

Triplets On SM 1581

Chapter 1581-Seeing three kids and an adult in the house, the leader asked, "Tell me how many people live here. Where are the others?"

He did not think the four of them were the only residents.

Tony replied calmly, "Only five people live here. The kids' mother has gone out to work. She hasn't come back yet."

"Really?"

The leader didn't believe his words and turned to let the others search the house.

Seeing them heading straight to the second floor, Tony narrowed his eyes and secretly clenched his fists. And his heart was racing.

There was no one on the second or the third floor, so he was not afraid of them searching there.

But...

The inspectors searched every room but found nothing, so they returned to the first floor. Tony let go of his fists and smiled, "There are no suspicious people here, right?"

Suddenly, an inspector ran over and said, "There's a basement."

Hearing this, the leader deliberately cast a look at Tony. But the latter maintained a smile and didn't show a trace of panic.

"I store my wines in the basement. It's OK if you want to go down to have a look," Tony said.

He didn't stop them.

After entering the basement, the inspectors checked the red wine on the racks.

One of them picked up a bottle of red wine, looked at the label, and said, "You have quite a collection of wine."

When Tony was about to speak, he suddenly heard a scream.

It was terrible!

His heart skipped a beat, but he maintained a calm face, pretending not to hear anything.

But the people from the base were not fools. The basement was quiet, so they had all heard the scream.

"Who is it?"

The leader shot a gloomy look at Tony. If he had heard it right, a woman had screamed.

Hearing the question, Tony pretended to be puzzled and asked, "What do you mean?"

Hearing this, the leader showed a gloomier face and warned, "Stop playing the fool! Tell me who screamed just now!"

Then, he said to the other inspectors, "Search this basement to see if there is a secret passage."

Tony's heart sank. But he instantly racked his brains, trying to solve the crisis.

Suddenly, there was another scream.

However, people could easily tell it was from upstairs this time. The inspectors immediately left the basement without any hesitation. Tony followed behind them with a frown, wondering why a woman was screaming upstairs.

After they got back to the first floor, the woman's screams became clearer.

When the people from the base looked over, they found the three kids watching TV in the living room. And the woman's screams were coming from the TV.

The leader sullenly asked, "What are you doing?"

The kids turned to look at him and replied in unison, "Watching a movie."

Alex noticed the leader was angry, so he tilted his head, blinked, and innocently asked, "Sir, did we disturb you?"

The leader didn't answer but looked in the direction of the basement, feeling something was wrong.

After Tony walked to the kids and looked at the woman screaming on TV, he exchanged glances with Alex and secretly breathed a sigh of relief.

Sure enough, like father like son! Fortunately, the kids were sharp-witted. If the people from the base discovered the secret room, they would get in big trouble!

Chapter 1582-The people from the base were still skeptical, so Tony stepped forward and said, "I heard the island has been in chaos recently. You must be tired! I have a good collection of wine. Please take a few bottles back if you like them."

His tone was sincere, and his face was full of flattering smiles.

Hearing this, the people from the base hesitantly exchanged glances with each other. They had seen the good wine in the basement, which was quite tempting.

However, the leader indifferently said, "Isn't it improper?"

Tony could hear he wanted the wine, so he waved his hand and generously said, "You don't need to have any concerns.

I have a lot of wine. Please wait a moment!"

Then, he turned around and went to the basement.

Seeing this, the kids hurriedly said, "We will help you."

They caught up with Tony and went to the basement with him.

The people from the base did not say anything.

In the basement, Tony moved a box over and put twenty bottles of red wine into it without looking at the labels.

Alex took a closer look, curled his lips, and said, "Those people don't deserve such good wine."

Tony thought the same, so he said, "You're right. But if we don't give them benefits, they will not leave."

After hearing this, Ben stood on tiptoe and took two bottles of wine from the rack, held them in his arms, and said in a childish voice, "If we give them benefits, things will be easier for us in the future. We should give them a few more bottles. H Claudia followed suit.

Then, the people from the base saw Tony holding a large box of red wine and the kids holding two bottles in their arms each. They had thought Tony would give them two bottles. The number was beyond their expectations, so they were shocked.

“You work hard to protect the island. These wines are just a token of my regard.”

Tony’s words were pleasing to the ear.

The people from the base didn’t refuse. Soon, they left with the wine in satisfaction.

