

Triplets On SM 1521

Chapter 1521-“Let’s see what you can do,” Sean said lovingly.

A few minutes later, the two finished dinner, ready to leave.

When they walked past Lesley and Logan, Molly, wearing high-heeled shoes, suddenly sprained her ankle.

She screamed and lost her balance. To keep her steady, she had to put her hand on the table but inadvertently knocked the wine glass over.

Bright red wine immediately fell on Logan’s pants.

He sprang up in a little shock.

Sean went up and held Molly, pulling her to him.

The noise attracted the attention of many people, including those few patrol officers nearby.

They immediately looked over vigilantly!

Molly said apologetically, “Sorry, sorry, I carelessly fell and knocked your wine over, but I didn’t mean to. I’m sorry!”

Logan frowned, but before he could say anything, Lesley rose and said, “It doesn’t matter. We can just clean it off in a while. Balancing on high heels is hard, right? I know that.”

“Yeah!” Molly nodded repeatedly and apologized again, “I’m really sorry. I’ll pay for your pants, okay?”

Logan said mildly, "It's okay. They are not expensive. They can still be worn after being washed."

"Clean them with this, if you don't mind."

Sean handed over a clean handkerchief.

Logan took it and spread it, ready to clean his pants.

But he felt something with his hand. There seemed to be something in the handkerchief.

Slightly stunned, he looked up at the man and woman.

Sean glanced into his eyes, then said to Molly, "I might as well take your hand lest you fall again and hit someone."

"Okay."

Molly nodded and gave him her hand.

Sean took it and soon left with her.

The personnel from the research base didn't find anything unusual, but when Logan was to go to the restroom to clean himself, they sent someone to follow him.

When he came to the restroom door, Logan said, "My pants are a mess, so I have to take them off and clean them. Then you don't have to follow me, do you?"

The patrol officer paused and said, "I'll guard the door. Be quick."

"Got it," Logan replied coldly, closing the door.

Once inside, he turned on the faucet to pretend to clean his pants before unwrapping the handkerchief.

The handkerchief, looking to have been processed, had two layers, which seemed to have been sewn up on purpose.

Inside the interlayer was a note.

His heart pounding, Logan instantly took it out and began to look...

Outside the restaurant, Molly asked Sean nervously in the car, "I didn't show loopholes in that performance, did I?"

"No, you didn't. If you go to the showbiz, you'll be among the best actresses,"

Sean joked.

Amused, Molly hit him playfully. "Don't make fun of me. I was so nervous just now."

"I'm serious. You did a really good job. Didn't you see how those guys got suckered?"

Sean rubbed her hair and comforted her.

Molly agreed and was finally relieved.

"Now we've accomplished the mission. When should we take action then?"

Sean checked the time on his watch and said, "Be patient. It's just been an hour.

When Logan is about to go back, it won't be late to move! Our men are all at the ready."

Molly nodded and said worriedly, "I hope this can go smoothly. I don't want to see anything unpleasant happen!" Sean pinched her face and said gently, "Trust me. Nothing bad will happen."

Chapter 1522-Of course, she trusted him.

Molly nodded with a smile. Then the two stopped talking and looked at the door of the restaurant.

A few minutes later, Lesley and Logan came out.

"Let's take a walk."

Logan stared at Lesley with a smile, the tenderness in his eyes almost spilling over.

He could only see her once a month, so he wanted to cherish every moment they were together.

Lesley nodded and said, "Okay!"

They looked at each other, laughing. With their fingers interlocked, they strolled down the flagstone street, chatting about the interesting stories that had happened in their lives during this period.

An evening breeze came with the salty smell of the sea.

The minutes ticked by. Soon the time for them being together was over.

Lesley felt that her steps were much heavier than they had been in the beginning. She held his hand more tightly.

She didn't want to part with him.

Logan suddenly stopped.

“Why not keep moving?” Lesley looked at him in confusion.

“Lesley.”

“Yes, I’m here.”

