

Triplets On SM 641

Chapter 641-“But, I can honestly tell you that I like someone else. It’s just that I can’t tell my family for now. I’m not interested in you, okay? when my grandfather knows that we’re not right for each other, I’ll leave after two months and you won’t even need to tell me to leave.”

She believed that Sean would not go against Mr. Anderson Sr. and asked her to leave after she said that.

The coldness on Sean’s face faded away after hearing Joelle’s explanation. But, he still sounded a little unhappy as he shouted toward the outside of his office.

“Tony.”

“Boss, you called me?” Tony asked as he stuck half of his body into the office.

He saw Ms. Herring the last time Sean brought him to meet Mr. Herring Sr.

Sean did not speak.

But, Joelle said something.

Joelle politely and gently asked Tony who was outside, “Can you bring me to my seat?”

She was not bossy, she did not abuse her privilege to order the people in her service.

Tony heard what she said as he stayed outside the office. He glanced at his boss secretly. He then looked at Joelle after he saw that Sean did not reject it.

“Please come with me, Ms. Herring.”

The secretary of the CEO's desk would definitely not be too far away from the CEO's office.

The number of secretaries was fixed. So, there would not be an extra working desk for Joelle. Tony asked someone to clear the small cubicle beside Sean's office.

"For these two months, you can work here. Is it okay?" He was concerned about Joelle's status.

After all, she used her connection to land this job. Tony asked that after he arranged the room for her.

Joelle did not show that she was unhappy. She smiled as she said, "Of course I'm okay with it.

Thank you for your help. How should I address you?"

"You can call me Tony." Joelle's attitude was great. She was very friendly too. Tony was not against working with her.

"I look forward to working with you for the next two months," Joelle said.

The job of a secretary was not complicated. Joelle had a good personality, she was acquainted with the other CEO's secretaries in just one morning.

She handled the relationship between her and her colleagues well. And, she was good at her work too.

After all, she was Mr. Herring Sr.'s granddaughter. Everyone in the Herring family was optimistic about her too. she was a fast learner at work. She did not procrastinate when she was handling the paperwork that Tony asked her to do. And, She completed it very well.

Initially, Tony looked at the Herring family's heiress differently.

It was until she offered to help him with his work.

“Tony, I’ve completed the paperwork. You can have a look at it. Let me know if there’s any problem.”

Joelle handed him the stack of documents, she also gave him the document that she helped him with.

“Alright, just put them here. I’ll have a look at it later.”

Tony checked the documents once Joelle left. Initially, Tony did not expect too much from Joelle.

But, he was shocked immediately after looking at her work!

‘She isn’t just some useless rich girl. She’s very impressive!’ Tony was surprised as he looked at the words and numbers on the document. He then compared them with the information he found on his computer.

Whether it was the business partners or the data, they were all not bad. Although they were not difficult tasks, the information in that document was from a long time ago. It would be challenging and would take her a long time to sort the information.

That was the document that Tony waited to finish the last. And, he did not even complete it.

Chapter 642-Joelle completed the document in such a short time. Her logical skills must be great.

‘She’s so capable, yet she came to the Anderson Corporation to work as a secretary, she isn’t properly utilized!

Tony quickly went back to work. It saved him a lot of trouble with the document that Joelle helped him with.

He could not help but sigh privately. ‘If wasn’t because Dr. May was also very capable, Ms. Herring is very compatible with Sean too.

'But, come to think of it, Sean has Dr. May in his mind after all, and Ms. Herring likes someone else.' 1
Joelle was doing great with everyone in the Anderson Corporation thanks to her personality.

Unlike Sean who always had a frosty look on his face, she was always smiling with great energy whenever she saw someone. Everyone recovered from their tiredness from work whenever they saw her.

Not only that, but when she saw her colleagues were busy working, she would offer to help.

Moreover, she was gorgeous and had a great temperament. No one would reject the help of a pretty girl.

Joelle closed the door after she went back to her temporary office. She then pulled down the blind, she casually slumped on the chair that was placed behind her desk.

She let out a breath, as she was exhausted. There was a tremendous amount of work to do in the Anderson Corporation.

Although the work that belonged to her was not that much, she was exhausted from helping others with their work, she did all that because she wanted to achieve her purpose...

Joelle picked up the document on the table that got in her way as she glanced at it. she then threw it back on the table with aversion.

