

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2403

Chapter 2403

After regaining consciousness, Waylon vaguely heard voices around him and slowly opened his eyes. As his eyes gradually got used to intense light, he started seeing several blurred figures standing around him.

“Wayne.”

“Willy?”

As soon as Waylon could clearly see the people around him and realized that they were Sunny and Cameron, he slowly sat up.

Sunny supported him immediately. “You’re still recovering from your injuries, so take it easy.”

Waylon glanced around the room and knew he was in a hospital. He then covered his face with his palms, rubbed his temples, and chuckled. “How long have I been out?”

Sunny replied to him, “When Cam asked me to send someone to pick you up, you were already down and out. You have a fever caused by an infection of the wound.”

He originally thought they could hold a wedding banquet as soon as they arrived at the East Islands, but no one expected such an incident to occur. As such, he could only postpone the banquet and find them another date.

Sunny sighed and looked up at Cameron. “Cam, take good care of Willy.”

After saying that, he left the ward with his men.

The room became silent instantly.

Cameron sat down on the edge of the bed and did not speak.

Waylon stretched out his hand and stroked her cheek. “What’s wrong?”

“It’s nothing.” She turned her face away. “In the future, if you encounter such a situation again, don’t push yourself too hard.”

Waylon fiddled with the ends of her hair with his fingertips, and his eyes moved. “Then I’ll have to rely on you to protect me from now on.”

Cameron crossed her arms. “That’s because you’re weak.”

He lifted his gaze and said meaningfully, "Are you sure that I'm that weak physically?"

Cameron was startled, her cheeks warmed up instantly, and she pushed him angrily. "If you keep giving me all this nonsense, I'll kick your *ss."

Her movement was not huge, and she did not exert any strength. However, the moment she saw Waylon fall backward, she instinctively reached out and grabbed him, but unexpectedly, she got pulled into his arms.

Waylon's smirk intensified.

Cameron realized that she had been played and bit his lip furiously.

Waylon hissed, his brows furrowed, and he clasped the back of her head and kissed her. The kiss only ended after a long time, when the two of them were already running out of breath.

Waylon rubbed the corner of her lips, and his fingertips felt as if they were on fire.

"Young lady-" Just when Cameron was flustered for a moment, Mahina pushed the door open and rushed in. She did not expect to run into such a situation and instantly blushed. "I... I'm sorry. Please continue."

She then closed the door immediately.

Cameron quickly got up and walked out.

When Mahina turned her head and saw Cameron coming out, she was astonished for a bit. "Young lady, aren't you going to continue?"

Cameron glared at her. "Haven't you seen enough? Do you want more of that?"

Mahina sounded less serious at the moment. "You're asking me to witness more of that? But I'm too embarrassed to stay there and watch you live."

Cameron pushed her. "Go f*ck yourself."

Mahina stopped joking around. "Mr. Southern has been busy all day, waiting for you to come back in order to organize the wedding banquet. It seems that the banquet will have to be postponed now."

Cameron was stunned. "A wedding banquet?"

She nodded. "Don't you know about that?"

How would Cameron know about her father's plan? She was also curious about the reason her father had asked them to come back!

At this time, in the Southern's residence...

Sunny sighed as he looked at the decorations being torn down in the courtyard. The butler walked up to him and said with a smile. "Mr. Southern, the young lady and Mr. Goldmann are still in the East Islands. The wedding banquet can be held at any time. The two of them can't get away without attending the banquet."

"That's the case so far, but I'm worried that that girl will go back on her word."

Sunny took a deep breath.

'After all, Cam really took her sweet time before she decided to marry Willy. If the wedding banquet isn't held immediately, what will I do if she regrets her decision and comes back to me in the future?

'No matter what, a wedding ceremony has to be held here in the East Islands first. It won't be an issue if the Goldmanns want to organize another ceremony in Zlokova. I'll take their ceremony as a double insurance."

The butler said helplessly, "You really want your daughter to get married, huh?"

"Wayne will make a remarkable son-in-law. It's only natural for me to want to speed things up."

Chapter 2404

Sunny had not taken his eye off the news all this while.

