"Of course, I know him! The Alvonian that I was talking about was him!" Hanks said as he gritted his teeth.

"Of course, I know him! The Alvonien that I was talking about was him!" Henks said as he gritted his teeth.

Greg's eyes flickered. He did not expect Skyler to be the one to have attacked Henks and the coach.

He showed a righteous appearance and reprimanded, "Skyler, Henks and the coach are respected guests of Alvonie. If you beat them up, not only will you ruin Alvonie's reputation, but you will also affect our good relationship with Utopie!"

Henks and the others glared at Skyler and echoed, "That's right!"

"After I return to Utopie, I'll immediately expose your rude behaviors on Twitter and let everyone in Utopie judge you! I also want everyone to know that people from Alvonie are dirty and cunning!"

They had used their identities as foreigners as a shield to do whatever they wanted in Alvonie. However, they never expected to fall into Skyler's hands, so how could they let the matter go so easily?"

Hearing their words, Skyler sneered and said, "Let everyone judge me? Then... You need to return to Utopie alive first!"

"Mr. Greg, is he threatening to kill us?" Henks asked.

"Of course, I know him! The Alvonian that I was talking about was him!" Hanks said as he gritted his teeth.

Greg's eyes flickered. He did not expect Skylar to be the one to have attacked Hanks and the coach.

He showed a righteous appearance and reprimanded, "Skylar, Hanks and the coach are respected guests of Alvonie. If you beat them up, not only will you ruin Alvonie's reputation, but you will also affect our good relationship with Utopia!"

Hanks and the others glared at Skylar and echoed, "That's right!"

Hearing their words, Skylar sneered and said, "Let everyone judge me? Then... You need to return to Utopia alive first!"

"Mr. Greg, is he threatening to kill us?" Hanks asked.

Greg nodded and looked at Skylar as if he was looking at a fool.

After getting an answer, Hanks and the others laughed aloud and provoked Skylar, "If you want to kill us, then don't just talk about it, do it! We want to see how bold you are, killing us outside a hotel!"

Hanks and his gang were confident only because of Alvonias policy of giving special treatment to foreigners. For example, if an Alvonian citizen lost a bicycle and made a police report, the police would only go through the procedures as a formality. Whether their bicycle could be found or not depended on their luck.

On the other hand, if a foreigner made a police report for the same reason, police would deploy a large number of men to investigate the matter until the bicycle was found. This was because of the rule to settle cases within 24 hours.

Even if Skylar was powerful and could kill them, they did not believe that Skylar would dare to do so, especially outside a hotel.

Skylar glanced at them coldly and said, "There's no need for excessive means. Do you remember what I said in front of the martial arts gym yesterday? I'll get someone to throw you into a shark tank if you don't leave this place by today."

Before Hanks and the others could react, Skylar turned away. He then instructed Dianne, "Take all of them away!"

"Yes, Boss!" Dianne replied and strolled toward them.

The burly Hanks and coach looked at Dianne in disdain. Although they had lost to Skylar, did he really think they were that weak? How could a mere woman subdue them? How funny!

Hanks stood in place, and when Dianne got close, he swung his fist.

He used all of his strength in this punch. Previously, he had managed to send Francis flying with a single punch, so he believed that this was enough to severely injure her.

However, at this critical moment, Dianne suddenly disappeared from his sight. Before Hanks could figure out the situation, he felt a figure appear on his right.

He was shocked, and as he was about to speak, his neck was hit with a hard chop. A weird feeling crept up to his head. Soon, Hanks felt his vision go blurry as his muscular body swayed around. With a bang, he fell to the ground and fainted.

Chapter 312

Everyone was stunned when they saw Hanks on the ground.

Everyone was stunned when they saw Hanks on the ground.

Let alone Skyler, but even the women with him was that powerful?

"Damn it!" The coach shouted. Before he could attack, his neck was also hit. With a bang, the coach fell to the ground and fainted.

The remaining men naturally could not escape Dienne's attack, and they all fainted soon after.

Greg, who was previously gloating and watching the show, was so scared that his legs began to tremble. He did not even dare to look at Skyler.

"Get them over and take them away!" Skyler ordered and immediately walked out the door.

After making the call, Dienne walked to the fainted foreigners and picked up a person in each arm as if she was picking up little chicks.

