

Triplets On SM 761

Chapter 761-Another message was from Brycen, "Sister, get the work done and come back sooner. The kids couldn't sleep every night because they missed you so much. They forced me to tell them bedtime stories. It's so torturous because I'm not good at telling bedtime stories! Come back soon and save me, sister."

The third message was a push message from a public number.

She opened the conversation with Sean. Their latest chat history was in the afternoon.

She sent him a message, "What are you doing?"

Sean did not reply.

It meant that Molly had not heard from Sean for more than 10 hours.

She was inexplicably uneasy. 'Is it because he's really busy? That's why he forgets to text me?

'Or, are there any other reasons?' "Molly, what's wrong?" Jadon, who was sitting beside her, noticed that she seemed a little off. So, he caringly asked her that.

Molly locked her phone subconsciously. She smiled as she honestly said, 'I'm fine. I haven't heard from my boyfriend today. So, I'm a little worried. But, he's probably busy.'

"Youngsters nowadays are very busy. I guess he has something to do!" Jadon nodded.

Selina, who was driving, smiled when she heard that. She jokingly said, "Ms. May, what do you think of your boyfriend as a person? There are a lot of jerks these days. They find other girls to have fun with when their girlfriends aren't around. Many guys are like that. You should be careful."

“Really?”

Molly was severely stunned. She subconsciously rebutted, “He won’t. Sean isn’t like that.”

“Selina, what kind of nonsense was that? Can’t you say something good?!” Jadon scolded her too.

Selina immediately apologized, “I’m sorry, Ms. May. I overthought it. I met quite a lot of jerks in the past. So...”

Girls overseas were mostly like her. They were straightforward, and they said whatever was on their mind.

But, they did not mean it in a bad way.

Molly shook her head as she gently said, “It’s fine.”

But, she still felt a little uneasy. Because in the past, Sean would send her a text even if he was very busy; even if it was just a morning text. But, he did not text her at all today.

‘What is he doing?’ After dinner, Molly then went back to the research laboratory with Jadon to continue working.

When she was busy doing her work, she did not have the time to think about other things.

However, she could not help but imagine things again when she was going home alone at night.

‘Why didn’t he send me any text at all today?’

‘There’s no way that Sean totally didn’t use his phone the whole day even if he has work to do.’

Molly was filled with worry as she went back to her hotel room. She took out the room card and was ready to open the door with it.

Maybe because her thoughts wandered off too much, as she did not notice that there was someone stealthily approaching her from behind.

Sean arrived in Fomanesia long ago. He went to the subsidiary company to deal with some work before he came to the hotel Molly was staying in to wait for her at night.

Right now, he was in a corner not far away from Molly. He quietly pushed his wheelchair to approach her as he saw her opening the door.

“Miss.”

“Ah.”

Suddenly, Molly’s shoulder was patted by someone. She was scared as she sharply looked back. But, in front of her was a bouquet of roses.

The person who was holding the flowers was hiding behind them. So, she could not see the person’s face clearly.

“Who are you?” 1 Molly could not help but feel surprised. She raised her hands to part the roses, and then She saw Sean’s handsome face.

“Sean?”

She was suddenly over the moon. She covered her mouth as she showed a face of disbelief.

The person who she was waiting for the whole day appeared in front of her right now!

Chapter 762-“Sean, why are you here?” Molly was extremely surprised.

At that moment, the days of missing Sean had turned into excitement and happiness. She almost cried!

Sean was delighted too, as he saw the big smile on Molly’s face. His eyes were filled with tenderness as he said, “I coincidentally had some work to do here in Fomanesia. So, I stopped by to see you. Have you gotten used to the things here?”

“Yes, quite well. But... Today isn’t so good.” Molly felt wronged suddenly.

“What happened today?” Sean frowned immediately.

“You didn’t reply to my message,” Molly disappointedly murmured.

Molly was very upset because she did not receive any text messages from Sean for one whole day. The emptiness she felt was quite torturous.

Sean suddenly felt very guilty. He did not reply to her message intentionally because he wanted to give her a surprise.

But, he did not expect that it would worry her.

He immediately grabbed her soft tiny hand as he apologized, “I’m sorry. I won’t worry you again.”