They looked at each other.

Logan’s eyes were very deep as if they were the dark sea a short distance away.

Lesley bit her lower lip, her eyes exposing a hint of sadness inadvertently.

“Lesley.” Logan continued, “You’ve suffered over the years since you were with me. I wanted to give you a beautiful future, but I found it very hard to achieve it in this life.”

As he spoke, he became a little sad.

Lesley frowned hard and asked anxiously, “What do you mean, Logan? What do you mean by ‘very hard to achieve it in this life’?”

Logan was silent for a long time before saying, “I’ll be transferred somewhere else next month. Then...”

When it came to this, he smiled wryly and looked up at the dark sky.

“I’m afraid I’ll have to forget you again.”

The faint voice was tinged with unwillingness and guilt.

He didn't want to forget her anymore.

Transferred somewhere else?

Lesley froze for a moment but then realized what he meant. She shook her head and said, "It doesn't matter. We've gone through all the past difficulties, and we'll also overcome this, rt "No, Lesley, I don't want you to suffer again." Logan held her shoulders, looked down at her deeply, and continued, "Let's break off our engagement."

"Break off our engagement" was like a bolt from the blue.

Lesley was stunned, her mind blank.

"No...I don't want to..."

She shook her head, her vision getting blurred. "Logan, I don't care about all this. If you forget me once, I'll try to win your love. If you forget me again, I'll try to make you love me again."

As she spoke, her tears ran down.

Seeing her crying, Logan had unbearable pain. He wanted to hold her tightly in his arms, but when he thought of his condition, he had to harden his heart. He said, "But I don't want this. I don't want you to bear all this alone, and I can't bear myself being like this-imprisoned for a whole life."

"Logan..."

Biting her lips, Lesley shook her head madly.

"Lesley." Logan smiled, but the look in his eyes was sad. "I want to end all this."

When he spoke this, his face was filled with despair.

Before Lesley could realize it, he let go of her and gazed gently at her, slowly backing up.

Behind him was a cliff by the sea.

A man following them from the research base realized something bad would happen. He immediately shouted, "What are you gonna do, Logan?"

Ignoring him, Logan only smiled at Lesley and whispered, "Bye, Lesley!"

Then he turned and jumped.

"Logan--"

Lesley screamed, rushing up to stop him, but it was too late. She could only watch him jump off the cliff, falling into the sea.

Chapter 1523-Shocked, the man from the research base was also going to rush up to stop Logan.

But it was too late.

Logan fell into the sea.

"Ah--"

Molly, who witnessed this in the car not far away, was so frightened that she almost jumped up from her seat.

Fortunately, Sean took her hand in time.

“He... he...”

Molly turned to look at him and said in a panic, “He’ll be fine, right?”

Although she had known this would happen, she was panicky.

She took a deep breath to calm down and asked, “Will he really be fine to have jumped down without protection?”

“Yes.”

Sean nodded but consoled her softly, “Don’t worry. Since I asked him to jump, how could I let anything happen to him? If you go outside now, all our previous efforts will be wasted for sure.”

Only then did Molly realize that she had just been too impulsive. Embarrassed, she touched her forehead and said, “I was worried! But I trust you.”

He was always prudent. He must have arranged everything properly before he asked Logan to jump.

But Lesley was still screaming like crazy at the edge of the cliff, “Logan, Logan...”

Her tears flooded down.

She felt a pain that was too great to bear.

“Why stand here like statues? Go rescue him, quickly!” she shouted to the patrol officers from the research base.

Realizing the seriousness of the matter, they immediately contacted the base and told them the situation.

What the base said was unknown, but the man calling the base turned grumpy.

“Send men here to rescue him as soon as possible. We’ll try our best to look for him.”

After that, the man hung up and ordered someone to bring him a flashlight.

He searched the foot of the cliff with it, but only saw darkness. He could only hear the waves beating against the rocks. If a person jumped down, no sound would be heard.

Molly watched quietly and frowned slightly. “They won’t find him, will they?”

