

Triplets On SM 1451

Chapter 1451-Looking at her bright smile, Vaughn softened his eyes a lot.

In the afternoon, Molly still felt a bit tired after a cup of coffee. Imperceptible, she lay her head on the table and fell asleep. Seeing this, Vaughn put his coat on her.

When Lesley came to refill the cups for them and saw this scene, she couldn't help saying, "Mr. Shepard, you really care about Molly. Did you know each other before?"

Vaughn didn't answer clearly, but said, "She went to Domster with the Shepard family for the free clinic. She had a good reputation. Besides, she doesn't seem to be doing well here, so I try to help as much as I can."

Lesley glanced at Rhett nearby, and sneered, "She's being supervised all day.

How can she be doing well?"

Rhett was expressionless and indifferent. Lesley didn't bother to pay attention to him. She gently helped Molly pull up her clothes and went to work.

Later, when Molly woke up, she was much more energetic. Looking at her sleepy expression, Vaughn smiled, "You've slept so much during the day. I'm so afraid you won't be able to fall asleep tonight."

"I'm not intending to sleep at all," Molly replied calmly.

After what had happened last night, it would be impossible for her to fall asleep peacefully in that building.

She didn't know whether Eaton would suddenly go crazy and barge in again.

That kind of situation was scary enough! Molly didn't intend to continue this topic. She got up to wash her face and then went to see Lesley.

There were a lot of customers in the cafe, and Lesley was busy, so Molly simply helped out for a while.

In the evening, Rhett came to see Molly, “Dr. May, we should go. Mr. Scott specially booked a restaurant to have a candlelight dinner with you as an apology.”

Eaton knew that Molly was disgusted by what had happened last night. So he especially left work early tonight to ask her out.

Before Molly could react, Vaughn walked over, and said in a deep voice, “Dr.

May, we should go. Selon has gone back after work.”

Molly raised her eyebrows and directly ignored Rhett’s words. She nodded and said, “Okay, I will be ready in a minute.”

“Ms. May...” Rhett frowned and spoke again.

But before he finished his sentence, Vaughn stopped in front of him, and said in a stern tone, “Ms. May has her things to do. She’s forgiving enough to allow you to keep an eye on her all day. Don’t go too far.”

Rhett said coldly, “I’m keeping an eye on Ms. May on Mr.

Scott’s orders. I’m just doing my job. I hope you understand, Mr. Shepard.”

“Today, what if I say no?” Vaughn looked determined and imposing. Apparently shocked by Vaughn’s vibe, Rhett almost held his breath and didn’t dare to make a move.

Seeing that Molly was going to leave Vaughn, Rhett raised his voice immediately, “Ms. May, are you sure you want to leave like this? You should know the consequences of angering Mr. Scott. Aren’t you afraid that he will do something in a fit of anger?”

It was a warning and a threat. Molly paused, and said, "Well, you go tell Eaton now. If he dares to do something to Sean because of this, he will be very sorry.

He has seen what the bottle of medicine powder last night can do! Since he's so shameless, then I won't go easy on him!"

With that, she left with a cold face. Seeing this, Vaughn immediately stepped up to follow. Rhett frowned on the spot.

Seeing Molly going away, he could only follow up quickly and send a message to Eaton to inform him of the situation here.

The cars quickly left Lesley's coffee shop one after the other.

Chapter 1452-On the way to Selon's residence, Vaughn took some time and asked Molly, "What happened last night? What did Eaton do to you?"

Molly was in a bad mood, but she knew what was leaked just now.

It was unnecessary to keep it from him now.

Therefore, she replied lightly, "Oh, nothing. It's just that Eaton got drunk last night and he tried to break into my room."

Vaughn's face darkened when he heard this. His eyes turned cold, "Did he do anything to you?"

When he asked this question, there was a subtle sense of suppressed violence in histone.

Molly didn't notice, and just replied, "No, I sprinkled him with allergy powder and drove him out."

Hearing this, Vaughn breathed a sigh of relief.

However, the coldness in his eyes did not fade away, and he said coldly, "You shouldn't go easy on a man like him."

Molly finally noticed it this time, and couldn't help but look at him in surprise.

But Vaughn was so focused on driving that she couldn't see his expression. She could only see the cold and hard lines of his side face.

Molly said, "I know, but I can't for the time being. He has something on me. If I irritate him, he will hurt the person I care about the most. I can't take any risk."

Vaughn froze and fell silent.

