

Triumph 631

Chapter 631 The All-Round Superstar

"Good evening, teachers and parents! Welcome to the grand finale of the Nirth Junior Association Singing Competition! I'm your host, Una French. We would like to extend a sincere welcome to everyone in this room on behalf of the Junior Association.

"We have successfully chosen the top three performers from each city to compete in our grand finale here in Sconvia City after two weeks of intense competition. Now, let's enjoy the beautiful voices of our young performers!"

Una's voice was pleasant and enthusiastic. She had earned thunderous applause from the parents who occupied the audience seat.

Unlike the previous competition in Clouddtopia, there were many general audiences in attendance. In other words, the fans lining up outside to take pictures with Lola had actually purchased tickets to the event.

They all started to cheer at this point.

"Lola, the victory is yours!"

"Lola, the championship belongs to you!"

"Babe Lola, we will always love you."

All of the audience members were from Sconvia. They had previously watched Lola's performances via live streams. Naturally, they were thrilled to be able to watch the competition live.

The host seemed taken aback. She did not anticipate one of the contestants to be so well liked and draw so many followers.

When the cheering quieted down, Una continued, "Thank you for your enthusiasm. I'll now introduce the judges for today. They are Mr. Krystian Debussy, Chairman of the Sconvia Piano Society; Madam Carole, Music Instructor for the Sconvia Children's Association; and Mr. Cory Wonder, Music Critic for Nirth Musical TV."

Each judge stood and greeted the audience after being introduced.

After introducing the first five judges, Una announced the sixth with greater enthusiasm, "Our sixth judge is the pride of Sconvia City and Star Entertainment. Furthermore, Miss Belinda is known as Alvonvia's all-around superstar! Let's give her a hearty welcome and thank her for taking time out of her busy schedule to support our young performers!"

Upon hearing the host's words, Belinda stood up arrogantly and gave the audience a slight wave.

When her gaze swept over Skylar and his companion. A smug look flashed across her face.

Skylar and Yulia were unaware of this. The couple was only interested in watching their daughter's performance and did not bother with Belinda's thoughts.

The rules for the grand finale were the same as those in the Cloudtopia semi-finals. Each of the six judges had 100 points to award, with a maximum of 600 points. The champion, first runner-up, and second runner-up positions would be given to the top three performers with the highest scores.

"Now, I hereby declare that the grand finale has begun! Our first performer is Lionel Robson from Maersk County, let's welcome him!"

The host left the stage after she announced this.

A boy about six years old walked onto the stage and started his performance in time with the music.

All the contestants who made it to the grand finale had already been screened in their respective cities, and each of them delivered outstanding performances.

Following his performance, Lionel received a total of 525 points from the judges.

The scores of the following competitors were all between 500 and 550.

"Next, let's welcome Tyne, the champion from the Sconvia City semi-finals, to perform her competition piece."

Following the host's announcement, Louis's daughter took the stage.

Chapter 632 Belinda Scheme

Louis was seated among the audience as he watched Tyne on stage. There was anticipation in his eyes. Since he was unable to defeat Skylar, he sought to extend the competition through their daughters. If Tyne ranked higher than Lola today, he would certainly feel proud.

Louis was seated among the audience as he watched Tyne on stage. There was anticipation in his eyes. Since he was unable to defeat Skylar, he sought to extend the competition through their daughters. If Tyne ranked higher than Lola today, he would certainly feel proud.

Tyne confidently said into the microphone on stage, "Hello judges and the audiences, I'm Tyne, the champion of the Sconvia region. Today, I will perform the song 'Heartbeat' for you. It's a classic and challenging Italian song, and I hope you will like it."

Compared to the other children's song choices, the one Tyne chose was indeed more challenging and resonant. All the judges smiled approvingly when they saw Tyne's calm demeanor.

As one of the judges, Belinda even took the initiative to say, "Ever since the semi-finals, I've been thinking about Tyne's singing. This young girl has a wonderful voice, and she's a local from Sconvia City. I hope everyone pays more attention to her."

Naturally, the other judges knew what she was trying to do. She wished for Tyne to receive excellent marks. After all, it was just a children's competition. While it was important to the parents, the judges saw it as a fun activity. They would naturally respect her since the superstar had spoken.

Skylar was speechless. Back in the Cloudtopia semifinals, he ran into a contestant who believed singing in Italian would elevate him. Louis's daughter followed suit. Some people, after lying down for a while, simply could not get up. They happily assumed the role of slaves, forgetting their own roots.

