

Triplets On SM 781

Chapter 781-Sean heaved a sigh of relief after hearing Molly say that. He then said, "That's great."

Immediately, Sean frowned when he looked at his legs in disappointment and said, "I don't know when my legs will return to normal completely."

"The rehabilitation can't be rushed. Don't worry. Besides, I'm with you, aren't I? Just take it slow, and everything will be fine," Molly immediately comforted Sean and said softly.

With Molly's encouragement, Sean was not depressed anymore.

'Molly's right. There's no need to rush it. I will be alright,' Sean thought.

"Let's go. I'll take you back to your room," said Molly. She took the initiative to push Sean upstairs.

Tony naturally stopped following behind them. He just watched Molly and his boss from behind with a smile.

After arriving in the room, Molly took out the medicine box and planned to give Sean his treatment.

Molly could not treat Sean's legs as she was in Fomanesia. Today, he was finally able to walk with his legs. She had to seize the opportunity to help him lax his muscles and veins.

Then, Molly treated Sean patiently, and he looked at her tenderly.

Molly lowered her head slightly, and her hair fell down the side of her face. It was extraordinarily elegant and charming.

Molly did not notice Sean's gaze at all. She focused on treating Sean and softly said, "If you feel any pain, let me know."

“Okay,” Sean replied softly.

After a while, Molly finished the treatment for Sean and breathed a sigh of relief. She said, “Good. I can feel the neurons in your legs are more active than before. They are getting better in the days to come.”

After Molly said that, she got up and put the medicine box back in its place.

Sean looked at the busy Molly’s back. He lost his mind for some reason and called her softly, “Molly, come here.”

Molly looked back at Sean and could guess what Sean wanted to do. Since she was in a good mood, she did not hesitate. She moved forward and kissed Sean’s cheek.

“Is that enough?” Molly asked. After bestowing him a light kiss, she looked into Sean’s eyes with a smile.

Molly’s clear eyes seemed as though they were filled with crystal-clear water and mist.

When she stared at someone seriously, there was a kind of attraction that made others unable to turn away from it.

Sean stretched out his hand and pulled Molly’s neck toward him, intending to kiss her on the lips.

However, a voice suddenly came from outside the door, “Young master, lunch is ready.

Do you...”

The housekeeper spoke halfway and stopped abruptly. The housekeeper’s face blushed and said, “I’m sorry for disturbing you.”

Then, the housekeeper backed away quickly and silently.

The atmosphere was interrupted, and the kiss between the two had to stop.

Although they did not kiss, Molly's face was already blushing. She stammered in embarrassment and said, "Shall we head down for lunch?"

"Okay." Sean smiled lightly. Molly pushed him, and they went down together.

At the dining table, Molly just remembered that she had not seen her children today!

In an instant, Molly curiously asked, "Sean, where are the children? I haven't seen them around."

"They are..." Sean paused. The three little ones were actually spending time with his mother. However, he could not say it directly.

So, after hesitating for a while, he casually replied, "They went out with your grandfather."

"With Grandpa? But, isn't he going to play chess with his friends?" Molly asked as she was puzzled.

"Yeah, the three little ones said that they like chess, so they went together and wanted to have a look," Sean said without changing his expression.

Chapter 782-Molly was stunned for a moment. She thought, When did the three little ones like to play chess?' Before Molly could say anything, Sean scooped some food into her bowl and gently said, "You've worked hard abroad these days. Since you're back, you should take a good rest.

You can still see the children when they come back." "Alright," Molly nodded and said. That was all she could do.

After the meal, Molly put down her utensils and said, "Then, I'll go home and rest now."

“Wait.” Sean stopped her softly. His expression was indifferent, and he said, “Since there’s no one at your home, why don’t you rest here? I’ll wake you up when the children are back.”

“Huh?” Molly was startled. She seemed hesitant.

■Rest here...? Wouldn’t that be inappropriate?’ Molly thought.

Sean’s tone was irresistible. He instructed Tony, “Tony, ready the guest room for Ms. May.