Seeing this, Molly didn't speak again.

The two were silent all the way, and finally, they arrived at Selon's residence.

Selon's residence was more luxurious than Eaton's. It was a single-family villa.

It was Beth who came to open the door.

Seeing Molly and Vaughn, she greeted them with a smile, "Oh, you came. Come in quickly."

Her tone was warm.

Molly glanced at her and said a little awkwardly, "Thank you."

They entered the house, but Rhett, who was following behind, was shut out.

Beth sneered, "Sorry, we don't welcome people we don't know."

Rhett frowned, glanced at Molly in the room, but didn't say anything, and retreated consciously.

He knew that he was annoying now.

It was just that if he didn't keep an eye on Molly, he wouldn't know what Molly would talk about with them.

The door of the villa was quickly closed behind him.

Rhett took out his phone and was about to report the situation to Eaton.

But before he could make a call, someone patted him on the shoulder.

Rhett was startled, turned around, and saw a young man behind him.

The young man smiled so friendly, but the next second his raising hand fiercely hit on the back of Rhett's neck.

Rhett widened his eyes. Before he could react, he passed out.

The man immediately caught Rhett, and waved his hand to someplace, "You can come out now."

As soon as he said that, a tall figure stepped out from the darkness.

"How do I look? Do we look alike?" The man, Megrez, asked Phecda.

Phecda looked at Megrez, and then at Rhett who had fainted, "It's the same. I can't see any difference. You're good at disguise!"

"It's not me. Alkaid did it. Hurry up and carry him away!"

As Megrez said, he did not forget to take away Rhett's phone.

"Be careful and don't get caught. If Eaton finds out, you will suffer." Phecda reminded casually and then dragged Rhett away.

Megrez assured, "Don't worry. I've not observed him secretly these few days for nothing. I promise I will pull it off.

Chapter 1453-reeted her and asked her to sit down.

The dinner was very well prepared, and there were several dishes, some of which were even her favorites. Molly subconsciously took a second look, thinking it might be a coincidence. Lesley had cooked her favorite dishes because she had asked Sean about them. Selon had no reason to know it, but she didn't delve into it. She picked up her fork and enjoyed the food slowly.

During dinner, Vaughn served her a bowl of soup, "It's a bit hot. Be careful."

"Thank you, Vaughn." Molly thanked him politely.

Hearing this, Selon couldn't help smiling and said, "Well, it seems you two got to know each other pretty quickly."

"Yes." Molly smiled, "In the past two days, I have talked a lot with Vaughn, and he has helped me a lot! Vaughn is a good man."

Selon smiled and said meaningfully, "He should help you. After all, he is... my cousin, and you are my friend."

“Yeah, we are on the same team after all. It is lucky enough that we can meet each other on this damn island!” Beth seconded.

Molly glanced at her, and smiled, “That’s right.”

Vaughn didn’t join the topic. He said to Molly, “Don’t you have something to talk about with Selon?”

Hearing this, Selon couldn’t help looking at Molly in surprise, “Dr. May, what can I do for you?”

Molly had planned to talk about it after dinner. But since Vaughn mentioned it, she didn’t beat around the bush, “I want to work in the research base. Can you help me?”

Selon was taken aback, and then subconsciously glanced at Vaughn next to him with a frown, “Dr. May, why do you have such an idea? You should know what the research base is like! That is the turf of the Martial Art Union! This time, it was an accident that you were brought to the island by Eaton. The Martial Art Union does not know about it yet.

“But if your identity is exposed and they take action, it will be very difficult for you to get out.”

Molly had also thought about this matter. The Grandset and the Martial Art Union were mortal enemies. If they knew that she was here, they would probably take immediate action to arrest her.

But she had a reason to go! Molly looked determined, “Selon, I know this is risky, but I have to go in.”

Selon frowned, “Are you doing it for the Venomous Insect in Sean’s body?”

“How do you know this?” Molly was surprised.

Selon said, “I saw Sean’s seizure on the night of the battle with the Martial Art Union. At that time, I helped him stabilize the situation and sent him back to the hotel. Later, I checked the information and learned that what is in his body is a Venomous Insect.”

Molly nodded, "I see. Now that you know, then I won't hide it anymore. I'm indeed going in because of this! I didn't know where Eaton got such a vicious thing. But after I got on the island and saw this research base, I knew it.

