

Triplets On SM 591

Chapter 591-“It’s not. Ms. Newman, please take a cab instead.” Sean rejected her without hesitating.

Tony stepped on the pedal and left Sharon behind after hearing what his boss said.

He regretted it the moment he stopped the car. He would not have deaccelerated, and he would go right past that person if he knew that it was Sharon.

‘How could I allow that woman to affect my boss’s mood?’

‘I have to make sure that nothing goes wrong with my year-end bonus.’ Tony could not help but glance at the rear-view mirror. Then, he looked forward grumpily and focused back on driving.

It was already midnight, and the road was serene and empty.

They passed through the dark forests. Traveling at night would make people feel strange and the tires rolling against the road was the only sound that could be heard.

The windows on both sides were completely shut. Tony turned on the heater and isolated themselves from the cold and desolate forest.

Molly felt like she was looking at another world from inside the car while her blur silhouette reflected in the window.

She tilted her head and looked forward, she could only see what was in front of the car under the high beam.

She stared outside, looking cold. It was like she spaced out.

The encounter just now flashed across her head.

'It's already been so long. I didn't expect that Sharon would still try her luck at Sean.

Molly felt somewhat uncomfortable as if something was poking into her palm. It felt painful and uneasy.

Not to mention that Sharon also was the person that Alice preferred to be together with Sean.

She felt even worse.

"Are you tired?"

Sean was not bothered by Sharon at all as he asked Molly out of concern. 'She's probably exhausted after working for so long.' He looked at Molly. His eyes were so bright, they looked like stars in the night sky.

1 Molly swept a glance across him. she was about to give him a smile, but she felt unnatural. So, she gave up on that idea and flatly said, "A little."

However, she was still very bothered by the messy thoughts in her head. She struggled to pull herself away from what happened.

This was because she liked him very much.

"You can lean on me and sleep for a while," Sean spoke.

Molly bit her lip.

"If you say so."

She moved without saying anything and sat closer to Sean, she voraciously indulged herself in Sean's warmth and threw all her messy thoughts to the back of her mind.

Molly leaned her head on Sean's shoulder. Then, she could not help but shifted her entire weight onto Sean.

Sean chuckled to himself after feeling how much Molly trusted and believed in him subconsciously.

Molly slowly shut her eyes. Sean could smell the faint scent of wood and herbs beside him as he lost himself in the happy place that only belonged to him.

Molly had also stopped thinking about Sharon and Alice entirely.

Sean observed her features carefully, and it took him some time to realize that Molly was asleep after looking at her silently for a while.

Soon, Tony drove the car back to the house.

"Wake up. We're home."

Sean said softly as he laid his finger on Molly's sleeping face.

"Hmm...?" Molly frowned before she struggled to open her eyes. Her vision was still a little blurry.

She felt like she had a long but relaxed sleep.

Sean moved very carefully as he helped her to sit back up. Molly leaned her whole body onto Sean throughout the entire journey.

However, he did not say anything. His neck would have been sore if Molly started sleeping in that position from the beginning of the journey.

Sean looked at Molly, who was starting to be more conscious after waking up slowly. Then, he said to her.

“Don’t go home just yet. I told the butler to prepare some supper before I went to get you. You should have some before going back.”

Molly lifted the edge of her mouth, feeling warm. Then, she said, “ Sure.”

Chapter 592-The supper was a bowl of soup noodles. It was bland and non-oily. To Molly who worked overtime, a simple bowl of soup noodles was a delicious meal to her. It excited her appetite, she finished the soup and noodles very quickly.

After supper, Molly did not stay at Sean’s place any longer. She wanted Sean to rest early. So, she went back to her home.

Recently, the Anderson Corporation’s social engagements increased. Although Sean did not need to go to those social engagements personally, he was still very busy because of that. He did not even have the time to have a meal with Molly.

Tony was also very busy because of Sean. He took a document from the marketing department for Sean to sign. He also had some information for Sean.

“I heard that there’ll be a banquet at the Anderson residence. It’s probably for your father’s birthday.