'He just got involved in a scandal with Minzy not long ago, didn't he? That news almost scared me to death back then. I was that close to thinking that I was about to lose such an excellent son-in-law.'

"Dad!" Cameron stepped into the courtyard, and as expected, she saw the decorations that had just been taken down from the walls of the courtyard. "Did you prepare a secret wedding banquet for Wayne and me? Why didn't you ask me for my opinion first?"

Sunny frowned. "Why aren't you accompanying Willy in the hospital?"

Cameron crossed her arms and said, "He's no longer a kid. Why would he need me to be by his side to watch over him?"

"You..." Sunny felt exasperated and helpless at the same time. "I really don't know what else I can say about you, I guess I'll give it to you straight once and for all today.

"Yes, you might think you're in the position to play hard to get, but you'd better not come back here in tears when your husband leaves you for another woman."

Probably because of Waylon's scandal with Minzy, Sunny had begun to worry about the relationship between his daughter and Waylon.

Cameron narrowed her eyes. "What do you think about all day long when I'm not around?"

Sunny stacked his hands behind his back and snorted softly. "Willy treats you well. At least his heart is now with you. However, a relationship requires both parties to constantly move closer to each other. You can't just stay put and ask Willy to come to you all the time, as he might one day get tired of you if you never take the initiative and put in any effort."

Cameron was dumbfounded and did not utter a single word for a long time.

'I came back to question him about not asking me for my opinion on the wedding banquet, yet why am I the one who gets taught a lesson in the end?

'Both parties have to constantly move closer to each other, huh?

'If my memory serves me well, Wayne has always been the one who takes the initiative regarding our relationship. As for me...'

In the evening...

Cameron came into the ward with dinner. The nurse had just come over to change Waylon's bandages.

Seeing that Waylon was undoing his shirt unhurriedly, Cameron immediately frowned. "You only hurt your arm, so why do you need to take off your shirt?"

The nurse chuckled instantly. "It seems that your girlfriend is jealous of me?"

Waylon responded with a hum, and the affection and hilarity that were surging in his eyes could no longer be concealed. "Yeah, that's bad news. It takes me ages to coax her whenever she gets jealous."

Cameron was shocked by his statement.

“That means she cares about you. What type of woman would want her boyfriend to be touched by other women?” The nurse continued while preparing the bandages and ointment. “Just rolling up your sleeve will do.”

After the nurse changed the bandages and left, Cameron placed the dinner on the table and did not speak for a long time.

Waylon lifted his gaze. He had always enjoyed seeing Cameron get all nervous and jealous of other women. However, she might lose her cool someday if he continuously challenged her limits.

“What’s for dinner?”

Cameron did not want to talk to him.

He chuckled, stretched out his hand, pulled her closer to him, and glanced up at her. “Are you really going to ignore me?”

She uttered each and every word harshly, with a short pause in between each word. “You’d, better, apologize.”

He did not even ask for the reason and apologized without any hesitation. “Okay, I’ll apologize. I’m sorry.”

Cameron lowered her gaze. “Were you... Were you testing me again?”

He froze for a split second and stared at her. “Huh?”

She turned her face away. “You only want to see me get all worked up, don’t you? So let me make it clear to you now. I’m indeed very pissed, I don’t like other women touching you, and I don’t like you getting too close to other women.”

‘If a person will get tired after taking all the initiative for a long time, then Wayne will one day get there if I remain indifferent.

‘He’s been trying his best to probe and test me precisely only because he wants me to admit my thoughts.

‘Before this, I’ve never told him face to face that I would be jealous.’

Just when she was a little distracted, Waylon pulled her into his arms, wrapped his arms around her, and stroked her cheek with his palm. “Then let me make things clear to you too. Listen carefully. I belong to you, just like how you belong to me. And since you don’t like me getting too close with other women, please keep an eye on me and don't let those women approach me."

Chapter 2405

Cameron frowned. "Don't you know how to drive those women away by yourself?"

Waylon smirked. "This is different. I like to stay under your control."

"Won't you feel bothered?"

"Why would something like this be bothersome to someone who regards these as the fun that spices up a relationship?" Waylon kissed the corner of her eyes. "Even if you were to cause me trouble everywhere you go, I'd be more than happy to accept them as part of my life."