"Mr. Ballard has been investigating the solution to the Venomous Insect, but there may be no clues any time soon. I have had enough of Eaton's control, so I want to solve it from the source. Entering the research base is the best option!"

Hearing this, Selon could understand Molly's mood.

But he still disagreed, "Dr. May, I think this matter still needs a long-term plan.

Entering the research base is no joke. I don't think you should go.

Chapter 1454-ou can ask him to look into this for you."

"This sounds reasonable."

Selon immediately agreed and then persuaded patiently, "Dr. May, the inside of the research base is heavily watched.

Even my movements are now under certain restrictions. Indeed, it's not so easy to investigate anything. If you go in, I'm afraid you'll be more restrained!

"Besides, if anything happens to you, do you know how Mr. Anderson will feel?

Now in poor condition, he's unable to be around you. I guess he must be very worried. Should anything happen to you, I don't think he'll choose to keep on living."

Molly's heart immediately stopped beating.

True, she had not thought about this.

She knew Sean's personality. If something happened to her, he was likely to do something crazy.

Molly instantly fell silent, frowning.

Seeing her look, he patted her head reassuringly, "Stop thinking about it. In fact, you don't have to go into the research base to solve the problem! There's also a shortcut to learn about the real situation of the research base faster."

"A shortcut?"

Molly got spirited, looking at Vaughn.

Selon and Beth also turned to him.

Vaughn said calmly, "Start with Lesley's fiance!"

Molly shook her head. "I'm afraid it won't work. Lesley's fiance can only come out once a month, and he only has two hours at a time while being watched. I don't think we can get information about the research base from him."

"Where there's a will, there is a way."

Vaughn's eyes were a little unfathomable.

Molly didn't get it.

But Beth did. She couldn't help but laugh, "Being watched? Just remove the watcher!"

“This is a good idea!” Selon also agreed, “And this is also a good chance to sneak into the research base.”

Molly asked in confusion, “Why?”

Beth said with a laugh, “Have you heard of the appearance-disguising technique? I’m best at it.”

Molly was dazed. She couldn’t help but begin looking Beth up and down.

She thought something was wrong.

Seeing Molly’s inquiring face, Selon explained hurriedly, “There’s an ancient book about appearance-disguising techniques in our family library. A person’s appearance can be easily disguised with special potions and techniques. The false appearance will be the same as a real human’s. It’s impossible to detect it.

My sister always likes such strange things.”

“Oh, I see.”

Seeing the light, Molly believed it right away.

Then she asked, “Vaughn’s method is feasible, but Lesley’s fiancé’s identity is special. I guess the one watching him might not be easy to deal with. What if our action ends up alerting them?”

“We’ve decided to do this. Of course, we’ll ensure everything goes smoothly without any mishaps.”

Vaughn responded with a calm voice, which had a convincing power.

Molly glanced at him, silent.

Then this was settled.

Later today, Molly left after dinner, returning to Eaton's small villa with Rhett.

Chapter 1455-As soon as they came into the house, the two saw Eaton sitting on the sofa in the hall.

Molly was mentally prepared to be questioned by this crazy man.

But Eaton greeted her nonchalantly, "You're back?"

Molly glanced coldly at him without saying a word.

Eaton was already used to her attitude. He rose, came over, and said, "Molly, if you want pharmaceutical materials, you can come to me. Why did you have to try to go to Selon?"

Molly was baffled, not knowing what he meant. She frowned, looking at him.

Eaton said, "Rhett has told me everything. He said you went to ask Selon to look for pharmaceutical materials for research use for you!"

Molly was a little shocked.

When did she... go to Selon for pharmaceutical materials?

She glanced at Rhett involuntarily.

Standing not far away, Rhett looked the same as usual.

Molly couldn't believe it.

Why... did this guy suddenly hide the truth from Eaton?

He always only listened to Eaton's orders, didn't he?

Why did he suddenly change his attitude?

Although she was confused, Molly didn't show it but simply glanced at Eaton.

"What? Do you also have to interfere in this?"

Eaton said helplessly, "No... Molly, why do you have to misinterpret everything I do? I know what I did last night frightened you, but it's because I cared about you!"

"That's enough. Eaton, I can't afford to be cared about by you. Stop saying such disgusting things."

Thinking of last night's matter, Molly still felt sick.

She didn't want to talk to him anymore, so she turned, ready to go upstairs.

Eaton took a few steps forward and stopped her. "Molly, I'm apologizing to you with a very genuine heart. I booked the table at the restaurant tonight, also because I wanted to say sorry to you. And these..."

