast as if it would jump out from her mouth in the next second.

He stroked her back with his big palm and narrowed his eyes slightly like a satiate lion.

It was quiet in the room. They could only hear each other's heartbeat and the sound of the running water.

Finally, she calmed down from the excitement. She immediately pushed him away, grabbed a towel beside the pool and wrapped herself. Then she ran away before he reacted.

During the past hour, they had made noises many times. At that time, she was so shy that she even wanted to disappear from the world.

He didn't stop her and smiled with affection and satisfaction.

She was a mother with three children, but she was still so shy.

He stood up and was about to go out too.

As soon as he stood up, he glanced at his wrist and found something strange.

Several strange blood streaks spread on his wrist.

He frowned, raised his hand to take a close look and suddenly found that these blood streaks were extremely scarlet. Even though they were very thin, they still looked terrifying.

'What are these?' He carefully looked at them in confusion and surprise.

'Is it because I have taken take a bath in the hot spring?

But it has never happened.' He pressed them gently, and it didn't hurt.

He looked up at the closed door and was lost in thought.

'If I go out and Molly sees them, she will be worried.¹ He decided to stay in the room for a while longer.

Luckily, these blood streaks faded gradually and disappeared in the end.

Only then did he breathe a sigh of relief and walk out.

She had waited for him outside for a while. When she saw his tall figure, she came up to him immediately.

"Why do you come out so late?"

He met her confused gaze, raised his hand to stroke her wet hair and teased her, "I waited for you to come back to look for me."

She didn't understand his meaning until she saw the smile in his eyes.

She flushed immediately.

"Once is not enough for you?"

She patted his arm angrily.

He chuckled in a deep voice.

Chapter 1340-Molly and Sean changed their clothes and returned to their room. Then Sean asked someone to send some midnight snacks to them.

Molly was not very hungry, so she only ate a little and then stopped eating.

Instead, she kept yawning.

After soaking in the hot spring, her whole body relaxed, but now she was really tired after what she just had gone through.

“Go to bed early if you are sleepy.” Seeing that her eyes were almost closed, Sean gently caressed her face with a dotting gaze.

“Hmm,” Molly answered softly, then opened her arms, and mumbled, “Hug me.”

Sean chuckled, got up, and went over to pick her up.

Then he took her to the bathroom to brush her teeth.

During the whole process, Molly leaned against him lazily, and her eyes were half-open.

After Molly had barely finished her clean-up, Sean wiped her face.

‘Have a good sleep.’ Sean put Molly on the bed gently, bowed his head to kiss her forehead, and then sat on the edge of the bed to stare at her tranquil sleeping face.

Molly was really tired and soon fell into a deep sleep.

Sean turned off the main light in her room, leaving only a wall lamp at the head of the bed, and then left the room.

He went to the room next to hers.

Several people who had been chatting in the room hurriedly stood up and bowed their heads respectfully as soon as they saw Sean come in, "Master."

They were Chester, Merak and Dubhe.

Sean went over and sat down, leaning back against the sofa. Then he raised his eyes slightly and looked at them sharply.

Chester, Merak, and Dubhe felt nervous and could not help but swallow.

After all these years as Sean's subordinates, they still felt scared when they faced Sean.

Sean asked in a cold voice, "Do you all know? Tomorrow night, South Port Pier."

"Yes, we know." Chester, Merak, and Dubhe all nodded.

"Have you found out the men sent by the Martial Art Union?"

Chester was responsible for this matter, so he hurriedly replied, "We have found out that four of them are the best members of the Martial Art Union. They also have five top international mercenaries. Their strength can match that of Stars Group."

"Oh?" Sean raised his eyebrows and laughed, "The Martial Art Union is really generous this time."

Merak frowned, "They should know that Mr. Merrick is here, so that's why they sent so many people."

Chester was number one in the whole martial arts world, so the Martial Art Union certainly dared not be careless.

After all, they took a lot of effort to plan this ambush.

“No matter how many men they have sent, they are no match for us,” Chester said leisurely.

Sean meditated for a few seconds before assigning the missions.

“Merak, you still stay in the hotel to protect Molly, and I will set out with Tony tomorrow night.”

“Yes, I will definitely keep Mrs. Anderson safe.” Merak was not as innocent as usual but became serious.

Then Sean looked at Chester, “Secretly find out where their ambushes are, and deal with them in time.”

At this point, he squinted, and his eyes were fierce, “Since the Martial Art Union has sent so many guests, then let them have no return.”

“I will,” Chester nodded.

Then they discussed the deployment for more than an hour before going back to rest.

Sean returned to his room and lay down on the bed. Molly leaned towards him, perhaps because she was aware of his presence.

His eyes softened in an instant. He took her in his arms, closed his eyes, and soon fell asleep.