"Skyler!" Greg suddenly shouted.

He was previously afraid of Dienne's skills. However, he realized that the people Skyler dealt with were foreigners with special privileges!

"Skyler, I advise you to let Hanks and the others go. Otherwise, this will involve the country, and you won't be able to face the consequences!" Greg said with a dark expression.

Greg planned on using Hanks and the others to take revenge on Skyler. However, he had not expected Skyler to be so daring as to attack them while in the hotel. This made him feel even more humiliated. Everyone was stunned when they saw Hanks on the ground.

"Call a car over and take them away!" Skylar ordered and immediately walked out the door.

After making a call, Dianne walked to the fainted foreigners and picked up a person in each arm as if she was picking up little chicks.

"Skylar!" Greg suddenly shouted.

Greg planned on using Hanks and the others to take revenge on Skylar. However, he had not expected Skylar to be so daring as to attack them while in a hotel. This made him feel even more humiliated.

A black Mercedes Benz stopped at the entrance. Dianne did not even bat an eye at Greg and focused on throwing Hanks and the others into the car. On the other hand, Skylar raised his brows when he heard Greg's words. He said coldly, "Greg, we were former classmates, so I don't want to argue with you. However, I hope you can remember that a loose tongue may cause lots of trouble. If you spread today's matter, you'll also be swimming in a shark tank!"

Skylar's eyes were so cold that Greg's heart began to beat rapidly, and his whole body felt chills. Greg opened his mouth, but he could not utter a single word. At that moment, he no longer thought of Skylar's words as mere intimidation but as true threats.

Soon, Dianne had stuffed all the foreigners into the car and drove toward a nearby shark-infested sea.

Greg only calmed down after the car had left the hotel and drove onto the highway in the distance.

"Skylar! Killing foreigners is a serious crime, but you want me to hide it for you? Dream on!" He clenched his fist as the veins around his neck popped up. "

If the matter of throwing legal foreigners into the sea with sharks to die were to spread, Utopia would be furious. It would undoubtedly trigger an international crisis.

Moreover, Utopia had been making it hard for Alvonian in various fields out of jealousy. If this matter were to spread, it would become a dispute between countries. If it involved the country, no one could protect Skylar even if he had a great military background.

Upon thinking about this, Greg showed a resentful expression. He then took out his phone to make a call.

After talking for a moment, he hung up the phone and chased after the black Mercedes Benz.

20 minutes later, the black Mercedes Benz appeared on a beach. It was the high tide now, so the sea covered most of the beach.

After getting out of the car, Skylar watched the fierce waves with his hands behind his back. On the other hand, Dianne carried a person in each arm and threw them onto the beach.

"Oh my God! Is that girl strong enough to carry a person in each arm?" A group of youth who played around nearby could not help but exclaim.

"She has good looks too!" One of the boys' eyes lit up.

"She has good looks too!" One of the boys' eyes lit up.

A beautiful woman holding a burly man in each arm while still able to walk so swiftly was like a scene in a Hollywood blockbuster.

The boys were already moved by Dianne's beauty and wanted to rush forward to ask for her contact.

However, it was not easy to start a conversation with a girl like Dianne, so no one dared to take action. They only watched her with longing gazes.

Soon, they saw Dianne walk toward Skylar and speak to him respectfully. They were so jealous that they wished they could immediately transform into Skylar. In their eyes, Skylar looked too ordinary and was not worthy of the beautiful Dianne. Why couldn't they have such a beauty by their sides while Skylar could?

Skylar and Dianne would never know what the bunch of boys were thinking about.

At that moment, Dianne said to Skylar respectfully, "Boss, all of them are here!"

Skylar nodded and said, "Wake all of them up. It's up to their luck whether or not they can swim out of this sea."

"Yes!" Dianne replied and did as she was told. However, she knew inside that even if they were awake, their chance of survival was slim.

At this moment, a young, beautiful girl walked out of the group, asking Skylar curiously, "Sir, are you guys making TikTok videos?"

Skylar shook his head and said, "Some people are disobedient, so I'm sending them back home for a lesson."

"Sending them back home for a lesson?" The girl looked confused. "This isn't a port, and there aren't any ships here. How are they going to go back?"