He pointed at the antique-looking box on the coffee table. "These pharmaceutical materials are what I've just fetched from the research base for you. They're all rare stuff. I thought you would like them."

Molly took a few steps back, keeping a distance from him subconsciously. She said with a cold face, "So what?"

Eaton froze but then said, "So... of course, I hope you can cool down."

"Hah!"

Molly snorted, "Eaton, you're dreaming, aren't you? In this world, if one did a few wrong things, they can be forgiven by making an apology. That's right. But look at what you've done! You ignored human lives. In order to achieve your goal, you did everything by hook or crook. You forced me to do what I didn't like, and you encage me in this place so that I'm separated from my family.

"Last night, if not for my resistance, you would have done what you wanted to do to me with the excuse that you were drunk. Now, by simply saying sorry, treating me to dinner, and giving me a few medical herbs, you want me to forget everything? Don't you think you're so ridiculous?"

Eaton gradually stopped smiling, his face turning stiff.

Molly didn't want to waste her breath anymore. Without looking at him, she turned and went upstairs.

Then she shut the door and pulled the sofa over to block it, just as she had done before.

Only when she was sure there were no safety hazards did she drop her guard.

Lying in bed, she recalled what had just happened, feeling things were getting stranger.

Why did Rhett have to tell a lie, saying she went to Selon for pharmaceutical materials?

Or was he simply acting, hoping to win her trust?

After thinking for a long while, she thought her second guess was more reasonable.

“Eaton, whatever your trick is, never dream I’ll change my attitude toward you in this life!” she sneered.

Chapter 1456-That night in her room, Molly didn’t even dare to close her eyes.

Eaton’s drunken incident had given her very serious psychological trauma.

Then, the next morning, her head felt so heavy, and her stomach was even a little uncomfortable.

After washing, she felt her stomach acid surging, making her retch at the sink.

When she came downstairs, she looked a little pale.

Eaton immediately asked with a concerned face, “Are you all right, Molly?”

Ignoring him, Molly went to Lesley’s cafe with her things.

She thought she would have to wait, just as she had done.

But the moment she arrived, she found the door was open.

She pushed the door open with confusion and went in. Immediately, she saw Vaughn sitting behind the bar counter.

As their eyes met, the man smiled gently at her, “Morning.”

Molly asked in great surprise, “Why did you come so early, Vaughn?”

As she spoke, her eyes swept around the cafe. She asked,

Has Lesley also come?"

Vaughn said with a smile, "No, she hasn't! Since she witnessed your situation yesterday, she has been worried about you. Then she asks me to watch you for her, afraid you will have no place to go to again and squat outside. You would look pitiful then."

Molly was inevitably moved.

Lesley was so nice!

But she was also a little sorry. "It's so early. This must have given you great trouble. Or you might as well let me keep the key, and I'll open the door myself."

Vaughn said, "It doesn't matter. I have free time anyway. Don't try to take my job from me."

As he spoke, he scrutinized Molly's face. "It looks like you've had a bad sleep again, right?"

"I haven't slept at all."

Molly had told him the reason, so she didn't need to cover anything. "That place is a prison, and there's also an evil wolf in it, so how could I dare to sleep?"

Vaughn's eyes turned slightly serious, but his tone was the same. "Have you had breakfast? If you haven't, eat a bit and go to sleep. Lesley's made someone tidy up the lounge. You can take it as your temporary room. It's upstairs."

"Okay."

Of course, Molly didn't object. Anyway, she had come here for a good sleep.

Vaughn nodded and said, "Then sit down and wait for me here. Let me go make breakfast for you."

"Let me cook it myself. You don't have to go."

As she spoke, Molly rolled up her sleeves, ready to go in.

Vaughn blocked her way and said, "Do as I say. Just go sit. I'll make it for you."

"I'll be quick."

Molly was dazed, looking at the man's back suspiciously.

Why was the unquestionable tone so familiar?

As she muttered, she returned to her seat.

After a while, Vaughn brought simple breakfast as he promised: milk, a sandwich, and a freshly fried egg.

Vaughn put these things on the table and whispered, "I can't cook anything else."

"Make do with these."

Molly said with a laugh, "This is good enough, isn't it? Or you want to give me foie gras and Lafite?"

Vaughn hesitated for a moment before saying, "That... is a little difficult. I can't make them."

Seeing his poker face, Molly couldn't help but laugh, "Vaughn, you look cold, but you're good at making jokes."