Tyne was completely engrossed in the song as soon as the music began. A few minutes later, the music stopped, and Tyne put down the microphone.

Everyone had to give it to her. She sang this song incredibly well for a five-year-old girl.

Belinda immediately gave a thumbs up and gave 100 points. The other five judges all gave scores above ninety-five. Tyne's final score was an impressive 585 points. That was the highest score so far.

Louis was thrilled to hear this score. He deliberately glanced at Skylar. However, Skylar was unconcerned about this.

Two more contestants had performed, and both scored significantly less than Tyne. Louis became even more arrogant.

Soon, it was Lola's turn.

Skylar, Yulia, and Valerie all sat up straight. As they watched the stage, excitement filled their eyes.

Lola walked up the stage while donning a tiny pink and white dress and a sparkling crown.

"Hello, Sister Una; hello, uncles and aunties from the judges' seat; I'm Lola. I'm four and a half years old!"

The little one politely greeted the host and the six judges.

Una was taken aback that Lola would greet her, and the little girl's sweetness won Una over. She was intrigued by Lola, who had so many fans there, and she took a liking to her right away.

At this point, the fans in the audience quieted down. They started to feel extremely anxious, as though their own daughter were performing, and worried that she would make a mistake.

Belinda's eyes flashed with a hint of resentment.

Chapter 633 Lola Amazes the Audience

This wench had stolen my spotlight! I can't take this. I had a lot of old grudges with Skylar and Valerie, too. How could I like their daughter?

This wench had stolen my spotlight! I can't take this. I had a lot of old grudges with Skylar and Valerie, too. How could I like their daughter?

With these thoughts running through her head, Belinda impatiently said, "Other children are waiting. Don't waste everyone's time pretending to be sweet and innocent here. We play fair. If your singing is bad, it doesn't matter how nice you try to come across."

Skylar and Yulia felt a little upset upon hearing Belinda's words.

How on earth could Belinda do this as a judge? Lola just followed what her teachers and Valerie had taught her, to greet everyone when she went on stage. The little one has always been polite and sweet at home; how could that be considered acting? Nowadays, is being polite considered acting? Is Belinda taking revenge on her personal grievances by abusing her power as a judge?

Naturally, Lola's family and fans were incensed.

Lola, who stood on stage, was stunned. She retracted the greeting she had prepared for the audience.

She said directly into the microphone, "The song I'm going to perform is 'Nameless'. It was written by Dad. I love it very much. I hope everyone will like it too."

With that being said, Lola started singing into the microphone.

This song was originally composed by Skylar and later had lyrics added by Valerie. It was not officially released, and the organizers were unable to locate the accompaniment, so Lola was forced to perform a cappella.

Unlike other songs, "Nameless" was more suitable for a cappella. It had a soul-penetrating impact. The song gave a different sensation when combined with Lola's slightly childish voice. It seemed to bring a glimmer of hope to the desolate battlefields of the North.

For a moment, the entire audience was immersed in Lola's innocent and pure voice. Many of Lola's fans were unable to control their tears after hearing her voice.

Halfway through the song, Lola's childish voice disappeared. A lengthy and ethereal melody took its place. It was still the same song "Nameless", but it felt like a different song.

Lola held a green leaf and placed her hands on either side of her mouth. A string of melodies came from that leaf.

The melody has an ethereal zither-like quality as well as somber oboe tones. It seemed to be a song which belonged from the distant past and slowly approached the audience along with the sound of hooves from ancient times.

Everyone was so shocked that they were at a loss for words. They felt as if half a century had passed, yet it also felt like only a moment had passed.

The enchanting melody gradually disappeared. Lola removed the leaf from her mouth and bowed to everyone.

The applause erupted from the audience seats. The audience had eventually recovered their composure and thunderous applause erupted.

"Lola, Lola, you are amazing! You're worthy of being the one I admire!"

"She sang well during the live stream, but I wasn't expecting it to be so shocking in person."

"Mini Diva, I'll always be your fan!"

The fans shouted excitedly.

Skylar, Yulia, and Valerie all got to their feet and applauded Lola with pride.

Louis, who had been in the front row earlier and had been feeling arrogant, was now unable to feel proud. Despite his fondness for his own daughter, he was well aware that Tyne could not compare to Lola in terms of tone or emotional expression.