Her attitude was completely different from the attitude when she was outside of her office.

Joelle rested in her seat comfortably.

Sean was hard to deal with just like what she heard.

Even with the connection between her grandfather and Mr. Anderson Sr., Sean did not immediately allow her to stay in the Anderson Corporation to work.

But luckily, she gathered some information before this, she learned about Sean, and she used the roundabout way to deal with him. That was how she managed to make Sean allow her to stay.

It did not matter even if Sean's attitude was cold.

She had two months in the Anderson Corporation. This was just the beginning.

She believed that Sean would not be apathetic toward her if she appeared in front of him every day.

Joelle had faith in her charisma.

When she was overseas, she had many suitors because of her family background and her appearance.

But, they were all no match compared to Sean.

Ever since she was in school, she was already interested in Sean when she heard about him from her grandfather. After Sean took over the Anderson Corporation, his achievements were spread across the country and overseas. He even appeared in Financial Times. Joelle was even more interested in him after that.

They did not really have any chance to meet when they were overseas.

But, it was different now that she was back in the country with her grandfather.

And, Mr. Anderson Sr. wanted the two families to be related through marriage.

She would, of course, seize this good opportunity.

Buzz.

The phone on the table rang. Joelle glanced at it as she pressed the accept button.

“Ms. Herring, there’s a meeting at 2 o’clock in the afternoon. Get the documents ready and be in the meeting room 10 minutes earlier. The CEO doesn’t like his employees to be late.”

“Okay. I’ll be right there,” Joelle answered gently.

She did not look impatient anymore after she ended the phone call. She picked up the documents that she threw at the side earlier. Then, she entered the data into the computer again.

Joelle was assigned to sit at the side to take notes during Sean’s meeting.

Chapter 643-When she stopped working during her leisure time, Joelle secretly looked at Sean.

Men were most charming when they were working, and Sean was no exception. It seemed like she saw the spark in him again...

Sean did not know Joelle’s intention. But, he had heard the praises for Joelle, who was newly hired, from the other secretaries.

Despite that, it had nothing to do with him. Their relationship was just a normal boss-employee relationship.

He did not give Joelle who worked in the Anderson Corporation any preferential treatment just because of Mr. Anderson Sr. He treated Joelle in a business-like manner.

The hospital.

Molly was playing with the potted white flower that was on the windowsill of the ward. The flower was delicate and bright in color. The triplets bought it for her.

Pale rays of the sun penetrated from outside the window. It felt like it was coated with a filter from afar.

Molly looked bored as she stared at the potted flower.

She had been staying in the hospital for a week.

Although she was staying in the VIP ward, the hospital was still a very boring place.

When no one was around, she asked for a doctor to examine her and give her medicines.

The wound on her shoulder was not as painful as before. But, she still felt a faint pain when she moved.

The wounded area was occasionally itchy. Molly knew that new flesh was growing on the wound, and it was healing.

She wanted to discharge.

Molly had been thinking about that a few hundred times.

She was a doctor too. Although as saying goes, a doctor who needed help could not help herself, she wanted to just go home and recuperate at this stage.

But, the people at her home did not think so.

Suddenly, Sean's face appeared in Molly's mind.

'If I discharge rashly, will he be unhappy?' Molly could not help but smile when she thought of how Sean was worried about her. He even brought his work over to her ward.

'Okay, I'll call him and tell him about it before I discharge.' Molly picked up her phone to call Sean.

The top floor of the Anderson Corporation.

The phone was suddenly ringing. But, it was not answered after a long time.

Joelle was curious. As the secretary of the CEO, she would always stay in her office when Sean was not in a meeting.

The phone was ringing continuously.

Joelle left her small cubicle. She then walked into Sean's office to have a look.

As she suspected, Sean was not in the office.

She then walked toward the table, and an abrupt ringtone could be heard under a stack of documents.

'Did Sean forget to take his phone with him?' Joelle moved the stack of documents away with her hand. She then grabbed the cold cell phone as if it was hers.

Joelle was stunned when she saw the name on the screen.

'Molly?

'This is clearly a girl's name!

'Who could it be?' A hint of coldness flashed across her eyes. She smiled faintly as she stared at the incoming call.

"Hi," Joelle said softly as she swiped the accept button.

'Sean saved her number in his contact, and her display name wasn't her full name. This means that they're close.

