

Triplets On SM 541

Chapter 541-Sean still had to go home and exercise in the afternoon. He promised Molly, so he could not go back on his words.

Finally, it was time for him to head back home. He kept away his things and left right after.

After resting for some time, Molly came to his place as well.

“First, use the equipment that will help you walk to work on your steps. Do it slowly, and don’t rush it.” Molly walked to Sean and said faintly.

Tony then pushed Sean and the three of them to the gym room.

Sean answered, “Got it. I know my limits.”

“You can do it, boss! I believe in you!” Tony encouraged Sean.

Tony was filled with excitement as well. His boss had finally made it to this day, and he was another step closer to walking again!

When that day came, he could finally let out the insults and mockery he endured back then. He wanted everyone who looked down on his boss to see Sean walking again!

Sean held on to the equipment and moved out of his wheelchair, intending to stand.

He used up a whole lot of energy, and his forehead was covered in sweat. Even his breathing was fast.

Sean stared at his hands steadily.

He wanted to use all of his energy as a push to stand up. It was as simple as that.

A normal person could easily do it. But, for a person with a disability, they have to put in a great amount of effort.

It was unfair and disheartening.

Sean gritted his teeth. He held on to the equipment so tight that his arms started to tremble. For now, he had only left his wheelchair a little. He was not fully standing yet. In fact, he was 90 7o away from standing completely.

His body could not maintain balance and started to tremble. Tony was heartbroken to see him like that, and he wanted to go up and help him.

“Don’t. In order to stand up again, he should be the one to work for it.” Molly stopped Tony and changed his mind.

‘She’s right.’ Tony stood back and clenched his fists as he continued watching Sean anxiously.

Molly seemed calm, but it was only because as a doctor, she had to be calm.

This was for Sean to recover as soon as possible too.

Sean understood her intentions.

He swallowed all the frustration in him and turned it into a push.

Two words started to ring in his head.

‘Stand up.’ At that moment, the triplets came over and saw that Sean was trying to stand.

None of them spoke and quietly walked to their mother.

Gradually, Sean started to tremble even more. He looked just like a shaky branch that was falling off a tree at any time.

The triplets could not bear to watch it.

But, they knew that for their father to walk again, he had to go through this. Molly only had good intentions for him, and she would not do anything to hurt him.

Although they were sensible, their heart ached too.

As for Molly, she looked extremely calm on the surface, but her heart wrenched too.

Especially when Sean's body tilted a little back there, Molly stopped breathing for a second, and her eyes tensed up.

Thankfully, Sean did not fall.

Molly pursed her lips without her noticing, she had to be "heartless " and watch Sean quietly so she would not distract him.

Sean's sweat was like big droplets, and some of them even got into his eyes. His vision was blurry, and his eyes stung. But, he still held on.

After putting in his utmost effort, he finally stood up from his wheelchair.

He did it!

Chapter 542-Sean could not hide the joy on his face. His heart soared as he looked up at everyone and smiled from his heart.

The triplets could not help but cheered and ran up to Sean to clap for him. “You’re awesome, Uncle Sean!”

Molly smiled. “You did really well.

“Can you try moving your legs?” Molly asked.

“I’ll give it a shot,” Sean responded and the triplets stood aside.

Perhaps it was because he had sat in the wheelchair for too long, but he could not do it despite putting in a lot of effort after multiple attempts.

He gritted his teeth and his face started to turn pale as he continued trying.

‘One step. I just need one step.’ He did not stop praying in his heart, but he lost balance at the very next second. His body fell to the side uncontrollably and shocked all of them.

Tony and Molly’s hearts tightened, and they moved forward to help him up at the same time.

However, Molly was faster than Tony as she managed to get a hold of Sean’s waist.

His whole body was leaning on Molly, so there was no space between them at all.

Molly could feel the warmth from Sean’s body. It was like a ball of flame.

And, even though he was sweating, he still smelled nice.

She consoled him and his weight was lifted off her soon after when Tony had carried Sean as well.

“Alright.” Sean felt a little tired, but he had limitless strength in him. His drive was still burning.

After resting for a while, Sean tried again.

The triplets and Tony stood aside, and they did not stop cheering for Sean.

Molly would also say a thing or two from time to time, but she was watching silently most of the time.