“No, they won’t.”

Sean held her hand and chuckled helplessly, “I realize that you don’t seem to really trust me, do you?”

“I trust you.”

Molly pursed her lips and said, “But they may find him when they have more hands. I’m a little worried.”

Sean laughed, “Don’t worry. Even if they dive into the sea, they can’t find him.”

As he spoke, he looked to the personnel from the base on the cliff, his eyes full of ridicule.

About half an hour later, the rescue team from the research base came. They were 20-30 strong!

Logan was very important to the base. Of course, they won’t stand and watch him missing.

If he was alive, they would find him. If he was dead, they shall see his corpse.

They searched on a large scale but ignored Lesley, who had cried to the point of breaking down.

Molly felt so sorry for her, but couldn't get out of the car to comfort her. Instead, she could only watch.

Suddenly, a phone rang in the quiet car.

Molly turned to look at Sean and saw him glance at the caller ID and smile, "It's Tony."

As soon as his call was answered, Tony couldn't wait to say, "Sir, it's all done."

His voice sounded excited and happy even on the phone.

Hearing the news, Molly, who had been worried, was finally relieved.

"Okay, then you get him settled in. I'm going back right now."

After hanging up, Sean raised his brows at Molly and said, "Now you can be completely relieved, can't you?"

Molly immediately held his arm and rested her head on his shoulder lovingly.

"Since you're around, I'm not worried at all. If Sean smiled dotingly, "Let's go back then."

Chapter 1524-Learning that it was all done, Molly and Sean immediately came to Tony's place.

"Sir, madam."

It was Tony who opened the door.

“Where’s he?” Molly couldn’t wait to ask.

“He’s inside.”

Then they began walking inside and immediately saw the young man standing in the living room.

As soon as he saw the couple, the man asked anxiously, “What has been really going on?”

“Logan, don’t worry. We’re Lesley’s friends. I’m Molly, Mr. Jordan Ballard’s student.”

Molly told him who she was and then introduced Sean, “He’s Sean Anderson, my husband.”

“What?” Logan, who didn’t expect this matter even had connections with Mr.

Ballard, was baffled.

Molly briefly explained her relationship with Mr. Ballard and told him all the things that had happened on the island since her landing.

In the end, she concluded, “So we put on a show to save you tonight.

Pretending to bump into you at the restaurant to hand the note was also a part of the plan. We were a little worried you would back off!”

Logan was astonished for a long time.

He finally knew what had been going on and smiled wryly.

“What a plan! When I jumped, I was wondering if I could come back.”

No doubt, this plan was quite risky.

But he trusted them at that time.

Seeing through his thoughts, Molly said with a smile, “Only by doing so can we let the research base believe you’re ‘dead ‘! But you were really brave when you jumped desperately.”

She was sincere.

Logan jumped without protection only after reading their note.

The cliff was high with sharp rocks at its foot. If anything had gone wrong, he would have died.

At this point, Tony said, “We installed a safety net seven or eight meters beneath the cliff. It could stop him from falling too fast, and we had also moored a boat down there. As soon as we saved him, we left.”

Of course, this was the news after the man was saved and taken back.

“You were really brave, Mr. Ballard.”

Tony couldn’t help but praise Logan.

Logan smiled with embarrassment, “Thanks for your arrangement. Otherwise, how could I stand here talking to you?”

“By the way.” Molly looked at Sean and asked, “Will that leave any traces?”

Sean frowned and said, "No. The tide rises at this time.

When it falls tomorrow, everything will be gone."

"That's great."

Relieved, Molly began smiling again. She said to Logan," Congratulations on your freedom."

"Thank you."

Logan bowed to thank her and Sean, but then asked, "What about Lesley?

When can she come over?"

Having seen him jump off the cliff, she must be very worried.

Thinking of this, Logan became serious subconsciously.

Sean knew his feelings, but had to solemnly say, "Now it is not time. We should show them a complete drama. You'd better not see each other in a few days."