Of course, audiences were not the only ones to experience this. Both the host and the judges could not help but clap for Lola.

Chapter 634 A Great Irony

They never anticipated being moved by a four-and-a-half-year-old. Of course, the song itself was very moving, but what truly surprised them was that the composer turned out to be Lola's father.

They never anticipated being moved by a four-and-a-half-year-old. Of course, the song itself was very moving, but what truly surprised them was that the composer turned out to be Lola's father.

If this song is publicized, it could further improve the standing of the contest.

Una finally understood why so many people came to cheer for Lola. She instantly became a fan after hearing the melody created with a leaf at the end of the song. From this moment on, Una became Lola's fan.

The little girl's singing was enjoyable to hear. She also resembled a porcelain doll in appearance. Of course, the most amazing aspect was that she could play music with a leaf. Little Lola was a gifted and lovely girl.

At this point, Belinda was the only one staring at Lola with resentment. She did not give much thought to her singing ability. She was furious that a four-and-a-half-year-old kid had taken all the attention.

Before the judges scored, Una could not help but praise Lola, "Thank you, little Lola, for giving us the greatest pleasure and astonishment."

Without hesitation, the judges unanimously gave it a score of 100.

Lola did not express the song perfectly, but compared with other contestants, she had brought far too many surprises to everyone. If she performed on TV stations with large audiences and sang an original song, she could undoubtedly become a nationwide sensation.

Who else should be the champion if not her?

Five of the six judges gave it a score of 100. Belinda was the only judge to make her score public so far.

Everyone focused their attention on her because her score determined whether Lola could be the champion. Everyone thought there was no suspense. After all, the other judges had given perfect scores. In this case, Belinda's score would not be too far behind, right?

Compared with the scores of other contestants, Lola would be the champion if Belinda gave her sixty points. It's easy to achieve sixty points!

The fans were confident. A few of them were prepared to applaud.

Belinda revealed her score. Zero points!

Everyone was in disbelief. There was complete silence throughout the venue.

Many people were blinking their eyes because they believed they were seeing things. Some people even got up and leaned forward. The whiteboard still had shockingly obvious zero points written on it.

That judge truly gave zero points! Lola received zero points from Belinda! What's going on? The score is far too different from what they anticipated.

The judges would award sixty or seventy points to contestants who were so anxious that they forgot their lyrics as encouragement.

Lola had performed so well, but Belinda actually gave her zero points? Considering the perfect ratings given by the other judges, this was a huge irony.

Not to mention the audience below the stage, even the host on stage could not bear to see this. She pursed her lips and asked Belinda, "Miss Belinda, did you write your score wrong? Why do your points differ so much from those of the other judges, who all gave 100 points?"

Belinda snorted. She picked up the microphone and said arrogantly, "Everyone, please look up and see what the full name of this competition is."

Chapter 635 Twisting the Argument

"You do realize that this is the Nirth Junior Singing Contest? We are obviously competing for singing skills rather than offbeat tricks. This girl started off singing quite well; earning sixty points shouldn't be a problem for her, but she then decided to be a smartass and began to make the melody with leaves.

"You do realize that this is the Nirth Junior Singing Contest? We are obviously competing for singing skills rather than offbeat tricks. This girl started off singing quite well; earning sixty points shouldn't be a problem for her, but she then decided to be a smartass and began to make the melody with leaves.

"She had seriously violated the competition's rules. She received zero points after I directly subtracted the sixty points she should have received for singing. Is there anything wrong with my thoughts?"

"Hmm," Una said, momentarily at a loss for words.

Clearly, Belinda was twisting the argument, but in her role as a host, she was powerless to counter.

Lola appeared a bit wronged as she stood on the stage. In the beginning, she signed up because she thought it would be fun. Later, she wanted to win the championship due to the support of Valerie, Skylar, and Yulia.

In reality, it didn't matter if she could win the championship, but Belinda's glaring zero scores hurt her a little.

Skylar, Yulia, and Valerie, who sat in the audience seat, were infuriated when they saw Lola's upset expression.

Belinda was using her position of authority to vent her own grudge. Valerie was a little worried when she was first introduced as one of the judges. She believed that Belinda would refrain from venting her personal resentment in public. Apparently, they underestimated Belinda's shamelessness.

"Nonsense!"

Lola's fans all yelled out unwillingly.

"Even if you were to judge strictly, Lola's performance should receive at least eighty points. What do you mean by giving her zero points?"

