

Triplets On SM 1511

Chapter 1511-The next morning, not long after Molly and Sean had breakfast, Alioth came.

He said, ‘ Master, the man we caught last night has confessed.’

Molly was a little surprised, “He confessed so quickly?”

“Yes, he’s confessed everything.” Alioth nodded, “He admitted that Eaton’s Venomous Insect was indeed brought out from the research base with his help.”

Sean was not surprised by this.

“What about the antidote?” Molly hurriedly asked.

Since the Venomous Insect was brought out from the base, there must be an antidote!

As expected, Alioth replied, “Jackson said that the antidote is still in the research base, but...”

He hesitated for a few seconds, “There is some bad news.”

Molly frowned, “What?”

“There is only one antidote, and it’s the antidote for the second Venomous Insect in Kara’s body.”

Hearing this, Molly was stunned, and asked, “What about the Love Curse?”

“Not here.” Alioth replied truthfully, “According to what Jackson said, the second Venomous Insect is one of the Blood Venomous Insects, which is mainly used to control people. As for the Love Curse, there is also an antidote, but it is not on this island. It’s in another research base.”

Molly's face darkened after she heard this.

Why was it not the antidote for the Love Curse?!

Right now, it was impossible to get the antidote from this base, let alone another base.

By the time they found it, the Love Curse would probably have mutated!

"It's okay. It's a good thing to get an antidote." Seeing her expression, Sean quickly calmed her down softly.

Molly turned to look at him, trying to suppress the restlessness in her heart, "That's right. We should get rid of the Blood Venomous Insect first. At least as long as we don't activate the Mother Insect in Kara's body, you won't be affected."

Sean gently nodded and said, "If the second Venomous Insect is removed, the Love Curse can also be removed. After dealing with the matter of the base, we should leave to find Mr. Ballard as soon as possible."

"Okay." Molly nodded, changed the subject, and asked, "Then what should we do next? Infiltrate the base to find the antidote?"

"Of course." Sean looked at Alioth, "Did Jackson tell you where the antidote is?"

"Yes, he said it's in Research Room No. 46," Alioth replied truthfully.

Jackson had confessed so easily? Molly couldn't help being suspicious, "Jackson gave up so quickly and confessed everything. Is he playing tricks?"

Alioth immediately replied, "Madam, don't worry. There should be no tricks."

“Really?” Molly frowned, still in disbelief.

“Yeah, that man cherishes his life very much and is scared to death. He is quite normal, unlike that paranoid bastard Eaton.”

Alioth’s explanation made Molly feel relieved, but she began to worry about another thing, “Sean, the research base is heavily guarded. It will be dangerous to sneak in, and we may be discovered at any time, and it will be very difficult to come out then.”

No matter who was going to carry out this task, she would be worried. The people in the research base were barbaric and inhumane. If they were accidentally caught, the consequences would be disastrous.

Sean shared her worries.

He thought about it and said, “We need a backup plan.”

“Huh?” Molly frowned, puzzled.

Sean smiled, “Let’s go to the basement lab this afternoon and meet Edmund. I think he might be helpful for this operation.”

Chapter 1512-Molly nodded, “Okay.”

Then, the two made preparations to avoid the inspectors of the research base, and went to the underground medical lab of the Shepard family.

As soon as they entered the lab, Molly noticed a strange person at a glance.

She frowned, and called out tentatively, “Edmund?”

Hearing his name, the man grinned, "Yes, it's me."

Molly approached, carefully sizing up his disguised face, and raised her eyebrows. She had to admit that he looked quite handsome.

She couldn't help smiling, "Why does Alkaid always make people look so good?"

Apart from the ordinary face of "Vaughn" before, everyone else looked good.

Tony's voice came from beside her, "Because Alkaid has an obsession with good looks, especially handsome men."

Really?

Molly laughed out loud, "I see."

"We're here today to talk to you about something," Sean said to Edmund.

Edmund was taken aback, "What's it?"

Sean pondered for a few seconds before slowly asking, "Apart from the place you escaped from, do you know any other places where we can sneak into the research base?"

Edmund's eyes widened in shock when he heard this.

"What are you going to do?"

Was he trying to get himself killed?

"We're going to sneak into the base to get the antidote." Sean didn't hide it and told him the truth.

