

Triplets On SM 1491

Chapter 1491-Looking at the wall blocking the way, Molly gasped, and her heart sank.

It was terrible!

There was no way to escape!

“What should we do now?”

She panicked.

Sean had a special identity, and this was the Martial Art Union’s territory. If they discovered him, he would get into big trouble. And their plan might be ruined.

They must stop such a thing from happening!

Sean tightly held her hand but remained calm. He looked around and finally stared at the wall. It was not very high.

He narrowed his eyes and said in a deep voice, “Climb over the wall.”

What?

Before Molly could react, Sean hugged her, half squatted, and said, “Step on my thigh! I’ll help you up.”

She was stunned for a second but didn’t hesitate because she didn’t want to become a drag on him. novel.xo So, she took a deep breath and stepped lightly on his thigh.

Sean instantly pushed her up. When Molly came back to her senses, she was already sitting on the wall. But he was still down there.

She quickly stretched out her hand and said, "Come on! I'll pull you up."

But Sean seemed not to hear her words. He took a few steps back, ran up, pushed his feet against the wall hard, and then climbed up with ease.

His posture and movements were neat, vigorous, and aesthetically pleasing.

Molly to stunned to see him climb up the wall so easily, suspecting he had magic.

When she was in a daze, he took another leap and jumped down to the other side of the wall with ease.

After he stood still, he slowly raised his head, gently stretched out his hands to her, and said, "Molly, jump. I'll catch you."

Hearing his voice, Molly came to her senses and looked down.

His calm handsome face reassured her. Although it looked a bit high from her angle, she was not afraid at all because she believed he would not let her get hurt no matter what.

Suddenly, she heard the voices of the people of the research base not far away.

"Go over there to have a look! Don't let them escape!"

Then, she softly said, "I'm ready."

After finishing speaking, she jumped without hesitation. And Sean firmly caught her in his arms. However, because of her inertia, he lost his balance, and they fell to the ground together.

When Molly's body lay on top of him, she was startled. And she quickly tried to stand up for fear of hurting him.

Unexpectedly, he grabbed her waist to prevent her from getting up.

"What's wrong?"

She lowered her head and looked into his dark eyes.

He pressed his lips on her ear and whispered in a deep voice, "Shh, don't make any noise."

Hearing this, Molly quickly lay back on top of him.

They were so close that they could hear each other's breathing and feel each other's body temperature.

The footsteps on the other side of the wall approached them. Then, they heard those men's voices.

"They are not here!"

"Look elsewhere. We must catch them. There is something wrong with those two people!"

"Yes, sir!"

Then, the footsteps gradually receded and finally disappeared.

The surroundings quickly became silent.

They were finally safe! Molly let out a long breath after her tense nerves relaxed.

She looked at Sean's face close at hand and whispered, "Are we leaving now?"

He deeply looked at her and replied, "Yes."

Although he had said so, he didn't let go of her but kissed her with a smile.

Molly was stunned and couldn't help laughing, "Mr.

Anderson, we're running for our lives. It is not suitable to flirt now, right?"

Chapter 1492-Sean stared deeply at the girl on top of him, raised his hand to caress her cheek, and grinned, "We did nothing inappropriate. And it feels good to "running for life with you", although our situation is not that dangerous."

His voice was deep and sexy. Molly leaned on his chest with a smile. Listening to his steady heartbeat, she felt sweet in her heart.

She then softly said, "Sean."

"I'm here."

"Although I like the feeling of "running for life with you", I hope you will never experience it again in real life. Your safety is the most important."

She raised her head, looked into his deep eyes, and continued, "I don't have any fighting skills, so I might become a drag on you. I hope you remain safe and sound."novel.xo It was her lifelong wish.

When their eyes met, Sean showed an extremely gentle smile.

His chest was full of surging love, so he couldn't help kissing her lips again.

Molly slowly closed her eyes and responded to his kiss.

The surroundings were silent.

After a while, he reluctantly left her lips and said, "Let's get up."