Let her have a good rest.”

“Yes, Boss,” Tony said and turned around.

Molly was hesitant, but she had to stay. Yet, she could not help but tease, ‘Isn’t it the same where I rest? I can’t talk to you when I’m sleeping anyway.”

“Who said I wanted you to talk to me?” Sean asked.

Sean looked at Molly indifferently. He had a smile on his face and said, ‘Get some rest.

I’ll just check on you occasionally.’ ‘Most importantly, I don’t want to be separated from Molly since she hasn’t returned for a long time.

‘Even if she sleeps in the guest room, it’s better than her disappearing from my sight,’ Sean thought.

Molly turned around to go upstairs, and she quickly fell asleep.

When Molly woke up, it was already evening.

“Molly, are you awake?” Sean gently knocked on the door and asked.

Molly rubbed her eyes in a daze and said, “Yeah, I’m awake.”

“The children are all home. Come down, quick,” Sean said.

When Molly heard that her children were back, her eyes lit up instantly!

Molly got up immediately, put on her coat, and went downstairs. Then, she pushed Sean over to the Mays’ house together.

“Alex, Ben, Claudia. I’m back!” Molly said as soon as she entered the house.

Molly squatted down and happily opened her arms to the three little ones.

The three little ones had no idea Molly was back. When they heard the voice and looked back, they all smiled in surprise, revealing their white baby teeth.

“Mommy!” the three little ones exclaimed. They ran toward Molly at the same time and hugged her.

Molly hugged the three little ones and greedily smelled them. It was more than satisfying for her.

During Molly’s time abroad, she thought about her three children day and night.

When Molly could finally hold her babies, she wanted to never let go of them for the rest of her life.

“Oh my babies, did you miss me?!” Molly let go of the three little ones and asked with a sweet smile.

“We did! Mommy, we miss you so much,” The three little ones answered in unison.

Molly was so touched that she hugged three little ones and kissed each of them. She said, 'Oh my babies, I miss you very much too.'

"Mommy..."

The three little ones were soft and squishy. They threw themselves into Molly's arms again.

'Mommy's embrace is so warm and fragrant. We really want to hug Mommy for the rest of our lives,' The three little ones thought.

At the side, Grandpa Dave, Brycen, and others were touched when they saw that scene of deep love between a mother and her children.

Brycen was both touched and saddened. He could not help but step forward and say, Molly, I miss you too. Come hug me too."

In the end, Sean directly stretched out his hand, grabbed Brycen's clothes, and pulled him back.

"You can't," Sean said indifferently.

Brycen would not give in, and he protested loudly, "Molly is my sister, and I miss her.

Why can't I just hug her?"

Chapter 783-Sean did not even look at Brycen, as he solemnly said, "No can do." In Sean's opinion, no one could get close to Molly except for her children.

Brycen suddenly screamed in anger. Yet, he could not force it. He could only glare at Sean and angrily cursed, "Wife-obsessed madman!"

Sean smirked because he thought that the title suited him.

At that moment, Grandpa Dave also laughed cheerfully. He sided with Sean and said, 'Brycen, Molly is Sean's girlfriend. Of course he can't let you hug her. If you want a hug, find a wife for yourself!'

"You're not young anymore. Why haven't you brought a girl home yet?"

Hearing that, Brycen froze for a while. He bitterly said, "Grandpa, do you think I don't want to find a girlfriend?"

I really can't find one..."

Two days ago, Brycen had a very intimate chat with a girl. However, he had no idea what he had said wrong, and the girl ignored him immediately. The messages he sent in the past were not read by the other party.

'Sigh!' Brycen suspected that he would be a bachelor for the rest of his life.

Molly finally let go of her children and greeted Grandpa Dave. "Grandpa, I'm back."

Grandpa Dave nodded in relief and said with a smile, "It's good to see you home! You aren't going to leave after you come back this time, right?"

"It's hard to say."

