

Triplets On SM 1371

Chapter 1371-“Don’t cry. It’s all my fault.”

Sean held her hand tight and continued to explain, “I didn’t know what was going on before. And it was my heart started to ache. I didn’t want to worry you, so I decided to go for an examination first.

“And I won’t hide it from you if there is anything wrong.”

Molly glared at him, still angry.

‘Sean doesn’t seem to be deceiving me.

‘And most importantly, I should figure out what wrong with his body is.’ Thinking of this, she held back her anger, took a deep breath and exhaled it slowly. Then she asked, “How do you feel now?”

Sean gave a smile. “I feel much better, and the pain is subsiding.”

But he still looked pale.

Molly didn’t quite believe his words. “You’re not lying to me, are you?”

He smiled resignedly. “No. It’s true that the pain is subsiding. It has broken out several times before, and the feeling is the same.”

As he was serious, Molly chose to believe him. But she did not forget to warn him. “I’ll get cross if I find that you have lied to me.”

“Okay. How can I bear to infuriate you?” Sean shook his head with a smile, whose eyes were full of affection.

“Go back to sleep. I’ll stay here and look up the information to see what kind of disease you have,” she said while packing up the needles.

Upon hearing it, Sean furrowed his brows. “It’s very late. Go home first.”

If she looked up the information, she might have to stay up again. Sean didn’t want her health to be harmed because of him.

And there was no need to find out his disease in a hurry.

But Molly didn’t think the same. She intended to identify the disease as soon as possible so that she could prescribe the right treatment for him!

“How can I fall asleep since you’re uncomfortable?” Her face darkened, and she looked slightly unhappy. “Go back first. I’ll go home when I find out the disease.”

Sean moved his lips and was about to persuade her to go home, but she interrupted him directly. “If it is a very serious disease and something bad happens to you, what should I do then?”

She became visibly agitated.

Sean understood that she was worried about him, but he didn’t want her to get tired.

Suddenly, he thought of something and advised at once, “If you really want to ascertain the disease, you should go home. Mr. Ballard is at home, and you can turn to him.

Though you don’t know what kind of disease I have, perhaps he knows it.”

At his words, Molly frowned.

He added, "Maybe it is some kind of rare disease. The Ballard family has been doctors for generations, and they are well-informed.

Perhaps you can ask Mr. Ballard for some information."

Molly considered Sean's words reasonable.

'Indeed, Mr. Ballard might know it.

'It's better to ask him than look up the information alone.' "You are right. Mr. Ballard might know it. Let's go back now."

Then she ran to open the door.

Tony, who was waiting outside, saw the door open and immediately walked toward Molly.

Molly ordered, "Tony, come in and help Sean."

"Yes." Tony followed her into the examination room. When he noticed that Sean looked pale and was about to ask the reason, he saw Sean signal him to keep silent.

Tony had to suppress his confusion and helped Sean leave with Molly.

When they returned to Terahis Grove, Molly said to Tony," Take Sean to the room to rest. I'll go to the next door."

Then she turned around and hurried to the second villa.

The moment she went in, she saw her brothers and the elders were playing with the three little ones.

When they noticed her, they all greeted her.

Her children rushed toward her happily and yelled, “Mommy!”

Molly forced a smile at them. She looked around but did not see Mr. Ballard

Chapter 1372-Mr. Anderson Sr. noticed that Molly was strange. He asked with concern, “What has happened?”

Molly withdrew her gaze and looked at him. She didn’t reply but asked, “Grandpa, where is Mr. Ballard?”

“He went upstairs to take a shower.”

As soon as Mr. Anderson Sr. finished speaking, she rushed upstairs. Mr.

Anderson Sr. and the others looked at each other in confusion.

‘What’s going on?’ When Mr. Ballard was taking a shower, he suddenly heard someone knocking on the door and Molly’s voice.

“Mr. Ballard, please open the door. I have something to ask you.”

She knocked on the door nonstop and said anxiously.

He thought that there was an emergency. He put on the clothes and opened the door immediately.

Seeing Molly outside the door, he asked, “What has happened? You’re so anxious!”

Seeing Mr. Ballard, Molly said urgently as if she saw a savior, "Mr. Ballard, I need your advice for a disease."