'But, who knows if she's a consummate person who wanted to take the opportunity to marry into a wealthy family.' Molly was stunned when she heard a female voice from her phone. She then glanced at the phone number she called.

'It's correct. It's Sean's phone number.

'Why is his phone with a lady?

'Is there a lady beside him?' Molly's heart suddenly skipped a beat. An inexplicable sourness spread across her heart. It made her chest feel uncomfortable

Chapter 644-Joelle was interested in Sean. She was currently cautious about Molly. She knew her guess was right when she did not hear any response.

The corners of her eyes were filled with coldness as she intentionally continued, "Sean left the office for an inspection. He probably left in a hurry. That's probably why he forgot to take his phone with him.

"May I ask why are you looking for him? Maybe you can call him again later? Or, you can tell me about it, and I'll personally convey your message to him when he comes back later."

Molly could not help but clench her fist. The feeling of discomfort was getting stronger and stronger as she felt that Joelle was close to Sean judging from the way she talked about him.

"It's fine. Thankyou."

Molly ended the call immediately, she was in a light daze as she stared at the screen of her phone.

She was thinking about the person who answered the call. 'She said Sean's name affectionately.

Could she be Sean's friend?

'But, she could go into the Anderson Corporation's CEO office.

They must be very close.

'But, why would a friend be so close that she answered his phone for him?' Molly's eyes were gloomy, she casually put her phone aside, she then leaned her body against the bed. She felt empty suddenly, and her mind was blank.

She realized her feelings a long time ago.

Sean appeared just in time whenever she was in danger. He was attentive and gentle to her unintentionally whenever they spent time together. These things made her understand her feelings clearly.

She liked Sean very much.

She blocked the cut for him regardless of personal danger because she liked him. It did not matter to her even if her life would be in danger.

They had been through so much within just 6 months, she would even often think back about the light kiss that happened a few days ago whenever she was free.

She thought she could finally be one step closer to Sean.

However, just when she thought about that, this lady who suddenly appeared undoubtedly woke her up.

It also reminded her that Sean never lacked admirers.

‘There are so many remarkable and excellent girls with good family backgrounds in this world.

‘How can I be confident that I could get Sean to like me and become the special someone in his eyes and heart?

‘Moreover, I’m a single mother.’ Molly did not forget Alice’s dislike toward her and how defensive Alice was toward her.

She did not mind those words initially. But now, those words suddenly hurt her like a sharp thorn stabbing her body.

‘Was everything just my misinterpretation?

‘Did I flatter myself that Sean likes me?’ Molly did not have a confident answer to that question.

Joelle smiled coldly as she heard the beep sound when Molly ended the call.

‘I thought she was an impressive lady. She lost control so easily!’ She placed the phone back in its original place carefully. Then, she relied on her memory to place the documents back in their initial place. 1 Initially, she was unhappy. But now, she was suddenly relieved.

Joelle smiled faintly as she walked out of the neat and tidy office. Her triumphant happiness could be seen in her footsteps.

She looked like a little fox who won.

Half an hour later.

Sean went back to his office after he finished his work. He did not realize that there was an extra answered phone call on his phone.

Joelle did not plan to tell him about it proactively, she was sitting at her desk the whole time. It was as though the phone call did not happen.

She was not worried that Sean would answer the call when the woman named Molly called him again.

She did not say or do anything anyway.

If they were just normal friends, those words that she said would mean nothing. But...

Chapter 645-If that lady liked Sean, she would be mad.

Joelle was flipping through a document, she suddenly laughed faintly, and the paper that she was squeezing wrinkled a little.

Tony walked past the cubicle as he was going to the CEO's office.

He could not help but stop walking when he heard some noises. He said to Joelle kindly, "Joelle, why are you so happy?"

She raised her head as she saw Tony, she then teased him.

"I'm happy to be able to work with you, Tony."

"Haha, you're too kind," Tony said as he smiled. He then went to find his boss to report his work.

When the human figure at the door disappeared, the smile on Joelle's face suddenly vanished. The coldness in her eyes lasted for a short time, she looked calm.

6 o'clock at night.

Sean was ready to leave as he had just finished his work. His door was opened by someone.

"Are you done with your work?" Ricky opened the door as he arrived. But, he did not walk into the office. He merely stood at the door when he asked that. He then raised his hands to fix his collar.