Mrs. Anderson has already sent out the invitation.” Tony glanced at Sean.

Sean’s expression did not change. He simply said, “Help me to prepare a birthday gift. You don’t have to worry about anything else.”

He did not want to talk much about it. He then continued to work.

He knew exactly what the purpose of the banquet was. It was probably his mother's idea.

The Anderson Corporation's business had been steady. Their development prospect was great too.

They did not need further social engagement.

Extra activities were for Alice's sake.

The Anderson family's status in Northfolk was untouchable.

Countless people wanted to butter up and impress the Anderson Corporation. Normally, they did not have any interaction with the Anderson Corporation.

But, when the announcement of the birthday banquet was out, people who wanted to get acquainted with the Anderson Corporation would not pass up such an opportunity.

And, Sean having a hectic business schedule recently was the butterfly effect of the birthday banquet.

Of course, as a competent businessman, Sean would not pass up any business opportunity. That was why he had been quite busy recently.

Alice's intention was even more obvious.

She wanted to find a daughter-in-law whom she liked, she had done a lot in the past 6 months. But, Sean did not get together with either Abigail or Sharon as she intended.

Instead, the relationship between Alice and Sean got worse because of Molly.

'Mother didn't like Molly and I being too close. So, she held a banquet.

'If everything goes well, people who attend the upcoming birthday banquet would be the heiresses of wealthy families around my age.' Sean was right.

That was indeed Alice's plan.

Ricky was informed about the banquet only after the fact. He was not happy with Alice's actions.

"It'd be much better if we only have a meal together as a family. Why did you go through the trouble to hold a birthday banquet? If Sean knows about this, you two would give each other a frosty look again when the time comes."

Ricky did not really blame Alice for holding the birthday banquet. But, the purpose of this birthday banquet was not simple. He knew his wife wanted to set his son up with a girl.

They had talked about this with their son multiple times. Initially, Sean was against the idea of an arranged marriage. But, as time went on, he grew to hate the idea even more, and he would never want to be in an arranged marriage.

The last time when Ricky was not home, he heard that Alice and Sean both ended up in a bad mood because of a doctor called Molly.

Initially, Ricky wanted to take his birthday as an opportunity to ask his son to have a meal at home together. He also wanted to take this chance for his wife and son to make up for their previous disagreement.

"Do you still take Sean as your son? why do you think I'm doing this? He's our son. I only want the best for him."

Chapter 593-Alice was not happy when she heard what Ricky said.

"Look at who he likes. She was an unwed pregnant lady who no one wanted, she has 3 kids to take care of alone. It'd be a scandal for whichever family this kind of woman is married into. Our son is so excellent. How can he settle for this kind of woman?"

“Moreover, do you think Mr. Anderson Sr. would allow them to get married? When you weren’t here that day, that little brat even said it would be fine to let the woman’s kids inherit everything from the Anderson Corporation!

“Do you think he should say such a thing? Mr. Anderson Sr. will kill Sean with his crutch if he knows about that. Everyone from the Anderson family will nag him. No one from the Anderson family will agree to this kind of thing!”

Alice would be unhappy whenever she talked about that.

Ricky started to reflect on it as he heard what his wife said.

As an Anderson, he knew better than anyone about the Anderson family’s rules.

If Sean really wanted to marry that woman, it would be impossible. No one would support that.

Ricky was a mediocre person for most of his life. He was proud of his son’s outstanding achievements. But, he was not willing to see his son lose the Anderson family’s fortune because of a woman.

“I don’t know what to say about this, since you have an idea, do it. If Sean isn’t happy about it, ask him to talk to me.” Ricky had to choose a side between his wife and his son. He would, of course, side with his wife.

She then happily talked about the banquet plan with Ricky.

“The families that I invited this time, all have daughters around Sean’s age. There are so many of them. What if one of them and our son like each other?”

This birthday banquet was splashy because of what Alice intended to do. Everyone from the upper-class social circle in Northfolk received the news before Ricky's birthday.

People that knew Alice's intention were overjoyed when they received the Anderson family's invitation. They were glad that they had a daughter around Sean's age.