Hearing that, he burst into laughter. "What? Is there an intractable disease that even you can't conquer?"

She looked worried. "I'm anxious indeed. Can we start right now?" He had never seen her have such an expression.

After all, she had been calm all the time.

He didn't refuse and nodded immediately. "OK. Let's go to the study."

At that time, Grandpa Dave and the others all had gone upstairs. "Molly, what's going on?"

"Mommy, what has happened? You look so anxious."

The three kids were also worried about her.

She shook her head. "Nothing special. I just need Mr. Ballard's advice for a disease."

She didn't tell them about Sean's condition and chose to hide it from them.

Now everything was unknown. If she told them that, they could do nothing but feel worried.

Then she looked at Brycen. "Please take the three kids to go to bed later. I will have a talk with Mr. Ballard."

Brycen knew that she would be immersed in the work when she got down to it.

He nodded with a smile. "OK. Don't worry. I will take them to go to bed." She nodded, walked into the study with Mr. Ballard and closed the door.

As soon as she walked in, she took out her phone and showed the photos taken in the research laboratory to him.

"Mr. Ballard, have you ever seen such a situation?"

Mr. Ballard took the phone from her hands and took a look. As soon as he saw it, his expression changed slightly. "Where did you take the photos?"

She said, "I took the photos of Sean in the research laboratory just now."

"Sean?"

His gaze became sharp. He asked, "Except for that, does he have other symptoms?"

"Yes, he has. He said that his chest hurt violently but the pain disappeared later."

She told Sean's symptoms to Mr. Ballard in detail.

After Mr. Ballard heard that, his expression became serious.

Seeing his expression, she panicked. "You have seen these things before, right?"

He looked up at her, sighed and nodded. "Yes, I have."

She felt happy. "What is it? Is it treatable? Is it serious?"

She asked several questions in a row, but he didn't reply and frowned. "It's strange. The vicious thing should have disappeared one hundred years ago. Why does it show up again?"

'It should have disappeared one hundred years ago?' Her heart did a flip-flop. She asked anxiously, "What is it?"

He thought about it for a while and said slowly, "Have you ever heard about Venomous Insect?"

Chapter 1373-"Venomous Insect?"

Molly paused and then came back to her senses. "I have seen it before in ancient medical books. It's said that several hundred years ago, when ancient medical techniques prevailed, Venomous Insects were everywhere. But then they somehow disappeared. Later, news of them could only be heard occasionally. But aren't all of these fake?"

Mr. Ballard sighed and said, "If only they were fake. In fact, a hundred years ago, there was a time when Venomous Insects were very prevalent. At that time, there was a rare medical genius from an ancient medical family. However, instead of developing medical skills, that person was interested in poisons.

"He developed a large number of poisons, including Venomous Insects, which could save people and harm them. At that time, because of this, that ancient medical family soared to greatness. However, that medical genius was not satisfied. He was more and more addicted and crazy, and he finally made countless harmful things. Many people died as a result.

"Later, the major ancient medical families found something wrong and united to destroy Venomous Insects."

Molly did not expect that there was such a thing back then.

She frowned, "According to you, that family no longer exists. Then Venomous Insects should have disappeared. Why are there still them?"

“Well, I heard that the medical genius was boycotted by ancient medical families and then disappeared, and his family gradually fell into decline, but it doesn’t seem true.”

Mr. Ballard looked at Molly. “Venomous Insects were extremely valuable back then. That family became one of the top medical families because of Venomous Insects. Many ancient medical families were jealous of them. Interest, from ancient times, has always been the most tempting thing. I think ... that family might not have been destroyed later. They’ve probably hidden and developed until today.”

Molly felt a chill when she heard that.

“So, Sean was poisoned by Venomous Insect?”

“That’s right. The Ballard family has several books about Venomous Insects and Sean’s symptoms.”

Mr. Ballard paused, looked at Molly, and continued, “If I remember correctly, that might be Love Curse...”

“Love Curse?”

Molly’s pupils shrank slightly.

She felt that these two words were unfamiliar, yet it was clear that it was not something good.

“Is there a cure?”