When Molly thought about how she might have to return to Fomanesia soon, she sighed slightly and said, "I came back this time from an absence leave. Maybe in two days, I have to go back to Fomanesia again."

"Huh? Mommy, you are still leaving?"

The three little ones were reluctant to let Molly go when they heard what Molly said.

Ben's chubby little hands tightly hugged Molly's thighs, and he softly asked, "Mommy, please don't go. I'm gonna miss you very much..."

"Mommy..." Claudia also came over.

Molly could not bear it either. She patted the children on the back soothingly and said, "My sweet children, I will try to stay home for a few more days and spend more time with you all, okay?"

The three little ones understood what Molly meant. She would be leaving the country anyway.

The three little ones suddenly drooped down their heads helplessly...

Molly frowned. She felt even more guilty at that moment.

Just as Molly was about to speak out and coax the three little ones, a call suddenly came to the house phone.

The housekeeper went to answer the phone. On the other end of the phone, an anxious voice sounded, "Mr.

May Sr., Master Sawyer's sickness has relapsed!"

The person who called was Sawyer's assistant.

That afternoon, Sawyer was busy in the studio, and he asked his assistant to go to the supermarket to buy a relatively rare pigment.

As soon as the assistant returned to the studio, he saw Sawyer's sickness had relapsed!

The assistant was startled and hurriedly called an ambulance for help. At the same time, he anxiously informed the May family, "We are now at Westworth Hospital. Come quickly!"

After hearing that, the housekeeper hurriedly turned around and informed everything to Grandpa Dave.

Grandpa Dave frowned and set off without any delay with the family. He said, "Let's go to the hospital!"

After a short while, they arrived at the hospital.

The family hurriedly got out of the car and rushed to Sawyer's ward.

At that moment, Sawyer passed out in the ward.

He was lying weakly on the hospital bed. His face was ashen, and he seemed as though he had suffered a lot when his sickness relapsed.

Grandpa Dave looked at Sawyer. He frowned in distress and sighed, "How could this have happened? After being nursed back to health by Molly, Sawyer was much better. So, how..."

Chapter 784- "Calm down, Grandpa."

Molly could not bear to see her grandfather in distress, so she immediately calmed him down. After that, she looked at Sawyer on the hospital bed and moved closer. She said, "I'll take a look at Sawyer, and I'll be able to tell what happened to him."

Once Molly had finished checking on Sawyer, she breathed a sigh of relief.

"Grandpa, you don't need to worry about Sawyer. He's just exhausted from working for the art exhibition recently, and that caused his sickness to relapse. As long as he takes a good rest, he will recover."

Upon hearing Molly's assurance, Grandpa Dave felt a load off his mind.

"I'm glad to hear that he's going to be okay!" said Grandpa Dave.

"Sawyer!"

When things were about to calm down, there was an eager shout from the door.

Lara and Walter heard that Sawyer had a relapse, so they rushed there in a hurry.

As soon as Lara and Walter entered the ward, they saw a circle of people surrounding Sawyer. Lara and Walter froze.

Lara did not want to lose her demeanor in front of everyone, so she quickly snapped out of it. She calmed down and greeted everyone, "Father, Brycen, Molly, Mr. Anderson. Why are you all here? How is Sawyer?"

"Sawyer is fine. Molly just checked on him, and she said that Sawyer was overworked with his art exhibition and exhausted his body. After a good rest, he will return to normal in no time," Grandpa Dave said in a relieved tone.

In Grandpa Dave's words, he also praised Molly. "Thank goodness for Molly. Otherwise, we would be worried sick right now."

As soon as Grandpa Dave finished speaking, Lara and Walter looked at Molly.

After hesitating for two seconds, Laura nervously said, "Good thing you are here, Molly.

Otherwise, Sawyer would be..."

Lara looked at Molly with some evident gratitude and kindness in her eyes.

Molly frowned and felt uneasy all over for some reason. She nonchalantly replied, "You don't have to be so courteous. After all, we are family, and we should take care of each other."