Tony nodded to Ricky to greet him. He then walked to the back of his boss and pushed him.

"Yes, I'm done."

Sean said that as he looked at his father.

"Let's go home and have dinner, then. Your mother had people cook for dinner. She asked me to find you and go home together," Ricky said.

"Okay." Sean did not refuse. He took out his phone to send a message to Molly. He told her that he was not able to have dinner with her.

He left with his father immediately after that.

Molly was standing by the window of the ward. The little white flower that was still blooming in the morning was now left with only the branches.

The leaves and petals were torn and left on the windowsill.

Molly quietly stared at the message that she just received, she did not reply.

“I’m not having dinner with you today...”

Molly had been distractedly thinking about the phone call that happened during the daytime for the whole day. she was even more upset when she saw Sean’s message.

‘Is he going to have dinner with that lady?’ The late night’s cold wind flowed through the window. The leaves and petals that were scattered next to the flowerpot drifted to the ground. The branches in the flowerpot looked a little lonely.

Molly had mixed feelings.

She stood by the window to feel the cold air for a little while, she tried hard to calm herself, she did not reply to Sean’s message in the end.

She immediately put her phone into her pocket. She then put the flower that was only left with branches on the bedside table next to the hospital bed. She watered the flower with enthusiasm.

‘Maybe they’re happily eating together...

‘It’s none of my business if they are eating together.

‘I’m nothing to Sean. Why should I be sad about it?’ Molly got over it. She put the thoughts that had been bugging her the whole day out of her head, she was preparing to pack up and discharge.

But, she did not realize that her intuition was quite strong in a sense.

The maid handed a hot tea to Sean who had just reached home.

The doorbell outside his house rang.

Joelle was in a simple chanel-style miniskirt when she walked into the house, she smiled as she greeted everyone in the house, "Hi, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson."

Joelle looked elegant and friendly when she was in a skirt, she was carrying two boxes of expensive tea leaves as welcome gifts.

Sean frowned. He gave the teacup back to his maid, then looked at his parents with questioning eyes. 1 But, Alice just ignored him. The corner of her lips lifted as she said, "Joelle, you don't have to bring any gifts."

Ricky ignored his son's stare too. He looked dull as he nodded his head to Joelle politely.

Chapter 646-Even though she was just his son's secretary, everybody knew that the person backing her up was a good friend of Ricky's father. So, none of them dared to mistreat her.

"It's just a token of appreciation," Joelle replied with a warm smile. She did not take the initiative to approach Sean even though she was interested in him because she knew that Sean would hate her for doing so.

She passed the gift to the butler. Then, she changed into a new pair of slippers and went into the house.

She saw Sean as soon as she stepped into the house, she greeted him after getting closer to him, "Mr. Sean, you wouldn't mind me having a free meal here, right?"

Sean's expression did not change one bit. He looked as nonchalant as he would be in the office. It seemed like Joelle was nothing but a pile of documents on his office desk.

He did not put any personal feelings into it while dealing with either of them.

"That's a question for the people preparing the meal, not me." Sean threw her a glance and the atmosphere turned cold.

Alice was worried for a second as she spoke hurriedly, “Okay, okay. Everyone’s here. Let’s start eating.”

Joelle was not bothered by what Sean said as she confidently strode ahead to the dining table and sat down.

Sean glanced over. ‘Why do I look like the petty one, right now?’ Sean felt like he was entering a royal banquet as he looked at the three people sitting at the table.

He was the last one to sit at the table, looking indifferent. He purposely picked the seat opposite Joelle.

Ricky and Alice were sitting at one side as they wanted him to sit beside Joelle, so Sean and Joelle would be facing them.

However, Sean sat on their side instead, leaving Joelle alone on one side.

Everyone paused while Sean looked nonchalant.

The expression on Joelle’s face changed slightly. She looked at the dishes on the table, and she lost all her appetite after seeing how much Sean wanted to avoid her.

‘Why won’t he just sit with me?’ She felt very insecure, but she did not show it on her face.

Ricky and Alice felt very awkward, and they had no idea what to do or say. After some time, Alice took the initiative to fetch some food for Joelle.

“Joelle, you don’t have to be shy at all. Eat more. Tell me what kind of dishes you like, and I’ll tell the chef to prepare them for you next time.” Alice knew that Mr. Anderson Sr. wanted Sean to be with Joelle.