“Don’t be in a hurry. Listen to me first... The cure for ordinary Love Curse is...

having sex. It’s quite easy for a couple, but if they are not a couple, one can control the other with it.

“For example, one can use Love Curse to force the person who doesn’t love him to fall for him.”

Molly's eyes darkened.

In her opinion, only mutual love was perfect.

It was shameless to use such underhanded means.

Someone poisoned Sean with Love Curse. Who did that?

Was it someone who adored him?

Molly's expression was very ugly.

Mr. Ballard knew that she was in a bad mood, but he continued, "The person who poisoned Sean obviously has bad intentions, and there are two ways to deal with it. One is to immediately develop the antidote for the Venomous Insect, and the other is to find out where Mother Insect is and use the correct technique to lure the Venomous Insect out of his body."

Chapter 1374-so what should we do if it's a child insect?"

"Naturally, we should follow the two methods I have said. Besides, I have to tell you two pieces of bad news. One is that if this kind of venomous insect stays in the body for too long, it may damage people's minds and bodies! Another one is..." Mr. Ballard paused, and his eyes were gloomy, "That is, although the Ballard family has recorded this kind of venomous insect, there is no record of the way to solve it."

Molly's face turned ashen, 'That is to say, there is no way to solve it for the time being?"

"I'm afraid so!"

Mr. Ballard nodded, 'Therefore, the most important thing right now is to find the person who put the insect in."

Molly felt absolutely miserable.

She couldn't imagine what she would do if Sean lost his mind or had any physical problems.

She was so angry that she was about to storm out.

Seeing this, Mr. Ballard instantly patted her hand, "Molly, I know you are in a bad mood, but now we can't be emotional. The most important thing is Sean's body." Molly's expression froze for a moment after hearing this.

Then she forced herself to take a deep breath to suppress her anger and calm down, "Mr. Ballard, what's the frequency of the attack? And how long will it take to affect Sean's mind?"

"About three months to half a year. The time is not certain! It depends on the number of attacks. The more frequent the attacks are, the faster it will be!"

Saying this, Mr. Ballard could not bear to go on.

These days, he heard a lot about the two people's past from Molly's family.

He knew that they were not easy along the way.

Unexpectedly, they met this kind of thing now!

Mr. Ballard was somewhat indignant in his heart.

Which bastard was it that could not see the happiness of his Molly?

Molly was in a daze in place. She felt like her heart was clutched by a big hand.

The sadness surged up within her.

However, she was not an emotional person after all.

In any case, she would cure Sean.

“Mr. Ballard, we may need your help in follow-up. You have excellent medical skills and extensive knowledge, so you will definitely have a solution.”

Molly said with a solicited tone.

Mr. Ballard smiled and said, “You are too polite. I certainly will help you! But we need lots of ancient medical books to check the information of venomous insects. It seems that...I have to go back to Unbounded Land soon.”

“You want to go back?”

Molly didn’t expect this. She was stunned and then worried, “But..the Unbounded Land... How dangerous it is! If the Martial Art Union knows that, they will definitely catch you.”

Mr. Ballard waved his hand, “It doesn’t matter. I will hide my identity.

Moreover, the foundation of the Ballard family is also there! At that time, the Ballard family was in danger. I entrusted the ancient medical books collected by my family to an old friend. Now if we want to know about venomous insects, I have to go back.”

He paused for a while, “I’ve been out for so many years. It’s time to go back and have a look.”

Molly didn’t know what to say after hearing this.

She was clear about what Mr. Ballard was going to face once he went back to Unbounded Land.

If possible, she did not want anyone around her to step into that place.

But she understood that it was useless to escape.

Sean also would need to go back to Unbounded Land sooner or later...

Chapter 1375-Molly made up her mind. "I'll go and talk to Sean. If you want to go back to the Unbounded Land, I'm going with you. I can't let you risk your life to save Sean. If we go together, I can ask people from the Grandset to protect you."

Mr. Ballard was delighted to hear that. "It can't be better! Girl, aren't you going to learn medicine under me? This is the chance. At my place, you're free to read any medical books you like."

"Good."

Molly forced a smile.

Then she asked again, "By the way, how does this kind of insect infect people?"