Molly smiled softly. ‘Actually, I just want to complain about it. How can I blame him? After all, he made so much effort to get here. I’m so happy because of it!’ “Are you hungry? There’s a small hot pot in my room. Do you want me to cook for you?” Molly said. A beep sound could be heard as she swiped open the door. She then pushed Sean to go into the room.

Sean suddenly realized that Molly had a skill when he saw the layout in front of him. No matter where she stayed, she could make the room give out a warm feeling.

He then turned his head to look at Molly. He saw her taking out the electrical pot and was planning to cook.

“You don’t have to cook for me. I’m not hungry,” Sean said softly. He then curled his long finger at her. “Come here.”

Molly looked confused. She then walked toward him. “What’s wrong?”

She felt that her wrist was grabbed by someone the next second. Her body took a spin immediately. She was then in fragrant and warm arms.

Sean held her in his arms. His dense obsidian eyes stared into Molly’s eyes. His dark eyes were filled with gentleness.

“I miss you,” he whispered. His voice was raspy but magnetic. It had the power to seduce people.

Molly’s face was red right away. She was so shy that she could not look him in the eyes. She stuttered, “I-I miss you too.”

“Huh? I didn’t hear what you said.” Sean lowered his voice. It seemed like he gave a faint smile.

Molly was extremely shy. She then built up the courage to stare him in the eyes as she proudly said, “I said, I miss you too.”

“Really?”

The corner of Sean’s lips lifted slightly. Suddenly, he pinched her chin with his long and pretty fingers as he kissed her.

Molly did not expect to be kissed. She suddenly held her breath. Soon, she relaxed her body as she closed her eyes and enjoy the kiss.

Sean grabbed the back of her head manly, and he kissed her gently. Her lips were sweet and soft. He did not want to stop kissing her.

One part of his body even reacted. But, he did not realize it.

When Molly unintentionally changed her posture to fix her shirts, only then did she realize that she suddenly touched something...

She was stunned immediately, and her cheeks turned extremely red in an instant. Her heart was racing!

"Ahem!"

Sean covered his mouth with his fist. His cough covered up the awkwardness. He then tenderly pushed Molly away, "Can you get me a cup of water?"

"Oh... Okay."

Molly hurriedly got up from his arms. She was still confused

Chapter 763-The cup was so full of warm water that the water flowed out onto the table. Only then Molly came back to her senses. She took a deep breath as her heartbeat gradually went back to normal.

She then served Sean the cup of warm water and said, "Drink some."

Sean said sure to her softly. The mood between them finally returned to normal.

Molly curiously asked, "How many days are you staying in Fomanesia for this trip?" "My initial prediction is one week. But, I'm not sure if that's enough," Sean said honestly.

One week for him to deal with his work was more than enough. He mainly wanted to spend more time with her. That was why he was worried that one week was not enough.

But, Molly was overjoyed. 'One week? That's plenty of time!' The thought of being able to see Sean every day for the next seven days made her smile unconsciously.

'I'll try to finish my work earlier for the next few days, so I can spend more time with you. We can go shopping.

We can also have something good together. Are you okay with that?" She asked as she smiled. She could imagine how happy she would be for the upcoming days.

Sean's thick lips lifted slightly. He rubbed her hair as he gently said, "it's up to you. I'll just follow your arrangement. We'll spend the next few days alone anyway. No one else will disturb US."

'Yes!"

Molly nodded happily. She then snuggled into Sean's arms. She greedily smelled the fragrance of his body, and she felt exceptionally safe.

'It feels so good to have him by my side!' But, they had a practical problem tonight.

'There's only one bed in this room. If we're sleeping in the same room, does that mean...' Molly blushed as she thought about that. She bit her lips as she nervously said, "There aren't enough beds for both of US in this room. I'll go to the reception to get US another room."

She wanted to walk outside after she said that.

However, her wrist was grabbed by a warm strength just when she wanted to move her feet.

Sean pulled her back to him. His eyes were filled with pampering as he tenderly said, "You don't have to get a new room. I'll sleep on the couch tonight. You can sleep on the bed."

"No way. Your legs aren't well. How can I let you sleep on the couch?" Molly strongly disagreed.

'His legs haven't recovered from the injury yet. How can I let him sleep on the couch?' 'Since the bed is big enough, why don't you sleep on the left and I sleep on the right? What do you think?' Sean suggested once more.