After sending them out and watching them get in the cars, Tony returned to the house. As soon as the door closed, he let out a long sigh of relief.

And the kids also felt relieved and slumped back on the sofa. Recalling the dangerous situation just now, everyone had lingering fear.

Tony came over and touched their heads, saying, “Kids, you did a great job!”

The kids were not relaxed but turned to look in the direction of the basement, wondering how the treatment was going on.

In the basement research room, Molly was trying to persuade Kara in a gentle voice, “Hold on! The more you struggle, the more it will hurt.”

Kara was afraid of the pain, so she tried her best to prevent herself from moving. But the pain continued attacking.

Soon, she shrilly screamed and passed out.

“Kara!”

Molly was shocked to see this, feeling extremely anxious.

If Kara lost consciousness, they couldn't induce Venomous Insect out.

Molly forced herself to calm down and reported to Mr. Ballard in a trembling voice, "Master, Kara passed out!"

Mr. Ballard comforted her, saying, ' Don't panic! I know how to deal with it.'

Molly obediently took a deep breath and replied, "OK."

"Do what I say. We'll play to the score," Mr. Ballard said.

Molly nodded, "OK."

Chapter 1583-Mr. Ballard first checked Kara's condition, and then quickly named out a few acupoints.

"You stick the acupoints directly as I said. With the current situation, we should wake her up so that we can remove the Venomous Insect smoothly."

Molly took a deep breath to calm herself down, took the silver needles, and inserted them quickly and accurately into the acupoints as Mr. Ballard said.

"Um..." After a while, Kara moaned and slowly opened her eyes.

Seeing that Kara woke up, Molly finally felt relieved.

"Give her another analgesic." Mr. Ballard ordered her with a serious expression.

"But..." Molly hesitated.

After all, the effect of the last injection of analgesic had just worn off. She was afraid something would go wrong if she immediately gave Kara another one.

Seeing her thoughts, Mr. Ballard raised his hand and patted her on the shoulder, "It's okay. We developed this by ourselves, and it won't cause any harm to the body."

Now that he said that, Molly didn't hesitate anymore, and gave Kara another injection of analgesic.

Kara slowly calmed down, and the expressions on her face changed alternately again. Seeing this, Molly knew in her heart that even if the analgesic did not harm her body, its effect would be greatly reduced the second time.

"Don't think so much. As long as she doesn't move or struggle, the Venomous Insect will come out."

What Mr. Ballard said somewhat reassured Molly.

"Mr. Ballard, if you weren't here, I really wouldn't know what to do." Molly smiled wryly.

"Silly girl, you are my student and I will help you." After Mr. Ballard said that, he changed the subject, "Sean's treatment is going very well. Don't worry."

Molly nodded and said, "Mr. Ballard, thank you."

"You're welcome." Mr. Ballard warmly comforted her.

Molly observed Kara's situation with anxiety.

The clock kept ticking, and Molly felt that every second was unusually long. The movements of the Venomous Insect were not fast. After about half an hour, it finally moved upwards along the heart.

Seeing this scene, Molly couldn't help clenching her fists. She was so nervous that she held her breath.

Finally, the Venomous Insect came out of Kara's mouth.

It was a Venomous Insect the size of a little finger.

It looked very scary.

At the same time, Mr. Ballard accurately made an incision in Sean's arm. After a short while, the Venomous Insect came out of the wound.

He took advantage of the opportunity to clamp the Venomous Insect into the bottle and then bandaged Sean's wound.

Looking at the wriggling Venomous Insect in the bottle, Mr. Ballard smiled with relief.

This evil thing was finally out!

Molly could finally feel at ease.

Her nerves had been tense during the two-hour induction process.

The moment she saw the Venomous Insect come out, she relaxed.

She picked up the Venomous Insect and it was still writhing.

Suddenly, she felt a pang of nausea, and her stomach churned. Molly's face suddenly changed and she couldn't care about anything else at the moment.

She threw the Venomous Insect into the bottle, covered her mouth, and ran to the bathroom.

She rested her arms on the sink and retched for a long time.

Although she had found Venomous Insects disgusting before, she could still bear with it and see them up close. Why did she feel so disgusted this time that she wanted to vomit?

After a while, she didn't spit out anything. She stood up with difficulty, leaned against the wall, and frowned deeply.

She felt very uncomfortable.