“Are you crazy?” Edmund became excited, and he glanced at everyone present in disbelief, “Many people want to come out, but you want to go in instead? I didn’t hear it wrong, did I?”

He pinched his thigh hard.

It hurt!

His eyes widened even more.

Edmund’s reaction was expected.

“You just need to tell me if there is another channel,” Sean said calmly.

“No.” Edmund blurted out.

He probably realized that he answered too quickly, and his eyes wandered.

Sean caught it keenly. He narrowed his eyes slightly, and asked again, “Is there any?”

Edmund lowered his eyes and closed his mouth tightly as if he didn’t want to say more.

“This is very important to us!” Sean’s tone became a little more serious.

“If you go in, you will not be able to come out alive,” Edmund said angrily.

He had escaped with great difficulty, and he knew very well how terrifying it was.

So he certainly didn’t want them to take risks.

There was a deathly silence all around.

After a long time, Sean said flatly, "That's our business."

In other words, it had nothing to do with him.

Sean didn't want to use this method.

They could follow Selon to the base, but Selon still needed to lurk in the base and he should not be exposed too early.

Therefore, this was the only way to go.

"Mr. Herring, if you know something, I hope you can tell it." Sean's tone was still calm, but there was a kind of assertiveness that no one could ignore.

Edmund was silent for a long time. He wrung his hands.

He had made a big mistake. If they were caught, he would be doomed as well.

But they were in the same boat now and there seemed to be no way to turn back for him.

He was speechless.

Edmund hesitated for a long time. He finally gritted his teeth and said reluctantly, "There is indeed a place where you can enter the base."

Anyway, if they went down, he would go down together!

Chapter 1513-“There is indeed a passage through which you can enter the base.”

Hearing this, Sean and Molly got excited.

“Where is it?” Sean asked in a deep voice.

“It’s a drain that has fallen into disuse for many years. You can enter the research base through it, but...”

Edmund broke off in mid-sentence, so Molly quickly asked, “But what?”

“The outlet of the drain is blocked. We have to deal with it first.”

Edmund looked at her and added with a frown, “And after you enter the base, the exit happens to be in the patrol building.”

“Patrol?” Molly frowned and turned to look at Sean with a serious expression.

The patrol of the research base was not easy to deal with.

“You may be discovered as soon as you get in. I don’t recommend you to enter the base from such a dangerous place.”

Then, Edmund heavily sighed with disapproval.

Sean frowned, “It’s indeed a little tricky.”

After pondering for a moment, he said, “But if we plan well, we will still manage to slip in.”

Tony looked at Edmund and teased with a half-smile, “I believe you had planned for three months before escaping now. You turn out to be quite reliable at critical moments, bro!”

Being peeved, Edmund rolled his eyes and turned his head away, not bothering to talk to Tony.

Molly said, "Thank you, Mr. Herring. The information is very important to us."

Edmund was a little embarrassed to hear her thank him so sincerely, so he quickly waved his hand and said, "Never mind. I hope it can help you."

Hearing this, Molly smiled in silence. When Sean was about to discuss the next action with Tony, Edmund suddenly thought of something and hurriedly said, "By the way, I saw a woman locked up over there. She seems weird. What's wrong with her?"

While speaking, he suspiciously looked at Sean and the others.

The woman was Kara. Edmund was a doctor. Since he had said she looked weird, there might be something wrong with her. Molly did not dare to neglect her condition. After all, her life was related to Sean's safety.

"I'll go to check on her," Molly said as walking toward the room where Kara was locked.

Others all followed behind her.

Outside the room, she saw Kara lying on the bed with her eyes closed through the glass. Her body was trembling, and she seemed to have difficulty breathing.

Something was wrong. Molly's heart sank before she quickly opened the door and went in.

After getting closer, she found Kara's face bloodless and her forehead full of cold sweat.

She hurriedly took her pulse. Feeling her pulse was disordered and extremely weak, she narrowed her eyes.

Seeing her serious expression, Sean asked, "What's wrong?"

"I must immediately give her emergency treatment. Otherwise, she won't be able to hold on."

Molly glanced at him, quickly brought her silver needles over, and began acupuncture treatment.

Edmund was stunned. He had not expected the beautiful woman to know medicine! And she looked quite good at acupuncture treatment.

After the treatment, Molly stood by the bed, intensely watching the change in Kara's condition. Half an hour later, her face slowly turned ruddy.