Finally, their day ended.

Although Sean had only made a few steps, he had done a lot better than he expected. He was panting hard when he was finally done.

“Let’s call it a day.” His voice was hoarse as he told Molly.

Too much exercise was not good for the body.

Sean had done his best today, so he was satisfied anyway.

Molly nodded and brought him a cup of water, she waited for Tony to finish helping Sean to his wheelchair before handing it over to him.

“You’ve worked hard.” Molly’s voice was much gentler.

The triplets chimed in, “You’ve worked hard, Uncle Sean! We can take it slow.

Don't worry, Uncle Sean. We'll keep you company every time you exercise!"

Sean could not help but smile and respond to them.

"It's not tiring. Don't worry."

The triplets circled around him happy and cheered, "To celebrate you making a step today, Uncle Sean, let's do something tonight!"

'This is great! We should celebrate this day!' they thought.

Sean had no objections.

He knew that he had never been able to reject the triplets as he had a soft spot for them.

Molly agreed and went along with the triplet's idea. After all, it was a happy day for everyone.

"Well, we should prepare for later," Molly said.

Tony's eyes sparked as he swallowed. "Wow, that means we can eat some really good food later!"

He was obviously happy for his boss. They had put in a lot for this to happen. They deserved this!

Sean was even closer to recovery now that he had made his first step.

Besides, Molly's cooking was the best.

Now, Tony even believed that it was an honor for him to eat her food!

Chapter 543-They followed through with their promise. As Sean had gotten better, their dinner that night was a feast with many dishes.

All of them ate to celebrate that day, but since none of them could drink, Molly prepared beverages for them.

When Brycen knew that Sean had tried to stand up, his face was covered in jealousy.

"It would be nice if I could stand too..." Brycen stroked his legs, which were not as serious as Sean's as there were still senses there.

"I wonder if I could try standing up tomorrow..." Brycen mumbled to himself. He wanted to give it a try as well.

"Don't even think about it. If Molly didn't allow it, just wait. You won't like it if your condition gets worse." Grandpa Dave immediately put an end to Brycen's fantasy.

He thought back about how disobedient Brycen was as a child and continued, "When your legs recovered, you are not allowed to race anymore. Just stay at home, and I'll get your brother to find you a position in the company. You'll be working there every day, you hear me?"

Grandpa Dave was old. He did not ask for his grandchildren to be by his side, but he hoped that they could all be safe and healthy.

"You've got to love yourself, what's going to happen if you get into an accident again? oh, Brycen, you're getting older now. You should marry someone and start a family."

Grandpa Dave urged him.

Brycen quickly covered his ears and said, "Racing is my wife. Don't separate US, grandpa!"

In an instant, everyone looked at Brycen with disdain.

“Uncle Brycen, although it’s every boy’s dream to race, racing can never be our aunt.” Alex looked at Brycen with a complicated look.

Claudia nodded. “That’s right, Uncle Brycen. Racing doesn’t know how to cook for you and can’t play with you. Racing can’t tell you stories too.”

“Uncle Brycen, people always say that old people are wise, and we should listen to them. We should listen to great-grandpa’s advice.”

Everyone was nagging at Brycen and Molly could not help but laugh when she saw that he was being ganged up on.

Their dinner ended in a relaxed and merry atmosphere.

Molly made tea for everyone in the living room, and Grandpa Dave invited Sean to play chess with him.

Then, Molly’s phone rang, she looked at her phone and saw that Benjamin was calling her. So, she immediately answered the call.

“Good news, Molly. I’ve decided to start my own research institute. Do you want to be my business partner?” Benjamin asked freely.

However, he was the only one who knew how nervous he was before he called Molly.

“Your own institute? That’s great. Congratulations.” Molly was shocked, but she did not feel anything when she heard Benjamin’s offer and plans for his research institute.

She just felt that it was nothing to be happy about.

“Sorry, Benjamin. I think you should find someone else.”

Her straightforward rejection was out of Benjamin's expectations.

"Why?" Benjamin held his phone tighter, and his heart stopped beating when he heard Molly's response.

Molly replied, "I'm going to work somewhere else, so I can't work with you."