Feeling his gentle rubbing of her head, Molly nodded. Sean didn't get up until she stood up. After she patted the dust off him, they looked around.

"Here seems to be someone's yard," Molly uncertainly said.

"Yeah," Sean nodded.

They had not expected the other side of the wall to be someone's yard. But the yard looked dilapidated, so they were not sure if anyone was living there.

Molly frowned, "Do you think we will be regarded as thieves if someone is living here?"

If so, things would be troublesome.

"Let's leave here before it's too late."

Sean wanted to leave before the owner discovered them.

But as soon as he finished speaking, a figure sprang out from the darkness in the corner and rushed straight toward them. Sean had always been vigilant.

Hearing the sound, he instantly turned his head back. Then, a cold light came into his view. It was a knife!

His face turned serious when he protected Molly behind him and raised one hand to block the attack.

It was so sudden that Molly didn't even know what was going on.

The attacker had not expected Sean to be so agile, a trace of ruthlessness flashing in his eyes, and then he changed the angle and stabbed the knife at Sean again. But Sean moved faster and hit his arm.

Clang!

The knife fell to the ground.

The attacker ignored the pain and instantly threw a punch. Sean unhurriedly raised his long leg and kicked him in the stomach.

"Ah!"

A scream pierced the silence.

After the man fell heavily to the ground, Sean stepped on his chest to make him unable to move. Now, he was exuding a terrifying and cold aura and condescendingly staring down at the man on the ground with a gloomy look.

Molly behind him was shocked. Everything had happened so fast that she felt it was a dream. Fortunately, Sean had subdued the attacker easily.

She took a few deep breaths to calm herself down before poking her head out from behind him and asking, "Sean, are you okay?"

Hearing her voice, Sean turned to look at her. And his cold eyes instantly softened when he gently replied, "Don't worry, I'm fine. Don't be afraid."

Chapter 1493-Molly smiled at him and said, "I'm not afraid as long as you're by my side."

Then, she looked down at the young man on the ground. He looked gentlemanly and was wearing a pair of glasses. But there was a bit of panic and ferocity on his face.

Sean narrowed his eyes, sized him up with his gaze, and ventured, "You're not a member of the research base, right?"

When fighting against the young man, he had thought the research base had discovered them at first. However, after exchanging a few blows with him, he had found the young man was indiscriminately wielding the knife without any fighting skills. But the members of the base were all professionally trained and had good combatting skills.

Hearing his words, the man unexpectedly yelled in anger, "I am not a bedbug of the research base! Let go of me!"

When he struggled to move Sean's leg away, the latter put forth more strength and sneered, "You attacked me. I will not let you go!"

Sean would not release him before figuring out his identity.

So, he harshly asked, "Who are you?"

The man was taken aback by the sudden question. But he soon came back to his senses and shouted, "You should answer my question first! Why did you sneak into my house in the middle of the night? What are you up to?" novel.xo The man thought of something, showed a sullen look, and asked with fierceness in his eyes, "Are you from the research base?"

Hearing this, Sean slightly frowned.

Molly came over and explained in a soft voice, "We are not from the base. We are just passing by."

If the people from the base had not chased after them, they wouldn't have climbed over that wall.

"Passing by?"

The man laughed and said with sarcasm, "Are you always passing by other people's houses like this?"

Molly was at a loss for words because it was hard to explain. But they were indeed passing by!

She didn't know how to answer, so she looked at Sean. Sean gave her a reassuring smile, signaled her to calm down, and looked at the man on the ground again.

If he was not a member of the base, who would he be? Why did he hate the research base so much?

While he was thinking, his gaze swept across the man's chest and inadvertently spotted something. Sean instantly showed a stern expression and reached out to pull open his coat, revealing a gold-edged badge with a white background.

He was familiar with the badge because he had seen it before!

Sean slightly narrowed his eyes and questioned, "Are you a doctor at the research base?"

Molly was startled to hear this. The man turned out to be a doctor at the research base! Thinking of his reactions just now, she guessed he had been brought here against his will too. And that also explained why he hated the base so much.