She was also pretty satisfied with Joelle’s family background.

After seeing Joelle in person, she found out that Joelle was gorgeous and graceful, so she was very happy with her. That was why she was being so friendly to Joelle.

Then, something else happened.

Sean knew what she was trying to do, so he was not trying to give Alice any chance to get closer to her.

“Why didn’t Sharon come to our house recently?” Sean pretended to ask casually.

It was very clear why Joelle came to eat with them.

The entire Anderson family had acquiesced to Joelle’s presence. Even though Joelle told Sean that she was not interested in him, Sean did not believe her entirely.

Sean believed that not every woman would like him, but he refused to believe that they were not interested in what the Anderson Cooperation owned.

He repeatedly held himself back from breaking it off with his parents, but they just would not quit it.

So, he had no choice but to do something.

Alice could not help but glare at Sean when putting some food on Joelle’s plate.

‘What a little brat. All he wants to do is stay away from her.

‘Yet, now he stopped calling her Ms. Newman, but Sharon instead?

‘He’s clearly just trying to stir things up. What a troublemaker!’

Chapter 647-Joelle frowned as she could not stop thinking about what Sean had said.

'Sharon...

'Another woman.

'And, she has been here too.

'I guess she's pretty close with Sean's parents then, right?' Her curiosity took her over as she asked Alice, "Aunty, who's Sharon?"

Alice felt a little awkward as she forcefully lifted the edge of her mouth. She recollected herself and said, "Sharon Newman used to treat me, and her family has some business ties with the Anderson Cooperation too. So, we're kind of friends with each other, and she would pay us a visit occasionally.

However, I heard that something happened in her family, so she stopped coming here."

"I see."

Joelle pretended as if she did not care, but she opened her mouth again as if she wanted to ask another question. However, she was interrupted by Alice.

"Here, Joelle. Have some more.

"I can't let you go home hungry after inviting you for a meal with us."

Joelle changed her mind and swallowed her curiosity after seeing how kind Alice was to her.

"I will. Thank you."

'I'll get back to this after the meal.' Sean finished his food without bothering them, and he had no plans to stay any longer.

"I'll go back then."

Nobody asked him to stay this time. Ricky and Alice desperately wanted him to leave, so he would stop pulling the plug.

After some time.

Joelle ordered somebody to do something as soon as she got home.

"Look up if there's a Newman family in Northfolk, especially somebody named Sharon Newman, she has some connections with the Anderson Family."

She knew that she had to keep her friends close and her enemies closer!

Joelle was very fond of Sean, she was not going to allow any other woman to take him away before she decided to give up on him.

Joelle got the answer to her question very soon after that.

Thanks to Alice, she did not try to avoid appearing publicly with Sharon because she badly wanted Sharon to be with Sean previously.

Joelle sat on the sofa while watching the financial news after freshening up as her maid prepared some fruits in the kitchen.

Joelle did not react much after knowing who Sharon was. She watched the maid serving her a plate of fruits as she poured herself a cup of black tea before enjoying it.

'Sharon Newman is nothing.' Joelle picked up a piece of melon with her fork and put it in her mouth. She chewed it slowly as a mocking look appeared on her face.

She could not be bothered by the fallen Newman family and its heiress, Sharon.

'If Sharon was capable enough to make Sean like her...

'At the very least, if they were just normal friends, 'Sean would probably do something to help her, and her family wouldn't have ended up like this.' Joelle finished her fruits leisurely as if she had everything under control.

It was then she realized that Sean was only trying to distract her by bringing up Sharon.

At that time, Molly returned home from the hospital and the triplets were delighted to see her.

"Mommy, you're back!" The triplets said cheerfully as they rushed to the door to welcome her.

"Mommy, we missed you so much!"

"Mommy, is your wound getting better?"

All of them missed Molly very much before sleeping these few days. They were very not used to sleeping without Molly saying good night to them.

They just could not get a good sleep!

However, only Alex vaguely knew the reason why Molly was hospitalized.

He went forward and grabbed Molly's hand as he asked, "Mommy, how are you doing?"

However, he knew that Sean did not say anything about what happened that night, and Molly did the same too.

‘Maybe they just don’t want US to be worried!’

Chapter 648-Alex guessed that was what happened, so he did not tell anyone, including Ben and Claudia about what he saw that night.

Molly did not know what Alex was thinking as she held his hand and said with a smile, “Гг fine.”