Lara felt touched when she heard Molly say that they were a family.

'What did Molly mean by that? Is she willing to accept me as her family?' Lara thought.

Lara was instantly overjoyed. She nodded happily and said, "Yes, you're right. We are a family. We don't have to be so courteous."

Molly frowned even harder. She thought, 'What I meant was that Sawyer and I are siblings, so it's normal for US to help each other. Why did Lara change its meaning when she heard it?' Molly was inexplicably agitated, so she put on a cold expression and did not bother to pay attention to Lara and Walter.

"Okay, then. Since Sawyer's fine, we shouldn't keep everyone here. Just one person can stay back and watch over Sawyer here. Sawyer will need his rest. As for everyone else, please head home!"

Seeing that a large group of people was stuck in the ward, Grandpa Dave could not help but urge in a deep voice.

"I'll stay and take care of Sawyer!"

At that time, Brycen took the initiative, raised his hand, and said, "I haven't paid much attention to Sawyer's condition for a while. I neglected him, so I should be the one to take care of him. Molly and Mr. Anderson, you two are usually busy. You should go home."

It was rare for Brycen to say a decent word. Now, he sounded more like an elder brother.

Molly gave Brycen an appreciative look and said with a smile, "Okay, then you will stay and take care of Sawyer. I will take the children back to rest and come back to switch with you later."

"No problem!" said Brycen.

After that, Molly, Grandpa Dave, and the rest left the hospital together while Brycen watched over Sawyer.

Chapter 785-Lara and Walter followed Molly and left. The couple looked at Molly and her children's backs along the way. They wanted to approach and talk to them, but they did not dare to.

It was not until Molly walked out of the hospital and was about to part ways that Lara gathered up her courage and shouted, "Molly! ' Molly stopped and looked back suspiciously. "Is something wrong?" Molly's indifferent attitude hit Lara hard!

But, Lara smiled enthusiastically and said, "Molly, I just want to apologize. What your father and I did in the past was wrong. You are right. We should refrain from interfering 1 too much with your affairs. It won't happen again in the future.

"If you don't mind, would you like to come home for dinner tonight? Or, we could go out and eat. It's up to you to decide."

After that, Lara chuckled and folded her hands subconsciously. It was as if she was trying to hide her embarrassment.

After all, Molly's attitude toward Lara was like a stranger's.

As expected, Molly looked at Lara indifferently and refused without hesitation. "Thanks for the offer, but I'm going out to eat with Sean and the children. I don't have the time to accompany you, so you can eat alone.

Molly rejected Lara's request very decisively!

Lara felt a little lost, but she did not want to bother Molly. So, Lara did not force it, and she nodded, "That's fine. Enjoy your meal and time with Mr. Anderson, then."

"I'll visit you again next time with your father."

After Lara finished speaking, she dragged Walter to the side of the road, got into the car, and drove away.

Molly looked at her parents' backs as they were leaving. She was still expressionless.

It was not that Molly could not feel Lara's goodwill, but it was unlikely that Molly would accept Lara's kindness.

After all, not all damages can be undone.

Grandpa Dave glanced at Molly and saw her expressionless face that had no intention of forgiving her parents. He could only sigh silently in his mind.

Grandpa Dave was hoping that his family would be harmonious and prosperous.

But, what Lara and Walter did in the past caused too much trauma to Molly.

Grandpa Dave respected Molly's decision when she decided not to forgive her parents.

In the evening, Molly, Sean, and the children went to a Michelin-Star restaurant for dinner.

The three little ones ordered a table of delicious food, and they had a great time eating.

They said, "It's so nice to eat with Uncle Sean and Mommy. We will have endless delicious food."

'These little foodies!' Molly thought.

Molly glanced at the children dotingly and took the initiative to scoop some food for Sean and serve him a bowl of soup. She advised him earnestly, "You should take more food with calcium. Drink some of the bone broth. It's good for your legs and feet's recovery."