Logan frowned deeply.

"We have to let the research base believe you're really dead, so you and Lesley will have to wait a while."

Sean patted him on the shoulder.

Logan nodded and said, "I know."

They saved him. Although he worried about Lesley very much, he had to take the overall situation into account.

Then they chatted for a little more while. Only after that did Molly and Sean leave.

That night, Molly tossed and turned in bed, unable to sleep.

"Worrying about Lesley?"

Sean supported his body. Seeing that she was awake with her eyes wide open, he felt a little helpless.

"Yes." Molly nodded and said, "I'm wondering what's going on with her now. Will the men from the research base bully her?"

"It's hard to tell who will be bullied!"

Sean held her in his arms, lowered his head to kiss her, and continued, 'We'll go out to ask about it tomorrow morning. If something happens, we'll react according to the situation.'

Molly nodded.

Now this was the only thing they could do.

Chapter 1525-Tony came in in the morning. He greeted Sean and Molly with respect, "Good morning, sir, madam."

"What's going on out there, Tony?" Sean asked seriously.

This was also what Molly wanted to ask.

A night had passed. She was wondering what was going on out there.

“It’s a mess out there. The news that a doctor escaped from the base a few days ago hasn’t subsided yet. And now another doctor has committed suicide by jumping into the sea. With things like this happening one after another, the people on the island become panicky and begin talking.”

Tony had been out in the morning. Now he told them all he generally knew.

“Did the base do anything?” Molly asked.

“They sent a lot of people to salvage Logan.”

Molly ridiculed, “Even if they turned the bottom of the sea over, they would not find him.”

Sean pinched her nose gently and whispered, “Now you can be relieved, can’t you?”

“Yes, but I want to visit Lesley after breakfast.”

Knowing she had been worried about Lesley all night, Sean didn’t stop her but nodded, saying, “Okay.” After breakfast, Molly asked Tony to drive her to the cliff where Logan had jumped last night.

Far in the car, she could see Lesley sitting on her knee on the ground.

Lesley had been by the seaside all night. To make her emotions look real, she had wept so hard that her throat had turned hoarse.

She had been ravaged by the sea wind for a whole night. Now, with messy hair and swollen eyes, she looked terrible.

Molly approached her and saw her appearance, feeling so sorry. She rushed up and screwed open the bottle of water, handing it to her.

“Drink some water, Lesley.”

As she spoke, she took out some tissues, ready to clean Lesley’s face.

A man from the research base noticed her. He immediately came over and questioned loudly, “Who are you?”

Molly was mentally prepared. She looked up and answered calmly, “I’m a barista at the cafe. I came to see our shop owner.”

The man looked her up and down, but didn’t find anything wrong, so he let her pass.

Lesley sneaked a peek at the personnel from the research base and asked in a low voice, “Why did you come?”

“Been worried about you!”

Molly helped her go to the side and sit down. Seeing her swollen eyes, she felt sorry but was amused. “You’ve been working too hard, haven’t you?”

“How could my emotions look real without the hard work? How could I fool their eyes?”

All night, she had not had a drop of water and had been crying. Now she felt like her throat was about to burn.

She coughed lightly and whispered, “Did things go smoothly?”

“Very smoothly,” Molly answered, cleaning her face.

“That’s good.”

Lesley, who had been worried, was finally relieved. It looked like she had not been crying all night in vain.

“Don’t worry. Logan is now safe and sound, but you have to suffer.”

Hearing Molly’s words, Lesley shook her head. “This is not suffering. How could I suffer? As long as he can be freed, this is nothing.”

Overjoyed, she almost laughed.

Molly nodded but didn’t elaborate.

During the rest of the day, she had been with Lesley, who kept acting like a woman who had lost her beloved man. Without eating anything all day, she turned pale.

For a few times, Molly couldn’t bear to look at her poor appearance, asking her to eat something, but she refused.

During the day, Lesley asked the personnel from the research base many times.