When Molly breathed a sigh of relief, Kara woke up. When she opened her eyes and saw Molly and Sean, she was a little dazed.

Then, she frowned, looked at Sean, and asked, "Mr.

Anderson, what are you doing?"

Chapter 1514-Everyone was stunned to hear her words.

Mr. Anderson?

And her voice was too gentle!

Molly vaguely felt that something was wrong because Kara had never spoken to anyone in such a tone.

Sean also frowned, feeling uncomfortable.

Soon, Kara sat up, glanced around, looked at Sean's face, and asked, "What's wrong with me?"

"Don't you know what's wrong with you?"

Molly suspiciously stared at her, trying to find a hint of pretense on her face.

Unfortunately, her expression was flawless.

Therefore, Molly's frown became deeper.

Kara had pondered for a long time with a frown before finally remembering Eaton had put Venomous Insects in her body.

Then, she reflexively blurted out, "Eaton Scott is such a jerk!"

Hearing her cursing Eaton, Molly could not believe her ears.

Tony also gaped at her in shock, suspecting Kara was out of her mind.

After Molly and Sean exchanged glances with each other, the latter frowned.

Was Kara acting now? Did she think they would let her go if she pretended to be insane?

While Sean was deep in thought, Kara suddenly approached him, stared at his face, and softly asked with concern, "Are you alright? Has the Love Curse in your body attacked?"

Then, she bit her lower lip and continued with a guilty look, "It's all my fault. If I hadn't fallen into Eaton's trap, you wouldn't have been tortured."

Her voice was full of self-blame.

Hearing this, Molly had a bad feeling.

Tony closely watched Kara's every move, ready to rush up to subdue her at any time.

Kara seemed to have forgotten there were other people there. She suddenly became a little shy, lowered her head, and said in a faint voice, "But there is a way to solve the Love Curse. As long as we..."

Before she could finish her words, Molly took a step forward to separate her from Sean, showed a cold expression on her pretty face, and reprimanded in a deep voice, "Enough! Kara, believe it or not, I'll kill you if you dare to say such words again!"

Hearing her words, everyone else was taken aback, especially Edmund. He had not expected this beauty to be so fierce. Fortunately, she was very polite to him.

Tony worriedly looked at her and said, "Mrs. Anderson..."

Molly was justified to get angry. Kara was indeed a lunatic! How could she say such words? She was courting death!

Kara looked confused, not knowing what was wrong with her words.

Recalling her weird behaviors since she had woken up, Molly finally figured out what was going on.

The original Venomous Insect in her body might have mutated because Eaton had activated the second Venomous Insect. And it had confused her memories and made her mistake Sean for her beloved man.

Molly couldn't allow anyone to covet her man, let alone Kara! Merely at the thought of such a thing made her fume with anger. So, she dragged Sean outward without hesitation. If she stayed there longer, she might kill Kara!

Staring at Molly's side face, Sean slightly raised his eyebrows. It was the first time he had seen her lose her temper like this. He only cared about her, so he ignored Kara and obediently followed her out.

Chapter 1515-“Molly, what are you doing? Why are you dragging Sean?” Seeing that Sean was being dragged away, Kara immediately chased after them.

“What are you doing?” Tony quickly stopped Kara and stared at her coldly.

“Get out of the way! I'm going to see Mr. Anderson.” Kara tried to avoid him.

In the next second, Tony grabbed her wrist directly, “Don't go anywhere until the matter is resolved. Just stay here.”

Then he tied her up.

“How could you do this to me? Mr. Anderson likes me...” Kara struggled angrily.

Before she could finish her sentence, Tony gagged her mouth with a piece of cloth.

“Is Mr. Anderson someone you can think about? Look at yourself in the mirror.

Don't you know what you are?! Are you trying to steal Mr. Anderson from Mrs.

Anderson? No way!” Tony spat in disdain and left without looking back.

At the same time, Molly dragged Sean outside. Thinking about what had happened just now, she was still pissed off.

Seeing her angry face, Sean stepped forward to hug her, and said softly, “Tell me what's going on.”

Molly bit her lips, hesitated for a few seconds, and then told him what she suspected, "The worst-case scenario has happened... The Love Curse has mutated, causing her to have wrong feelings about you. She thinks that you are the one she likes."

Hearing her words, Sean suddenly felt disgusted.

He had been liked by some wealthy young ladies in the past, but he didn't need to pay attention at all.