Sean was being taken care of carefully, and he felt a warmth rise in his heart. He asked softly, "What do you think of your parents?"

Molly was taken aback. She did not expect Sean to ask that. But, he was not an outsider, so Molly exhaled softly and truthfully said, "Do you know? When I think about how they hurt me unscrupulously in the past, I always get so angry.

"I used to think that when someone knew their mistakes, they could make a big difference. No matter who hurt me, as long as they sincerely repent, I will forgive them.

"But, when I faced them, I had the instinct to reject them. Then, I realized that not all mistakes can be forgiven."

Chapter 786-Molly sighed softly, and a warm smile appeared on her face. She said," That's enough.

Let's not talk about these sad things. After dinner, I should go to the hospital and switch with Brycen."

"Alex, Ben, Claudia, do you want to go to the hospital with me or go home with Uncle Sean?' Molly asked.

Sean raised his handsome eyebrows slightly and answered with dissatisfaction, 'Can't I come along to the hospital with you and the children?"

'Huh? But, aren't you busy?" Molly asked confusedly.

Molly did not expect Sean to have time to accompany her, and she did not think that he would go with her.

Unexpectedly, Sean did not hesitate to answer, "I said it before. You are the most important to me."

'Molly went abroad for work and finally came back. Of course I want to seize the opportunity to accompany her more,' Sean thought.

"Okay. Let's go together later," Molly said and smiled happily.

'Yay!' The three little ones answered in unison.

Half an hour later, Molly and Sean went to the hospital to switch shifts with Brycen.

Brycen had stayed there the whole afternoon and played mobile games the entire time.

He was almost bored to death. After finally seeing Molly come to switch shifts with him, he suddenly felt relieved and said, "My dear Molly, you are finally here. If you don't come sooner, I'll be bored to death."

Molly rolled her eyes at Brycen angrily and said, "You said you wanted to look after Sawyer, and now you can't stand the loneliness. You're such a hypocrite."

"Hehe!" Brycen grinned.

Molly ignored Brycen's grin and asked, "How is Sawyer? Did he wake up in the afternoon?"

Brycen shook his head and said, "No, he didn't. I wish he would wake up sooner. But, this boy just lay on the hospital bed without saying a word. It makes others worried sick."

"Sawyer is already ill. Can't you say something nice?" Molly gave Brycen a blank look again. She noticed that Brycen had a foul mouth all the time.

Brycen scratched the back of his head and said with dissatisfaction, "What I said was the truth!"

'Hey, forget it. It's getting late, and I'm hungry. I'll head home for a meal. Molly, you watch over Sawyer here and remember not to stay up too late. Let the servants stay back after midnight. See you.' After that, Brycen put his hands on his hungry stomach and slipped away.

Molly shook her head helplessly. She looked back at the children and Sean and asked, "It will be boring to stay here. If you want to go back, you should go now."

"Mommy, we're not going back. We want to be with you." The three little ones looked at Molly with watery eyes and said.

When Molly was not around the country these days, the three little ones missed Molly very much. And when Molly finally came back, they just wanted to stay by Molly's side.

Whatever the three little ones did and how boring they felt were not important to them.

What was important was that they could see their mother, which was enough for them.

Not to mention Sean, who had no plans to leave since he was here.

Seeing that, Molly could not help but smile with relief. She said, "Okay, then. I'll ask the servant to bring the Legos over. We'll play with the Legos to pass the time."

"Hooray!" The three little ones nodded immediately and were overjoyed.

As long as the three little ones could stay with Molly, they could do whatever they wanted!

Not long after, the servant brought the children's Legos from home. Molly and the children began to put the pieces of Legos together.

Chapter 787-he initiative to point it out.

Molly nodded and picked up another piece. She asked, "What about this?"

"That's the tail of the plane. Give it to me, Mommy. I'll put it together." said Ben, taking the piece from Molly's hand.

Molly had a bewildered look on her face. She raised another piece again and asked, "Then this..."

"Uncle Sean!"

Before Molly could finish her sentence, the three little ones interrupted her.