Although Molly said that she was still considering Sean's offer, she was already leaning toward accepting his offer

Chapter 544-Besides, since they had just talked about their relationship, Molly believed that it was best for them not to be in contact with each other that often.

Benjamin was a good man, which was why Molly did not want to give him the wrong idea unintentionally. She wanted him to move on.

It was going to be complicated if Molly did not make things clear.

She knew very well about that, so she chose to make things easier and be more affirmative.

"So soon? Which research institute made you decide this fast? You can tell me about it. I know a thing or two about the local research institutes, so I might be able to give you some information,"

Benjamin said in a relaxed tone.

Molly paused before telling him the truth. "Anderson Corporation's research institute. I've already agreed to work there."

There was a moment of silence in the call.

Benjamin's heart sank when he heard Molly mention Anderson Corporation.

He could tell that Molly had been distancing herself from him these days, which made him really sad. But, he still wanted to try.

'What if we can be a thing if I persisted?' But, now that he heard Molly's decision, Benjamin could not help but think that it was impossible for him and Molly to be together.

The Anderson Corporation was at the top. There were not many people who could top the Anderson family's connection and resources. No matter how displeased Benjamin was, he still could not point out what was bad about the Anderson Corporation.

His heart immediately fell into a cold abyss. It was chilling and painful.

After the Jiin family was exposed, they were in big trouble. Queenie could not believe that the family that she was always proud of could crumble into nothing in a mere two days.

Her father who she depended on and had never let her down was also taken in for interrogation after that incident.

The research institute was immediately shut down temporarily. Queenie and her mother were also looking for connections for the past two days.

But, society was brutal. Besides, their family had gotten themselves into a serious issue, so no one wanted to be associated with them anymore, let alone approach them.

From the way people were avoiding them, Queenie could not help but wonder if her father had upset someone that they should not have.

But, she had never faced an issue like this before. After being turned down by multiple people, she did not know what she should do anymore. That was also the time she thought of Benjamin. Unfortunately, she had not seen Benjamin after he rejected her love confession.

Thankfully, she still had a social circle. When she heard of Benjamin's whereabouts, she was shocked and anxious.

The neon light was shining on the people who were dancing on the dance floor.

The noisy music was making everyone explode from their frustrations.

Benjamin did not stop drinking. He was sitting at the bar as he pushed his glass forward. "Fill it up."

When the glass was full, he immediately gulped everything down.

Under the dim light, there was no way of telling whether he was drunk or sober.

He could not forget Molly, nor could he move on.

He was in love with Molly for a very long time. How was it possible for him to let go of her so suddenly?

Benjamin's heart ached as he felt like someone had gauged his heart out. The pain was agonizing.

He downed another glass of alcohol once more.

When Queenie saw him after squeezing her way through the crowd, she was delighted.

"You're really here, Benjamin!"

Chapter 545-Even though Queenie had no idea why Benjamin would drink in a place like this, she thought that the Jiin family could probably come up with a solution as soon as she found him.

Benjamin turned his face and gave her a side-eye. He looked away after knowing that it was Queenie and continued drinking. He did not even have the slightest intention to say hi to her.

Queenie's heart was hurt when she saw how Benjamin treated her.

However, Queenie recollected herself after reminding herself that she came to find him for other purposes.

"Benjamin, only you can help my family now. My father was taken away for investigation. But, we really don't know anything. My family is framed. Can you help me and my family?"

Queenie sat beside Benjamin.

"I don't think so. There's nothing I can do. The police will clear his name if your father is really innocent." Benjamin did not even look at her this time as he kept drinking.

Queenie had a very strong urge to stop Benjamin from drinking after seeing how he chugged glass after glass.

That just was not the right way to drink.

However, she was in no place to do that. So, she could only continue talking about herself, "of course, my father is innocent. But, I guess that my family crossed somebody. We're getting slandered and people are throwing dirt on our names. We might not be able to clear our name even though we really didn't do anything.

"Your family is very influential in Northfolk. Also, the Forts family is the only family that has the strongest bond with my family now. Benjamin, I really hope that you can help me. I have no idea what to do anymore without you."

If Benjamin was a playboy that had a soft spot for girls, he would definitely feel heartbroken after seeing how helpless Queenie looked.