She pinched his cheek. "What do you mean by causing trouble everywhere? I- Hmm!"

Waylon sealed her lips, and Cameron immediately propped her hands against his chest. "Wayne Goldmann, you haven't had dinner yet..."

"I'll have my dessert first."

"Since when is there dessert?"

Waylon turned over and trapped her in his arms. "Aren't you my dessert?"

He blatantly caressed her from head to toe, and she gritted her teeth and blushed. "Wayne Goldmann, get off me!"

Not long after Waylon was discharged from the hospital, Sunny started hinting them to hold a wedding banquet in the East Islands. He could not allow them to drag this out any longer.

That day, the two of them were sitting in the living room, listening to Sunny's undisguised hints, and that made Cameron laugh. "You just can't wait to drive me out of the Southerns, can you?"

Sunny's expression stiffened. "You brat, what do you think you're saying? What do you mean by driving you out? How are the Southerns no longer your family after you get married?"

She snorted and turned her face away.

Waylon smiled and said calmly, "Actually, as long as Cam is willing to marry me, I'm okay with anything. Even if she wants to come back and live here in the future, I can live here with her too."

Cameron pursed her lips and stared at him without uttering a single word.

Sunny picked his teacup up, flicked the lid of the cup, and seemed to be very satisfied with Waylon's response. "Glad to know where you stand in this matter."

He then drank his tea and added, "Then let's not delay it anymore. We'll hold the wedding banquet here next week."

Cameron was stunned for a split second. "What? That fast?"

'Next week? I don't even get a buffer period?'

Sunny replied earnestly, "There's a holiday next week, and that itself eases a lot of arrangements. Otherwise, we'll have to wait until next month. Since it's just a matter of time, it's better to hold it sooner."

Sunny had already made up his mind, so he got up, walked to the butler, and instructed him on the to-do list of next week's wedding banquet.

At this time, at Bassburgh...

Daisie and Hannah attended a winter fashion show. When the reporter asked her about Waylon and Cameron's relationship, she responded with a grin, "Is there even a need for you to ask the question? Who else in the world is capable of becoming the eldest young lady of the Goldmanns?"

As soon as she said that, all the media outlets present at the scene were astounded.

It was clear to everyone that the Goldmanns really thought highly of Cameron.

Of course, several reporters still would not stop without getting a trenchant reply out of Daisie. They compared Freyja and Cameron blatantly during the interview and asked Daisie whether she was more content with Cameron or Freyja.

Daisie glared at the reporter, who just would not settle for a peaceful answer. "They're my sisters-in-law. Is there any difference?"

The reporter still would not give up. "Let's just say you can only choose one."

Daisie gradually lost patience. "Do I look like someone who's in the position of marrying one of them and is forced to pick only one of them?"

Fortunately, Hannah was there to extinguish Daisie's wrath. Otherwise, if the conversation were to go on, the news that would make the headline tomorrow would be Daisie getting into an argument with the reporter.

Soon, she glanced through the noisy crowd.

A car was parked behind the crowd, and Zephir got out of the car with a woman.

Daisie was slightly startled by what she saw-that woman was none other than Zoey Markle.

Zoey wrapped her arms around Zephir's as they gracefully stepped onto the red carpet, seemingly unaffected by the countless haters that she brought onto herself when she painted a target on Daisie's back when they attended the variety show together.

Most of the reporters were not familiar with Zephir, but some of them knew his identity. However, compared to his identity, everyone was more curious about his relationship with Zoey.

Hannah kept smiling but whispered to Daisie while standing right next to her, "That witch's benefactors change as quickly as the blink of an eye. But that man looks rather familiar..."

Chapter 2406

Daisie didn't speak.

Zephir saw Daisie at the reception table.

Daisie smiled, nodded at him politely, and looked away after that.

She had never seen Zephir after their filming wrapped up.

She was quite surprised to see him attend the fashion show. After the show, Daisie ended up sitting next to Zoey, possibly intentionally arranged by the organizers. Hannah and Zephir were next to them too.

But the attention of the media was all on the two of them.