The three little ones were aware that Molly had no idea what to do with the Lego pieces, so they immediately looked at Sean with dissatisfaction. They complained, "Uncle Sean, could you teach Mommy how to play Lego? She had no idea how to play with it."

Sean was speechless.

It was not that Sean did not want to teach Molly, but it was not that difficult to build a Lego for him. The purpose of playing Lego was to put the pieces together, kill time, and have fun.

'If I directly teach Molly how to play it, wouldn't it be meaningless?' Although Sean thought so in his mind, he asked regardless, "Need a hand, Molly?"

Molly sighed in frustration and shrugged. She said, "It's okay. Putting Lego pieces together is too difficult for me. Mainly because I'm a novice, so I will be a slow player. You guys enjoy yourself. I'll go to the washroom for a while."

Molly stood up after she said that.

Just as Molly got out of the ward, Lara and Walter walked into the ward and bumped into Molly unexpectedly.

Molly frowned and blurted out, "Why are you here again?"

Sean and the children heard that and turned around. They saw the couple as well.

Sean and the children's expressions also changed immediately.

Lara and Walter put on their kind faces. They smiled and said, "Molly, your father and I didn't have time to spend with you earlier, so we decided to come to see you and the children when you switch shifts with Brycen at night.

"Have you eaten your dinner? If you haven't, we brought something for you. Would you like some?" Lara asked.

Molly noticed that Lara was carrying a thermal flask as Lara was talking.

'So, what is she planning to do?' Molly thought.

Molly felt puzzled and frowned. She was expressionless as she coldly said, "Mrs. May, I don't understand what you are doing."

Hearing Molly called her "Mrs. May", Lara instantly felt uncomfortable. She felt very gloomy all of a sudden.

Lara took a deep breath and said, "Molly, I don't mean anything bad. I was just worried that you haven't eaten. So, I just came to see you. Why don't you want to see me?"

"Speaking of which, I also brought some presents for the children," said Lara.

Lara took out three identical toy cars in her pouch and put them on the coffee table. She smiled and said, "Children, this is a trendy toy car on the market. I asked a friend to bring it back from abroad. I hope you will like it."

Hearing that, the three little ones looked at each other and then glanced at Molly.

The next second, the three little ones answered in unison, "I'm sorry, Mrs. May. We don't like your gift!"

Lara was stagnant for a while. Even if Molly did not accept her, she did not expect the three little ones to be so ruthless to dislike the gifts she bought for them.

Chapter 788-'It seems the children are like their mother. They resent me, after all! But, what should I do to resolve Molly and the children's resentment toward me?' Lara thought.

"Mr. and Mrs. May, please go home if there's nothing else."

Before Lara returned to her senses, Molly coldly asked the couple to leave.

Molly did not want to see the couple at all. Even if it was just a short moment together, she would feel uncomfortable with them around. So, it was better if they were out of her sight.

Lara and Walter suddenly felt a little heartbroken. There was a strong sense of loss entrenched in their hearts. It caused them to feel stuffy in their chests and inexplicably breathless.

However, the couple could not do anything about Molly. After all, they hurt Molly with their own hands.

Lara and Walter could ask for Molly's forgiveness, but it was up to Molly whether she would forgive them.

Just then, Lara could not help but softly shout, ‘Molly, forgive me. I know that your father and I have done a lot of unforgivable things to you in the past, and it makes you refuse to forgive US. It’s understandable that you don’t want to accept your father and me.

“But, remember one thing, your father and I are your parents, after all. We weren’t good parents before, and we didn’t treat you and the children well. From now on, just let US know if you need any help. We will definitely help you.”

That was all Lara could do for now.

When parents could not have a good relationship with their children, they could only hope that their children would come to them when they needed help and allow the elders to lend a helping hand.

Molly heard Lara’s words, and Molly seemed to have an idea. But, Molly’s expression was still indifferent, and she said, “Okay.”

“You can go now. I won’t send you out,” Molly added.