Molly thought that she would feel a lot better after coming home to the triplets.

However, she only realized that she was distracted again because of Sean after staying in the room for a while.

The lights in the room were not switched on, and the dark environment was making it hard for her to pull herself together.

She dragged herself to the bed and buried her head in the sheets, feeling annoyed.

‘Why do I feel so irritated?’ She had never felt this distraught before.

Molly clearly had no idea what was happening to her because she was rather inexperienced in love.

Besides, she was a doctor, and she should always be calm and rational... Getting jealous was just not her thing.

The triplets asked her to play puzzles with them before she could spend more time in the room.

They said they were worried that Molly would be very bored staying at home after sleeping in the hospital for a week.

What they said made sense to her, so she went to the room next door with the triplets.

They sat around in a circle. There was a puzzle piece between Molly's fair fingers as she tried to figure out where to place it.

Then, she heard Claudia's voice.

"Brother, I don't know where to put this."

There was a puzzle set in front of each of the triplets. All of them were very focused on imagining what the sets would look like after they were completed.

Alex had just finished with a part of his set, and he was also almost done with the rest.

He glanced at his sister's progress and sighed before crawling to the puzzle pieces. "Let me have a look."

Ben was no worse than Alex as he connected piece after piece. He hardly paused and just kept going.

He was going to complete it soon!

The little guy's eyes glittered with excitement as he was about to be the first one to complete it.

"I found it. This piece is supposed to be here." There were two identical pieces on Alex's hand as he passed one of them to Claudia. Then, he helped her place the other one down.

However, Molly looked like she was frozen, and she was not making any progress at all. she had a piece of the puzzle in her hand for some time, but her mind had already wandered far away.

She thought about when they played chess in the living room.

She was playing with Sean while the triplets made bets among themselves. Sean was worried that she would be embarrassed after losing, so he kept letting her win.

Her memories were like water flooding into her head.

The more she tried to forget, the more it stuck to her.

The time they spent together was like a movie playing on repeat in her head.

Molly could still remember the sense of achievement and how proud she looked after playing the first round with Sean.

At that time, she really thought that she had defeated Sean with her own skills, she was very close to abandoning her career of becoming a professional chess player!

Molly was so caught up in her memories that she did not realize that a smile appeared on her face.

Suddenly, she thought about the phone call, and the smile faded away instantly. Her expression looked the complete opposite in just a split second.

Sean...

That woman called his name so intimately.

Molly was so irritated that she threw the puzzle piece in her hand, and it even messed up her progress that was close to completion.

'They even ate together!' She lost her rationality for a moment as her emotions took over.

The triplets were shocked to see Molly losing her cool suddenly. They looked at her unanimously, and they realized that Molly was feeling down

Chapter 649-‘Did something happen?’ The triplets looked at each other, and none of them knew what happened.

They asked curiously, “Mommy, what’s wrong?” “Nothing,” Molly answered them automatically, she looked at the messed-up puzzle in front of her and said while smiling, “It’s been too long since I played the puzzle. I was annoyed that I couldn’t finish it.”

Sean did not stay in the office after work, and he went home right away. He already knew that Molly was discharged when he was still in the car.

Tony was aware of it too. However, he knew that his boss was not a romantic person. An idea popped into his head, and he smiled before suggesting to the man sitting in the backseat, “Boss, do you want to buy a bouquet of flowers for Dr. May? To congratulate her on her discharge.”

‘Boss likes Ms. May so much. He probably won’t say no, right?’ “Every woman likes to receive flowers. I’m sure that Dr. May will be delighted.” He continued.

Sean looked out the window as he was a little tempted to do so.

He remembered that he once gave Molly red roses as it was a suggestion from Alex.

She was very happy to receive it.

“Let’s go now,” Sean told Tony to go to the florist right away without hesitating.

There was all kind of flowers in the shop.

Sean did not have any experience in buying flowers. He only knew that different flowers had different meanings after hearing the shop assistant’s explanation.

However, Sean's gaze fell on the burning red roses. There were a few crystal-clear water droplets on the bright petals, and they looked alluring.

"Please just get me a bouquet of red roses. That's all I need. Thanks." Sean picked the red roses right away as he told the shop assistant to pack them up for him.

"Red rose symbolizes passionate love. I'm sure that the girl who got this will be very happy." The shop assistant was very friendly as he chatted with Sean while wrapping the red roses up with colored paper.