Zoey never thought that the organizers would do that. When they were greeting the reporters, she said in a volume only Daisy could hear. "This is just bad luck. I hope your stupid fans don't say I'm trying to become relevant again by standing next to you."

Daisy smiled. "From what I know, your fans are mostly the stupid ones."

Zoey's smile faded. Because of what had happened during their variety show, her fans had created a lot of funny situations in their attempt to make her famous again. The majority of netizens mocked them as 'brain-dead fans'.

Zoey was about to retort, but Daisy suddenly stood up and walked away.

Zephyr watched her walk away and frowned.

Daisy rushed into the washroom and threw up all her dinner from last night.

After she was done, she turned on the tap to wash the vomit away.

She threw water on her face and looked at herself in the mirror. Something came to her mind, and she rested her hand on her belly.

'Am I pregnant?'

She thought about it and realized her period had been half a month late.

Daisy quickly left the washroom and was surprised to see Zephyr smoking in the corridor. She had never seen him smoke and didn't know that he did.

Daisy asked, "Why are you out here?"

Zephyr flicked the ash off and raised his brows. "Not feeling well?"

"I'm fine. I'm going back in."

When Daisy walked past him, he suddenly grabbed her wrist. He looked very calm. "You haven't seen Leah Younge in a long time, have you?"

Daisy was surprised. "She's back?"

Zoey, who was standing at a distance, saw them and looked unhappy. Only God knew how much effort she had put into getting her first role as a female lead from Zephyr.

But Bassburgh had a small circle.

Did Zephyr and Daisy have that kind of relationship?

'Hah! Tiffany Cullen had said that Daisie was a 'player, and it might actually be true. She's still in a relationship with another man after getting married.'

The next day, at the East Islands...

After Cameron washed up and had breakfast, she went and watered the flowers in the garden. She was a little not used to such a calm and restful life, maybe because she had been living in the busy city for a while now.

Waylon walked into the garden wearing his silk pants and holding a cup of coffee. He saw that she was watering while zoning out and chuckled.

"Are you trying to drown the flowers?"

She snapped back and saw that the flowerbed was flooded. She slowly stopped.

"What's the issue? Flowers will grow back."

He smiled and didn't speak.

Cameron remembered something and suddenly turned to look at him. "You didn't go to Yuzu Villa with my dad to talk about the wedding banquet?"

"He can handle that." He then looked at Cameron and smiled. "Can't wait to be my bride?"

Chapter 2407

Cameron turned her face away. "Can you shut up? I'm not in a hurry."

Waylon slowly sipped his coffee and smiled.

Mahina walked in and was followed by a group of people who were carrying a lot of things.

Cameron stopped her. "What are you doing?"

Mahina smiled and said, "We're getting ready for your wedding. Mr. Southern said we're going to get the best wedding planner on the island to plan your wedding."

Cameron was shocked. "Do we need to go through so much hassle?"

It was just a wedding.

The crew member behind them smiled. "It's not a hassle. It's an event of a lifetime. Everyone wants to be the prettiest bride. We are responsible for making you happy."

After that, her expression returned to a serious one.

Cameron smiled. "Where did the old man get a wedding planner?"

Mahina grabbed her arm. "Let's go. I'll show you."

"What's to see- What?"

Before she could finish, Mahina dragged her into the house. "Take a look. You might like it."

Waylon smiled and shook his head.

Everything that was needed for the wedding filled up the room-jewelry, clothing, shoes, and more.

Two female crew members walked in. "Ms. Southern, we're here to get your measurements."

Cameron was surprised. "Measurements?"

"Yes, we make a wedding dress based on your measurements and will get it done in three days."

Mahina brought the rest of the crew out, and Cameron let them measure her.

Meanwhile, in Bassburgh...

Daisie wore a cap and a face mask to cover her face.

The server guided her to a room and opened the door. "This way, ma'am."

Leah looked up upon hearing that. After she saw the server walk out, she immediately stood up and smiled. "Daisie."

Daisie removed her mask and pulled out a chair. "Where did you get back?"

"Two days ago. I just got back." Leah took a seat and poured out some tea. "My company gave me a long time off. I'm going to relax now that I'm back."

Daisie smiled too. "Interpreting is a tough job, huh?"