Some hot-tempered fans directly confronted the organizer, who was seated in the front row.

"How were the judges chosen? That woman has a pretty face and is backed by rich supporters; could she represent the audience's aesthetic? When Lola came on stage, she merely smiled politely, which was met with icy sarcasm. She now receives malicious scores from that woman. Is she jealous that Lola is more popular and sings better than her?"

The person in charge was rendered speechless.

The competition was almost complete, and Lola's performance was very much in line with the champion they were looking for. They were surprised that Belinda would create such a scene now.

She acted carelessly; indeed, she was eye candy backed by rich supporters.

Belinda, who was seated on stage, disregarded these remarks. She directly took the microphone and said to the fans, "Jealous of her? Are you kidding me? Not to mention my standing in the entertainment industry, today I'm the judge invited by the organizer. I have the right to give out one hundred points. I can give as many points as I want. It's none of your business?"

"Belinda, I cannot talk sense into you!"

Lola's fans were surprised that Belinda behaved so defiantly on stage.

"Let's get the next child on stage now. Later, I have other things to attend to!"

Belinda urged the host.

Una cast a glance at the person in charge of the event. He sighed, nodded, and motioned for her to continue.

Belinda's career was flourishing in the entertainment industry, which was understandable given that she had wealthy backers. This person in charge was merely the president of the Children's Association. He dared not offend Belinda's supporters. He decided to reach a compromise and complete the competition.

Although Una felt unfair to Lola, she had to helplessly walk to the center of the stage and announce the result.

It was time to announce the results once all the kids had finished singing. Without a doubt, Tyne was the one who ultimately won the championship.

Tyne purposefully gave Lola, who was standing in the stage's corner, a cocky glance as she raised the trophy.

Chapter 636 Who Permits You To Speak

Lola's final score was 500 because Belinda used her position of power to vent personal grudges and gave her zero points.

Lola's final score was 500 because Belinda used her position of power to vent personal grudges and gave her zero points.

She came in last among all of the competitors in terms of points earned. Lola's eyes immediately turned red when she received the result that she came in last.

The young girl suppressed her tears when she was on stage. Skylar felt as though his heart had been shattered by her grievances.

"Daddy!" Lola cried out to his father.

She was full of grievance, and it made Skylar feel like his heart was shattered into pieces.

When it came to the competition, there were winners and losers. Skylar would obviously give Lola some lessons if she did poorly and placed last. However, his daughter clearly performed so well.

Belinda suppressed her on purpose.

Skylar furrowed his brow when he saw his sweetheart appear so aggrieved. He was not going to let this slide!

Valerie declared indignantly, "Belinda is truly disgusting. It's one thing to constantly suppress me, but she is making things difficult for a child!"

Yulia was upset too. She carried her daughter, who appeared angry and distressed, in her arms.

Skylar snorted icily and said, "The incident that occurred three days ago where Terry forced you to go out to party must have something to do with this woman. I wasn't planning to hold a grudge against her, but since she doesn't know how to restrain herself and makes my sweetheart suffer, don't blame me for bringing up old scores! It just so happens that it's time to settle scores with Mr. Coleman."

Seeing Lola crying, many of her fans were so heartbroken that they came over to comfort her.

Skylar spoke a few words to them. He told them that he wanted to take his daughter home to calm her mood.

The fans were very understanding. They expressed their love for Lola's performance before they left.

When Skylar carried Lola and walked towards the exit with Yulia and Valerie, they walked into the parents of the competing contestants. They would approach them and say a few words to comfort Lola.

When the young girl saw how many people were impressed by her performance, she felt a little better.

Skylar came across Louis and his daughter once more, just as they were about to enter the parking lot.

Louis appeared a bit awkward when he saw Skylar.

While Tyne stared at Lola and mocked her loudly, he said, "How embarrassing for you to cry because you lost the competition? Didn't you hear what the judge said—it's a singing competition, but you had to play the melody with a leaf? You're taking a crooked path and violating the competition rules. Why on earth would you dare cry here?"

Skylar's eyes flashed with a cold light when he heard Tyne's words.

He was already furious, but this young child dared to make fun of his sweetheart by calling her walking down a crooked path by blowing a leaf? Like Belinda, she was courting death!

Skylar was going to blow up.

Tyne received a face-slap from Louis, who had suddenly adopted a startled expression. He chided, "Shut up! Who gave you permission to speak?"