He finally had the chance to come to Fomanesia. Whenever he thought about leaving his girlfriend, he was reluctant to do so. He wanted to stay with her. He would rather not sleep and sit on the couch looking at her than leave her.

Of course, he did not have any bad thoughts about her.

Sean would never have sexual intercourse with Molly before marriage out of respect and love.

Molly heard Sean's suggestion. She could not help but feel shy when she thought about sharing the bed with Sean.

'But come to think about it, Sean came all the way here from our home country. And, we don't have much time to spend together because I have to work during the day. If we sleep in a separate room at night, this is no different from having a long-distance relationship.' So, she nodded shyly, "All right. I'll ask the staff to get another quilt."

"Okay."

The staff then took a quilt for them after a while.

After brushing their teeth, they went to bed in their own quilt at night. They switched on a small night light, and they looked at each other and dazzlingly smiled.

It was as though they felt incredibly safe as long as they can see each other

Chapter 764-ith a big yawn after hearing the alarm. However, she felt like there was something on her stomach, and she could not sit up straight at all.

She looked down confusedly and saw a slender arm wrapped tightly around her waist.

And, that arm belonged to...

Sean was still deep in his sleep because of the jetlag. He had no idea that Molly was awake, nor he was aware that he was being sized up as if he was a piece of art.

It was Molly's first time looking at Sean from such a close distance. She could not help but be impressed by how handsome he looked.

His long, fan-shaped lashes were thick and dark, and his eyebrows were arched at a perfect angle too. His nose looked sharp, and he also had a pair of rosy-pink lips. On top of that, his skin was so flawless that it looked like porcelain.

Molly gulped subconsciously as she thought to herself, 'I'm sure that not many women can resist a handsome man like this, huh?' Then, she thought again as she quietly rejoiced, 'This perfect man is already my boyfriend.' That happy thought of hers lasted the entire morning.

A smile could still be seen on Molly's face when she was researching. She looked at the chemical containers with her soft gaze as if they were her most precious things in the world.

Jadon immediately noticed that something was not right with Molly, and he put on a confused look. "Molly, did something good happen to you? Why do you look so happy?"

"Oh, it's nothing..." Molly turned shy as she blushed.

Ding.

Suddenly, the phone in her pocket rang. It was then Molly realized that she forgot to mute her phone.

She took her phone out and saw a text from Sean. "Good morning."

It was just a simple greeting, but it was already enough to put a big smile on Molly's face. She felt like her soul was flooded by sunshine.

Then, she replied to Sean right away, "Do you know what time it is now?"

It was already close to eleven in the morning. However, Molly felt even sweeter after imagining how Sean looked while texting her with his bleary eyes after just waking up.

Selina glanced at Molly's phone out of curiosity when she walked past her, and her jaw dropped. "Tsk, tsk. A woman in love, I see. Mr. Scott, Ms. Molly was texting her boyfriend just now."

"Oh!"

Jadon nodded slowly and smiled. Then, he spoke in a gentle and compassionate voice that aged together with him, "The good thing about being young is that you can still experience the wonders of love. I'm too old now. I can hardly feel what it's like to be in love."

Molly smiled faintly but did not say anything after hearing Jadon's words.

In the afternoon, Molly removed her big white coat, and she was about to eat outside. However, she found out that a brand-new Lamborghini was parked outside the research laboratory as soon as she stepped out.

The sunlight reflected on the paint, and the car looked sparkling. Tony was standing beside the car when he saw Molly coming out. "Ms. May, the boss is waiting for you to have lunch together in the car," he said to Molly courteously.

"Ah? Okay." Molly smiled tenderly and walked toward the car.

Selina coincidentally saw Molly getting into the car when she came out of the research laboratory, and she was shocked.

'What a luxurious car. That Lamborghini model is limited worldwide!'

Chapter 765-"Ms. May!" Selina took a few steps forward curiously and asked, "Is this..."

"Oh, this is my boyfriend," Molly smiled and spoke.

The window rolled down coincidentally at that time.

Sean sat in the car, looking cold. His features looked so delicate that they felt unreal. He nodded at Selina and flatly said in a courteous manner, "I'm sorry, but I'm taking Molly out to have lunch now. I'm afraid she won't be able to spend time with you and Mr. Scott for now. Please excuse US."

"Ah..."

Selina was amazed by that man's temperament and appearance. It took her two seconds to recollect herself before she waved her hand and said, ' Don't worry about it. Just enjoy your lunch. I'll tell Mr. Scott about it."