The old man thought for a moment and replied, "There are various methods.

When it comes to Love Curse, the child insect enters the human body through a special powder. You can simply smear it on your hands. If someone touches you, he'll be poisoned. The insect feeds on his flesh and fuses with his blood. As for the mother insect, it has to go in through the mouth."

Molly was disgusted. "That's vicious!"

"Yeah."

Mr. Ballard sighed, "Let Sean think about it and see if he has met with anyone lately."

"Okay."

Molly talked to Mr. Ballard for a while longer and then went to see Sean.

When she went back to the room and pushed open the door, Sean was seen coming out of the shower.

"Your hair is still wet."

Molly wrinkled her brows when she saw water dripping from his hair. She trotted over, led him to sit down on the edge of the bed, and wiped his hair with a towel.

Keeping his head down, Sean curled his lips.

At that moment, the room was quiet, and the atmosphere was sweet.

After a while, Molly touched his hair and smiled with satisfaction. 'There you go.'

Sean looked up at her tenderly and asked slowly, "How is it? What did Mr.

Ballard say?"

He looked much better now.

Relieved a little, Molly sat down beside him and replied truthfully, "He said you were poisoned by a venomous insect. You can consider it as some kind of voodoo."

“Venomous insect?”

Sean furrowed his brows.

In his impression, he had only read about that kind of thing or seen it in films. It seemed to only exist in legends.

It was a myth.

Molly read his mind and retold Mr. Ballard’s words.

“According to Mr. Ballard, he has seen the same symptoms before. He’s sure that it’s voodoo, or Love Curse to be exact.”

“Love Curse?”

Sean turned serious.

Molly nodded and shared the relevant information with him.

After that, she took his hand and said softly, “Don’t worry. I’ll cure you. Mr.

Ballard will help, but we have to go back to the Grandset earlier. To develop an antidote sooner, he’s going to look up the files.”

Molly turned serious. “It’s not safe for him to go back alone. I decided to go with him and protect him.”

Sean had no problem with that.

“I know. We’ll go there anyway. I’ll send my men to protect him.”

“Okay.”

Molly nodded, but her face suddenly turned fierce. ‘Before that, we have to find the other insect.’”

They should find out the poisoner at all costs.

Such a vicious trick was unforgivable

Chapter 1376-“Is it a child insect or a mother insect in my body?”

Sean had understood the harmfulness of the love curse. He instantly got the point and asked.

Molly said, “If we’re not mistaken, it should be a child insect. Mr. Ballard is not sure that he can develop an antidote now. So we must find out who put it in.”

Then she asked, “Have you ever met any suspicious people recently? Mr.

Ballard said that this is spread through physical contact. According to the time of symptom onset...”

She thought carefully and continued, “It shouldn’t be someone from the Martial Art Union.” At first she thought it was from the Martial Art Union, but it didn’t match the time of symptom onset. So apart from the Martial Art Union, who would be such vicious?

Sean frowned and seriously recalled the people he had contacted during this time.

After a long time, he slowly opened his mouth, “It’s only been a few days since we came back from Domster. Could it be that I got it in Domster?”

Molly pondered for a moment and nodded, "It's possible, but don't rule out other possibilities. Just think about it carefully. Is it possible to be a woman who adores you?"

Hearing this, Sean could not help laughing, "A woman who adores me?" What was she thinking about?

"Don't laugh! Think seriously!" Molly patted him reproachfully.

How could he laugh out when talking about such a serious thing?

Sean held her hand back, "In addition to meeting clients, I have only contacted you and my staff during this time. I have never contacted other women at all." Molly frowned slightly, "You can tell me the truth. I will not be mad." "I am telling the truth, really."

Sean sighed lightly and said, amused and resigned, "If anything, the only time I have met other women is at our engagement party. There were lots of socialites that night, and there were indeed many of them who adores me."

'Yes, it is!' Molly's eyes lit up, 'Then let's check the ladies who came that night. No one can be missed!'

Sean had no opinion, "Okay, I'll let Tony check it."

Suddenly, something flashed through his mind.

If he remembered correctly, in addition to those ladies, he had also contacted with Eaton that night.