She was even a little dizzy. She felt terrible.

Chapter 1584-Mr. Ballard and the others were quite frightened by Molly's situation, especially Sean. He almost sat up from the bed.

But he had just finished the Venomous Insect induction, and his body was weak, so he fell back.

Seeing this, Mr. Ballard quickly persuaded, "Don't move around."

Sean's face was pale, and he said, "Molly..."

"I'm going to take a look. Don't be nervous." Logan said that, turned, and went to the bathroom.

Molly was rinsing her mouth, and her pale face was reflected in the mirror.

"Are you okay?" Logan stood at the door of the bathroom, asking with concern.

Molly straightened up, glanced at him, shook her head, and said, "I'm fine. It's just that I suddenly felt sick in my stomach. It's probably because the Venomous Insect is too disgusting."

Logan chuckled, "I see. I'll go and put away the Venomous Insects first. Take a break to freshen up and come out later. Sean is a little worried about you."

"OK." Molly nodded with a smile.

Soon, Logan returned to the consulting room.

Mr. Ballard was pulling out the silver needles on Sean's body. When he saw Logan, he quickly asked, "How is it? Is Molly okay?"

"It's okay. She was disgusted by the Venomous Insect. Also, the treatment was exhausting just now. So she looks a little haggard."

He then looked at Sean, "Don't worry."

Sean was visibly relieved. He nodded and looked at the door with deep eyes.

After a short while, Molly came in.

Her face was indeed pale. But when she saw Sean, she still smiled and comforted him, "I'm fine. I just thought that Venomous Insect was a bit scary."

Then she walked over, held his palm, and said in a gentle tone, "We have succeeded. The Love Curse has been removed. You should rest well and take good care of your body. Don't worry about me."

Sean nodded and squeezed her hand tightly.

Maybe he was really tired, and he fell asleep soon.

After Mr. Ballard finished pulling out the needles, he quickly infused him with fluid.

The Venomous Insect had stayed in Sean's body for a long time and it caused some damage to his body, so he needed to rest well.

At this time, Logan had put away the Venomous Insect. He came over and said, "It's done."

Molly nodded and went to carry out follow-up treatment for Kara.

Kara had already fallen into a coma without any consciousness, and her face was pale as paper.

Compared with Sean, Kara was more seriously injured. After all, she had been infected with Mother Insect.

But Molly was not sympathetic at all.

In her opinion, Kara was one of the chief culprits who had harmed Sean. She was lucky enough to be alive now!

Edmund had watched the whole process, and he finally spoke, "Look, I said it was disgusting, but you all despised me. Dr. May also vomited. Next time, it will probably be Logan's turn."

His loud complaint made the tense atmosphere suddenly relaxed.

Logan laughed and said, "I'm not as timid as you."

Molly was also amused, "I just felt a little sick all of a sudden, but now I don't feel anything."

"Stop pretending. Just admit it if you're afraid. I won't laugh at you." Edmund made it clear that he didn't believe it.

Molly didn't explain and focused on the things she was doing.

After a few minutes, Kara's IV was finished. Molly said to Edmund, "Come and help push Kara's bed to another consulting room."

"OK." Edmund nodded and came over quickly.

Logan also came to help.

They were two big strong men and quickly pushed the bed away.

Seeing this, Molly didn't bother to follow. She turned around and came to Sean's bed.

Sean was lying quietly on the bed. His face was less cold than usual. He looked gentle and weak.

She felt so sorry for him, "I had a hard time bringing him back to health back then. Now he's like this again!"

Chapter 1585-When Mr. Ballard heard it, he patted Molly on the shoulder, and comforted her, "It's okay. He's young and he will recover soon after a good rest." He looked at Sean on the bed and then looked up at Molly's tired face.

Mr. Ballard sighed, feeling very sorry for her, "Molly, you haven't had much rest these past few days, right?"

Hearing this, Molly smiled, and said casually, "I'm all right."

The Venomous Insect of the Love Curse had been successfully removed. Her hard work these few days was worth it.

“Why can you be all right?” Mr. Ballard put on a straight face, “You felt sick in your stomach just now. Don’t ruin your health!”

Facing the rare seriousness of Mr. Ballard, Molly could only helplessly say, “Mr.

Ballard, I know. I will definitely take a rest when I am tired.”

“It’s good you know.” Mr. Ballard shook his head and said nothing more.