She was full of questions. But before she could ask, the stunned man suddenly grabbed Sean's leg and pushed him hard. Caught off guard, Sean lost his balance and staggered two steps back.

"Sean!"

Molly was startled and hurriedly stepped forward to support him. When Sean patted her hand and told her not to worry, the man took this opportunity to get up. Then, he instantly turned around and rushed outward. But after taking only two steps, he was kicked back and fell to the ground in embarrassment.

Had the people from the research base arrived? When Molly hurriedly looked over, she saw a familiar figure.

It was Tony and several bodyguards in black! And they looked quite imposing when marching over.

Chapter 1494-Tony walked over and respectfully greeted Sean and Molly.

“Sir, Madam, are you alright?”

“We’re fine,” Sean lightly nodded and motioned for him to take the man on the ground under control.

After Tony nodded and gestured to the bodyguards, two of them immediately went forward and grabbed the man.

The man struggled and yelled, “Let me go! Let me go!”

Molly had always been good-tempered, but she couldn’t take it anymore and said with a frown, “He is too noisy! If he attracts the people of the research base over, we will get in trouble!”

Hearing this, Tony immediately took out a handkerchief and stepped forward to gag the man’s mouth.

“Be quiet.”

“Hum!”

The man couldn't speak, so he stared at them with a vicious look. If his gaze could kill, Molly and the others would have long died.

Sean ignored him and asked, "Tony, have you met the people of the research base on the way here?" Tony nodded, "Yes, but we avoided them."

'Are they still nearby?'

Molly couldn't help feeling worried. The man had made a loud noise just now.

He might really attract people over! At the thought of this, she couldn't help casting a complaining look at him. If she had known it earlier, she would have made him faint at the very beginning.

"Don't worry. They have gone to other places. I don't think they will come back."

Hearing this, Molly finally felt relieved, hoping they would not come back.

Sean walked up to the man. Meeting his angry eyes, he looked around with a frown, showed a faint smile, and asked, "This is not your house, right?"

Hearing this, the man avoided his gaze and made some noises through his gagged mouth, trying to defend himself.

"This place is so deserted that I don't think it's inhabited."

Sean unhurriedly continued, "I guess you are just hiding in here. Are you the doctor who ran out of the research base today?"

Hearing his words, the man showed a shocked look.

Was he the doctor who had run out today? Molly looked at the man in surprise.

Seeing his expression, she slightly frowned and thought Sean had guessed it right.

They were lucky! They had bumped into the doctor who had escaped from the base on their way back to their residence! She couldn't help feeling excited because an enemy's enemy is a friend!

Then, she looked at Sean. When their eyes met, they instantly understood each other's thoughts.

Sean said to the man, "We need to have a good talk."

The man realized they did not mean to hurt him, so he gradually calmed down.

Sean ordered, "Tony, bring him to your place."

"Yes," Tony nodded and asked the bodyguards to take the man back.

Sean and Molly walked behind them hand in hand.

As Tony had said, the people from the research base had left this area. So, they had not seen any of them on the way.

Tony lived not far from Sean's small villa. It was a house across the street.

After entering the room, the bodyguards threw the man on the ground. And the man couldn't help crying out in pain.

Sean slowly sat down and stared at him with sharp eyes, exuding a domineering and arrogant aura.

Tony and the others quietly stood aside, not daring to make a sound.

Chapter 1495-After Tony forced the man to sit across from Sean, the latter straightforwardly asked, "What's your name?"

"Woooo!"

The man's mouth was still gagged.

"Sorry, I forgot," Tony awkwardly smiled and pulled the cloth out.

"Bah!"

The man spat, shot an angry look at Sean, and asked, "Why should I tell you!" Hearing this, Tony immediately took out a knife and shook it in front of his mouth to threaten him, saying, "Do you still want your tongue?"

The man turned pale with fright and shouted, 'Don't hurt me.'

Seeing this, Molly softly sighed and persuaded him, saying, "If you tell us the truth, he won't harm you."

The man looked at her, hesitated for a long time, turned to look at Sean again, and ventured, "You are not a member of the research base, right?"