However, Benjamin was not even in a good mood himself, and he could not care less about Queenie. He also drank a lot. Queenie's non-stop talking was like needles poking into his brain, and he felt very uncomfortable.

"Stop annoying me. Go away!" Benjamin said coldly.

Queenie was shocked, and she looked downhearted.

"Do you really hate me this much? Do you even feel that I'm annoying just because I talked to you? Benjamin, I really want to know how Molly is better than me."

She had been keeping this question to herself for quite some time. She was clearly not that bad compared to Molly.

Benjamin finally looked at her after hearing what she said. Then, he sneered and said, "She's just better than you in every way."

Benjamin stood up and left after he said that as if Queenie's presence was bothering him from drinking.

Queenie clenched her fists so tight that her fingernails were poking into her palm as she watched Benjamin walking away. Her anger surged through her.

'Molly May, she's nothing but a b*tch!

'A shameless one!' Queenie gritted her teeth as she cursed at Molly to herself after everything that had happened.

The next day, Benjamin woke up from a hangover. His head hurt so much that it felt like it was going to explode. He was woken up by a sound coming from downstairs. He went down after freshening up, and his parents were sitting in front of the television.

They were just talking about the morning news that day.

Benjamin took a sandwich and a glass of milk from the kitchen and sat on the sofa to watch the news with his parents.

The news was talking about the Jiin family, which had been the hottest topic for these few days.

Zain was only taken away for a few days to cooperate with the investigation, and they had already come up with a result. He was found guilty.

Chapter 546-Zain put someone's life in danger, and he was involved in taking bribes. So, he was lawfully arrested. All the cameras were pointing right at Zain in the news.

Zain looked a little devastated as compared to how high-spirited he would look previously.

"What? That was quick..." Benjamin's parents were surprised.

"It happened a few years ago. I'm sure that Zain won't leave any traces that other people could use against him this easily, right?" Meredith said shockingly.

Everything was over, and it would be harder to gather evidence. Besides, Zain had always been a cautious person. "It won't take such a short time even though they did everything legitimately.

"There's nothing we can do to help the Jiin family. Somebody is plotting against them." Garry sighed and shook his head.

"Somebody is plotting against them?" Benjamin could not help but ask.

He did not really pay much attention to what happened to the Jiin family.

And that was because he did not really have anything to do with them.

"I've been looking for ways to help Zain as soon as he got into trouble. But, I discovered that things are more complicated than they may seem after looking into them." Garry said, "The Jiin family messed with the wrong people. The Anderson family got involved."

He was just trying to do everything he could to help a friend since he knew Zain for such a long time. However, even the Forts family had to take a step back when the Anderson family intervened.

"The Anderson family..." Benjamin trembled inside.

'The Anderson family? Sean Anderson?

'Why would he do this to the Jiin family? He even acted so quickly without giving them any time to react!' However, Benjamin figured it out very soon.

He thought of the phone call he had with Molly last night. 'Could Molly be the reason...' Benjamin asked himself inwardly as he thought that there was a possibility that he could be right.

He then connected the dots. He found out that bad things started to happen to the Jim family ever since Molly was accused and mistreated in the research instituted before resigning voluntarily...

Everything came out on its own.

Benjamin was shocked. As a man himself, he could tell that Sean was in love with Molly too.

However, he did not expect Sean would do so many things for her. Sean was actually willing to use his family's power just to get back at them for Molly.

Benjamin had to admit that Sean was better than him judging from how ruthless Sean could be.

Benjamin spaced out when he was thinking about that.

In Molly's house. The television was switched on, and everybody watched the news about the Jiin family. All of them saw how devastated Zain looked in front of the cameras while he was being taken away.

"What a wicked man. How does he sleep at night after doing things like this for money?"

Brycen looked at the evidence shown on the news as he scolded, " He's a murderer. He's worse than animals!"

"What goes around, comes around." Sawyer saw the news too, but he was not really following it.

"It's not right for a man to commit so many bad deeds."

All of them watched the news and sighed.

Molly was no exception.

It had only been a few days. Zain sounded so arrogant when he threatened her, but he was now arrested.

"His karma came around a little too quickly." Molly was puzzled as she said.

"It's not quick at all. Everything started a few years back. I'm sure that everything that the innocent families did lead to what happened today." Brycen mumbled.