"They can swim!" Skylar said coldly.

"What? Swim? I heard that sharks are often seen in this area. If you make them swim back home, aren't you killing them?" The girl's eyes widened as she said.

The boys around her immediately put on disdainful expressions.

A boy who had a crush on her said, "Sandy, don't believe his nonsense!"

Before Sandy could react, the man said to Skylar, "Aren't you just taking TikTok videos? What's with that arrogance? If it isn't just an act, who'll dare to throw so many foreigners into the sea?"

He had been jealous of Skylar because of Dianne's beauty. However, seeing the girl he liked talking to Skylar, his mood worsened. He looked as if he wanted to snatch her away from Skylar.

Unfortunately, Skylar could not be bothered with him.

Upon hearing the boy's words, Sandy looked around and said in confusion, "There aren't any cameras around, right?"

At this moment, Hanks and the others were woken up by Dianne.

"Where is this?" The group asked as they held their heads and touched the part of their neck that had been hit by Dianne.

Hanks and the others were shocked as they shouted at Skylar, "You lunatic! We're great citizens of Utopia. If you dare to throw us into the sea, Utopia will definitely start a war with Alvonia! If the two countries start a war because of you, the whole world will blame you!"

Chapter 315

Sandy was just a student from a nearby university. She had never witnessed the dark side of society. To her, no matter the wrongdoing someone might have done, they never deserved death.

Seeing that Skylar was ignoring her, she shouted at the boys in her group, "Don't you guys know how to swim? Save them! If anything happens to them, the whole of Alvonia will be blamed!"

The few boys looked at Sandy and the struggling foreigners, but no one dared to come forward.

Although they could swim, it would not be easy to save the burly men in the fierce waves? Moreover, sharks were present in the area.

Let alone saving the foreigners, they themselves might end up dying instead.

"You guys..." Looking at the situation, Sandy let out a heartbroken sigh.

"I'll save them!"

At that moment, her admirer suddenly stepped forward. "Sandy, don't worry, I'll save them!"

"Are you sure? The waves are huge, and those foreigners are heavy." Even Sandy was hesitant.

The boy held her hand and put on a sincere expression. "Sandy, as long as you want it, I'll do it no matter what! However, for my own safety, I can only try my best. I'm also unsure whether I can actually save them."

"Mmhm, be careful! Come back the moment you feel anything wrong," Sandy said with tears in her eyes.

She was moved by the boy, so how could she care about his ulterior motives?

In fact, the boy had long planned to only go into the sea for a little. He would say he was out of strength as an excuse to come back, so Sandy would not force him to continue.

In this case, he would not lose anything, and he could also win her heart. It was a good chance to prove himself!

"Mmhm!" The boy put on a bright expression as he took off his shoes and walked toward the sea.

At this moment, a dragon dagger appeared in Dianne's hands.

With a swift wave, a sand ditch appeared in front of the boy.

The sand ditch was wide and deep, and the boy would not be able to cross it unless he went around it.

"How dare you meddle in the Dragon King's matters?" Dianne stood opposite the sand ditch and said coldly.

Upon seeing Dianne's expression, the boy felt his entire body turn cold, and even his limbs trembled.

"Get lost!" Dianne shouted at the group.

The group, including Sandy, felt chills all over their body as if they were in an ice cellar. It felt like they were targeted by a bloodthirsty beast, giving them goosebumps.

With a single gaze, she was able to give them such a feeling. This beautiful woman was too scary!

"Let's go!" The boy could not care less that he had lost a chance to prove himself to Sandy. The rest of them also did not dare to utter a single word as they quickly fled the scene.

Some of the boys among them thought about how they fell for Dianne and were jealous of Skylar previously, but now they were only filled with fear.

To be able to kill foreigners in broad daylight, these two were not people that the students could afford to offend.

Dragon King? This name became deeply embedded in their hearts.

That beautiful woman was already terrifying, but that ordinary-looking man is actually the so-called "Dragon King"? What's the Dragon King?

As they quickly walked away from Dianne and Skylar, sirens sounded from afar. Soon, about 10 police cars rushed over. Seeing the police rushing over, the students finally calmed down a little.

Sandy patted her chest and said happily, "The police are here, so the foreigners won't have to die now!"