He had heard their previous conversations, so he knew they were also avoiding the people of the research base. But he was not sure whether they were his enemies or friends. Molly helplessly smiled and seriously answered, "We are not! If The man was quite vigilant. He looked at her for a long time before reluctantly saying, "You are good-looking, so I trust you for now."

Hearing this, Sean sitting opposite him immediately frowned, showed a gloomy look on his handsome face, and said, "Eyes are good things. You should cherish them."

His voice was calm, but it sounded creepy and cold. Tony secretly sighed in his heart, thinking this guy was too bold. He had praised Mrs. Anderson for her good-looking appearance in front of Mr. Anderson. He was courting death.

But Molly was amused by Sean's cold gaze.

As for the man, he couldn't help shivering under his intense gaze, thinking although this group of people looked decent, they were all dangerous. But they were indeed different from the scumbags of the research base. Maybe he could trust them?

He hesitated for a few seconds before slowly saying, "My name is Edmund Herring, and I used to work for the base."

Sure enough, he was a doctor at the base.

Sean nodded and asked, "Did they force you to work here? Why did you run away?"

Hearing this, Edmund got agitated and cursed vehemently, "No human beings should live in that hole! There is no freedom at all! What's more..."

He looked at Sean, hesitant to speak.

Molly faintly smiled, "Please go ahead. It's okay."

"They are researching and developing things to harm people! If While speaking, Edmund clenched his fists and gritted his teeth.

Molly exchanged glances with Sean and asked tentatively, "I heard you escaped with some drugs. What drugs did you bring out?"

The base had dragged in many people to look for Edmund. So, she was very curious about what drugs he had stolen when escaping.

Hearing this, Edmund fell silent.

"Can you tell us?" Molly asked again.

Edmund shook his head, "I can't say."

Tony roasted, "You have fallen into our hands, dude. There is no need to hide it from us."

Edmund was stunned to hear it. But he thought his words made sense, so he said, "It will not do you any good to know about it. It may cause you to be killed."

Chapter 1496-Tony replied, "All the more reason you should tell us. We also hate the base.

You only steal one medicine, and we have more information than you."

Hearing this, Edmund glared at him and said, "Things are not that simple! You know nothing."

Molly lightly said, "No, we do know something. We have long known the research base is developing harmful drugs! As for the details... Let me tell you one. SRS that killed many people a few years ago is from the base."

Edmund was stunned to hear her words because few people knew about SRS's matter. He had never expected this group of people to know.

Therefore, he couldn't help asking, "Who are you?"

Sean lightly said, "You don't need to know who we are. We can only tell you the research base is our enemy. So, you should choose to join us or cooperate with us."nvēlx.o Hearing this, Edmund raised his vigilance again. Why did they want him to join them? It sounded weird.

“What if you’re terrorists? How can I confirm you are trustworthy? What if you are playing a trick to deceive me?”

Hearing this, Sean sneered, “This is no need to play any trick on you! You are like a fish on the chopping board. If I had wanted to force you to do evil things, I would have threatened you! It would be faster, right?”

Edmund felt speechless and retorted, “Aren’t you threatening me now?”

Molly was amused but forced back her laughter and said, “Mr. Herring, if they had wanted to threaten you, they would have resorted to violence instead of letting you sit here to talk with us. We are sincerely inviting you!”

Edmund curled his lips and said, “Anyway, I am under your control, so I must do whatever you say.”

Molly had a good temper, so she didn’t mind his bad attitude but said, “If you want to leave, we can release you. We are not unreasonable people. But you should be very clear about your current situation. The research base is looking for you everywhere! We hid in the yard tonight because we saw them questioning passers-by at the intersection. After all, we don’t want them to discover us. I am afraid the search will become more strict and wide tomorrow.

Do you think you can escape by yourself?”

Hearing this, Edmund fell silent. He did not think he could escape. This was the territory of the research base, and almost all the people on the island were its members. So, it was impossible for him to leave here.