“Alright. I will go with your father now,” said Lara.

After that, Lara turned around with Walter and left the hospital.

Molly had a stomach ache and wanted to go to the washroom. But, after she had finished talking to Lara and Walter, she inexplicably found that she did not want to go to the washroom anymore.

So, Molly returned to the three little ones, sat down, and continued playing Lego with them.

When it was after midnight, Molly could not take it anymore. She saw that Sawyer showed no sign of waking up, and she and Sean took the children back to rest.

The next morning, Molly and Brycen went to the hospital together and found that Sawyer had finally woken up.

“Brycen, Molly, you’re here,” said Sawyer. As soon as Sawyer saw Molly and Brycen, a smile appeared on Sawyer’s face.

Seeing that Sawyer had finally woken up, Brycen smiled with relief. He said, “Yeah, we’re here to see you. Why are you working so hard and disregarding your health? Do you think that our family could not support another idler like yourself?”

“I think you should just stay at home and be served like a real master!”

Hearing that, Molly rolled her eyes. She thought, ‘Brycen is talking nonsense again!’ Molly could not help but say, “Brycen, you don’t get it. Painting isn’t just a hobby to Sawyer, just like you like racing cars. It has nothing to do with affording or not. But...”

Molly paused in the middle of the conversation. Suddenly, something came to her mind, and she asked, ‘Brycen, you haven’t done your reexamination for a long time, haven’t you?’

“How did you know?” Brycen asked.

Brycen moved his body and patted his sturdy body. He said with a hearty smile, “Don’t worry. I’m still fine and in top condition!”

Chapter 789-Molly felt ashamed and coldly reminded, “It’s not up to you to decide whether your body is in top condition. Just to be safe, I’ll take you to the orthopedic department for a medical checkup later!”

When Brycen heard about the medical checkup, he suddenly got scared. He quickly aggrievedly said, “That’s not really necessary, Molly. I’m fine, trust me.”

Molly ignored his struggle and coldly said, “What’s the point of trusting you? I only trust the medical report! I’ll take you to the medical checkup later. I’ll know if you are in good condition or not.”

“Okay...” said Brycen.

Brycen sighed helplessly. He knew that Molly could not be dissuaded once she had made up her mind. Thus, he could only silently accept her arrangement.

After a while, Molly took Brycen to take an X-ray scan.

When the X-rays were ready, the orthopedic doctor smiled with relief and said to Brycen, "Mr. May, you are recovering well. Your legs are no different from a normal person's. You must have felt that your legs have regained strength. You can walk and hop, right?"

"Well, I've been able to walk and trot for a long time. But, on rainy days, I occasionally feel a little sore in my legs and feet. I'm not sure why," said Brycen.

"That's cold feet," said the doctor.

When Molly heard Brycen talking about his symptoms, she sneered lightly and said, "I told you to wear long johns in the winter, but you didn't listen. Now, you have caught the illness. You will be in pain when it's rainy and cloudy in the future."

"Huh?" said Brycen. He hurriedly put up his grievous face and asked Molly for help.

"Don't be like that, Molly. I'm a handsome man, and many girls are waiting to flirt with me.

They would laugh at me if I let them know I have cold feet at such a young age."

"Hmph, that's what you deserve." Molly turned her head nonchalantly and did not want to bother Brycen.

Brycen had no choice but to beg her for help. He said, "Molly, my dear sister. Please help me!

"I know you have great medical skills and believe that my cold feet can be cured as long as you treat me. Consider it a pity for a young man who has entered old age ahead of schedule. Please help me cure it. Have pity on me."

Brycen asked pitifully with his hands together as if he was terrified that Molly would not treat him.

Molly burst out laughing!

The truth was that Molly would help with the treatment even without Brycen humbly requesting her. Brycen was her brother, after all. She would help him regardless.

After returning to the ward, Molly instructed Brycen to sit on the sofa, "Sit down. I'll take a look at you."

"Okay!" said Brycen. He sat down happily and knew that Molly would not abandon him.