But now, it happened to be related to the Venomous Insect in Kara's body.

Thinking of this, Sean felt even more disgusted.

Molly didn't notice the change in his expression, and scolded angrily, "That damned psycho! Eaton Scott, I hope he rots in hell!"

Hearing this, Sean quickly comforted softly, "Don't be angry.

I won't see Kara again in the future."

"OK." Molly nodded.

But she still felt angry.

She wrapped her arms around Sean's waist, leaned her head against his chest, and muttered, "I'm still not happy! Thinking of someone eyeballing you like this in this situation, I really... really can't wait to kill Eaton!"

All of this was caused by that bastard Eaton!

Killing him was a bit easy on him! Hearing her jealous tone, Sean was very happy, and said in agreement, "If possible, I'll help you."

He also wanted to kill that scumbag, Eaton.

Of course, Molly was only speaking in anger. Eaton had to be kept alive now.

But she couldn't swallow her anger after all.

She tightened her grip on Sean's waist, and said very possessively, "You can only be mine. No one can hit on you!"

Hearing her words, Sean felt that his heart seemed to be filled with everything.

He bowed his head, kissed her hair, and comforted her softly, "Well, I will always be yours."

Molly added, "Until the cure is complete, don't see Kara again..."

Sean responded with a good temper, "Okay, I will listen to you!"

He never wanted to see that woman again.

He had felt offended and disgusted by what Kara had said.

He didn't want to hear it for the second time! Molly was satisfied with this.

She was worried at the same time. If this happened to Kara, what about Sean?

Would he be affected?

No, she would never allow this to happen!

Chapter 1516-This incident brought Molly a sense of urgency.

The Love Curse must be removed quickly.

So she asked, "Sean, can you act as soon as possible?"

"What?" Sean was puzzled.

"Sneak into the base to find the antidote. If possible, it's best to ask Mr. Ballard to come over secretly. I will help you remove the Venomous Insect in your body as soon as possible."

Sensing her anxiety, Sean nodded gently, "Okay, I'll deal with it as soon as possible."

Molly knew that such a request would put him under a lot of pressure, so she said apologetically, "I'm sorry. I know you have a lot to plan, but this one is imminent."

Before she could finish her sentence, Sean interrupted with a smile, "You know my top priority is always you, and I know how you feel. I'm happy that you're so worried about me. There's no need to apologize."

Hearing his words, Molly was moved.

Sean understood her.

She couldn't help but hug him again.

They hugged each other silently for a while. Molly let go of her hands, and said softly, "I'll call Mr. Ballard."

Sean nodded.

The phone was answered quickly, and Mr. Ballard's thick voice came from the other end of the phone, "Molly, what's the matter?"

Molly told him the situation of Kara in detail.

After hearing this, Mr. Ballard was silent for a long time before speaking again, "Molly, since Kara is like this, Sean might be affected soon." His tone was very serious.

This was something no one wanted to happen. Molly had been upset. When she heard him say that, she felt worse and said quickly, "Mr. Ballard, please help me."

Hearing her pleading tone, Mr. Ballard couldn't help feeling sorry for her, 'Molly, don't worry. I will help you. I will be there soon."

"Okay." Molly gripped her phone tightly.

The only one who could help her now was Mr. Ballard.

"Also, while I'm on my way, you can develop some medicine first, and give it to Sean during detoxification when needed."

"What kind of medicine do we need?"

"It's the medicine to prevent Sean's body from being depleted. I'll send you the list later."

As soon as Molly heard that it was related to Sean, she responded immediately, "Okay, I understand."

After hanging up the phone, Molly told Sean that she was going to stay there to study something and asked him to go back first.

“Okay, I’ll pick you up tonight.” Sean kissed her forehead and then left with Tony.

In the entire underground lab, apart from her being a doctor, there was also Edmund. Maybe he could help her.

Thinking of this, Molly found Edmund, and said directly, “Since you’re here, please help me. I need to prepare some potions, and I need your help.”

Edmund just raised his eyebrows, and he didn’t refuse, “Okay, I’m idle anyway.”

Molly glanced at him, “Then come with me.”

They entered the research room together. Molly printed out a list and handed it to Edmund.

Edmund took a look and blurted out in shock, “You know the solution to Venomous Insect? And the information is so complete! Who on earth are you?”