Vaughn also laughed, "Since I can make you happy, that's worth it. Eat."

Molly nodded, drank a mouthful of milk, and began to eat the sandwich.

Vaughn took the chance to the kitchen and also got himself breakfast.

When he came out, he sat opposite Molly and began gracefully eating.

After a glance at his movements, Molly narrowed her eyes involuntarily

Chapter 1457-After breakfast, Molly helped clean up the dishes before going straight to the lounge to sleep.

Not disturbing her, Vaughn watched the cafe alone outside.

Molly woke up at noon, looking lethargic.

Lesley was brewing coffee at the counter. When she saw her, she couldn't help but laugh, "Do you want to drink a cup to perk you up?"

"Sure, thank you, Lesley." Molly accepted it.

"You don't have to speak to me so formally, do you?"

Lesley gave her a playful glare before continuing her work.

Molly took the chance to look around the cafe and saw many customers, but she vaguely felt that something was missing.

Just then, Lesley asked, "By the way, why haven't I seen the bodyguard watching you today? Has Eaton changed his mind because he's guilty of himself?"

Hearing the reminder, Molly finally realized what was wrong.

Indeed! Rhett would usually follow her wherever she went, but he was not close behind her today.

She subconsciously walked outside and looked around, but still couldn't see him.

"What's going on?" Lesley followed her out and curiously asked.

Molly shook her head and said, "I don't know, but this is definitely not because Eaton has changed his mind. Who knows what he's plotting?"

Lesley frowned and said, "People who behave unpredictably like him are so dangerous. You're shit out of luck, girl, being haunted by such a person."

When this was mentioned, Molly's mood turned sour, and even her stomach was affected, causing her some pain.

She knitted her brows and rubbed her belly.

"What's wrong? Are you feeling unwell?" Lesley noticed it and asked with concern.

"My stomach feels a little uncomfortable," Molly nodded and said.

"Then let's eat lunch first and then have coffee, or how could you bear it?"

As she spoke, Lesley asked, "Do you want to take some medicine?"

“Okay.” Molly didn’t refuse.

Lesley nodded and went to the counter to fumble in the medical kit, but found no stomach medicine.

“Looks like I have to go out and buy it,” Lesley sighed helplessly.

Molly said with a smile, “It’s okay. I’ll go buy it. Just tell me where the pharmacy is.”

Lesley was about to say something when hearing Vaughn’s voice coming from behind, “Why go to the pharmacy?”

What’s bothering you?”

Lesley didn’t hesitate to talk about Molly’s problem.

Vaughn said with furrowed brows, “Is it very uncomfortable? I’ll go buy it for you.”

Molly didn’t want to bother him, but seeing the worry in his eyes, she changed her mind and said, “Thank you, Vaughn.”

Vaughn nodded and soon went out.

About twenty minutes later, he came back with not only stomach medicine but also some food.

When he handed them to Molly, he reminded her, “Your stomach discomfort was probably caused by your irregular schedule in the past few days. You can eat something to fill your stomach at night. Don’t get hungry or bear the hunger. The next day, you’ll feel a little better.”

Molly blinked and smiled, “You’re really thoughtful, Vaughn. Whoever marries you in the future will be very lucky.”

Lesley joked, "That's right. Mr. Shepard is really thoughtful. You're so nice to Molly. Are you trying to win her love? This is forbidden. This lady already has a husband and three adorable kids."

Vaughn chuckled, "I know. Don't worry. I don't have any ulterior motives."

"That's good," Lesley said, going back to work.

Molly glanced at Vaughn with a slight suspicion.

Could it be... that she was wrong in testing him?

This man was definitely not Sean?

If he was not, why did he have to be so nice to her?

Chapter 1458-s holed up in the cafe searching for information, and Vaughn kept her company all the same.

Halfway through reading, Molly closed the book, looking a little depressed.

Vaughn noticed that and asked involuntarily, "What's wrong? Why put on such an expression?" A little discouraged, Molly replied, "Nothing. I just think I'm so useless. I can't do anything on this island. I thought about entering the research base to find some clues, but I can't do it. These days, I have read many medical books, hoping to find information about insect venoms, but I've found nothing. There's nothing else I can do except be trapped!"

"How could you think that way?"

Vaughn put down his book and gently stared at her. "In order to prevent your fiance from suffering from the insect venom, you followed Eaton to the island against your will. That means you've paid a great price. The research base has so many things involved, so it's not suitable for you to enter it."