Molly read his mind and immediately persuaded him, saying, “Why don’t you try to trust us? We can help you avoid them.”

“Really?”

Edmund didn’t believe her words. So, he looked at her and asked, “Do you have any conditions?”

Molly didn't beat around the bush but directly said, "Yes, we do. We hope you can provide us with information about the research base! To be honest, our friends are trapped in the research base, and we want to save them."

Edmund widened his eyes in disbelief and said, "Are you kidding me? Do you know where this is? The research base checks everyone when they enter and exit the island. It would take a miracle to save people!"

Molly calmly replied, "We know. But we're determined to save them!"

Sean indifferently said, "The research base is good at research and development. But it is just so-so in other aspects."

Chapter 1497-Hearing this, Edmund couldn't help looking at Sean, thinking he was too arrogant.

How could he say the research base was just so-so in other aspects?

"You're underestimating the research base. Do you know the situation inside? It has stricter rules there like a prison. People can only come out once a month, and all their actions are under surveillance! If they dare to betray, the research base will catch their family to threaten them! In other words, everyone on this island is under their control! You are having a pipe dream to save people!"

Sean disapprovingly glanced at him and said, "If the inside is heavily guarded, how did you manage to escape? Since you can escape, I don't think it impossible to get our people out."

Edmund was speechless and subconsciously retorted, "It's because I had planned for three months to escape."

"Three months?"

Sean raised his eyebrows and said, "Can you tell me how you managed to avoid the surveillance? What did you do?"

Edmund's face froze when he heard this question, and then he fell silent. Molly saw a trace of embarrassment on his face, so she felt confused and turned to look at Sean.

Sean leisurely crossed his legs and lazily said, "Why? Can't you tell me? I'll take a guess. The research base's internal surveillance system works twenty-four hours a day without any blind spots. So, you could not avoid it unless someone had hacked or sabotaged it. However, I don't think such things happened. After all, the base has specialized experts to maintain the system. So, I will rule out this possibility! Let's talk about the security deployment inside the research base now. There is a detection machine at the entrance of each building. And a patrol team passes them every five minutes. And some people are watching in the dark. It was extremely hard for you to slip away under their noses. You could not make use of disguises because they would scan you at every checkpoint. You were carrying drugs, so you could by no means fool the scanner with disguises.

Therefore, I guess you had come out through a special passage."

Speaking of this, Sean picked up the glass from the table, took a sip of water, and took a break.

Then, he unhurriedly continued, "I have studied the overall construction of the research base. The large building seems strongly fortified, but there are many sally ports such as the ventilation and the garbage channels for medical waste.

These channels are not small. Two adults can pass through them!"

Listening to Sean's analysis, Edmund maintained a calm face but was shocked underneath. He had not expected him to have so much information and couldn't help wondering who he was.

However, when he heard the last sentence, he couldn't hide his shock anymore.

And both Sean and Molly had captured his micro-expression.

Sean faintly smiled, "I guessed right."

Edmund had to admit it now despite his unwillingness. So, he said, "You're right.

I did come out through the ventilation duct. Last month, a lab had a chemical explosion, and they did not repair it in time. I know the duct led to the outside, so I found an opportunity and climbed out with some drugs."

Chapter 1498-After hearing Edmund's words, Tony burst out laughing, "You had to spend three months thinking of such a method?"

"Puff!" Molly couldn't help but chuckle.

According to Sean, if one wanted to escape from the research base, there was really no need to spend three months thinking of a method.

Edmund blushed and argued angrily, "That's not the whole story! I had worked out other ways, but... they didn't work, okay?"

When it came to the end, he became less confident.

"Oh," Tony sneered but restrained himself from rolling his eyes. He ridiculed coldly, "Then you should have said it took three days, and you would look smart!" "You!" Edmund was furious, flushing.

Tony put on an I'm-just-telling-the-truth expression.

He was so offensive.

Sean had a smile in his eyes for a brief moment.

"Well, Tony, stop it," Molly said, trying to ease the quarrel.

After asking Tony to stop talking, she continued, "Mr. Herring, we've learned your situation, so..."