“Of course. I have to run around with my bosses and meet the VIPs. When I close my eyes, all I can see is the schedule for the next day. My mind is just fed with work.” Leah picked up her cup and sighed. “I wouldn’t have taken a foreign language if I knew this would be the outcome.”

She remembered something and looked up. “By the way, Zephir is a director. Is he part of the entertainment industry now?”

Daisie was surprised and looked around. “Yes.”

Leah raised her brows and leaned in closer. “Did he become a director because of you?”

Daisie looked down. “It’s his passion.”

Even if it were for her, they wouldn’t have worked out.

Was she supposed to change because Zephir got into the film industry because of her?

Leah could see something was off, so she asked, “Daisie, didn’t you have a huge crush on Zephir? Did something happen between you two?”

She had been overseas and didn’t have time to pay attention to entertainment news because she was busy. She didn’t know that Daisie was married. In her mind, Daisie and Zephir were really close. She even imagined that she would be attending their wedding when she returned.

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2404

Chapter 2404

Sunny had not taken his eye off the news all this while.

‘He just got involved in a scandal with Minzy not long ago, didn’t he? That news almost scared me to death back then. I was that close to thinking that I was about to lose such an excellent son-in-law.’

“Dad!” Cameron stepped into the courtyard, and as expected, she saw the decorations that had just been taken down from the walls of the courtyard. “Did you prepare a secret wedding banquet for Wayne and me? Why didn’t you ask me for my opinion first?”

Sunny frowned. “Why aren’t you accompanying Willy in the hospital?”

Cameron crossed her arms and said, "He's no longer a kid. Why would he need me to be by his side to watch over him?"

"You..." Sunny felt exasperated and helpless at the same time. "I really don't know what else I can say about you, I guess I'll give it to you straight once and for all today.

"Yes, you might think you're in the position to play hard to get, but you'd better not come back here in tears when your husband leaves you for another woman."

Probably because of Waylon's scandal with Minzy, Sunny had begun to worry about the relationship between his daughter and Waylon.

Cameron narrowed her eyes. "What do you think about all day long when I'm not around?"

Sunny stacked his hands behind his back and snorted softly. "Willy treats you well. At least his heart is now with you. However, a relationship requires both parties to constantly move closer to each other. You can't just stay put and ask Willy to come to you all the time, as he might one day get tired of you if you never take the initiative and put in any effort."

Cameron was dumbfounded and did not utter a single word for a long time.

'I came back to question him about not asking me for my opinion on the wedding banquet, yet why am I the one who gets taught a lesson in the end?

'Both parties have to constantly move closer to each other, huh?

'If my memory serves me well, Wayne has always been the one who takes the initiative regarding our relationship. As for me...'

In the evening...

Cameron came into the ward with dinner. The nurse had just come over to change Waylon's bandages.

Seeing that Waylon was undoing his shirt unhurriedly, Cameron immediately frowned. "You only hurt your arm, so why do you need to take off your shirt?"

The nurse chuckled instantly. "It seems that your girlfriend is jealous of me?"

Waylon responded with a hum, and the affection and hilarity that were surging in his eyes could no longer be concealed. "Yeah, that's bad news. It takes me ages to coax her whenever she gets jealous."

Cameron was shocked by his statement.

“That means she cares about you. What type of woman would want her boyfriend to be touched by other women?” The nurse continued while preparing the bandages and ointment. “Just rolling up your sleeve will do.”

After the nurse changed the bandages and left, Cameron placed the dinner on the table and did not speak for a long time.

Waylon lifted his gaze. He had always enjoyed seeing Cameron get all nervous and jealous of other women. However, she might lose her cool someday if he continuously challenged her limits.

“What’s for dinner?”

Cameron did not want to talk to him.

He chuckled, stretched out his hand, pulled her closer to him, and glanced up at her. “Are you really going to ignore me?”

She uttered each and every word harshly, with a short pause in between each word. “You’d, better, apologize.”

He did not even ask for the reason and apologized without any hesitation. “Okay, I’ll apologize. I’m sorry.”

Cameron lowered her gaze. “Were you... Were you testing me again?”

He froze for a split second and stared at her. “Huh?”