“Mr. Ballard, you’ve worked hard enough today. You should go take a rest.”

Molly smiled at him, “Til stay here with Sean.”

“You...” He had tried to persuade her to take a rest, but she was now persuading him instead. Mr. Ballard couldn’t help feeling amused. But he was indeed a little tired, so he didn’t refuse.

“Okay, I’m going to rest now. You need to get some sleep too.” “OK.” Molly watched Mr. Ballard walk out of the research room and then turned her gaze back to Sean.

She pulled a chair to the side of the bed, sat down, and couldn’t help reaching out to caress his cheek lovingly.

At the same time, when Mr. Ballard returned to the first floor.

The three children who had been in the living room immediately surrounded him when they saw him.

“Mr. Ballard, how is Daddy?”

“Mr. Ballard, is everything going well?”

The little faces of the three children were full of eagerness, and they asked many questions. Mr. Ballard showed a gentle smile, and replied truthfully, "Everything is going well."

"The Venomous Insect in your daddy's body has been drawn out."

"Great!" When the children heard it, they immediately cheered.

"Then let's go see Daddy and Mommy," Alex spoke first.

Ben and Claudia followed closely behind, "Okay."

With that, they were going to the basement.

"Wait." Seeing this, Mr. Ballard hurriedly stopped them, "Your parents are resting. Wait until they wake up, okay?"

The children looked at each other and nodded, "Okay."

"Daddy and Mommy must be very tired now. They should have a good rest. We are not in a hurry." Ben said to Alex and Claudia solemnly like an adult.

The three children returned to the living room and continued their game, while Mr. Ballard went upstairs to rest.

Although Molly said she was fine, it had consumed too much of her energy these past few days. At this moment, her body was showing signs of exhaustion.

She yawned several times and she found it hard to keep her eyes open. Finally, she couldn't hold it anymore and fell asleep with her head resting on the edge of the bed.

She didn't know how long she had slept before she felt a little itchy on her cheeks in a daze.

It felt like someone was touching her.

She slowly opened her sleepy eyes and saw slender and beautiful fingers.

It looked very familiar.

Oh, Sean!

She directly held that hand, sat up straight, and met a pair of smiling eyes.

“Sorry, I woke you up,” Sean said softly with a slight smile on his face.

Chapter 1586-His voice was as gentle as always.

Molly was almost moved to tears. She shook her head and said with a smile, “It doesn’t matter.”

She had thought he would sleep for a long time, but he woke up instead.

This was unexpected.

But she was really happy.

Seeing she was about to cry, Sean felt so sorry. Yet, he asked with a faked unhappy face, “What? Are you unhappy to see me wake up?”

“No, I’m happy.”

Molly sniffed hard, forcing her tears back, and changed the subject, “Do you feel anything wrong?”

As she spoke, she reached out her hand to his forehead.

“No.- Sean held her hand and said with a broader smile,” Everything is great, except that I feel a little weak.”

Molly immediately took his pulse.

His pulse beating was indeed a little weak, but everything else was all right.

After heaving a sigh of relief inwardly, she grinned, “It’s okay.

You’ll recover after a careful recuperation.”

“Got it.” Sean pushed the hair falling at the side of her cheek to the back of her ear and stared at her gently, his eyes moving around her pretty face.

He saw dark circles under her eyes.

Apparently, she had not had a good sleep.

He felt a great pain in his heart.

“You must have had a hard time these days.”

His voice was so low and so serious, showing he was terribly sorry for her.

Molly immediately shook her head. “No, I haven’t. As long as you’re all right, I haven’t had a hard time.”

Sean chuckled, his eyes full of doting affection.

“Idiot.”

He pulled her into his arms, smelled the familiar fragrance, and revealed a satisfied smile.

Molly leaned quietly against his chest and listened to his stable heart beating, inexplicably feeling that she regained something she had lost.

The Venomous Insect was finally removed.

Now she didn't have to worry he would forget her someday anymore.

Thinking of this, she held him tightly as if she was afraid he would disappear.

Lesley came in with the three kids at this time.

Seeing that, she immediately turned sideways and joked with a smile, “Looks like I came in at the wrong time.”

Molly instantly let go of Sean and asked in great surprise, “Hey, Lesley...Why are you here?”

“We are here too, mommy!” The three kids ran over.

“I know.” Molly stroked their heads and looked at Lesley again.