"This man is so evil. I'm pretty sure there are a lot of people who want to go after him. So, all of them stepped forward, and sped up the investigation progress of the case now that the time is right."

Chapter 547-Molly stopped thinking about it after getting interrupted by Brycen.

After lunch, Molly went for another physiotherapy session with Sean. Then, she told him about her plans. "I don't have any problems with what you proposed the other day. I'll work in the research institute."

"Sure. I'll get somebody to make some arrangements now." Sean lifted the edge of his mouth and put on a bright smile.

Molly could not help but feel a little excited as she replied, "okay. I'm looking forward to that."

They stopped talking and carried on with the physiotherapy.

The next morning, news about the Jiin family continued to simmer. All the news companies were still talking about it, and almost everybody in Northfolk knew what happened.

It was as though a bucket of water was knocked down, and the water spilled all over the place. It just could not be undone.

Zain was involved in receiving a large amount of dirty money, so the relevant departments made deep investigations into him.

Queenie immediately boiled with anger when she got the news in the morning.

'This is my house! How dare they search my house!' She was so mad that she wanted to hang up right away. However, the person on the other side of the phone spoke.

"At this point, we don't hope to see you getting chased out of your own house and be on the news again. You know very well that the media is watching you and your family like a hawk. You should just cooperate with US if you don't want to have a difficult time for all of us. There's no need to cause a scene and stay on the cusp."

Then, the person hung up.

“Ah!” Queenie shouted at the top of her lungs angrily, sounding shrieky.

She could not control herself but throw her phone to the side, and it fell on the soft carpet.

She felt distressed as she grabbed her long hair, looking messy.

She had no idea when the boiling anger inside of her could finally be released.

‘How could these people do something like this to us! We’ve been living in peace for so many years. Why are all the bad things only happening one after another in these few days?!’ That person on the phone told her a lot of other things too.

All the assets owned by the Jiin family were temporarily frozen by the bank, including real estate.

The private hospital owned by the Jiin family was not exempted too. It already had a lot of problems surrounding it, and due to excessive public pressure, the relevant department took over it before the investigation could end.

Her family was already very frustrated after how they had been exposed previously.

Now, a bolt from the blue came and struck right at Queenie.

She lay on the bed, feeling defeated and dejected. She could not even cry, and she was in despair.

The atmosphere around her was dead silence.

She had nowhere else to go. Her father was arrested, and her mother and she were the only ones in the house.

Queenie would always look prideful, bossy, and mighty, but all she had on her face was gloominess as all of her previous expressions had disappeared.

She had nowhere to go. Nobody would probably want to take her and her mother in anymore in Northfolk.

The reputation of their family was tarnished.

She felt nothing but despair.

Then, she heard slippers tapping outside of her room. Queenie's mother, Gina, rushed to her room, she clearly heard the news too.

There were still tears on her face as she looked at her daughter laying on the bed. she was heartbroken.

'How did our family end up like this?!' "Queenie..." she walked to the side of Queenie's bed and softly patted her shoulder before she spoke.

"It's time to go."

The police officers were arriving soon. They would be chased out of the house by force if they had not left by then. And, they would be charged with violating the law if they refused to comply with the investigation. The consequences would be catastrophic.

It was really time to leave!

"Mom..." Queenie could not hold back her emotions anymore, she sat up and hugged her mom in her arms, sounding helpless.

Chapter 548-Queenie started crying very hard as her tears rained down her cheeks.

They were really going to be homeless.

Gina's eyes turned red as she tried to keep her emotions under control. Then, she comforted Queenie, "Queenie, don't be sad. This is just temporary. They'll return our house to US as soon as they're done with the investigation."

"Where do we go, then? Is there anybody who would want to take us in?" Queenie buried herself into Gina's arms, sounding dull.

Gina looked down and spoke softly.

"To Forts Residence."

Queenie let go of Gian suddenly as she sat up straight. There were tears sparkling in her eyes.

'Forts Residence...?' The Forts family and Jiin family were good friends, and the Forts family were not going to reject them if they paid them a visit.

For old times' sake, they would probably provide them a place to stay even though they would not take them in.

Gina and Queenie could only think of the best thing that could happen at this point. They did not have any more time to waste as the police officers already started to rush them. So, they packed their things and went to the Forts Residence.