Then, she turned to Molly and gave her a knowing look. "Ms. May, you have good taste."

Molly smiled as she agreed with what Selina said. Then, she left the research laboratory with Sean.

The same thing happened for the next few days. Molly would finish her work as quickly as possible and leave the lab.

Jadon could not help but ask Molly after noticing how she would always leave work in a hurry. "Molly, why do you keep going back early these days?"

"Mr. Scott, Ms. May's boyfriend is here. He comes here every day just to go on a date with her!"

Selina answered Jadon gleefully before Molly could say anything, looking nosy and mischievous. She felt very happy for Molly when she thought about how handsome Sean was.

Molly got shy, but she explained to Jadon honestly anyway, "Mr. Scott, my boyfriend came to Fomanesia to take care of something these few days. He would come to pick me up whenever he's done with work, and I want to get off work earlier to spend more time with him too, so..."

"Oh, I see. That's a good thing!"

Jadon was a reasonable man. Even though they had a lot of work to do in the lab, it should not be a reason to affect Molly's personal life.

It was only right for Molly to spend some time with her boyfriend since he traveled all the way there.

Jadon smiled benevolently and said, "Why don't you introduce me to your boyfriend now that he's here?"

"Sure. I'll be sure to do that whenever we have the time," Molly nodded and spoke.

"But, would it be okay for me to take a day off tomorrow?" Molly continued to speak after pausing for a moment. "I heard that there's a huge exhibition in Fomanesia, and Sean wants to go there with me, so..."

"Of course!" Jadon said without hesitating.

The project that they were working on had gone into the testing phase, and it was not necessary for them to be in the lab every second. So, there was no reason for Jadon to reject her request. Instead, he was very supportive.

"Would you mind keeping an eye out for the good stuff in the auction for me tomorrow? My granddaughter's birthday is coming soon, and I want to buy her a gift." Jadon said.

“Sure.” Molly nodded with a smile.

Then, Molly went on a date with Sean the next day after taking the leave.

They walked around the streets of Fomanesia together. They watched the street artists’ performance, went to Prism Square to look at the white pigeons, and visited a western restaurant to enjoy the finest steak. They had a great time.

In the afternoon, they went to the city auditorium to visit an art exhibition Molly pushed Sean, and they indulged themselves in all kinds of artwork.

Chapter 766-There were various art objects in the exhibition. Some of them were unearthed cultural relics, and some of them were masterpieces of artists who died. They were also ancient pianos, advanced robots, etc.

Suddenly, Sean raised his hand, asking Molly to stop as he shifted his gaze to a vintage vase.

‘Wow. This vase is so beautiful.’

Molly glanced over, and the exquisite pattern on the vase caught her attention. She was amazed. “A vase like this has got to cost at least a few hundred thousand, right?”

“Few hundred thousand? You’ve got to be kidding me!”

A manager who was in charge of introducing the artworks to the guests appeared and said to Molly politely, “This vase is a relic from 618 to 906 A.D. It was found in an emperor’s grave, and it’s worth way more than that. You’ll need to pay a lot more if you want to take it home.

‘We’ll be having an auction tonight, and the starting bid for this vase will be three million dollars!’

‘Three million?’

Molly was shocked by the figure. Then, she asked Sean curiously, "Is this vase really worth that much?"

Sean nodded without saying anything. Indeed, that vase was an extremely valuable piece. Otherwise, he would not have stopped in front of it.

'I want to buy it for my grandpa. What do you think?' Sean turned around and asked Molly.

Molly looked at the delicate vase from top to bottom again, and she strongly supported Sean's decision. "I don't see why not. Old people usually like antiques like this, right? I'm pretty sure your grandpa will love this vase."

Then, Sean nodded and said, "Okay then. Come with me to the auction today."

"Sure!"

After that, Sean brought Molly to attend the auction at night.

Molly and Sean kept quiet and watched the others compete while other artworks were getting auctioned.

However, Sean raised the bid immediately when that vase was brought out. "Four million."

'Four million?' 'Is a vase worth this much?' The bidders who sat around Sean all looked at him. Sean sat there composedly, and his elegant temperament convinced them that the vase he had his eyes on must be very valuable.

Then, somebody raised the bid. "Four and a half million!"

"Woah." The crowd was impressed.