No matter who Skylar and Dianne were, they couldn't disobey the police, right?

Chapter 316

After the police cars stopped, dozens of police came out and rushed toward Skylar and Dianne.

"Mr. Evans, it's them!" A man pointed at Skylar and Dianne and said to the police in the lead.

Before Mr. Evans could say anything, he heard cries for help from the sea.

"Officers, save us! We are Utopians!"

"Save me! I can't last any longer! I think I see the sharks coming over!"

Upon hearing their words, Mr. Evans immediately ordered his subordinates, "Save them!"

As the police were about to go to the sea, Dianne shouted, "You must go through me first to save them!"

Mr. Evans' expression changed as he shouted at Dianne and Skylar, "You bastards! Those are foreign guests. Once anything happens to them in Alvonian, no one can bear the responsibility! How dare you stop us from saving them?!"

As he spoke, he waved his hands and ordered his subordinates, "Capture those criminals first!"

"Yes!" A few police rushed toward Skylar and Dianne.

Greg watched this scene at the side while gloating. Now that there's evidence that he's attempting to kill the foreign guest, let's see how Skylar is going to turn the tables this time!

The group of youths stood still in relief as they saw the scene. It would not be long before the police would capture Skylar and Dianne.

At this moment, a hoarse voice sounded. "Stop!" Immediately, a middle-aged man in a senior uniform appeared.

"Chief!" Mr. Evans' eyes widened as he called out.

The middle-aged man was the Chief of the Cloudtopia Police Headquarters, William Parker.

When Greg made a police report just now, he had deliberately emphasized that dozens of Utopians were in trouble, so William had to pay attention to the matter. However, why did William stop them from capturing the criminals? Everyone was confused, especially Mr. Evans.

As Mr. Evans was about to ask, William walked toward Skylar and bowed to him. "Greetings, Mr. Stone!"

Everyone was shocked. What's happening? Why is Mr. Parker addressing that criminal as "Mr. Stone" so respectfully?

"Mr. Parker..." A bad premonition suddenly rose in Mr. Evans' heart, and cold sweat appeared on his forehead. Who is this guy? Even the Chief is treating him respectfully! What a fearful identity!

Moreover, he had just reprimanded Skylar and asked his subordinates to capture him as a criminal!

I'm doomed! Looks like I won't be promoted for some time... Mr. Evans's heart sank as he thought of this.

On the other hand, Greg watched the scene with his mouth wide open in shock. What's Skylar's identity? Even Milton trembled in fear when he saw Skylar during the gathering. Moreover, the Cloudtopia Police Headquarters' Chief is treating him with respect! Even if Skylar had contributed a lot to the military, how could he climb to such a high position in only 6 years?

In the distance, the youths waiting for Skylar to be captured were dumbfounded when they saw this scene. They looked at Skylar and Dianne in disbelief.

Skylar glanced at William and said coldly, "The Chief really thinks highly of these great foreigners, huh? If the ones thrown in the sea are Alvonians, would you have personally come over?"

Chapter 317

When Skylar first returned, Dianne was the one who picked him up at the airport with a group of Cloudtopia big shots following behind.

William was one of them, so he immediately recognized Skylar. However, Skylar would not show mercy to him because of this.

As Skylar finished speaking, William clearly felt a pressuring aura, making his shoulders suddenly feel heavy. He lowered his head, not daring to make a sound.

"Say something!" Skylar shouted.

William was so shocked that he directly muttered whatever he thought, "I... I wouldn't have!"

"Then why do you have to personally come over when foreigners fall into the sea?" Skylar continued asking.

How would William have known that Skylar would want to continue drilling him on this issue?

At that moment, William explained in a cold sweat, "Mr. Stone, it won't be easy for me to explain to the higher-ups if anything happens to these foreigners in Cloudtopia."

"Hmph! So you know they're foreigners? Aren't these people only insulting and bullying our citizens in our land because you people in power spoil them?" Skylar said heavily.