“How’s the situation? Have you found him?”

Facing her hysterical questions, the personnel could only patiently ask her to quiet down and wait.

But the team from the research base still couldn’t find him even when night fell.

Then they decided to give up.

Chapter 1526-When Lesley heard that the people of the research base said that they were going to give up, she naturally wouldn't allow it. She immediately became worked up.

"Logan only jumped off because the base was constantly tormenting him! Why are you giving up so easily?" Lesley shouted at the people of the research base angrily.

Faced with her complaint, people from the research base looked at each other with blank expressions on their faces.

They look as if what happened to Logan had nothing to do with them.

This made Lesley even more angry and her voice became sharp as well. "I don't care. I want to see him, dead or alive!"

Seeing them leave, Lesley's expression changed. She immediately rushed over to stop them. "You're not allowed to leave until you find Logan!"

The people from the research base began to become impatient. The leader snorted. "What the hell do you think you're doing? He's probably in pieces by now, after falling from such a height. He might have even been eaten by the fish in the sea."

After hearing those words, Lesley just fainted.

Lesley's eyes were tightly closed and her face was extremely pale.

Although she knew that Logan was fine, Molly was still quite angry. She raised her head, glared at the people from the research base and scolded, "You guys don't care about other people's lives at all."

'They're just heartless bastards! No, calling them bastards would be an insult to bastards!' Molly exclaimed inwardly.

People from the research base just ignored them. They just wrapped things up and left.

Seeing this, Molly had no choice but to force herself to calm down. She quickly picked Lesley up and took her to the nearest clinic.

As soon as she walked in, she shouted at the top of her voice, "Where's the doctor? There's someone that needs help!"

The doctor and nurse quickly walked over after hearing those words and took Lesley to the resting area.

"Doctor, is my friend going to be alright?" Molly asked as if she was worried sick.

"Calm down, let's take a look at her first."

The doctor tried to comfort Molly and then began to perform a checkup on Lesley.

About 10 minutes later, the doctor removed his stethoscope, raised his head and looked at Molly. "Your friend was just too worked up, plus the fact that she hadn't eaten for a day, which caused her to faint."

When Molly heard those words, she quickly pretended to breathe a sigh of relief. "Thank you so much, doctor."

The doctor waved his hand. "This is my job."

He then turned around to fetch some medicine and told a nurse to give Lesley an injection.

When there were only Molly and Lesley in the emergency room, the latter opened her bright eyes. Lesley didn't look like someone who was sick at all.

She then immediately asked Molly, "My acting wasn't bad, was it?"

Molly let out a helpless smile and raised a thumb to give a compliment. "You did really well. It's a pity that you're not an actress. You were so realistic that you've even scared me."

"I felt it wasn't bad either. You did pretty well as well. You're a doctor yourself and you made it look like you knew nothing!"

The two girls smiled at each other and both felt relaxed.

Molly then gave Sean a call and told him about the situation on her side.

When Sean knew what had happened, he said gently, "I'm aware. Leave the rest to me. You can just stay by Lesley's side tonight."

"Okay." Molly nodded then hung up the phone and told Lesley what Sean said.

Lesley didn't feel any pressure at all. She just stayed in the clinic that night.

Chapter 1527-a researcher committing suicide by jumping into the ocean, a lot of rumors began going around the island after one night. Especially rumors about the base not caring about the researchers' life at all had been bubbling up.

There were even people saying that the reason that family members could only meet the researchers once a month was that some researchers had already lost their lives.

The people living on the island were mostly the base researchers' family members. When they heard such rumors they couldn't remain calm at all.

"The fact that we're only able to visit our family members once a month is already unreasonable. Now that a doctor was forced to commit suicide by jumping into the ocean, I'm not going to let something like that happen to me."

“Me too! We can’t just sit back and do nothing. We need to work together and get the research base to give us an explanation!”

“That’s right! The research base must give us an explanation! If The family members of the employees of the research base gathered together in the early morning and were all quite worked up. They took turns to express their opinions.