Then she raised her thin brows and said, "We're so willing to cooperate with you. What's your decision?"

If Edmund was willing to cooperate, that would be a good thing. They could at least get the drug information he had taken out from the base.

At the thought of that, Molly and Sean exchanged a glance and then patiently waited for him to reply.

Only then did Edmund realize what had happened. God, he had unconsciously revealed all he knew after hearing Sean's information-seeking words.

He patted his head in frustration and muttered, "How stupid! How come I revealed everything?"

But he had to admit that the information Sean got was more complete than he imagined.

Sean even knew more than he, who he had previously worked in the research base, did.

They seemed really brilliant.

After thinking for a long time, Edmund curled his lips and said with embarrassment, "If I say I refuse, you won't agree, will you?"

"No, we won't," Sean answered directly with justification.

Since they had brought him here, the two parties would reach a cooperation deal.

Then Edmund rolled his eyes subconsciously. "Why did you have to ask then?"

He didn't have any other choice, did he?

Seeing that he was speechless and helpless, Molly chuckled and slowly said, "Then hope we have a pleasant cooperation, Mr. Herring."

Edmund smiled drily, "Have a pleasant cooperation."

"During this period, we'll make sure you're safe. We'll hide your identity and never let the base find you," Molly promised.

"I've chosen to cooperate with you, so I'll trust you," Edmund answered.

Molly smiled and stopped talking.

Since he had gotten the answer, Sean didn't want to stay here anymore.

He turned and said to Tony, "You get him settled in. If there's anything, report to me in time."

"Yes, sir," Tony said.

"Mr. Herring, if you want anything, just tell Tony. He'll try his best to satisfy your needs."

As she spoke, Molly signaled to Tony with her eyes. "Don't laugh at him anymore, Tony! He's one of us now."

"Yes, ma'am."

Tony smiled with embarrassment.

Actually, he didn't laugh at him but just said the truth.

"Let's go back," Sean said to Molly.

"Okay," Molly smiled.

After watching the couple leave, Tony finally turned and went to arrange a place for Edmund

Chapter 1499-In the alley on the way back, they walked slowly hand in hand.

The moonlight slanted down from between two buildings. It was quiet here.

But they could hear a car honk occasionally.

The atmosphere was comfortable and leisurely.

"Sean."

Molly's voice was soft and inexplicably gentle.

Thinking of something, Sean turned to look at her tenderly and asked softly, "What's up?"

"Do you think... Edmund is trustworthy?"

Although they had so eagerly asked him to cooperate with them a while ago, they knew nothing about the so-called Edmund Herring.

And they didn't know if anything would happen.

Sean thought about it and said, "I don't know for now."

This answer was beyond her expectation.

Molly blinked in surprise. "You don't know?"

She had thought he was completely confident.

Sean chuckled and rubbed her head. "I don't know him, just like you don't, so I asked Tony to get him settled in and watch him. We'll find out who he is sooner or later."

It turned out he had arranged everything.

Molly nodded and said, "That's good."

Then she frowned and asked worriedly, "What will the research base do if they can't find him? Will they search from door to door?"

"That's possible."

Sean narrowed his eyes. According to his knowledge of the research base, they were likely to do something like this.

"What should we do then?"

Molly couldn't help but feel worried.

If the research base came to look for the man, they would be exposed, wouldn't they?

Sean squeezed her palm and consoled her, "Don't worry. I'm here with you."

While talking, they came to their living place.

As soon as they were in the house, Sean said, "Go take a shower. I'll ask Alkaid to come over."

Molly asked with wonder, "You got plans?"

"In order to avoid unnecessary trouble, I'll ask Alkaid to disguise our appearances. If the research base truly comes to our door, we can avoid trouble."

After hearing his explanation, Molly instantly beamed, "This is a good idea. Then I can take the chance to have an observation." And she added, "Then I'm gonna shower now."

Seeing her run upstairs, Sean chuckled with great affection.

When Molly came downstairs after the shower, Alkaid was already here.