They could do anything they wanted in Northfolk if their daughter managed to marry into the Anderson family.

And, people that did not receive the invitation from the Anderson family, were looking for ways to attend the banquet.

The more people talked about that news, the more Michael and his family were angry.

The angriest person among them was Michael.

After the overseas information was exposed, Sean withdrew Michael's power in the company, since then, whatever Michael wanted to do, got hindered repeatedly.

Sean's men found and took away Michael's batch of material that he did not manage to relocate.

Michael sold countless assets to repay his foreign debts. He would need to sell off the current mediocre house he was living in if he did not beg his father.

Michael remembered how he was being scolded at. He naturally held it against Sean for that.

He would still be living well if not it was not because of Sean.

"Father, are you really planning to attend uncle's birthday banquet?" Todd raised his head to ask his father as he sat on the couch. He was squeezing the invitation paper that was sent by Alice's people.

“Yes! Why shouldn’t I go?”

Chapter 594-Michael looked unhappy as he said that. He was obviously not planning to go to the birthday banquet with sincere wishes.

Todd was suddenly quiet. He was afraid that he would anger his father.

Ricky’s family and Michael’s family never interacted personally. The family relationship between the two families was superficial. Todd did not treat Sean like a brother.

Moreover, things at home were not as good as they were before. They were having a hard time. His resentment toward Sean was no lesser than his father’s.

“It can’t go on like this.” Michael could not sit still. He was thinking about how Ricky and his family were throwing a high- profile birthday banquet. He also heard that Sean’s health was getting better.

To him, the two news were bad news. It was like announcing that Michael’s family could no longer establish themselves in the Anderson family.

‘This can’t happen!’ Michael was thinking about that as he closed his eyes. His face was gloomy.

Todd did not want to continue living this kind of tough life anymore.

He always put on airs outside in the past. Now, everyone laughed at him and his family for what happened to them. He had had enough of being judged and mocked by other people!

“What should we do, then?” he asked his father who was deep in thought.

Michael opened his eyes as he stared at his son. He said in a low voice, “We can’t allow Sean’s health to get better no matter what.”

Because both of Sean's legs were injured, many people from the Anderson family thought that he could not manage the Anderson Corporation. Many people gossiped about him during that period.

But, Sean had great capabilities, so he managed to keep everything under control.

It was common that people started to gossip after some time. Humans are very biased.

If Sean's legs had fully recovered, people would stop gossiping about him. His position in the Anderson Corporation would be even more secure.

Michael would never ever accept that!

'I've worked hard for most of my life. How can I let some young man forever defeat me?

T won't allow that to happen until the day I die!' Todd stared at the invitation that was on the table. He was lost in thought for a while.

'Stop Sean from getting better? what should we do?

'I heard Sean hired a pretty good doctor. He even has her with him all the time.

'We can't bribe that doctor right under his nose, right...?

'What if Sean catches US, and people living in the Anderson residence know about it? My grandfather's favorite was Sean since he was young. He didn't care about me at all.

'The consequences would be unimaginable if his favorite grandchild is hurt. The Anderson family will definitely boycott US. Sean doesn't even have to do anything.' Todd looked insidious. A hint of coldness flashed past his eyes as he clenched his mouth.

A few years ago, he thought his grandfather would pay more attention to him when Sean became a cripple.

‘How come Sean gets everything since the day he was born? why does the whole world revolve around him?

‘Especially after Sean became an adult. He actually became the person in charge of the Anderson Corporation immediately!’ This hurt Todd as though an ice pick had penetrated his heart.

Whenever people talked about Sean, he would be mentioned as the CEO of the Anderson Corporation in Northfolk. But Todd, Todd was the rich loafer from the Anderson family.

No matter how hardworking he was over the past years, people would compare him with Sean.

Sean was gifted. Todd could never get rid of the way others thought of him.

He had enough!

“We’ll make something bad happen to him during the birthday banquet, then,” Todd said very calmly

Chapter 595- His expression was cold, too.