In the end, they decided to gather and cause a disturbance.

A large group quickly appeared outside the base and they were all shouting out their dissatisfactions.

People of the research base wanted to use force to settle this matter, but whenever they reached out, the elders from the crowd would immediately fall to the ground.

“They’re being so unreasonable! They even want to hit the elders! What the hell do they think they’re doing?”

All kinds of voices began to sound and the people from the research base couldn’t help but shout, “Be quiet!”

Things were still controllable before this shout, but the crowd began to become aggressive after hearing the shout. They all just rushed up.

There were too many people around and the scene was just in chaos.

The people from the research base had no choice but to be forced back.

For the next day, the group sat outside the research base with banners. They would occasionally shout in unison, asking the research base to give them an explanation.

On the other side, Molly, who was in the clinic, found out from other patients about what was going on outside and could roughly guess who was behind this.

After Lesley finished her injections, Molly took her home.

As soon as the two of them got home, they saw Sean.

There was also a man that none of them knew next to him as well.

Molly couldn't help but frown. Before she could say anything, the man walked up to Lesley as soon as he saw her. He quickly pulled Lesley into his arms.

Lesley was taken aback. A familiar smell filled her nose and her eyes widened.

"Logan?" she asked.

"Yes, it's me."

When the familiar voice sounded, tears trickled down her cheeks. She opened her arms and hugged him tightly.

Seeing this, Molly couldn't help but feel happy for the two of them.

She walked to Sean's side and whispered, "So it's Logan. I was wondering who it was."

Sean cocked his brows and smiled, but didn't say anything.

"Let's head upstairs. They must have a lot of things to say to each other."

Molly didn't want to be the third wheel, so she dragged Sean upstairs.

After returning to their room, Molly recalled what was happening on the island.

She cocked her brows and smiled meaningfully as she looked at Sean.

“What’s up with the rumors going around the island?”

Sean smiled and replied, “I thought you knew.”

“So it was really you who got people to spread those rumors? n As soon as Molly heard those rumors, she immediately felt that it was Sean’s doing.

“Yes and no.”

Sean pulled Molly into his arms and kissed her forehead.” It’s Tony’s doing. The goal was to cause chaos in the research base.’ “Well, they really are in chaos.” Molly laughed. “They’re definitely going to have a headache.”

Chapter 1528-Just when Molly and Sean were talking, a few hundred family members of the researchers gathered outside the research base. More kept on arriving as well.

At first, they chose to sit and protest in silence, but they didn’t expect the research base to just ignore them. The research base treated them like they were thin air, which made them desperate.

“I want to see my husband!”

“Release my wife at once...”

The crowd kept on shouting and had also totally blocked the entrance.

They even looked like they were going to charge into the research base.

“Make way!”

Someone from within the crowd held a knife in his hand and charged to the front. He then began to gesture in front of the surveillance camera.

People from the research base could see how worked up the researchers’ family members were through the surveillance cameras. They realized that things were getting out of hand, so they had no choice but to ask for instructions.

Soon, the meeting about how to calm the researchers’ family members down was held in the highest meeting room in the research base.

The person responsible for the research base, Selseey, had a dark face and his eyes were sharp. He glanced at all the senior executives around the table and squinted his eyes.” The rumors are going wild outside. Researchers’ family members have also gathered in a protest. This has a really bad effect on our research base.”

Everyone just looked at each other and none of them looked happy.

“Have any of you got any suggestions for what we should do to solve the current matter?”

As soon as Selseey finished speaking, someone suggested,” We can just use force. If we use force, I don’t believe that they would dare to continue the protest.”

“That won’t do.” Someone else had something else in mind.” If we use force, then the researchers inside the base would definitely start a riot. The results could be catastrophic.”

“What do you think we should do then? We can’t just let those people do what they want just like that.”

“I don’t agree with using force no matter what.”

Instantly, the people present were split in two. One side wanted to use force to solve the matter and the other disagreed to using force.