"Don't you know how many soldiers sacrificed themselves for this peace? How dare you be this carefree? No matter how powerful others were or how many weapons they had used, they couldn't invade Alvonía. However, you bastards let these damn foreigners run amok in our land as if they own it! Are you all so used to following orders that you can't think for yourself anymore? Or do you not care about the countless soldiers who sacrificed their lives? If you want to continue acting like this, leave Alvonía and go to Utopía! The front-line soldiers have poured their hearts out to protect the country. I'll never forgive anyone who insults those who had given their lives for Alvonía!" Every word that Skylar said had hit the nail on the head.

As Skylar finished speaking, William felt his legs turn jelly. With a thump, he knelt in front of Skylar, and his back had long been drenched with sweat. William said cautiously, "... I won't dare to ignore the sacrifices of our front-line soldiers. Please calm down. I'll definitely prioritize our citizens' affairs in the future."

The police standing behind William, including Mr. Evans, were so shocked that their hearts were beating rapidly. How scary is this person's identity? William was ranked the highest in the headquarters and could be considered a big shot in Cloudtopía. However, even William could not make one kneel in fear like Skylar.

"Hey! What are you guys doing? Help us out now!" Hanks' shouts sounded from the sea.

Hanks and the coach were tall and burly, so they lasted in the sea longer. However, they could not endure it any longer because of their injury. Although they were in this situation, they still ordered the police on shore arrogantly. The police glanced at them, but their gaze soon fell back on Skylar. Even William was reprimanded, so no one dared to save them if Skylar did not allow it.

"Hey! Don't the police in Alvonía have to fulfill all requests given by foreigners? Hurry up and save us! If any one of us dies, all of you have to accompany us!" Seeing that the people on shore were indifferent, Hanks finally became anxious.

Chapter 318

As Hanks finished speaking, someone nearby shouted, "Ned has sunk!" Ned was the one who could not swim.

Everyone quickly looked over and saw two hands above the water, struggling to swim upward. There were two of his companions nearby, but how could they save him when they could barely save themselves?

At this critical moment, a wave rolled by, and nothing was left in Ned's position. A living person had drowned to death right before them. Now, the rest of them no longer dared to have any sense of superiority for being foreigners anymore. They all shouted at the top of their lungs, "Save us! We know we're in the wrong!"

"I can't hold on anymore! Hurry up and pull me up!"

At this moment, Hanks suddenly thought of something and shouted to Greg, "Mr. Greg, we can't depend on the police anymore! Call the Embassy of Utopia, and let the officials pressure them!"

Upon hearing his words, Greg immediately took out his phone and called the Embassy of Utopia. He had already gone against Skylar during the class reunion. With what happened today, he could no longer turn back. In that case, he would fight against him till the end.

Even though Skylar's position was higher than William's, Greg did not believe it could be higher than the country's. As long as the Embassy of Utopia steps forward, even national figures have to give them an explanation. As he thought of this, someone from the embassy picked up the phone.

Greg immediately told them that Hanks and the others had been thrown into the sea. The party said in anger, "Hand the phone to Mr. Parker. I want to ask him why he isn't saving them!"

Upon hearing the other party's words, Greg put the phone on speaker and glanced at Skylar in complacency.

"Mr. Parker, the Embassy of Utopia wants to speak to you." As he spoke, he handed the phone to William.

"Mr. Stone?" William looked at Skylar as if he was asking for his instructions.

"Dianne!" Skylar said indifferently. Dianne immediately understood his meaning and snatched Greg's phone over.

Before Greg could react, Dianne said coldly to the phone, "You Utopians have insulted our citizens, so the Dragon King is teaching them a lesson. Do you think there's anything wrong?"

Everyone was shocked upon hearing her words.

The other party was a Utopian official, but Dianne had questioned them so directly. Moreover, her words sounded as if nothing was wrong, even if Skylar killed all these foreigners.

When everyone thought the Utopian official would go crazy, he stayed silent.

"There's... There's nothing wrong."

What? Everyone was confused.

The Embassy of Utopia's main responsibility was to ensure the rights of Utopians in Alvonnia. However, the official did not dare to have any objections even when Skylar wanted to kill the Utopians now!

Everyone looked at Skylar in disbelief. What's this ordinary-looking man's background?

Chapter 319

Greg was flabbergasted. He had gained nothing from standing against Skylar. He was too powerful to the point of throwing foreign guests into the sea. Greg was pale from fear. Hanks was running out of patience and yelled, "Greg, did you contact the embassy of Utopia? Hurry up and ask for help from the police! We can't hold on any longer! Throw us a rope or some life jackets! Greg, you're our friend, please save us!"