Sean did not respond as the shop next door captured all his attention.

The shop assistant told him that roses were good for confession, and Molly's face appeared in his head.

He liked her, and he knew that she felt the same way toward him too.

However, now that he thought about it, he did not really confess his feelings to her in a proper way back then.

Sean suddenly thought of doing that after looking into the window of the jewelry shop next door.

Then, he turned around and went inside. The sales assistant went to welcome him enthusiastically after seeing a customer.

"Mister, how may I help you today?"

"I want to buy a gift for someone." Sean did not know much about what girls like, so he told the sales assistant to help him. After that, he told the sales assistant again, "It's for a confession."

The sales assistant took note of it and smiled. Then, he displayed a few appropriate designs of jewelry in front of Sean.

“Mister, have a look at these designs. All of them are very suitable for young girls and the design elements of these are trendy.”

She recommended some fashionable bracelets and necklaces made with platinum and melee diamonds. They were shining and luxurious, but not showy.

“I’ll get this one. Please bag it up for me.” Sean picked a necklace that matched Molly’s style. Then, he took out a black card for the shop assistant to swipe it.

Sean told Tony to send him back to Terahis Grove after buying the rose and gift.

It was already late when they arrived home. Sean opened the door and saw Molly inside.

Chapter 650-Molly was sitting on the sofa silently under the dim lights as if she was waiting for him to come home...

Sean felt a surge of warmth in his heart.

Molly lifted her head after hearing some noises coming from the entrance, and she saw Sean walking in. Then, she flatly said, “You’re back.”

Sean approached Molly while holding the bouquet of roses he bought. The red roses looked so striking that it was very attractive. However, Molly shifted her gaze without even looking at them.

She stood up and walked right back to the room.

“Let’s begin the treatment now that you’re back. I need to go home early to get some rest later.”

‘It won’t exist if I don’t look at it, and I can forget about him if I don’t interact with him.’ Molly thought to herself.

Sean looked at Molly's back and he immediately gave up the idea of giving her the flowers.

"Boss?" Even Tony, who was standing behind him, had no idea what was happening.

'Why do I feel like something's wrong with Dr. May today?' "You can go home now." Sean lifted his hand and asked Tony to leave as he carried the bouquet of red roses back to his bedroom.

Tony was confused as he looked at Sean and Molly, but he kept quiet anyway.

There was no need for Tony to be the third-wheeler since Molly was there.

Molly heard Sean coming into the bedroom, but she did not lift her head up.

She sat on her usual spot while arranging the needles that she was very familiar with, she had the herbal medicine that she made on the other hand, but she was not trying to start a conversation with Sean at all.

"I got these flowers for you for your discharge." Sean went to Molly and gave her the bouquet of flowers that were beautifully wrapped.

Molly looked at the striking flowers.

Then, she wondered if Sean had done the same for others as well.

"Thanks." She took the bouquet of flowers nonchalantly before putting it on the table.

She was not as surprised and happy as the last time she received flowers.

"Let's begin the treatment," Molly spoke.

Sean noticed that something was not right with her as he saw how Molly did not really want to talk to him. He pursed his lips and let Molly start treating him without saying anything.

It felt like when they first knew each other.

The room was completely silent, and only the sound of needles moving could be heard.

Molly was about to stand up after massaging him, but she knocked over the needle case beside her hand.

She reached out to pick it up, and Sean bent down to help her. Their fingers touched, and Molly shrugged his hand away without thinking twice.

Sean looked at his hand which was swung away for a few seconds before lifting his head up to look at her.

"What's going on with you tonight?" He noticed that something was not right with her as soon as he stepped inside.

Things had never gotten so cold between them other than the time they just knew each other. They looked like complete strangers to each other.

"Nothing. I'm just tired. I want to go back and get some rest now." Molly did not tell him the truth.

They were not committed to each other in any way, after all.

Perhaps they had some special feelings for each other, but it did not mean anything. Neither of them confessed their feelings, and Sean could treat just anyone like how he treated Molly.

They were from two different worlds anyway.

That was why Molly did not blame Alice for putting her guard up around her. There were just too many women who were better than her.

So, she wanted to stop herself from falling deeper into this love when she still had control over her own feelings, she thought that things would be better this way, even though she might not fall in love with anyone else.