Michael was startled for a moment, but he saw nothing amiss. He thought for a second and replied, “Indeed. Many people are expected to attend the big party that Alice will hold that day. It will just take a little thing to turn the scene into chaos. If we take that opportunity to cause some accident to happen to Sean, no one will trace it back to US.”

At this point, he would prefer Sean to just die. He would take pleasure to see the son of his elder brother died at his own birthday party and his elder brother in grief and despair for the rest of his life.

He wished that Ricky and his family would never recover again, and he would have full control of Anderson Corporation.

Michael smirked. "Time to figure out how we can turn that family upside down on that day." He spoke with furor as if he wanted to return all the pain he had experienced before, all at once.

"Yeah, better not leave any traces behind." Todd grimaced and agreed. At that moment, the father and son each had an idea in mind, and they had thought of the same thing.

It was easy to cause an accident at the party, but the hard part was not letting Sean and the others find out about it. As long as there was no conclusive evidence, it would not bother them. Even if they were busted, they could just dismiss it as an accidental act and would muddle through it. But, if there was a shred of pointing evidence, Ricky would certainly not take things lying down. He would probably take advantage of the opportunity to escalate things, bringing the matter to their father. If that happened, they would be in trouble.

Michael still remembered that his father had warned himself once before. He knew he would be done for if he was busted this time. He was nervous subconsciously with this in mind. But, Michael did not show that on his face, as his son was still around. They stayed in the room all day, planning the most appropriate way to proceed.

Sean was busy working around the clock without stopping. Three days had passed when he finally came out of it.

He went next door and found Molly in the backyard gazebo. "Is the research laboratory busy for the next few days?"

"It's alright. Why?" Molly dropped what she was doing when she saw him. On the stone table of the gazebo, there was a set of grinding tools and a large pile of herbs with a strong herbal smell. The last relaxing incense she made for Sawyer had run out, so she made some more today when she was free. Suddenly, she went on to ask, "Have you finished your work?"

For the past few days, Molly had noticed that Sean seemed to be extremely busy, plunging back into his work after having his meal in just a couple of minutes. The number of times the two see each other had reduced so much from what it was before. Now, Sean arrived and looked relaxed, in marked contrast to yesterday.

“Yeah. I’m done with the work at hand, so I’m fine with leaving the rest to my staff.” Sean explained casually, glancing at the things on the table, which looked familiar.

“If you are not busy with work, can you make time in a couple of days?” He looked at her and continued to speak, smelling the scent of herbs drifting into his nostrils. “My father’s birthday is around the corner, and the family will host a birthday party for him. My mother will definitely make a big deal out of it, worrying about those things for me.”

Those things, naturally, were the wedding. And, Molly was quick to pick up on that, she knew his mother, who had her heart set on finding her son a woman with equal social status.

Sean saw her nonchalant look and slowly said, “So, I’d like to ask you for a favor and accompany me to the party.”

Chapter 596-He explained the purpose of his visit with an expectant look in his eyes. And, at that moment, he also noticed the things on the table. He had seen them before, and they were for Sawyer.

Molly stared at him and said with a soft but hesitant voice, “That’s not very appropriate, isn’t it?”

‘Of course, I can help. But, that has to depend on the occasion.’ “It’s not appropriate for me to accompany you, isn’t it?” Molly said again.

No matter how big the party was, it was still a family dinner. The nature and significance of bringing her to this occasion were obviously different. Besides, everyone knew what Sean’s mother was up to. If she tagged along to the party, it would give the impression that she was trying to make her presence felt, and Mrs. Anderson would just think that she was a nuisance. Acting as a shield for Sean was going to be a tough job.

'How is it okay?' Molly subconsciously stared at him. "It's your family party. It will give the impression of meeting the parents."

"No harm done. If you attend, I will explain that you are just my partner, nothing else." Sean locked his eyes on her. "Of course, if you want to think it that way, I don't mind either."

Molly felt as though his eyes had burned into hers, she glanced away, picked up the grinding tool, and fiddled with it straight away.