It was indeed a little absurd to buy just a vase for that price!

However, what Sean said next made everybody's jaws drop. "Six million."

"Six million. Does anyone want to go higher than that? If that's the case, six million going once, six million going twice..."

"Seven million!" Somebody shouted.

Then, Sean's voice overpowered that person immediately. "Ten million."

"Ten million!"

Nobody offered a higher price to compete with Sean this time.

That was because one, that vase could never be worth up to ten million no matter how valuable it was.

And two, everybody there could see how determined Sean was in getting that vase!

In the end, Sean won the bid.

"Sean, isn't it too expensive to buy a vase for ten million?"

After the auction ended, Molly sat in the car while holding the antique vase in her arms. She thought that it was too extravagant to buy a vase for ten million.

However, Sean only smiled faintly and said, "I'm willing to pay anything as long as grandpa will like it."

Chapter 767-"You're right."

Molly smiled and continued speaking after placing the vase down stably." What do you feel like eating tonight? I'll cook it for you when we get back."

“Anything will do.” Sean turned and looked at Molly. The light in the car made his gaze look extra gentle. “I’ll enjoy the food as long as you’re the one who cooks it.”

Molly blushed and mumbled under her breath, “Someone’s getting better at sweet-talking.”

After they went back to the hotel, Molly took her induction cooker and the ingredients stored in the fridge out.

She washed all the ingredients and prepared them to be cooked. Then, she started cooking after the cooker was heated.

Even though the ingredients were not the finest and most expensive ones, they felt very satisfied to be able to be in the same room and have a meal with each other.

After a while, the induction cooker was heated, and Molly and Sean started cooking together.

“Sean, try this.” Molly took a piece of foie gras and put it in Sean’s mouth after it was cooked. Then, she said with a smile, “Eat this with the sauce here. It’s pretty delicious. This is from a goose that Mr. Scott raised himself in Fomanesia!”

Sean took a bite and nodded slowly. “It’s nice.”

He paused for a while and said, “Why don’t we treat your teacher to a meal tomorrow? I haven’t met him since the day I came here.”

“Sure! I’ll tell him about it tomorrow.” Molly agreed without hesitating.

Jadon had done so much for her. ‘It’s time for me to introduce Sean to Mr. Scott anyway,’ She thought to herself.

They finished eating later at night. After Molly cleaned up everything, she told Tony to come over and help Sean to shower while she stood on the balcony to hand-wash her innerwear.

It was already eleven when she took a shower and got everything else done.

She came out of the bathroom while wearing an oversized silk pajama. She was about to go to bed straight to sleep, but she saw Sean sitting before the study table. She had no idea what he was looking at.

“Sean, it’s time to sleep.” She approached him and spoke.

Sean turned around, and his attractive features looked so surreal that he looked like he was sent from heaven as he smiled.

‘Close your eyes and give me your hand,” he said softly.

“What?” Molly was puzzled but she did as he said anyway.

Then, her wrist felt suddenly cold. She opened her eyes and saw Sean putting on a fancy bracelet for her.

The bracelet shone beautifully under the yellow light of the room. The design of the bracelet looked very delicate and eye-catching. It was just ravishing.

“Sean, when... when did you buy this?” Molly was very surprised.

Then, Sean explained to her with a smile, “On the auction tonight. I saw this bracelet and thought that it’ll look good on you, so I bought it when you went to the washroom.”

He lifted his brows and asked, “Do you like it?”

“Yeah. Very much!” Molly looked at the bracelet of fine workmanship meticulously, and she just could not find herself taking it off.

However, she felt a lump in her throat, and she suddenly felt very guilty. ‘ Sean, you bought me so many presents, yet I have given you nothing. I’ll be sure to make up for it next time. It’d be fairer for both of US that way.”

“You’re so silly.”

Sean did not care about anything like that. He grabbed her hand and softly said while caressing her soft skin, “Why don’t you consider marrying me earlier if you really want to give me a present? To me, that’d be the best gift ever.”

Chapter 768-Molly was stunned. Then, happiness swelled within her. Of course, she would want to marry Sean, but...

“Sean, if we were to really get married, your mom would probably be against it, right?” Molly said as the smile gradually disappeared from her face.