But...it was Eaton who gave him a love curse?

That was completely impossible!

However, on second thought, at that time Eaton seemed to be trying to touch Molly, but he was blocked back by Sean. Maybe...

Thinking of this, Sean suddenly narrowed his eyes.

Seeing his abruptly cold eyes, Molly called him tentatively, "Sean? What's wrong? Did you...think of something?"

"Nothing."

Sean immediately returned to himself, and his expression became natural. He shook his head, "I just didn't expect this will happen to me...You go to take a shower first. I'll tell Tony to investigate what happened that night."

Then he gently caressed her cheek, "You must be tired. Go to bed early." "OK. Go ahead and come back soon."

After saying this, Molly went to the bathroom.

When the sound of bathing came from inside, Sean put on his clothes and went out.

He called Tony to the study room.

"Sir, are you feeling well?"

Tony asked with concern.

Sean nodded lightly, "I'm fine."

Seeing that he looked much better, Tony was relieved, "That's good."

Then he asked, "Did Mrs. Anderson find anything?"

"I want to ask you to check something for me," Sean said.

Hearing this, Tony immediately patted his chest and said, "Go ahead, please. I'll do everything properly for you."

Chapter 1377-se I suspect that my disease was related to someone at the banquet."

"What?" Tony's face darkened.

How could such a thing happen?

Tony realized the urgency of the thing and said immediately, "Yes. I'll check them right away."

Tony turned around and was about to leave, but Sean stopped him.

"Tony, wait," Sean uttered.

"Sir, do you have any other order?" Tony asked.

Sean hesitated for a few seconds and then replied, "Pay more attention to Eaton."

Hearing Eaton's name, Tony was a little surprised, but he quickly came around, "Yes, Sir."

Later, Tony hurried to the hotel and asked a staff member to play the surveillance video about the banquet.

After sitting in the study for a while, Sean stood up and went to his room.

Molly was still taking a bath. Sean took a book casually, sat against the bed, and read the book while waiting for her.

About half an hour later, Molly walked out of the bathroom.

Seeing her, Sean immediately put down the book and looked fixedly at her slender and attractive figure. His eyes were glistening with desire.

“Come here.” His deep and hoarse voice was heard in the quiet room.

Molly walked toward him.

The moment she walked near him, he pulled her into his arms.

Molly got slightly worried and wanted to leave his arms. “Be careful! Your situation might not allow you to bear any weight.”

At her words, Sean couldn’t help laughing. “My chest doesn’t hurt anymore.

Don’t worry.”

As he spoke, he raised her hand to his lips and kissed it lightly. Then he stared at her affectionately.

Their eyes met.

After some hesitation, Molly allowed him to carry her to bed.

They nestled against each other, neither of whom spoke for a while. The room was quiet.

At this moment, Molly was fretful, as all she was brooding over was the venomous insect in his body.

Feeling that she was in deep thought, Sean lowered his head, kissed her hair, and asked in a tender voice, "Are you still worrying about me?"

Molly turned to look at him and replied, "How can I not worry about you? The venomous insect in your body is a time bomb. I can't feel relieved as long as I don't remove it from your body." While she said these words, she remembered how anguished Sean was when the venomous insect attacked him.

A wave of sorrow came over her.

However, Sean was not as anxious as her and even comforted her. "Nothing bad will happen since you and Mr. Ballard help me. I believe you will definitely cure me."

Molly sighed resignedly. "I really don't know if I should be happy that you trust us implicitly."

"Of course, you should be happy. Don't think too much about it..."

Sean didn't want her to feel worried, so he changed the topic. 'Pack up in the next few days. We are going back to the Grandset.' "Okay." Molly thought of something suddenly and queried, "If we go to the Grandset, what about our children?"

"Take them with us. We can't leave them alone. They are our children, and we should take care of them." Sean kissed her forehead lightly and continued, "When we reach the Grandset, I'll ask Alex and Ben to go on learning martial arts from Chester."

"That's good." Molly nodded. "What about Grandpa and my brothers?"

When Molly thought that she had to leave her grandpa and brothers for some time again, she felt slightly sad.

She had thought that she could live with them for a long time after coming back from Domster, but...