"Madam," she greeted Molly.

"You're here." Molly came to her, showing on her perfect face the expression that she couldn't wait.

She had never had her disguised, so she expected it so strongly.

Seeing that, Sean rose with smiling eyes and said, "Alkaid, disguise her first."

Alkaid nodded. "Okay."

"I'm gonna shower." After saying that to Molly, Sean went upstairs.

Alkaid opened her small suitcase.

Molly immediately came over.

She saw that there were some disguising tools, potions, makeup brushes, even wigs, and a few realistic masks in the suitcase.

“What a suitcase!” Molly exclaimed in surprise.

So curious, Molly touched the realistic masks. They felt so delicate and soft that they were the same as real human faces.

“You’ll put these on my face in a while?” Molly asked.

“Not exactly. Just one of them,” Alkaid said with a smile.

Molly observed them but didn’t find anything special. Then she frowned and asked, “Will I look ugly after getting disguised?”

Alkaid left a cliffhanger on purpose, “You’ll know then, madam.”

Chapter 1500-Alkaid didn’t immediately start to disguise her, but went to introduce the things in her suitcase one by one.

She introduced everything from the potions to the realistic masks all in great detail, and Molly listened with relish.

“So this is the art of disguise.”

After that, Alkaid picked up the glass of water beside her and drank a mouthful.

Seeing Molly was so interested, she couldn’t stop teaching that her mouth became a little bit dry.

Then Molly picked up one of the potion bottles and asked curiously, "How did you make this potion?"

As she asked, she smelled it and raised her brows in surprise. She couldn't smell anything.

The potion was transparent without a smell.

Alkaid said with a smile, "This is a specially made potion, which is mainly used to protect the skin. With it, we can soften the mask, and the mask will look more real."

"How magical!"

Molly scrutinized the potion bottle, on which there was even no label. She asked, "Do you know the ingredients of the potion?"

Alkaid smiled apologetically, "I don't know about that."

Molly was not disappointed.

She stared at the bottle of potion in her hand. As a doctor, she was curious about something so special. If there was a chance, she would study it seriously.

After a while, she was finally willing to put it down. She looked at Alkaid and asked, "What about the disguising procedure?"

Alkaid picked up the bottle she had just put down. As she opened it, she said, "Apply the potion first, then proceed with a specific method of bonding..."

She explained very specifically while seriously disguising Molly.

“Oh, right, usually there is a process for wearing a wig,” she said with a smile, “but I think you don’t need any wigs, madam.” Molly was amused. Indeed, her hair was long enough.

The procedure didn’t sound complicated, but Alkaid spent about half an hour getting the job done.

Molly was sitting on the sofa with her face up, letting Alkaid do anything she wanted.

At this point, Sean came downstairs, and Molly’s disguising was done.

He came to her and moved his brows with a faint smile, showing great interest.

“What do you think?”

Molly touched her face and asked Alkaid to bring a mirror.” Let me have a look.

Let me see what my face is like.”

Alkaid immediately handed her the mirror and smiled,” Madam, don’t worry. Your face looks very nice.”

The face was beautiful, and the outer corners of the eyes went slightly up, adding a kind of seductive to her look.

Looking at herself in the mirror, Molly laughed, “This is completely different from my usual style, but it is really beautiful. And...”

She touched her face again. “It doesn’t feel uncomfortable at all. It feels good as if this is my real face.”

Then she looked at Sean, her beautiful eyes as bright as stars.

Sean praised with smiling eyes, “It looks really good.”

“It does, right?”

Molly looked at herself in the mirror. The more she looked, the more satisfied she got.

Alkaid even joked, “Don’t you think you have a new wife, master?”

But Sean looked sideways at her and asked with a faint smile, “Are you trying to stir something up?”

Feeling like being gagged, she instantly waved her hands to deny it. “No, no, I’m just kidding. I just thought it would be interesting for Madam to have a different style!”

She gave a broad flattering smile, thinking, “I won’t talk like this with a loose mouth next time. If Master is unhappy, I’ll be doomed!”