Both sides were arguing non-stop and the whole meeting room was in an uproar.

In the end, Selseey had to take action to stop them and proposed his idea.

“Since we can’t use force, then we can just give the family members what they want.”

As soon as he finished speaking, the people present were shocked.

“Would that be inappropriate?”

If they really gave the family members what they wanted, then things would be even harder to control in the future.

“I have an idea,” said Selseey. “We can allow the doctors to take breaks in groups and extend their breaks to a day.”

When everyone heard those words, they all nodded in agreement after giving it some thought.

“This could be a way to calm the family members down.”

“Then we’ll do as you say.”

All the senior executives nodded in agreement.

Therefore, Selseey immediately made the arrangements and told them to arrange the doctors’ breaks.

After the end of the meeting, Selseey asked his assistant, "You really can't find Logan anymore?"

The assistant replied respectfully, "We still have men searching for his body in secret, but he's most likely already dead."

After hearing those words, Selseey squinted his eyes and said, "I kept having the feeling that this matter isn't as simple as it looks. Also, I feel like something big is going to happen."

He furrowed his brows and thought for a moment before turning to his assistant.

"Send someone to keep an eye on Lesley. Report to me as soon as you see something unusual, n "Okay."

The assistant left in a hurry after receiving his order.

On the other side, after Lesley had spent some alone time with Logan, someone came and took Logan away.

Lesley was unwilling to be separated from Logan and wanted to stop him from being taken away.

Sean showed up just in time and said, "Since we're putting on an act, then we have to make sure the act keeps going. It's best that you go to the entrance of the research base for the next few days demanding to see Logan."

Lesley was a smart person. She immediately understood what Sean meant. "No problem."

Chapter 1529-ir house, Sean noticed that Logan looked like he had something on his mind. He could roughly guess what Logan was worried about.

Therefore, he turned to Logan and said, 'Til send someone to protect Lesley."

When Logan heard those words, he quickly expressed his gratitude. "Thank you so much."

"You're welcome." Sean's lips curved into a smile and continued, "I'll arrange for you to go into the underground lab."

"Okay." Logan had no problems with that.

Then, Sean called for Tony to come over to lead Logan away.

Only after they had left did Molly ask, "Now that we've gotten Logan out, when are we infiltrating the base to get the antidote?"

She had not asked this question for the past few days because she was worried about Lesley.

However, now that Lesley and Logan were reunited, then they would need to start thinking about getting the antidote.

Knowing that Molly was desperate, Sean replied softly, "Well do it tonight."

"Tonight?" Molly was a little surprised.

Sean nodded. "That's right, tonight. They're in chaos at the moment and their security is spread thin. We've already made an entrance and can sneak in at any time."

There were a lot of researchers' family members outside the base, so they would have no time to keep an eye on the base. There would definitely be flaws in the security.

This would be a good chance to get the antidote.

After giving it some thought, Molly asked, "Are you going in person?"

The other party might be a little caught up with something else, but the mission was still filled with danger.

Sean smiled. "No. I'll be at home. I don't need to go in person for such matters."

He reached out and wrapped his arms around Molly's waist as he continued, "I'll keep you company at home."

After hearing those words, Molly immediately breathed a sigh of relief and smiled. "Okay. Then let's wait for the good news at home together."

On the night of the same day.

Four figures who were wearing the patrol uniform of the research base silently infiltrated the research base via the abandoned sewers.

Just like what Edmund had said, the patrol officers' building was right next to the sewers.

The four of them watched the movements of their surroundings.

Sean was right. In order to keep order outside the research base, the security inside had become very sloppy.

"Master is sick. He's right about everything."

The people who were sent for this mission were, Blackrose, Alkaid, Phecda and Megrez.

The person who just spoke was Alkaid. Even in the dim light, one could still see her bright and sparkling eyes.

"Be quiet. Don't let anyone spot us," said Blackrose.