“Well, I’m just a doctor.” Molly put on a mask and gloves, and continued in a flat tone, “Stop talking nonsense and move quickly.”

Edmund couldn’t help but frown when he saw her turn her head and go down to work. He felt a little upset.

He was well-known in the medical field. How could he be told to do things here instead?

He was complaining in his heart. But seeing how serious she was, he didn’t neglect her in the slightest and quickly got down to work too.

Chapter 1517-In the following time, Molly devoted herself to research.

Needless to say, Edmund was indeed a professional.

With his help, the whole process was much easier.

Molly was so busy working that she completely lost track of time. She didn't realize it was already night until Sean came over.

"Hey..." Seeing the tiredness on her face, Sean felt sorry and helpless. He couldn't bear to complain about her, so he could only persuade softly, "Time to call it a day. Let's continue tomorrow."

Molly smiled, "Okay."

She thanked Edmund before going home with Sean.

Back home, they had dinner together and then went back to the bedroom.

After Molly took a shower and came out of the bathroom, she saw Sean, who had already taken a shower in the guest room, leaning against the head of the bed.

Seeing her come out, Sean waved at her, signaling her to go over.

Molly walked over and sat beside him.

Sean took the towel in her hand and gently wiped her wet hair.

The room was quiet.

After a while, Sean said in a deep voice, "I plan to rescue Logan at the end of the month before proceeding to the next step."

Molly turned her head, looked into his dark and deep eyes, and frowned, "Will it take that long?"

She secretly wished it could be faster.

Sean knew what she was thinking. He thought for a moment, and slowly explained, "There is a purpose in doing this. One is that Logan's disappearance will cause the base to fall into chaos, and then a large number of people will be sent to patrol outside."

"That's true." Molly pondered for a while and agreed.

She hadn't thought of it.

Sean continued, "Also, I'm planning to use the identities of Eaton and Jackson to sneak into the base."

Molly was puzzled, "How to do it?"

Sean held her hand, and smiled, "We've captured these two people now, and it's impossible to let them go back. So we will use their identities to get the antidote."

After Molly heard this, she naturally had no objection.

This matter was originally caused by those two bastards, so it was okay to take advantage of them.

But didn't you ask Edmund about the way to enter the base? That method is no longer needed?"

"It is still needed." The smile on Sean's face deepened a bit, "I said that we should have two strings to our bow. Utilizing the identities of Eaton and Jackson is one of them. The other is to send someone to sneak in from the abandoned drain and interfere with the people inside to divert their attention."

"Oh..." Molly suddenly realized something, "Diversion! It's a good strategy."

She raised her eyes to look at Sean and said with a smile, " Sean, you are smart and calm. If it were me, I would not know what to do."

"Well, you have never dealt with these people, nor have you encountered such a thing... Besides, there is nothing wrong with making the best use of everything. The two bastards Eaton and Jackson are not worthless."

Molly nodded. She leaned over, put her arms around his neck, and said with a smile, "Anyway, I admire you."

Sean was taken aback. Looking at the warm and fragrant girl in his arms, he wrapped his arm around her waist, bowed his head, and lightly kissed her lips.

Molly's heart trembled. She turned passive into active and kissed him directly.

A look of joy flashed across Sean's eyes. He slowly tightened his grip on her waist and deepened the kiss.

The kiss was extremely loving and sweet.

The atmosphere was charming and seductive in the room.

Molly was gently laid down on the bed, and Sean put his hands on both sides of her head.

They looked at each other.

Their eyes were full of love for each other

Chapter 1518-Molly and Edmund spent the next few days preparing the medicine in the underground base.

Seeing her skillful and neat operations, Edmund secretly marveled in his heart.

He had thought she was eye candy. But after cooperating with her for days, he admitted she was more capable than him.

Sure enough, he should not have judged a book by its cover. But he was still curious about who she was. Why had he never heard of her in the medical field?

Noticing his gaze, Molly turned to look at him, raised her eyebrows, and asked, "What's the matter?"

Hearing her words, Edmund returned to his senses and embarrassedly smiled, "Nothing. I just think you're amazing."

Molly responded with a smile, "You're also a good doctor."

Then, she pretended to be casual and asked, "By the way, why did they catch you?"

He immediately showed a gloomy look and sullenly replied, "I was tricked here."

Molly slightly frowned, "How?"