Knowing that he was still staring at her, she whispered, "I'm not." 'I have never not seen that as meeting the parents. Besides, I'm not even his girlfriend. No, no, no. What am I thinking?' Molly ground the herbs harder, as she was desperate to get those thoughts out of her head.

Sean had a smile in his eyes. His smile grew broader when he noticed her blushed cheeks. "So, that means you agree?" He asked softly, watching her keep mashing the things in her hands.

The triplets had been playing in the sand for many hours, and when they heard that it was almost time, they hurriedly dropped their little shovels and came running over. They also flashed a smile at Sean, who was facing them, as if to say, "Don't worry."

Sean could not resist returning a smile. He knew that this was a sure thing as Molly could not possibly say no to her triplets, who were her soft spot.

The triplets came up to Molly and pretended to be ignorant. "Mommy, agree to what?"

"There is a party that I'd like to invite your mommy to," Sean spoke up first to explain.

"Won't there be lots of good food? Mommy, let's go then," Ben spoke excitedly.

Alex glanced back and forth at Molly and Sean. "Mommy, Uncle Sean is inviting you, so if you don't go..."

“That’s right. If I were to invite someone, I would feel sad to get rejected.” Ben pouted as if he had really been mercilessly rejected.

Molly saw this and looked up at Sean. He was good-looking and had an outstanding temperament. If he was sad, that look would be regrettably sorry. She could not help but start imagining, and her ears were filled with words of encouragement from her triplets. At last, she relented. “Okay, I’ll go.”

Sean did not give her any more room to hesitate and immediately said, “I will have the dress sent over tonight.”

“Okay.” Molly agreed.

He looked at the triplets, and they all chuckled silently as if giving each other kudos for their well-done cooperation.

Chapter 597-Sean did what he said he would do, and the dresses were delivered in the evening. Along came a woman in a suit, who was the manager in charge of these dresses.

“Hello, Miss May. My name is Katy. Mr. Anderson has asked US to bring the dresses for you to try on. shall we get started now?” Katy asked with a smile and a respectful attitude.

“Okay.” Molly agreed straight away.

Following immediately, racks after racks of gowns hanging were wheeled in. Not only Molly but the triplets were also stunned. This was the kind of scene that they had only seen on TV.

“Mommy, hurry up and try on these dresses.” The triplets could not wait. They were especially looking forward to what their mother would look like when she came out in those dresses.

“Go ahead and try it,” Sean said with a smile.

Molly nodded and followed Katy into a fitting room.

“Miss May has a perfect figure. These dresses are all limited edition, so they would not fit everyone.

But, it looks just right on you. Those who don’t know about it might think that they are tailor -made.”

It was a big deal, and Katy did not mince her words when praising Molly, although what she said was true.

Molly just smiled and said thank you. Soon, with Katy’s help, Molly emerged from the fitting room dressed in her gown.

Not that she had never been in gowns before. But this time, she was a bit nervous, and she was not sure if she looked good in it. As soon as the fitting room door opened, those who were waiting outside burst out in awe.

The triplets could not help but exclaim when they saw Molly come out in her gown.

The first one she tried on was a silver satin dress, strapless, with embroidery patterns done with traditional techniques. As Molly walked around, the fabric of the dress glittered in silver. She really was like a sparkling fairy.

Sean’s eyes flashed in amazement when he saw that. As he met Molly’s gaze, he could not help but nod and smile at her. ” Gorgeous.”

Molly breathed a sigh of relief when she heard his comment. At first, she was just worried that she would not look good in the dress.

The triplets were curious about how their mother would look in the photos, and they all gathered around their uncle to see the photos of their mother that he had taken. Molly looked at their expectant look and shook her head helplessly.

“Okay then, I will try the others.” After all, no girl could refuse the temptation of beautiful gowns.

Molly went back to the fitting room and changed into the other dresses she had selected. Every time she came out of the fitting room, those who were waiting outside were appreciative and took photos of her.

“This is the last one.” Molly had changed through several gowns, and she was a little tired. ‘It’s a good thing that Sean didn’t move the entire boutique over, or I would be exhausted tonight.’ Molly could not help but say that in her mind.