Back in Veilstone Hills, he had personally witnessed how terrifying Skylar could be. Even Max, the young master of the Kents, was murdered by Skylar. The Chief Marrow of the Sconvia Police Headquarters was forced to step down with a single phone call. Following the death of his own son, Sterling Kent, the head of the Kent family, lacked the courage to investigate further.

Wouldn't it be easy for Skylar to kill them if he wanted to?

Louis immediately bowed to Skylar after reprimanding Tyne and said, "Skylar, I'm sorry. My daughter has been spoiled by my parents since she was a child; you mustn't take it to heart."

Chapter 637 Teach You How To Behave

The slap caught Tyne off guard. She asked resentfully, "Dad, why did you hit me? Did I say anything wrong?"

The slap caught Tyne off guard. She asked resentfully, "Dad, why did you hit me? Did I say anything wrong?"

Smack! Louis backhanded her with another slap.

Skylar had no desire to watch this drama. He turned away and began to move in the direction of the parking lot.

At this time, Belinda, Peach, and a few bodyguards had walked over with an air of arrogance. She was extremely happy to see that Lola was being carried by her father and that she had teardrops in the corners of her eyes.

When she saw Skylar fuming with rage, she finally could not hold back and said sarcastically, "Oh my, I must have upset the little girl; I'm sorry. I always say what I think. I will give it a good review if it is. I will criticize it if it's not. As parents, you shouldn't teach your children to take shortcuts. Before achieving anything, they should learn how to behave themselves!"

Belinda claimed she was sorry, but her eyes were filled with mockery. Where was her regret?

Skylar sneered icily, "Learn to behave herself? Let me first show you how to do that!"

Skylar strode over to Belinda as soon as the words were spoken.

Smack! Belinda received a loud slap to the face.

It was one thing when Tyne mocked his daughter; she was a five-year-old child, and Louis had already disciplined Tyne.

Belinda, on the other hand, was an adult and was the one who brought about Lola's suffering. She actively provoked Skylar rather than just avoiding his rage. She was inviting trouble!

Instantaneously, Belinda was sent flying by Skylar's slap. She crashed heavily onto the concrete ground a few dozen feet away.

"Cough, cough, cough..."

Belinda coughed violently. She detected a metallic taste in her mouth. After that, she spat out a mouthful of blood. From there, she could just make out a few teeth with blood on them.

"You...How dare you hit me?"

Belinda never expected that Skylar would dare to hit her in Sconvia City.

Peach, who stood behind her, immediately screamed at the bodyguards, "Are you here to freeload? Go! Hold that guy down and take revenge for Bell!"

Hearing her command, the bodyguards finally snapped out of their shock.

Before they had a chance to make a move, Skylar's gaze fell on them. He warned them gloomily, "I suppose you're here to make a living as this woman's bodyguards. Those who are wiser should leave now! Don't bring trouble upon yourselves!"

The moment they met Skylar's gaze, the bodyguards felt their hearts tremble, followed by a chilling sensation as if they were being watched by a predatory tiger. No one dared to move forward.

A commotion broke out nearby just as things were starting to get tense.

Everyone looked up to see a sizable crowd rushing in their direction.

"Belinda is there!"

"That disgusting woman had unfairly scored Lola! She made Lola cry for a very long time and gave her zero points.

"Lola, stop crying! We are here to take revenge on you!"

Then they pulled a pile of rotten vegetables and a bunch of rotten eggs out of plastic bags and threw them at Belinda.

"Arghhh! Arghhh!"

Belinda screamed a few times. She had stinky egg yolks and decaying leaves all over her body. She looked incredibly disgusting.

Belinda was in utter disbelief as she used her hands to block the assault.

Chapter 638 Making The Headlines

Belinda was a superstar who had tens of thousands of admirers. She never considered the possibility that she would ever experience this type of treatment.

Belinda was a superstar who had tens of thousands of admirers. She never considered the possibility that she would ever experience this type of treatment.

Peach trembled in terror as she noticed a sizable crowd gathered in the distance.

Only a few dozen people were in the group that had just rushed over, but it was bad enough for Belinda. However, the group that approached them in the distance was made up of several hundred people.

Were all of them Lola's fans? Forget it! Now is not the time to think about this. It would be a big problem if Belinda's current state were photographed by the tabloids.

A glimmer of light flashed through Peach's eyes. She commanded the bodyguards, "Hurry up! Protect Bell and get her into the car."