"I met a friend at an academic seminar, and he told me a good medical research project required talents like me. As a doctor, I could not resist such an offer, so..."

Edmund paused, curled his lips, and continued, "I was tricked into coming here."

The corners of Molly's eyes twitched because she did not know how to recommend. How could he believe such words? What a gullible man!

However, she didn't speak her mind but comforted him with a smile, saying, "Maybe it's a blessing in disguise! Anyway, you've escaped."

Edmund nodded, "You're right. And I will never go back to that bloody place again."

"You can't go back even if you want to. It will be destroyed sooner or later," Molly murmured.

Edmund couldn't hear her words, so he asked in confusion, "What did you say?"

She smiled, "Nothing. Let's go on working."

"OK," Edmund nodded and got back to work without any doubts.

The progress of the medicine preparation had gone on smoothly these days because of their hard work. But Kara had requested to see Sean a few times by making a scene.

Now, she leaned on the door and yelled, "Molly, why don't you let me meet Mr.

Anderson? Are you trying to steal him from me?"

Molly had tried to fight back her anger at first because it was meaningless to argue with such a person.

But Kara was going too far and talked about "Mr. Anderson" all the time, pissing Molly off. So, Molly walked to her room and sneered outside the door, "Kara, listen! Sean has never belonged to you! He is mine! I don't care what influenced you. I don't allow people to covet my man! Restrain yourself! Otherwise, when his Venomous Insect is resolved, I will feed you three other Venomous Insects in one go."

Hearing this, Edmund was startled and sighed inwardly, 'Damn, I knew it! She is also a total badass!' Kara was also scared. After all, she was under Molly's control now. If she angers her more, she might feed her three Venomous Insects for real. So, she soon quieted down and stopped saying arrogant words.

Seeing this, Molly coldly smiled and left with a gloomy face.

When she returned to the residence at night, Sean keenly sensed she was in a bad mood, so he asked with concern, "What's wrong?"

"It's Kara's fault!"

Molly angrily bit her lower lip and told him everything.

Hearing her words, he kept silent for a while before saying, "I remember you drugged Beth with dumb pills last time. Give me some."

"Dumb pills?"

Molly was stunned to hear his words. Soon, she realized what he meant and asked, "Do you want to..."

Sean didn't deny it but said, "I'll ask Tony to do it to create a quiet environment for you."

Molly was not sure whether it was proper to do so but still gave some to him after hesitating for a while.

It was the critical time to develop the medicine now, so she did not want to be affected by Kara.

Tony went to the underground base at night. Seeing him feeding Kara the medicine, Edmund curiously asked, "What is that?"

Chapter 1519-ing it to solve the problem.

The next day, Molly went to meet Lesley instead of going to the underground lab. Today was the end of the month, so Logan would come out.

As soon as entering the coffee shop, she saw Lesley sitting at the bar. After walking closer, she found her absentminded.

Molly softly called, "Lesley."

Hearing her voice, Lesley turned her head back. Seeing Molly, she smiled, "What brought you here?"

Molly walked over with her hands behind her back and replied with a grin, "I came to see you."

Lesley got up and asked, "What would you like to drink?"

"Everything will be fine," Molly smiled, walked to a quiet corner, and sat down to wait for her.

After a while, Lesley came over with a cup of coffee.

"Thank you, Lesley."

Molly took a sip of coffee, looked around, and smiled, "There are few customers today."

"Yes."

Lesley remained silent for a few seconds and said, "I've booked a table in the restaurant according to Sean's requirements."

Hearing this, Molly put down the coffee. When she inadvertently saw Lesley's hands tightly clasping together, she knew she was nervous. After all, the plan today was dangerous.

Thinking of this, she smiled, reached out to hold her hands, and softly comforted her, saying, "Lesley, please trust Sean. Everything will be fine. And Logan will return to you safely."

Looking into her clear eyes, Lesley gradually calmed down.

“Ok, I know,” she nodded with a smile.

So far, she had no choice but to trust Mr. Anderson.

Then, Molly stayed with Lesley in the coffee shop. The people from the base were still strictly patrolling back and forth outside. But the coffee shop was peaceful.

In the evening, Lesley closed the shop early. After saying goodbye to Molly, she drove to the restaurant where she had made a reservation.

The restaurant was famous on the small island. It was by the sea, and behind it was a cliff.