When he saw Molly come out, Brycen pressed the shutter again.

Chapter 598-“I have never seen any woman who can wear a gown so well. Surely only my sister can do that.”

Brycen did not feel cheeky at all.

When it comes to the dresses Molly tried on, the triplets could not help but give their opinions.

“Mommy fits best in that white one, exactly like the princess in the fairy tale. So, when the time comes, why don’t you wear that white dress and go out with Uncle?”

“Wear the first one, the silver one. Don’t you guys think that mommy is like a fairy in that one?”

“Huh? No, no. I just need one. These dresses are not everyday clothes. I can’t wear them all even if I want that many.” Besides, if she remembered correctly, Katy had said that these were all limited edition globally, which meant that each of these clothes was worth a great deal of money. Just the thought of wearing a random piece was like putting tens of millions of dollars on her body. It made Molly feel too extravagant and uneasy.

But, Sean thought otherwise. “That’s okay. You can wear them later.” He then spoke directly to Katy and bought all the dresses Molly had tried on, not giving her a chance to refuse.

Such generosity astounded Molly. The triplets and Brycen had a good laugh when they saw this result. They were all obviously happy to see Sean spend money on Molly.

‘How can the CEO of Anderson Corporation not send gifts if he wants to chase a girl?’ Brycen said in his mind. He swiftly snapped beautiful photos of his sister and uploaded them to show them off on social media.

Grandpa Dave also joined in the fun, asking Sawyer to teach him how to use his phone and post photos of his granddaughter. Before long, the photos posted by the two flooded the social media accounts of the relatives and friends of the May family. The few others from the May family saw the photos, too. Nathan even liked all of them.

Sharon had also received news of the Anderson family's birthday party, as the Newman family was also invited. She had every intention of attending the party. But, to avoid unnecessary trouble, she had been keeping her head down in the research laboratory over the past few days and had made no trouble.

Time was approaching fast, and it was the day of the Anderson family's birthday party. The venue was set in the most luxurious hotel in Northfolk, since it was Ricky's birthday party, they had the entire hotel to themselves. Most of the people could not wait; they were all already there early.

The hotel was packed with people with the light from the crystal chandeliers illuminating the opulent lobby. Most people guessed that Mrs. Anderson had some hidden agenda for holding the birthday party, and they were happy to go along with it. Many of the ladies dressed up just to get Mrs.

Anderson's attention at the party tonight.

Sharon was certainly no exception, when she entered the venue with Alice's invitation and saw women gathered in groups, she instantly resented them.

But, the thought that Sean would not like them made her feel better again, she did not even bother with pleasantries and went straight to look for Alice in the ballroom.

Chapter 599-“Hello, Sharon.” Alice smiled, she was standing in the crowd when she caught a glimpse of Sharon in the corner of her eye. she then excused herself from chatting with the other ladies.

Looking at the slender and elegant Sharon appearing in front of her, Alice could not help but break into a smile. “You look gorgeous today. Of all the ladies here tonight, you are the one who shines the brightest.” She was in a good mood today, as she made a rare flattery remark.

Sharon dropped the hem of the skirt in her left hand and clasped her hands in front with a smile.

“Thank you for your compliment, Mrs. Anderson. I could not look more ordinary enough.” She showed great humility as she looked at Alice. “I’m happy that you find me appealing.”

This succeeded in pleasing Alice.

Sharon smiled and handed Ricky the present she had prepared and gave her best wishes. This pleased both of them even more.

As they talked, the others could not help but look on with jealousy. They could only secretly wait for Sean to show up.

Winning the hearts and minds of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson was secondary, what was more important was to win the hearts and minds of Sean, otherwise, it would be of no use, no matter how good she could please the elders.

The hotel was illuminated with a soft and welcoming light. With much anticipation, Sean finally showed up. But, the man who had always stayed away from women surprisingly brought a woman with him on this occasion.

All eyes were on Molly, and they were full of curiosity and speculation.

‘Who is this woman? How come I’ve never even seen her before?’ Those who saw Molly could not help but ask those around them to find out more about her background. To be standing next to Sean was something that had never been seen in Northfolk before.