The latter came close and said, “Logan said the Venomous Insect was finally removed today, so I took the chance to bring something for you to eat.”

Only then did Molly realize that she had not had lunch before falling asleep.

“Mommy, come and eat, or your stomach will feel uncomfortable!” Claudia said in a childish tone.

When her eyes met the three kids’ caring eyes, Molly said okay gently as her heart turned soft.

Then she went to the side to eat the food Lesley had brought here.

And the three kids surrounded Sean.

“How’re you feeling, daddy?”

“Does it hurt, daddy? Do you feel anything uncomfortable?”

“You should take good care of your health, daddy.”

The three kids were like twittering birds, but Sean didn’t think they were noisy at all. He kept smiling and answered their questions patiently.

“I’m feeling great. It doesn’t hurt.”

After hearing that, the kids cheered, “Hooray! Please keep getting better, Daddy!

We will wait for you to take us out to play when you recover.”

Sean nodded and said, “No problem.”

Looking at this, Lesley was sincerely happy for Molly.

“Molly, all your sufferings finally paid off, after all,” she turned her head and said to Molly, who was eating.

Molly looked up and smiled at her, “Yours paid, too!”

The two of them smiled.

The hard days were finally going to end.

Chapter 1587-recovered after the treatment, she would send her away.

Anyway, she didn’t want to have any connections with this woman!

At the end of the day, Sean finally woke up again and was able to take some food.

Meanwhile, Selon came to see Sean with a piece of news.” The person of the Martial Art Union has arrived.”

Hearing that, Sean sat straight, and his eyes turned a little grim. “What’s the person’s identity?”

“I don’t know about it for now. I just know the person is a man named Ward Lopez.”

Selon told Sean what he knew.

Sean narrowed his eyes and asked, “Ward Lopez?”

“Yes. Do you know him?” Selon nodded and asked.

Sean glanced at him and nodded. “Yes, I do.”

The Grandset had gotten the name list of the leading members of the Martial Art Union.

This name was on that list.

“This man is the right hand of the Vice Chairman of the Martial Art Union with great power. It is said that he is the man who calls the shots when the Vice Chairman is absent.”

Sean’s tone was light, but his words shocked Selon.

Selon frowned with some confusion. “This island is just one of the many bases.

Does the Martial Art Union have to attach so much importance to it?”

He did feel something was wrong.

Sean also thought it was a little strange, but he could generally find some possibilities through his guesses, so he asked Logan and Edmund beside him, “You stayed in other bases previously. What kind of things did those bases develop?”

Edmund paused but then answered, “This... I can’t remember. My memories of other bases were removed, so I can’t remember.”

Logan pondered and said, “I can still remember something.

Other bases were cultivating viruses, bacteria, and things like that. Of course, they also studied chemical drugs, so they are not so different from this base.

The only difference is that... the Venomous Insect appeared here. This is what has never happened before.”

“Wait a second. Why do you remember these things so clearly? Your memories were also removed, weren’t they?”

Before the others could ask, Edmund looked at Logan with some disbelief.

Logan smiled, “I worked out ways to restore my memory, and I also got drug resistance, probably because I had taken too many medicines like that. That’s why I can remember a few things vaguely. Besides, I met Uncle Jordan a few days ago, and he is trying to test the methods of restoring my memory, so I remember more clearly than you.”

Edmund immediately became excited. “So, can memories be restored? Can my memory also be restored?”

Although it had been so long since he came to the base, he still didn’t know where he had come from or where he should be going.

He also wanted his memory restored.

Mr. Ballard patted his shoulder and pacified him, “Calm down. Testing Logan means we are still unsure if one’s memory can be fully restored. When that is confirmed, I’ll give you the antidote.”

Overjoyed, Edmund shouted “Okay” three times and said, “Mr. Ballard, you’re certainly a deity. I admire you so much.”

All the others laughed.

Chapter 1588-Returning to the main topic, Selon asked Sean, “By asking Logan this, are you suggesting that this base is different from the others?”

Sean nodded and said, “It is obviously different. I suspect that this base is cultivating the Venomous Insects in large quantities.”

Those present were all shocked.

With the Venomous Insect removed twice, everyone on site knew how hard it was to deal with it.