The bodyguards immediately carried out the order. They swarmed toward the MPV van and quickly surrounded Belinda. The group appeared to be frantically trying to escape from the scene.

Meanwhile, the angry fans did not hold back; they hurled the rotten vegetables and stinky eggs at Belinda's van.

Skylar and his companion took advantage of this opportunity and quietly left the scene.

On their way home, Yulia and Valerie comforted Lola with gentle words.

"Lola, there are so many fans who love you. They came specifically to exact revenge after learning that Belinda had unfairly judged you."

"That's right; take a look at the scores given by the other judges. Lola is the best singer of the day."

The young child sniffed and nodded after hearing what Yulia and Valerie said. She said, "Hmm, Daddy, Mommy, Aunt Valerie, I understand now. Belinda is a bad woman!"

Skylar and others were immediately amused by the term "bad woman."

Skylar said to Lola, "That's right, sweetheart. Belinda is a bad woman. Daddy is the best at making bad people pay for their actions!"

Lola immediately perked up and said, "Hmm, Daddy needs to go teach that bad woman a lesson! Daddy rocks! Mommy and Aunt Valerie are great too."

The little one hugged Yulia's neck and gave her a kiss.

"What about me?" Valerie asked and leaned her face closer.

She too received a generous kiss from the toddler.

Skylar dropped Valerie off and then sent Yulia and Lola home before leaving once more. He had made a promise to make the trash pay for their actions.

The three-day deadline had passed. It was time to settle accounts with Ryan. Besides that, Belinda just so happened to be an artist at Coleman's Entertainment Company. When new grievances add on to old grudges, it's perfect to settle them all at once.

At this time, Belinda smelled awful. She and her group return to her residence in a sorry state in the van.

Belinda looked at her miserable self in the mirror and roared furiously, "Skylar! And that brat! I won't let you go!"

I'm a great beauty. Since I became famous, how many people have complimented me? Just now, I was chased by a large crowd, and they were throwing stinky eggs at me. It was simply a crying shame.

When she opened her mouth, she was shocked to find she was missing four teeth. What's worse, her front teeth were beginning to loosen.

Belinda shouted with resentment burning in her eyes, "Oh my god! Skylar, I want to kill you!"

After she vented for a while, she came out of the bathroom and told Peach, "Ms. Peach, tell the driver that I'm going to Coleman's family's residence later."

Peach tried but was unable to resist the urge to say, "Alright, I'll text the driver. You better go take a shower."

The stench of rotten vegetables and foul egg fluid was all over Belinda. Even she found it disgusting to the point where she could not stand it.

She gritted her teeth, turned around, and entered the bathroom again. When she had finished bathing and changed into a beautiful dress, she heard Peach's exclamation.

Peach shouted with her phone in hand, "Oh no, this is bad, Bell! You've made the headlines on Twitter!"

Chapter 639 Another 999 Years

Belinda rebuked peevishly, "Twitter headline? Isn't that a good thing? What's the big deal?"

Peach shouted in a worried tone, "No, everyone is scolding you!"

"Let them reprimand! Even bad publicity is useful publicity. Being ignored rather than criticized is the worst thing that can happen to a celebrity. What else is there to surprise me since I've worked in the entertainment industry for so long and have already encountered numerous strong winds and high tides?"

Belinda seemed quite pleased with herself. From the way she saw it, all that mattered was that she was getting attention. Once everyone was done criticizing her, she could clarify things and gain even more attention.

Peach was sweating profusely from her anxiety. She said, "No, no, no, it's different! Videos of you purposefully giving that young girl zero points are widely available online. You are receiving criticism from everyone on the internet.

"Some crazy fans even dug up all of your previous scandals. For instance, your history of working in a club in Kley City and the fact that you slept with an investor to land a role in a movie All of that is now widely known.

"I received a dozen calls from the brands we collaborate with while you were just taking a bath. They have made public announcements about terminating your endorsement agreements. They intend to sue you for breach of contract and seek a major settlement.

"The PR manager told me this incident had spread far too quickly when I called the office. Even if we used all of the resources available to the company, the situation might not improve. Senior executives have therefore unanimously decided to forgo PR in favor of waiting for things to settle down.

Belinda exclaimed, "What? Give up on PR? Isn't that the same as leaving me to fend for myself?"

She was behaving smugly just now, but she had turned pale with fright. She could not believe that a competition held by the Junior Association could cause such a big uproar. She was in big trouble just for giving a girl a zero.