Sean was dressed in a suit, and his face impassive, habitually ignoring the stares that were going his way. The way he sat in the wheelchair was so elegant and charming that most of the women in the room were fascinated by him.

He looked straight at his parents with a faint smile, which was quickly withdrawn and returned to its usual aloofness.

Molly, who was beside him, received no less attention. She had a beautiful countenance with nimbus, and the gown she was wearing outlined her perfect body lines. Her steps in high heels were steady, and when she walked, she moved with extreme grace. Her entire being was stunningly beautiful. But, her expression was like Sean’s; they were the same in their aloofness.

'They are almost a perfect match. Everyone subconsciously thought.

"Happy birthday, Dad," Sean spoke with a light smile, and he did not even look at Sharon, who was standing next to them.

It was then that Tony came running in. He had sacrificed so much not to be a third wheel that it would affect his master and Molly's much-anticipated debut. He handed the presents he had prepared —there were two of them.

"These are the presents that Dr. May and I prepared for you. Hope you like it," Sean said.

Ricky responded with an "mmm", glancing at the woman beside his son without saying a word. The assistant behind him quickly took the presents from Tony's hands and then stepped aside.

Chapter 600-Alice didn't look too happy either, she was startled for a moment when she first saw Molly appear.

'What does this woman have to do with the Anderson family party? How dare she stick to my son!' Anger surged within her, but she knew that this was a public place. So, Alice had no choice but to fight back her anger and shot a knifelike look at Molly.

'If this was my house, there's no way that Molly would be allowed in. Dream on. Don't even think about it.' Sharon was happy to have won the favor of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, and while she was at it, she saw Molly. Her expression turned grave as if she had been hit in the head. The manicure she had made especially for the party was digging into her palms. Her heart was filled with jealousy. But, she still maintained a dignified and magnanimous look with a smile on her face as she took the initiative to greet Molly with a nod. But, the way Sean and Molly walked together just now caused Sharon's heart to twinge. It hurt so much that she almost wanted to run away from there right away.

'Why is this woman everywhere? I can only get this opportunity after all the trouble, and Sean is taking her with him. Will he not even bother to spare me a glance?' Sharon stood quietly beside Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, but her eyes were on Sean.

Meanwhile, Molly was not bothered by all this. She spotted Sharon standing beside Mr. and Mrs.

Anderson immediately. That discomfort surged within her again. She gathered her mind, told herself not to think about it, and cooperated with Sean to finish this play. Only then can she take care of the rest.

As reluctant as they were, no one wanted to make a scene in public. So, they all still put on a smile and exchanged some pleasantries, but deep down inside, everyone had an axe to grind.

When everyone had gotten over it, Alice tugged at Sean and asked, "What are you doing? Why did you bring her here?"

She glanced at Molly, who was in the ballroom, and she was upset.

But, Sean was calm and collected. "I just felt like bringing her here, so I brought her here."

He looked at his mother's gesture and said, somewhat unceremoniously, "I also know what you want to do and what you're up to. This time, it's to let you know my determination." He was telling her that he would never give up his right to choose his spouse and that he would marry Molly.

Alice was so angry that she could say nothing and stared at him with both eyes. His son just went to Molly after saying what he said. She felt that her brain was bloated with a wave of vertigo.

'Goddamn it.' This son of hers pissed her off.

"What's wrong?" Molly noticed Sean's irritated expression when he returned, others might not notice it, but she had been with him for a long enough time that she could sense the emotional changes in him.

"Nothing. Just a few minor things." Sean quickly eased up and reassured her.

Molly nodded, but she felt that someone was staring at her. She looked at where the stare came from and found that it was Alice.

‘Alice wants to arrange a marriage for her son, but Sean has brought me here, which means I have ruined Alice’s plan, haven’t I?’ Molly glanced at the side of Sean’s face. ‘His mother probably questioned him, and they had an unpleasant conversation,’ she thought to herself.

“If there’s nothing else, just follow me,” Sean spoke suddenly, interrupting Molly’s train of thought.