“I don’t think it’s possible to cultivate a lot.” Mr. Ballard expressed his view, “Because this evil thing and the related information should have been lost in history. It was already so hard for it to reappear, and cultivating it in a large amount was harder... Yet, it’s possible to cultivate a small amount. For some people, it was such a convenient tool and quite easy to use to achieve their goals. When the thing enters the human body, the person won’t feel anything.

“That Eaton poisoned Sean secretly is a good example, and being rare means great value. Then, the Martial Art Union, which has a bad behavior pattern, will never give up such a good opportunity to make money.

“So, what Sean said might be true! The base on this island might be truly cultivating the Venomous Insect.”

When Mr. Ballard finished speaking, everyone felt a chill down their spine.

Molly looked a little pale.

She had gone through the misfortunes caused by the thing, so she hated it so much. She couldn’t help but snap, “The Martial Art Union doesn’t deserve its name. Its name is so righteous, but everything it did is so dark-hearted.”

“Indeed!” Sean agreed and took her hand, comforting her.” But it doesn’t matter.

Even if Ward Lopez comes, it won’t change the fate of this island and its business.”

Seeing Sean speak in a calm and resolute tone, Molly was a little relieved.

She trusted him!

“Is there anything I can help with then?”

Selon’s expression became a little serious.

Sean glanced at him but refused, “You don’t have to get involved. This is too risky. You can’t look further into it. This is bad for you. You provided us with information time and often during this period. That’s good enough. As for the Venomous Insect, I’ll arrange for others to inquire about it.”

Selon knew Sean was not going to let him take risks, so he didn’t insist.

He was not someone impulsive. He knew when he should move forward or back up, and he also knew Sean took him as his friend.

After thinking for a moment, he said, “Since you said so, I suggest your men search research labs No. 1 to No. 5. Only the top leaders of the base have access to them. The doctors inside are all core members related to the Martial Art Union! Back then, I tried to approach them, but was stopped every time. I didn’t think that much, but now, I generally know what was going on.”

Sean nodded and said, “It’s highly possible. It seems that going to you for cooperation was a wise choice, Mr.

Shepard.”

Selon smiled, “It’s been a pleasure working with you, Mr. Anderson. I hope the subsequent destruction will be completed as planned!”

“It will,” Sean said firmly.

Then, after they chatted for a little more while, Selon left.

Seeing tiredness in his brows, Mr. Ballard didn’t disturb Sean, letting him rest.

In the end, Molly and Sean, the couple, were the only ones left behind.

Sean looked at her and gently asked, "Tired?"

Molly shook her head. "It's okay. I slept during the day. Now I'm much better."

But she looked worried.

Noticing it at first glance, Sean lifted the quilt and said, "Get in and sleep with me."

Chapter 1589-Molly didn't refuse.

The hospital bed was not big, but was enough for two adults to sleep on.

Before she climbed onto the bed, she remembered to grab Sean's medicine and helped him take it. Only then did she get on the bed and lie down.

Sean then pulled her into his arms.

Molly snuggled up to him, feeling his warmth and the familiar smell. She was so enchanted.

She sighed, "Your Venomous Insect was removed only after we overcame so much difficulty, so I thought we could enjoy peace for a few days. Unexpectedly, there's something more troublesome to face."

Hearing that with closed eyes, Sean chuckled, "Don't be afraid. I'll protect you." "I know you'll protect me, but your condition is poor now. I'm just worried that something unexpected might happen."

Knitting her beautiful brows, Molly adjusted her position and leaned closer to Sean. "Sean, tell me the truth. Is Ward Lopez very hard to deal with? He probably came with excellent fighters of the Martial Art Union this time, right?"

Sean opened his eyes and glanced at the woman in his arms.

Seeing her worried eyes, Sean pondered but told the truth, "That's a sure thing.

As the aide of the Vice Chairman, he is surely not ordinary. I guess that he is at least a martial artist and that he is probably no weaker than Blackrose in fighting."

Molly became more worried. "Can you deal with him then?"

"Yes, I can!" Sean said firmly. "I said I wouldn't take risks without certainty. Since I came to the island to see you, our men have been making deployments in secret. Ward Lopez is too weak to make waves. You really don't have to worry so much."

Seeing that Sean didn't take the man seriously, she was a little stunned.

Sean asked in confusion, "What's wrong?"

Molly blinked and smiled, "Nothing. I just thought your causal, confident expression was so handsome."