It had a wide view during the day. And people could see the boundless sea there. At night, when the lights of the coastline went on, it became quite romantic.

Under the guidance of the waiter, Lesley sat down at the table she had reserved. It was beside the window, so she could see the sea not far away as long as she turned her head. After ordering a glass of water, she quietly waited.

Meanwhile, Molly and Sean also arrived at the restaurant.

They pretended not to know Lesley and chose a table not far from her in the corner.

Molly looked around, feeling a little nervous. Seeing this, Sean couldn't help laughing, “Eat. The food of this restaurant is pretty good.”

Hearing this, Molly turned to look at him. He looked as if he had come here to have a date with her, so she was amused and asked, “Why don't you feel nervous at all?”

Sean raised his eyebrows and lightly said, "It's not necessary. Besides, the more natural we look, the better. Otherwise, we will be exposed."

While speaking, he forked a piece of steak and put it in front of her mouth.

Looking at him, Molly smiled and opened her mouth to eat the steak. He then wiped the sauce off the corner of her mouth.

When they were flirting, they heard footsteps outside. Molly looked over and saw a base patrol and a young man. The man was slender and had a height of around 6 feet. He was wearing a pair of gold-rimmed glasses, looking elegant and gentle.

Chapter 1520-Molly guessed that this should be Logan.

As expected, the next second, Lesley, who was sitting by the window, suddenly stood up.

Her expression was full of excitement, happiness, and deep concern.

Soon, Logan came to Lesley and said softly with a slight smile on his face, "Lesley..."

Without saying a word, Lesley rushed over and hugged him. Logan caught her, hugged her tightly, and smiled silently.

However, from his expression, it could be seen that he had also missed Lesley very much. Seeing this scene, Molly couldn't help thinking about the time when she was forced to separate from Sean because of Eaton.

She could relate to such pain of separation.

Seeing the two of them like this at the moment, she couldn't help feeling emotional.

“Those behind are annoying!” She gritted her teeth, glared at the inspectors of the research base, and said in an angry tone, poking the steak on the plate with a fork in her hand. Sean was amused. He raised his hand to hold her hand, and said in a low voice, “Don’t be angry. I’ll deal with them later. They won’t annoy you for long! Eat quickly. Don’t waste the food, or you will be hungry tonight.”

“Okay.” Molly nodded, but the anger in her heart subsided slightly.

After Lesley and Logan hugged each other for a while, they finally let go. Lesley pulled Logan to the table, and said with a smile, “It’s hard to get a reservation at this restaurant. I specially ordered your favorite food. I hope you have a good time tonight.”

“Okay,” Logan responded with a smile and took a seat opposite her.

The food here was exquisite and delicious, and the atmosphere was very warm and romantic. The two hadn’t seen each other for a long time, so they enjoyed the feeling of intimacy.

As for the research base guards followed on the side, usually Lesley would just ignore them.

But tonight...

“It’s rare to come to such a good restaurant. I reserved a few more seats. If you don’t mind, just sit down and have some dinner! The table is just next to ours, and it won’t delay your work.”

Several people from the research base hesitated after they heard this.

They were on duty and they could not leave their duties without authorization.

But this restaurant was indeed good.

It was a bit of a loss not to take the opportunity to eat!

Lesley knew their worries, and said lightly, "There is only one exit from this restaurant, and behind it is the seaside cliff. There is no back door!"

After the leader heard this, he immediately winked at his subordinates and motioned them to check.

The subordinates nodded and immediately looked around the restaurant.

A few minutes later, they came back and reported, "There is indeed no other exit."

After hearing this, the leader said calmly, "In this case, let's sit down."

Soon, several people were seated, and the waiter brought the dinner.

They didn't have dinner immediately, but checked the food first, and then started to eat after confirming that there was nothing wrong with it. Seeing this scene, Logan subconsciously glanced at Lesley.

Although Lesley looked natural, he still sensed something was wrong.

Lesley hated the people at the base so much. How could she invite them to dinner?

What was she going to do? Logan was wondering when Lesley suddenly raised her eyes and looked at him.

It was a very light look, but he saw something unusual in it. At this time, for Molly and Sean, the dinner was going on fairly well.

When it was almost done, Molly asked, "When shall we act?"

Sean said, "When we leave after dinner and pass by the two of them later, pretend to fall. Can you do it?"

Molly raised her eyebrows slightly and smiled, "Of course!"