“That’s true, but how could I ignore what has connections with him?” Molly looked a bit defeated.

In the medical sector, she had always stood undefeated.

But in this place, she was threatened with her actions restricted.

She felt like a prisoner.

Vaughn saw through her thoughts. He thought for a moment and said, “I think...

the best thing for him is that you’re safe. Besides, have you forgotten our plan from last night?”

Hearing that, Molly couldn’t help but look at Vaughn’s eyes.

His gaze was calm, firm, and gentle.

She was dazed unconsciously.

Lesley happened to come over and saw this scene. She asked, “Why do you look bitter? What’s wrong this time?”

Molly came back to her senses and quickly shook her head, saying, “Nothing.”

Then she pulled Lesley over and said, “Do you have a second? I want to ask you something. Now there’s no one around to watch...”

Lesley smiled, “Go ahead and speak. I’m not that busy now.”

Molly nodded and was about to speak, but she thought it was unwise to say it in the presence of so many people, so she said, "Let's go to a private room, shall we?"

Not objecting, Lesley went to a private room with her and Vaughn.

Molly closed the door and asked directly, "When will Logan come out of the research base? You said that he could come out once a month for two hours, didn't you?"

"That's right." Lesley nodded. "But why ask this?"

"I want to ask him about a few things in the research base!"

Molly looked at Vaughn beside her.

Vaughn nodded, signaling her to continue.

Getting his approval, Molly explained their plan.

Lesley's expression changed slightly. She shook her head and said, "No, no, this is too dangerous! Even if you can bring Logan out and find someone to replace him, you might get exposed. You can change his appearance, but you can't change his medical skills and abilities... If your plan is found, he might be in mortal danger. I can't toy with his life."

Molly didn't expect Lesley to react so intensely, but she knew her thoughts and showed empathy.

And what she said was right.

His appearance could be changed, but his medical skills and abilities couldn't be copied. That was easy to be noticed.

She looked at Vaughn subconsciously.

But Vaughn said calmly, "Actually, this is not as difficult as you think! As long as the person who replaces him claims to have forgotten everything, that's enough!

After all, the drugs fed to the people in the research base have side effects. If amnesia suddenly appears at this point, there will be nothing to be surprised about, right?"

Chapter 1459-As soon as Molly heard those words, her eyes lit up. 'This is a really good idea.'

Lesley was still a little hesitant. "No... I think we shouldn't take such risks. Molly, I know you want to save the people of the Ballard family, but have you thought about how you're going to leave the island after you've replaced Logan? The island is heavily guarded and you would need to pass through multiple layers of security in order to leave and that's not easy. If anything happened then it will cause the rest of the members of the Ballard family to be in big trouble."

"Ms. Fallon, I know what you're worried about, but this isn't as serious as you thought. The reason that we want to replace Logan is that we want to know more about the base and other important intel. There's still quite a while to go before we're going to leave the island. Besides, don't you want to know if there are any other members of the Ballard family on the island? Or do you think that there's only Logan in the research base?"

Lesley's heart skipped a beat.

That was exactly what she thought.

This was because she hadn't seen any other member of the Ballard family ever since she arrived on the island.

Vaughn looked at the expression on her face and could guess what she was thinking. She immediately said indifferently, "This island might be small, but the population size is actually in the hundreds of thousands. The research base alone contains a couple of tens of thousands of people. With such a big population, the odds of you bumping into someone from the Ballard family is thin. Not only that, if the people of the Ballard family came across the same situation as Logan and consumed the medicine that would cause them to lose some of their memories, then there's a chance that they'd forgotten who they were. If no one stands out now then it's almost impossible to reunite the people of the Ballard family.

Therefore, replacing Logan is absolutely necessary. The most important thing is that we can't let Logan lose his memories again.

Otherwise, getting the Ballard family back to the way it was before would be almost impossible."

After hearing those words, Lesley's heart ached. She fell silent as well.

Molly just watched and didn't say a word.

This was because Vaughn was right.

In order to save the members of the Ballard family, then they would need to know more about the research base and the intel must be from someone they could trust.

No one suited this job more than Logan.

Lesley hesitated for a while before saying through gnashed teeth, "How confident are you that the replacement will succeed? Logan will always have someone watching him whenever he comes back. The person will be a martial arts expert from the Martial Art Union. He's very powerful. Are you able to deal with him?"