Sean curled his lips slightly up in joy.

He was definitely happy to hear his wife's praise.

He lowered his head and kissed her on the lips. "Your words are so sweet?"

"I'm telling the truth! And I'm feeling at ease."

As she spoke, Molly patted her chest.

This man was her haven and the warmest place for her to rest.

Seeing her eyes with love, Sean couldn't help but kiss her lips gently.

Both of them were in love, not in lust. They felt the sweetness of knowing each other's hearts.

Yet, after they kissed for a while, Sean was a little short of breath.

After all, his poor health didn't allow him to keep up.

"I can't continue doing this, or... I'll lose control."

Sean panted slightly, trying to ease his breathing.

Molly said with a pinkish face, "Even if you lose control, we can't do it here!"

This was a medical room. Anyway, it was unsuitable to do it here!

But Sean looked deeply at her and said with a smile, "But I think... we can try it next time."

Molly didn't know whether to laugh or cry. She was wondering why they suddenly began talking about this.

She inevitably glared at him coquettishly, "As a patient, you think too much!"

Close your eyes and sleep!"

"You sleep first. And stop thinking about the base," Sean coaxed her softly. Then he kissed her forehead and said, "Good night."

"Good night."

Molly rubbed her cheek against him and closed her eyes like a kitty.

Sleeping tight, they had a nice night.

Chapter 1590-Now in the research base.

Selseey's office was in a tense atmosphere. A group of senior leaders was standing, heads down, in a line, not even daring to breathe hard.

Especially Selseey.

He wiped away the sweat on his forehead and continued to report to Ward Lopez in the boss's chair what had recently happened in the base.

Ward's face was frighteningly dark. With a scar on his face, he looked even more ferocious.

"Now we haven't found out who intruded into the base..."

Before Selseey could finish that, Ward threw a hard kick.

This kick fell heavily on his belly, making all the onlookers gasp.

Selseey backed up two steps in pain.

“You’re useless! You’ve made large sums of undeserved money over the years.

Do you really think the Union doesn’t know about it?” Ward narrowed his eyes and coldly continued, “The Union simply turned a blind eye, but we never expected you to be so useless! You’ve made a mess of the island. The outsiders could even sneak into the base, and also damage the research lab! Maybe I can forgive you about all this, but there’re spies in the base! Selseey, are you a wastrel?”

He poked his finger hard on Selseey’s forehead, his spittle reaching the latter’s face.

The latter didn’t dare to wipe it away, but apologized profusely in the lowliest manner.

“Your accusation is correct. Because of my control and management inabilities, the situation that shouldn’t have appeared occurred.”

Ward smiled in fury and roared, “Selseey, you know it shouldn’t have appeared, but why did you let it appear?”

All the others trembled in fear.

Selseey swallowed and said, “The one who sneaked in is a great fighter.

According to my subordinate’s report, the person is at least a martial artist who is no weaker than me.”

These words made Ward angrier, and he kicked Selseey again.

“Have you found out the person’s identity?” Ward asked fiercely.

“I’m... still investigating!” Selseey covered the belly that had been kicked hard, the cold sweat on his forehead running down his cheek.

It hurt so much that his face turned a little pale.

“Investigating?” Ward raised his brows and sneered, “Which means you haven’t found anything, right?”

Selseey lowered his head, not daring to make a sound.

Then Ward’s sullen eyes swept around everyone on site and fell on Selseey’s head in the end.

Thinking of everything that had happened on the island during this period, he burned with anger and aimed a slap.

“Crack!”

The slap sounded so obvious at this time.

Some looked at Selseey with sympathy. He was absolutely the top leader on this island, but his usual imposing manner was all gone in front of the man sent by the Union.

He was like a dog that could be scolded and beaten by the person at will.

Ward clenched his fists and gritted his teeth, shouting, “You’re so stupid! You’re in charge of such a large base, but the base has been seriously infiltrated. I guess you don’t know about it, do you?”

“I...” Selseey wanted to argue.

But because of Eaton’s case, now his defense appeared unconvincing.

“The Union has rules. I suppose you know what you should face after making such a blunder, right?”

Ward patted his cheek.

As soon as he heard that, Selseey trembled, his face ashen.

As his legs gave away, he dropped to his knees.

“I know I was wrong, but I hope the Union gives me one more chance. I’ll find out all those involved to atone for my action!”