Molly squatted on the ground. She stretched out her beautiful fair fingers and lightly tapped on a few critical meridians on Brycen's legs.

"Ouch, that hurts!" Brycen exclaimed.

When Molly moved her fingers, Brycen suddenly gasped in pain.

Immediately afterward, the meridians that Molly held began to heat up gradually. Then, the warmth slowly spread throughout Brycen's body.

"How do you feel?" Molly asked without raising the strength in her fingers.

"It's amazing! My body is getting hot," said Brycen. He was surprised and could not help but curiously ask, "Molly, what kind of treatment is this? Why haven't you used it before?"

Molly smirked and indifferently said, "Your leg has almost fully recovered. The method I just used is a new treatment plan. It's normal that you haven't seen it before."

Chapter 790-'Tch tch!"

Brycen clicked his tongue and looked at Molly in amazement. He then said, "Molly, you are truly amazing. I never thought such a beautiful girl with great medical skills could be my sister. I wonder what Sean did in the past that made him deserve you."

'Nonsense," said Molly.

Molly gave Brycen a stern look. She ignored him, stood up, and said, "Stop talking nonsense. It will relieve me if you are in good health."

"Roger that, Molly!" Brycen responded with a smile.

Sawyer was sitting on the hospital bed next to Brycen. When Sawyer saw Brycen and Molly getting along, Sawyer could not help but laugh and softly said, "Thank you, Molly."

"What for?" Molly asked. She was taken aback.

"You helped me with the treatment, didn't you? So, I have to thank you for that," Sawyer said and smiled lightly.

"He's right, Molly. Sawyer and I should thank you. After all, you have helped us a lot,' Brycen coaxed.

With a younger sister like Molly, Sawyer, and Brycen all felt happy. It was as if Molly was a treasure to them.

Molly blushed and felt a little embarrassed. She quickly said, "We're all family. There's no need to thank me. That's the biggest thank you as long as you are all safe and sound.

"I'll stay here to take care of Sawyer for a while. Brycen, you prepare some lunch and come to switch shifts with me later in the afternoon," said Molly. She was afraid that Brycen and Sawyer would say sensational remarks, so she quickly changed the subject.

"Okay! I'll go home now." Knowing that Molly was embarrassed, Brycen did not bother to tease her anymore and walked away.

"Would you like some water?" Molly asked Sawyer.

Sawyer nodded.

Molly turned around and poured a glass of water for Sawyer. She brought a stool over, sat next to Sawyer's hospital bed, and asked, "Sawyer, how are you feeling?"

"I'm feeling much better than yesterday," said Sawyer.

Sawyer smiled gently. His expression and voice were a little weak. Then, he said, "Did I scare you and Grandpa when I fell ill yesterday?"

"You did. The whole family was terrified! You can't let yourself be so tired in the future.

You have a weak physique. You should rest more."

"Okay, I know." Sawyer just smiled and said nothing more.

After a while, Sean came with the three little ones.

The three little ones saw Sawyer and shouted in unison, "Uncle Sawyer, you're awake!"

"Yes, I am. Thank you for visiting me," Sawyer said softly. He felt warm in his heart.

When someone was unwell, they could feel that it was a happy thing to have a family member by their side.

Afterward, Sean and the three little ones accompanied Molly and Sawyer at the hospital.

At lunchtime, Brycen brought warm food from home with the servants. Everyone prepared a table and sat in the ward to eat together lively.

“Mommy, do you have time in the afternoon?” Ben asked suddenly with watery eyes halfway through the meal.

“I’m going to accompany Uncle Sawyer in the hospital. What’s wrong?” Molly asked while scooping the children a piece of chicken each.

Claudia muttered as her cheeks puffed, “Mommy, a band is coming to the city center today for a concert. Daddy wants to take US there.”

“A concert?” Molly’s eyes lit up but soon dimmed again. She said, “I have to take care of Sawyer in the hospital. I’m afraid I won’t be able to go