Chapter 1378-Sean knew why Molly felt depressed and comforted her patiently, "They'd better stay at home. The Grandset is in chaos. It will be dangerous if all of us go there together! Besides, Grandpa is old and can't rush around with us! We can take them there to have fun after we deal with the matter of the Martial Art Union!"

Molly agreed. "Let's tell them the news tomorrow morning..."

She paused and turned to look at him. "As for your condition, we need a cover story. We can say that it is the sequela of the injury of your legs and that you need to go there to recuperate.' He nodded. "OK. You're the boss."

Then he changed the topic, "Let's go to bed?"

She curled her lips. "I'm... not sleepy."

"Is that so?" He arched his eyebrows. "If you don't want to go to bed, would you like to do something else?"

"What?"

She felt confused and didn't understand his meaning for the time being.

In the next second, he pressed on her body. When he met her confused gaze, he smiled. 'Mrs. Anderson, would you like to?"

Finally, Molly understood what "something else" referred to. She flushed immediately.

"You feel unwell. Don't talk nonsense."

She pushed against his chest with her hands.

"I feel well. I'm fine."

He said as he lowered his head and kissed her slightly-opened mouth.

Soon, she was immersed in his attacks...

It lasted for more than one hour. She was exhausted. After she washed up again, she fell asleep finally.

The next morning, when she brushed her teeth and saw mottled red marks on her neck, she couldn't help but blush.

After she washed up, she chose the clothes that could cover her neck and walked out of the room.

Sean had just gone upstairs. When he saw her, he smiled affectionately." Good morning."

She nodded slightly.

"Let's go downstairs to have breakfast. They are all waiting for you."

He walked over, held her hand and went downstairs.

When she arrived downstairs, she found that Alice, Ricky and Mr. Anderson Sr.

were all there.

They were playing with the three kids.

Grandpa Dave, Mr. Ballard, Brycen and Sawyer were walking over through the hallway.

As soon as Mr. Anderson Sr. saw Molly and Sean, Mr. Anderson Sr. said, "Sean, why do you ask us to come here early in the morning?"

Molly and Sean made eye contact. Sean said calmly, "Let's talk about it after breakfast."

The others looked at each in confusion.

But they didn't say anything else. They went to the dining hall to have breakfast.

After they had breakfast, Sean said slowly, "Molly and I will leave home for a period. It's uncertain when we will return."

The others were all surprised by his words.

Grandpa Dave came to his senses first and asked, "What has happened?"

Brycen said, "What? You want to elope with my sister?"

"They have gotten married. There is no need for them to run off." Sawyer scoffed at him as usual.

Molly was also stuck for words. She paused and said, "Well, the thing is ... I found Sean's leg injury has some potential sequelae..."

Before she finished speaking, Alice became anxious. "What sequela he has? Is it serious?"

Ricky and Mr. Anderson Sr. also said anxiously, "Doesn't Sean look fine and energetic? Why does he have a sequela?"

"Will he be fine?"

Seeing that they were so worried about Sean, Molly pulled a wry face." Please listen to me first..."

Chapter 1379-They stopped asking further questions, "Okay, go on."

Molly nodded and continued, "Don't worry. It isn't critical. But the sequelae may cause relapse or affect walking if it weren't treated properly.

"That's why we made this decision. And Mr. Ballard will be with us. The Ballard family's ancient texts may contain some helpful information."

Everyone fell into silence when they heard that.

"It's ok by me if you're going to cure Sean's illness." Grandpa Dave asked first, "But, are you being completely honest about your purpose? Just for recuperating?"

Worryingly, Alice said, "Your grandpa is right, Molly. Don't keep the truth from us."

'That really is my grandpa. He's really on to me.' Beneath her calm exterior, she was in a panic.

"Come on, why would I lie to you? You can ask Mr. Ballard if this is true?"

She looked at Mr. Ballard as she said that.

And the others also followed her glance.

Though Molly hadn't told Mr. Ballard that, he could read her mind and came to her rescue, "That's true. It's nothing serious. Don't worry. It is just for the after-effects of his leg injury.