She then looked at their surroundings with a serious face. When she was sure that no one was around, she waved her hand to signal them to continue to head towards No. 46 Research Lab.

They did their best to avoid people from the research base on their way there.

Due to the uniforms they were wearing, they weren't suspected at all.

Everything was going very smoothly.

"The mission's quite simple this time," Alkaid mumbled quietly.

She was worried that if they were spotted there would be a fierce battle.

However, things seemed easy so far.

Sometimes, one's worst fears would come true.

Just when they were approaching No. 46 Research Lab, a voice suddenly sounded behind them.

"Hey, you four. What are you doing here?"

Hearing that voice, the four of them had no choice but to stop.

Blackrose gave Alkaid a sideways glare. She felt that Alkaid had spoken too soon.

Alkaid stuck out her tongue. She had no idea such a thing would happen.

Chapter 1530-The sudden sound frightened Blackrose and the others. Their expressions changed a little.

They only turned around after they calmed themselves a little and looked at the source of the sound.

That was when they saw a big burly man, who looked quite angry, advancing on them.

He had a badge on his chest. Blackrose squinted her eyes. She couldn't read the badge that clearly, but the man seemed to be a senior officer.

The man's name was Tevik.

"Why are you guys here?"

Tevik walked up to the four of them and began sizing them up and down.

Blackrose replied calmly, "We're on patrol and came from over there. We're planning on taking a look there."

She pointed in a random direction.

"Oh?" The man didn't seem to believe her. He squinted his eyes and said in a cold voice, "Research labs after No. 45 can only be accessed by authorized personnel. Show me your IDs." 'Our IDs?' Blackrose and the others were all taken aback.

They didn't think they would need ID when they came here.

This wasn't good news for them.

Where the hell could they get IDs at this time?

Seeing that the four of them were not providing their IDs, Tevik repeated, "Show me your IDs right now!"

Blackrose looked at each other.

Since they didn't have any ID, they were planning on taking care of Tevik.

"You..."

Tevik felt that something was wrong. He was just about to ask something, but as soon as he opened his mouth, Blackrose swung her arm and gave him a heavy whack. Tevik raised his arm to block the attack.

Alkaid and Phecda both launched their attacks as well.

Four on one. It was a piece of cake for them to take care of Tevik.

They knocked Tevik unconscious in an instant and then dragged him to somewhere not so obvious.

"What are we going to do? Even if we've taken care of him, how can we get inside No. 46 Research Lab without an ID?"

Alkaid furrowed her brows and looked at the others.

Blackrose raised her head and looked at her. She then bent down and reached out to search Tevik's body. Her eyes then suddenly lit up.

She was able to find an ID card in one of Tevik's pockets. Her red lips curved into a smile. "Looks like we're very lucky."

When Alkaid saw the card in Blackrose's hand, she was excited as well. "Quick, tie him up and let's finish what we're here to do."

The four of them quickly hid Tevik and continued towards No. 46 Research Lab.

This time, there were no other setbacks. They didn't bump into any other people of the research lab.

They soon arrived outside No. 46 Research Lab. There were no researchers inside at this hour.

Blackrose used the ID card she took from Tevik and unlocked the door to No. 46 Research Lab with ease.

"Not bad." Seeing that the door was opened, Alkaid couldn't help but feel excited.

The four quickly went inside and began looking for what they were there for.

"Hustle up, guys. We have other tasks to do later on," Blackrose urged Alkaid and the others as she began looking as well.

Alkaid pursed her lips. "Calm down, sis. We still need to be thorough. We can't really miss anything, can we?"

Blackrose couldn't help but let out a helpless smile. "Stop talking and keep on looking for what we're here for."

The four have them searched every corner of the research lab. They were very thorough.

In the end, they were able to find some unknown medicine.

"Are these what Master has been looking for?"

Alkaid looked at the containers in her hand and then at the others. She was a little hesitant.

“I’m not so sure either.”

Phecda and Megrez both shook their heads.

“If none of US are sure, then send a picture to Madam.”