The two families used to visit each other very often.

However, Queenie felt very uncomfortable when she came to the Forts Residence this time, she just felt inferior.

An hour and a half later.

The Forts Residence.

The butler told Meredith that the Jiins were at the door.

Meredith hesitated for a few seconds, but she nodded and let them in anyway.

She was sitting on the sofa as she watched Gina and Queenie coming in. At that time, she had no idea how to make them feel better.

Then, Gina told Meredith everything about how their assets and house were frozen, she could not help but shed a tear after that.

“Mom,” Queenie looked at Gina and said with a tearful voice.

Meredith’s heart melted, she was a mother too, and that was something she would never want to go through.

Besides, it had nothing to do with Gina and Queenie no matter how many evil things Zain did!

She skipped saying things that would make them feel better and agreed to take them in before Gina and Queenie could even speak.

Gina looked at her with her eyes full of tears, she started sobbing again after being shocked for a second.

In these few days, the Forts family were the only ones who offered them a helping hand!

Gina realized how heartless and cold people could be, and it made her feel really bad.

“Thank you, Aunty Meredith!” Queenie thanked her. She thought that Meredith’s suggestion was good even though she was still feeling upset.

At least she could be closer to Benjamin that way.

Benjamin coincidentally showed up when she was thinking about that.

He came downstairs while holding the handrail. He got unhappy instantly after he found out that it was them who were making all that noise.

“Benjamin, I’ve decided to take them in temporarily for the next few days,” Meredith explained to her son before looking back at them.

The Forts Residence was huge. It would not be a problem for Gina and Queenie to live there.

However, Benjamin did not want his life to be disturbed by two outsiders.

Meredith spoke again after noticing that Benjamin was going to reject them.

“Benjamin, the Jiin family is under investigation now. They can’t live in their own house now and all their assets are frozen. You wouldn’t want to see them become homeless, right?” She kept explaining as she looked at Benjamin, who was walking down the stairs.

Benjamin threw a glance at Gina and Queenie from afar. He changed his mind and said, “Fine. I don’t have any problems with them staying here. I’ll just move out, then.”

The look on Meredith’s face changed as she angrily said to herself. ‘You little brat!’ Even though he did not reject them, he still showed that they were not welcomed by him...

In the afternoon.

Molly watched the news, and she knew what was happening to the Jiin family.

However, she was not bothered by it at all. Whatever was happening to the Jiin family had nothing to do with her.

She was not close with them anyway.

After some time, somebody from next door came knocking on her door.

Chapter 549-Sean had been very busy planning the research institute. He also decided on the location.

He came to Molly's house because he wanted to bring Molly there to have a look.

After all, she should be the one deciding what kind of equipment, device, materials, and medicine she would want in her office and the research institute. He wanted her opinions.

They chatted for a while, and Molly knew the purpose of his visit. So, she agreed with him.

The triplets heard what they said at the side, and it got them interested too. Then, they said unanimously, "Mommy, we want to go too!"

'I wonder what the research institute daddy is going to build for mommy will look like!

'Wow. I feel so happy just thinking about it.

'Mommy just resigned from the research institute owned by the Jiin family, and now daddy is going to build her one! Daddy is so impressive!' The triplets' eyes sparkled as they looked at Molly and Sean with hopeful looks on their faces.

Even though Molly explained everything to the triplets before, they still thought that Sean was doing it just for Molly.

They could not resist how the triplets looked. Sean and Molly looked at each other, and Molly nodded and gave them the green light.

“Let’s go have a look together, then.”

‘Yeah!

‘Daddy and mommy are the best!’ The triplets were thrilled as they skipped around and left with Sean and Molly.

Tony drove them to the place his boss specially picked for Molly.

He was very curious too. He wondered which place Sean decided on after choosing for a few days.

They were finally reaching their destination more than half an hour later.

They sat in the car and looked out the window, and they could see a luxurious mansion on the hillside from afar.

The exterior design and the color of the mansion were very discreet, but they could not disguise how magnificent it was. It looked spectacular, like a castle in the woods.

Molly and the triplets were very impressed!

It was their first time seeing somebody building a research institute based on a mansion!

They were expecting a skyscraper or something like a luxury office building.