However, Sean smiled. He grabbed Molly’s arm and pulled her closer to himself before he comforted her, “Don’t worry. My mom isn’t going to say no. I’ll figure something out to convince her. I’m going to marry you still if I couldn’t do that. You’re the only person I’ll ever marry, and no one can change that.”

“Sean...”

Molly immediately felt reassured after hearing how determined Sean was.

She leaned close to Sean and felt very contented and blessed.

On the next day, Jadon and Sean finally met after Molly introduced them to each other.

“Mr. Scott, this is my boyfriend, Sean. Sean, this is Mr. Scott.”

Sean stretched out his right hand politely and calmly said, 'Mr. Scott, nice to meet you.'

"Nice to meet you too!" Jadon nodded kindly.

However, after looking at Sean carefully, Jadon's eyes sparkled as he curiously said, "I feel like I've seen this young man before."

"Me too." Selina nodded. The more she looked at Sean, the more she felt that she had met him before.

Molly heard them and smiled faintly. The Anderson Corporation was one of the top international enterprises.

Sean, who was the helmsman of the company, had also been named to be the top three performers in the industry.

Besides, Sean was extremely good-looking and talented in doing business.

It was just difficult for people not to know about him.

It would only be right for them to think that Sean looked familiar.

However, Molly was not planning to reveal Sean's real identity.

Even so, Jadon could still sense Sean's outstanding temperament. He noticed that Sean had a real touch of elegance judging from the way Sean moved, and he knew that Sean did not come from an ordinary family.

So, he could not help but ask, "Molly, if you don't mind me asking, what does your boyfriend do for a living?"

“I...”

Molly did not want to reveal Sean’s identity yet, so she smiled and said, ‘ Mr. Scott, my boyfriend is working in the financial securities industry, right? Sean?’

She looked at Sean and squinted while saying that.

Sean furrowed his brows. He did not understand why Molly was trying to hide his identity.

However, he decided to play along with her since that was what she wanted. “Yes. I’m just a small staff in a finance company. I’m really lucky that I get to be with Molly.”

“Hey, you can’t say that!”

Jadon interrupted Sean and said politely after hearing Sean’s words, “Sean, I’m very good at reading a person. You’re so young, yet I can feel how imposing you already are. I’m sure that you’ll achieve great things in the future. Don’t ever underestimate yourself!”

“Yes, you’re right.”

Sean nodded gracefully.

Then, Molly threw Sean a knowing smile.

Selina, who was sitting on the side, was dumbfounded. She was extremely confused.

‘This isn’t right!

‘I saw Ms. May’s boyfriend picking her up in a world-limited Lamborghini after work that day. That car has got to cost tens of millions!

'Besides, I can tell that this man isn't just a normal staff. He looks so imposing and eminent. That can't be right!' Tm sure that something's wrong here!' She could almost be certain that Molly's boyfriend was not just an ordinary man

Chapter 769-The more Selina thought about it, the more curious she got. Her eyes were wide open when she looked at Sean from head to toe. However, she felt that it would be inappropriate to ask him about it right away, so she held it in.

Jadon was very talkative. He spoke to Sean about a lot of things, and he enjoyed himself very much.

After the meal, Jadon even gave Sean some advice. "Sean, Molly is a very kind and caring person. She can be a little introverted, and she isn't very good at expressing herself sometimes. As her boyfriend, you've got to take good care of her. I have high hopes to attend your wedding dinner with her!' Sean nodded politely and said, "Mr. Scott, don't worry. I'll be sure to do that. After all, she's the only person I want to marry!"

'The only person I want to marry.' Molly felt a flush of happiness. She looked into Sean's eyes, and joy rippled through her.

Jadon nodded in satisfaction and said in a deep voice, "Good, good. That's all I need to hear. I'll leave with Selina now. You guys can walk around in the afternoon later."

"Sure."

After that, Sean and Molly watched them leave. They were the only two people left in the spacious private room.

Molly turned around and looked at Sean as she smiled contentedly, "You did well in front of Mr. Scott just now."

Sean smiled too. Then, he asked out of curiosity, "Why didn't you tell your teacher about my real identity? Am I too embarrassing for you?"

“Why would you say that?”

Molly had no idea what was going on in Sean’s head as so many people wanted to be like him. ‘Why would he think that it’s embarrassing?’ But...

“Sean, my teacher is a very simple man. He’d probably think that I only chose to be with you because of your wealth if I told him about your real identity. I’m afraid that he would even have a prejudice against you.