She then paused before saying, "One of the reasons I refused is because of this. If we're going to do this, then we need to succeed the first time. Otherwise, it'll just alert them."

When Molly heard those words, she couldn't help but frown.¹ So there's a martial arts expert? Selon and Beth won't be up to the task, they're not strong enough. Vaughn doesn't look like he's a warrior either.' What Molly didn't expect was that just as she was thinking of a plan in her head, Vaughn spoke up. "I can deal with that, don't worry."

He sounded very confident.

Lesley still had her doubts. 'That guy once wiped out an entire low-end force by himself. Don't underestimate him.'

"I said I can handle it. Don't worry."

Vaughn sounded casual. It was as if he didn't care about the martial arts expert the other party had at all.

Lesley couldn't help but give Vaughn a strange look.

The Shepard family was just an ancient medical family; she didn't believe that they had martial arts experts as well.

However, since Vaughn already gave his word and even if Lesley didn't know the reason, she felt that Vaughn sounded reliable. In the end, she said, "I'll believe you this time since you're Molly's friend. Hope everything will go as you planned."

Seeing this, Molly breathed a sigh of relief. She had finally sorted this matter out.

Chapter 1460-Later on, Molly and Lesley discussed the details of the plan again with Vaughn.

By the time they were done, it was already more than two hours later.

When they came out, Lesley grabbed Molly and asked, "Are the people of the Shepard family worth trusting?"

Molly knew what Lesley was worried about.

However, out of instinct, she still tried to coax Lesley. "Don't worry. I feel that Selon and Vaughn are worth trusting. If you still have any doubts, you can ask Mr. Ballard about his opinion."

Lesley thought about it and agreed. She then quickly went to make a call.

Molly looked at Lesley's receding figure, curved her lips and walked out of the room.

Vaughn returned to where he was and was drinking coffee.

Molly sat opposite him and just stared at him.

Vaughn cocked his brows and asked with a smile, "Why are you looking at me like that?"

Molly replied with a smile, "Nothing. I just feel that you're so capable. You were able to find out the population of the island and the number of people in the research base within such a short amount of time."

Vaughn smiled. "This is all because of the elders of the Shepard family. They have a lot of connections with people here. Therefore, they were able to find out some basic information easily."

Molly felt that there was nothing wrong with Vaughn's explanation. She then suddenly asked, "Then how did you know about the Ballard family? If I remember correctly, I've never mentioned to you that Lesley's fiancée was from the Ballard family. Neither have I said anything about the Ballard family."

Vaughn remained calm. "Is there a possibility that I've heard about such things from Lesley? After all, she's even willing to give me the keys to her store."

"No way!" Molly didn't believe that at all. "She would keep her guard up when faced with anyone. She even suspected me in the past. The reason that she gave you the keys was because she cared about me!"

Vaughn nodded and continued to smile. "You're right. She does care about you quite a lot."

Molly didn't know what to say.

What he said wasn't the point that she wanted to get across.

She couldn't believe that this man was still keeping secrets from her at such a time.

"Alright then. If you're not going to tell me the truth, then I'll just play dumb as well!" Molly exclaimed inwardly.

Molly squinted her eyes and snorted. "Vaughn, you care about me as well. You even care more about me than my husband... If this carries on, then I might fall in love with you. It Vaughn cocked his brows. "What? I don't think that's right, do you? You have a family and kids."

Molly ignored his words and smiled. "So what? They're not by our sides right now, are they? Having an affair sounds good to me, don't you think? Or do you think I'm not worthy of you, Vaughn?"

With that said, Molly even reached out to hold Vaughn's hand.

Vaughn lowered his eyes and looked at Molly's hand meaningfully. "I didn't expect you to be someone to make the first move."

"Well, now you see, right?" Molly smiled coquettishly and asked, "Do you agree, Vaughn?"

Vaughn's eyes darkened. He wanted to say something when Lesley finished her call and walked over. "Molly, Uncle Jordan said..."

Before she could finish, she saw Molly and Vaughn holding hands.

She was stunned and looked at the two of them with eyes full of shock. "You...

what are you doing?"

Molly smiled. "Nothing. There was something on Vaughn's hand, and I was just removing it for him."

"I see." Lesley patted herself on the chest and said, "You scared me. I thought you were going to cheat on your husband."

Molly smiled, but didn't give an answer. She just asked, "How did it go? Are you going to agree to our plan?"

Lesley nodded. "I agree."