"His legs, after all, were injured many years ago. They seem to have recovered, but there's no way his nerves can recover. That deserves to be taken more seriously. My family's medical books can treat this kind of sequela," said Mr. Ballard importantly.

Only then did they believe Molly's words!

After that, Alice asked, "Will you take the children with you?"

The little guys then all looked at Molly.

Alex said, "Don't leave us alone. We hate being away from you."

Ben echoed, "Right, we don't want to leave Dad either."

Claudia even held Molly's leg tightly.

Molly patted Claudia on the head and said, "We're gonna take you will us."

Hearing that, they were relieved.

'Great!' They thought they were going to be separated from their parents again.

Instead of opposing, Ricky supported and said, "Well, you can rest assured to recuperate abroad. Don't worry about the company."

Sean nodded slightly, "Okay."

Then, Grandpa Dave asked, "Oh, you promised to continue the job at the college. How are you going to deal with that?"

Molly had planned this issue long before.

She was awfully sorry for the school.

But it was a matter of Sean's life and she could only back off her promise.

For her, Sean was more important than anything else.

"They may accuse you of breaking your promise if you refuse directly."

Grandpa Dave worried that people would gossip about Molly.

Molly, in fact, had come up with an alternative, "You can rest easy, grandpa. I'll make this right! I'll make up for it." "How about donating money to the college in your name?" Sean proposed.

Grandpa Dave said, "I'm all for that. At least the school won't embarrass you."

"Much more is needed than donations."

Molly shook her head and continued, "I broke my promise in the first place. So I'm going to donate the medical research data that I have looked at in the past two years."

Chapter 1380-Everyone was shocked by Molly's decision.

Although they were not in the medical field, they knew how much a study had to cost.

It would be a huge loss to give her study away.

Brycen wrinkled his eyebrows and said, 'Molly, maybe we can do something else.'

Molly smiled, 'It's okay. There's no need to keep the study for myself! It would be great if more people could use my research and make more discoveries! And I'll have more research to do in the future. Don't feel sorry for me.' Seeing that she had made up her mind, Sean didn't bother to stop her. "I support you! No one else has your talent. You'll have more prominent researches in the future."

"I hope so." Molly smiled and nodded her head.

After that, Molly went to the research lab to sort out her materials.

Caitlyn came over to help. "Molly, do you really have to leave?"

Caitlyn felt so sorry that Molly was leaving soon just after she got back from Domster.

Molly cast a glance at her and chuckled, "How did you know about that?"

Caitlyn's face froze. Her eyes flickered. But she had to be honest. 'Brycen told me...' "Brycen?" said Molly, raising her eyebrows and laughing softly, "He's a big mouth... But since when are you guys so close?"

"We're not..."

Caitlyn felt embarrassed. She hurriedly changed the subject. 'Let's not talk about him! I'll take care of the research lab when you're not around.'

Molly gave a meaningful smile, "I trust you. And please take care of my family while I'm gone."

Although her grandfather and her brothers could take care of themselves, Molly was worried about them.

Caitlyn promised, 'Til go visit them often.' "Thank you." Molly was grateful.

Caitlyn smiled, "It's no big deal.' Molly stayed in the research lab until late afternoon.

If Caitlyn hadn't been there to help her, she wouldn't have finished until the evening.

Molly squeezed her sore neck as she looked at the file on her computer. She had a smile. 'The school should be happy about it.' She collated her research materials from the past two years. They would definitely be useful to the students.

The information was valuable, but Molly had decided to give it to the school for free.

She was happy about that.

She copied all the information into a flash drive. While she was waiting for the data to be transferred, her phone rang.

It was Sean.

"Are you finished?" Sean's low voice rang over the phone.

Molly leaned back in her chair and rubbed her eyes as she answered, ' Yeah, I'm done.'

"I'm coming to pick you up." Sean said in a soft voice.

Molly agreed, "Okay."

They hang up the phone. It was a long way from Anderson Corporation to the research laboratory. It would take some time.

After finishing copying the materials, Molly searched for Venomous Insect on her computer.

After she typed the keyword into the search engine, many entries came up.

She skimmed through a few, but they were all folklore, fiction, or TV shows.

None of those were reliable.

She couldn't find any useful information on the Internet...