“But, that won’t happen now. We didn’t tell him who you are, so he could judge your character without being biased. It’s going to be just the same if we told him about it after he really knows you, right?”

‘Indeed, Molly is such a thoughtful person.’ Sean finally understood her intention. He lifted his slender arm and touched her cheek gently before he said with a smile, “Sure. You’re the boss.”

For the next few days, Sean stayed there to keep Molly company.

He was done with his work in just a day. Sean only stayed in Fomanesia because he wanted to spend time with Molly and take care of her.

Sean would pick Molly up every day after work. They would either have dinner in a restaurant or go back to the hotel and cook for themselves. The days they spent were simple yet meaningful.

Unfortunately, days like that had to end after a week had gone by.

“Molly, how much longer do you have to stay here before finishing your work?”

At night, Sean sat on the couch and asked Molly.

He was the person in charge of the Anderson Corporation. His schedule was so busy that he would have a lot of work to do after not returning for just three days. So, he had to go back because of that.

However, he did not want to go back alone. He wanted to bring Molly with him.

Molly knew just what Sean was thinking about. She sat on the couch beside him and asked, "Is it time for you to go back?"

"Yeah." Sean reached out naturally and wrapped his arm around Molly's waist. They sat intimately while leaning onto each other.

Molly wanted to go back too, but she signed. "I might have to stay here for quite some time. The research has entered the testing phase now, but the result is still pending. I can't leave right now. You should go back first if there's no other choice."

Chapter 770-"But, I'm worried about you being alone here."

Sean said softly before kissing Molly's forehead. Then, he added, "I'll miss you."

"I'll miss you too." Molly lifted her coquettish face and gave Sean a peck on his cheek. Then, she said, "How nice it would be if we could spend every day together?"

"But, that's okay. I'll probably be back not long after you return. We can be together with each other again by then."

"Okay," Sean said and hugged Molly even tighter.

The next morning, Molly sent Sean to the airport. She waved him goodbye reluctantly and said, "Remember to take care of yourself when you get back. Tell the kids I'll be back very soon. Also, tell them not to miss me too much, okay?"

"Sure."

Sean gave Molly a tight hug after saying that. "I'll get going now. See you soon."

“Okay.”

After that, Molly watched Sean get on the plane. She exhaled deeply after hearing the plane’s loud roar flying above her.

‘This feels awful!’ It was Molly’s first time leaving the triplets for so long, and she missed them very much.

‘I wonder if the kids are eating well without me.’ Before she left, she told Brycen to keep an eye on the triplets and stopped them from eating too many snacks. She had no idea if Brycen did listen to her or not.

The more Molly thought about it, the worse she felt. So, she shook those thoughts away and cleared her head.

Her top priority should be work. She would be able to return home as soon as she was done researching the project for Jadon.

However, she saw Jadon looking gloomy when she went back to the laboratory.

“Mr. Scott, are you okay?” Molly asked out of concern.

“Molly, the result came out just now, and it didn’t turn out very well. I might need you to stay here for a while longer!”

Jadon sighed after saying that. He did not want to keep Molly there for so long either. However, he did not have enough manpower in the laboratory, so he had no other choice.

Molly looked a little disappointed. She thought that the project was ending soon and that she could return home earlier.

However, Molly thought that Jadon would be very sad too after thinking about it. He had been working on this project for so many years, but the result turned out to be unsatisfactory after going through so many things.

So, Molly faked a smile and tried to make Jadon feel better. “Mr. Scott, it’s fine. We’ll just make some adjustments since the result didn’t turn out well. Let’s try again. Who knows if we’ll succeed the next time?”

“Kid, you’re so optimistic.”

Jadon’s mood became a lot better after hearing Molly’s words. Then, he nodded. “Okay. I’ll be more patient, then. We can do this!”

“Yeah.” Molly nodded with a smile. However, she sighed after she turned around.

‘It looks like I need to spend more time here before I can get back to my kids.’ Sean was also fully committed to his work after he went back.

After a week of building up, he had a few stacks of documents waiting for him to be handled in his office.

A normal person would probably collapse after seeing how much work there was to be done.

However, Sean sat before his desk calmly as he took care of each of the documents concentratedly. He looked very indifferent, meticulous, and composed as if he was a business genius who came right out of a financial magazine.