Greg snapped out of shock after hearing Hanks. "I can't swim..." he muttered as he watched Hanks struggling in the sea. Even if Greg could swim, he would not dare to go in for the rescue. Hanks and the coach decided to swim back to shore as more men drowned.

As multiple men began to make their way back to shore, Dianne reached for William's gun on his waist and fired it before Skylar said a word. The coach was shot right through his shoulder. After struggling for a while, his body floated to the surface and tainted the water around him red.

Those who were swimming back to shore stopped immediately. Hanks did not expect Dianne to open fire on them. She slowly lowered her gun and uttered, "None of you shall return to shore without the Dragon King's permission!"

"I gave you all the chance to leave, but none complied. Therefore, I shall have someone supervise you all as you swim back to Utopia." Skylar said. He turned to William and continued, "You'll be the supervisor." William swiftly responded, "Yes, Mr. Stone!"

Skylar nodded and made his way to the car with Dianne. Hanks was drenched in despair. Skylar had been serious about feeding them to sharks since the beginning. They took it as a joke and faced the consequence more ruthlessly than being shot. Even if there were no sharks around, they would eventually drown.

After Skylar and Dianne drove off, William sighed a breath of relief. He wiped the cold sweat off his forehead. "Keep an eye out for those bastards in the sea. If any one of them tries to escape, blow their heads off!" he insisted.

Twenty police officers stood in formation and wielded their guns. Hanks let out an ugly cry as they were being aimed. Mr. Evans could not hold back his curiosity and asked, "Mr. Turner, who exactly is Mr. Stone?"

Chapter 320

Everyone remained motionless as they were eager to hear William's answer. None could resist the desire to find out the truth after witnessing Skylar's authority.

Since when did the Stone family come about in Cloudtopia? Moreover, what did Dianne mean when she mentioned the Dragon King? He could even subdue the embassy of Utopia. That's unbelievable!

William glared at Mr. Evans and said, "You have no right to ask that question. Carry out your task as instructed or else I'll skin you alive!" Mr. Evans was frightened and immediately apologized. He felt bewildered as Skylar's identity remained a mystery.

Skylar phoned Yulia in the car to ask her about their whereabouts. He insisted Dianne send him back to Ocean Hill at once after knowing that Yulia had brought Lola home. As Skylar arrived at the front door, Lola swiftly approached him and uttered, "Daddy, you're finally home! I missed you so much!" She was wearing a pink dress with a pair of pink bunny ears headbands.

Skylar's wrath dissipated the moment he saw Lola. He held Lola in his arms and kissed her. "Aww, you are my little sweetheart," he said. "Daddy, what does sweetheart mean?" Lola asked. "It means that you are extremely important to me," Skylar replied.

"Lola, is daddy home?" Yulia's voice came from upstairs. Skylar was dazed as he saw her appearing by the staircase. She was wearing a pair of light-colored jeans with a baggy white shirt. Her face was clean without any makeup. Her natural beauty stood out more as she was in casual clothing. Her tight jeans emphasized her slender legs while her loose-fitted shirt did not hide her natural curves.

Yulia subconsciously lowered her head to inspect her shirt collar after noticing that Skylar was staring at her. "It's not even revealing. Why are you staring at me with lustful eyes?" Yulia asked as she blushed. "Am I staring at you lustfully?" Skylar replied as his ears turned red.

"Hmph, you better not think of anything weird!" Yulia uttered as she approached him. "Is that really what you want?" Skylar teased her. "Of course!" Yulia responded. "Seems like someone isn't being honest with themselves," Skylar said with a smirk.

Yulia pinched him by his waist and said, "Seems like someone needs a beating." Skylar was taken aback and replied, "Dear, I meant you look great in this outfit!" Yulia released her grip and said, "Hmph, of course, I do!" The two of them continued to flirt with each other.

"By the way, are you free tomorrow?" Yulia asked. "That depends on who's asking. I'm always available if it's you," Skylar responded with a grin. Yulia rolled her eyes and said, "I'm attending a class reunion, come with me if you have time." Skylar smirked and said, "Sure, but what's my identity?"