Molly looked at the side mirror outside the car, and he saw Sean, who was sitting in the front passenger seat.

She stared at the cold and delicate face for a few seconds. Sean looked classy and very attractive.

'This guy is too generous.' The car got closer to the mansion. Molly saw a group of construction workers outside. They seemed like they were renovating the place, and it looked more like a secret base.

They got down the car after Tony parked the car.

Then, they stood at the door. They could then really feel how luxurious the mansion was. It was literally a huge culture shock to them.

Even Tony could not help but look at his own boss.

'Is my boss richer than an entire country?' Sean did not notice how shocked they were. His face was calm as he brought them into the mansion.

"Wow! This is so beautiful!" The triplets were amazed as soon as they stepped into the mansion.

The living space was very huge, so there were several larger machines placed there.

There was a gap between every machine for safety reasons. It looked like a robot museum when they looked at the machines from afar.

There was a huge projector at the side too. The material of the projection screen was tip-top, and it was placed in a very appropriate place too. It would look like a holographic projection in the movies if one had not taken a second look.

The combination of advanced technology and sci-fi things was simply exciting.

"I'll tell them to relocate anything here if you're not satisfied with their current placement," Sean turned around and said to Molly.

Actually, he was not very satisfied with this research institute. There was a better option, but he chose this one instead because that one was located too far away from home.

He hired a team to renovate the place to make up for the flaws, so the mansion could be perfect.

Chapter 550-“Nope. Everything is good.” Molly said as her heart started beating faster.

She was a doctor and a medical researcher. It was almost impossible for her not to be tempted after looking at such a complete and advanced research institute!

“Good. Let me know if you need anything. Let’s go upstairs and have a look.” Sean brought her to choose her office. He looked at her and said, “What do you think of this room?”

Molly walked around inside, she looked at the surroundings of the room and went back to the door.

“It’s too spacious.” She shook her head and spoke.

“It’s fine. There are other rooms.”

Then, Sean brought her to another room.

Molly walked inside again, but she paused when she passed by the window.

“This room has the best view.” Sean pushed his wheelchair to her side and spoke.

“I can tell.” Molly moved her lips, but her eyes were staring at the lake outside the window.

The radiant sun shone on the lake and the water became one with the sky. It looked seamless as though the clouds were a part of the lake.

Sean followed her gaze and explained, "That's a natural lake. I got somebody to pave the routes around it with white cobblestones, so the edge of the lake would look white and borderless.

"Also, you can see the light of dawn every morning. This place would look like paradise with all the clouds surrounding it. You'll probably like it." He said flatly as he looked at the road they came from just now.

He actually wanted to do something with that road, but he could not come up with a good idea.

Molly pictured the view he described in her head, and she could hardly contain her happiness.

She stopped looking outside and shifted her gaze to the man beside her. Her eyes were as clear and shining as the lake water.

"I love it!"

It was rare for Sean to see how lively Molly could be like she was now. His heart skipped a beat.

He looked back at her, and he was subconsciously influenced by her happiness.

He lifted the corner of his mouth and said, " I'm glad that you do."

He started planning about the other areas after finalizing her personal office.

The fundamental ones were a meeting room and a laboratory. The research institute was even going to have a few special isolated laboratories that were going to have a fixed temperature. They required advanced technology to build, and they would be used for some exclusive projects.

And, an area for the human resource and administrative staff, a file room, a control room, and the most important storage room.

The other areas would be used for other activities like eating, resting, reading, etc.

They stayed in the mansion and made themselves busy for a whole day.

Molly indulged herself in it. she only realized that it was already late after finishing everything, she did not expect to spend so much time there.

She initially just wanted to have a look and walk around.

The triplets were exhausted too. The research institute was just too huge!

Then, Tony brought them downstairs to the resting zone, so they could replenish their energy.

Molly and Sean were still upstairs, she looked at Sean and said while looking apologetic, "I'm sorry that I took up so much of your time."

How could she forget that Sean was a busy man?

She felt really bad for disturbing his working time.

Besides, he was even in a wheelchair. How could she make him follow her the entire day?

Molly started to blame herself internally.

"It's fine."

Sean was not really bothered. Actually, he also did not expect that it had been a whole day.