"What should we do now? How can we just be sitting ducks?"

Belinda began to feel helpless in light of the circumstances.

Peach made an effort to calm down. She sighed deeply and said, "Here's what we can do. You should immediately tweet an explanation of your current thoughts. Then, you must apologize to internet users and acknowledge that you were rigid and upheld your reputation as a straightforward person.

"In addition, I had captured on camera the crazy Lola fans chasing us and hurling rotten vegetables and foul eggs at us while we were in the car. You should definitely tweet about it. Let everyone know that we, too, experienced bullying. In this case, the other party is also at fault. We'll play it by ear with the next step."

"All right, I'll post it now," Belinda said.

Belinda immediately picked up her phone and opened Twitter. However, she was no longer able to post new tweets to the account she had logged into this morning. She discovered a message from the Twitter system when she checked her inbox.

Dear Ms. Belinda, We regret to inform you that your account has been suspended for 999 years.

999 years? What the hell?

Belinda was incensed.

When she checked the company's homepage, she also found that it had also been suspended for 999 years. When she checked the trending topics, she saw that everyone was mocking her and Star Entertainment, saying they had set a precedent since the establishment of Twitter.

Have things gotten this bad?

Belinda felt everything turn dark before her eyes. She almost fainted on the spot.

Thinking back to Skylar's abilities in Cloudtopia, she immediately shouted, "Skylar! This must be your doing! I'll have Mr. Coleman and Mr. Pearson kill you!"

Chapter 640 A Sure Catch

Belinda commanded, "Quick, take me to the Colemans' residence now. I need Mr. Coleman to call the shots for me."

Belinda grabbed her phone and headed for the door. Peach quickly caught up with her. In no time, the two arrived at the entrance of Coleman's villa.

The living room sofa was occupied by several of Coleman's goons as well as Ryan and his father, Andrew.

"Boss!"

Belinda squeezed out a few tears, put on a pitiful expression, and threw herself into Ryan's arms. She complained, "Mr. Ryan, I was bullied by Skylar. You must call the shoot for me. All I did was give his daughter a zero, but he went so far as to incite those stupid fans to retaliate against me.

"I had lost all of my endorsements, and those brands are going to sue the company for huge compensation. My career is over. The company will suffer a huge financial loss. That jerk was to blame for it all! Mr. Ryan, you cannot let him get away with it!"

When they heard Belinda's words, everyone in the room's expressions turned murky.

Belinda had only recently joined Star Entertainment, but Ryan had to pay an enormous sum to bring her on board at the time. As soon as she joined Star Entertainment, she immediately rose to the position of top star.

It was known that Belinda and Ryan were involved, but the Colemans were no fools; the business depended on Belinda to generate significant revenue.

Nobody anticipated that this incident would spread as widely as it did.

Even Andrew, who was in his early fifties, was furious and swearing, "Damn it!"

Ryan had told Andrew what had happened to Valerie and Terry three days before Belinda's arrival. He also brought up Skylar's last warning, telling him to go to the Lucases and meet his end, or else he would have their family eliminated.

They had offended Terry because of him. He also ruined the career of their company's top star. He had no respect for them.

Andrew chided her with a grave look on his face, "How dare he be so haughty? That kid is just a distant relative of the Lucases. Did he think our family is simple to deal with?"

Ryan was still a little scared deep down.

He suggested, "Dad, aren't you friends with the newly appointed police chief? Give him a call and ask if he can come over. The due date has passed. I'm worried that a man will break into our home. He is extremely skilled, and it has been said that he can send a person flying with a single slap."

Andrew thought about it, and he nodded. He thought his son's proposal made sense. He immediately took out his phone to call the newly appointed Chief Daniel.

He spoke for a short while before hanging up the phone. He told everyone, "Chief Daniel and his men would soon arrive. If Skylar dares to show up here, we will catch him."

Ryan's face lit up with joy. He exclaimed, "This is great! I just called Terry, and he said he would be here shortly. I doubt we would fail with the support of those in power from two different industries, including the bigwigs from the Sconvia Police Department and Nacrene Commerce!"

Belinda and Peach were overjoyed when they heard this.

Skylar, oh Skylar, today is your day of doom!

After they chatted for a few more words, there was someone else at the door.

The housekeeper went to get the door.

Speak of the devil and he appears. It turned out to be Terry, the director of Nacrene Commerce. He was followed by a few bodyguards dressed in black suits.