She turned her face away. “You only want to see me get all worked up, don’t you? So let me make it clear to you now. I’m indeed very pissed, I don’t like other women touching you, and I don’t like you getting too close to other women.”

‘If a person will get tired after taking all the initiative for a long time, then Wayne will one day get there if I remain indifferent.

‘He’s been trying his best to probe and test me precisely only because he wants me to admit my thoughts.

‘Before this, I’ve never told him face to face that I would be jealous.’

Just when she was a little distracted, Waylon pulled her into his arms, wrapped his arms around her, and stroked her cheek with his palm. “Then let me make things clear to you too. Listen carefully. I belong to you, just like how you belong to me. And since you don’t like me getting too close with other women, please keep an eye on me and don't let those women approach me."

Chapter 2405

Cameron frowned. "Don't you know how to drive those women away by yourself?"

Waylon smirked. "This is different. I like to stay under your control."

"Won't you feel bothered?"

"Why would something like this be bothersome to someone who regards these as the fun that spices up a relationship?" Waylon kissed the corner of her eyes. "Even if you were to cause me trouble everywhere you go, I'd be more than happy to accept them as part of my life."

She pinched his cheek. "What do you mean by causing trouble everywhere? I- Hmm!"

Waylon sealed her lips, and Cameron immediately propped her hands against his chest. "Wayne Goldmann, you haven't had dinner yet..."

"I'll have my dessert first."

"Since when is there dessert?"

Waylon turned over and trapped her in his arms. "Aren't you my dessert?"

He blatantly caressed her from head to toe, and she gritted her teeth and blushed. "Wayne Goldmann, get off me!"

Not long after Waylon was discharged from the hospital, Sunny started hinting them to hold a wedding banquet in the East Islands. He could not allow them to drag this out any longer.

That day, the two of them were sitting in the living room, listening to Sunny's undisguised hints, and that made Cameron laugh. "You just can't wait to drive me out of the Southerns, can you?"

Sunny's expression stiffened. "You brat, what do you think you're saying? What do you mean by driving you out? How are the Southerns no longer your family after you get married?"

She snorted and turned her face away.

Waylon smiled and said calmly, "Actually, as long as Cam is willing to marry me, I'm okay with anything. Even if she wants to come back and live here in the future, I can live here with her too."

Cameron pursed her lips and stared at him without uttering a single word.

Sunny picked his teacup up, flicked the lid of the cup, and seemed to be very satisfied with Waylon's response. "Glad to know where you stand in this matter."

He then drank his tea and added, "Then let's not delay it anymore. We'll hold the wedding banquet here

next week."

Cameron was stunned for a split second. "What? That fast?"

'Next week? I don't even get a buffer period?'

Sunny replied earnestly, "There's a holiday next week, and that itself eases a lot of arrangements. Otherwise, we'll have to wait until next month. Since it's just a matter of time, it's better to hold it sooner."

Sunny had already made up his mind, so he got up, walked to the butler, and instructed him on the to-do list of next week's wedding banquet.

At this time, at Bassburgh...

Daisie and Hannah attended a winter fashion show. When the reporter asked her about Waylon and Cameron's relationship, she responded with a grin, "Is there even a need for you to ask the question? Who else in the world is capable of becoming the eldest young lady of the Goldmanns?"

As soon as she said that, all the media outlets present at the scene were astounded.

It was clear to everyone that the Goldmanns really thought highly of Cameron.

Of course, several reporters still would not stop without getting a trenchant reply out of Daisie. They compared Freyja and Cameron blatantly during the interview and asked Daisie whether she was more content with Cameron or Freyja.

Daisie glared at the reporter, who just would not settle for a peaceful answer. "They're my sisters-in-law. Is there any difference?"

The reporter still would not give up. "Let's just say you can only choose one."

Daisie gradually lost patience. "Do I look like someone who's in the position of marrying one of them and is forced to pick only one of them?"

Fortunately, Hannah was there to extinguish Daisie's wrath. Otherwise, if the conversation were to go on, the news that would make the headline tomorrow would be Daisie getting into an argument with the reporter.

Soon, she glanced through the noisy crowd.

A car was parked behind the crowd, and Zephir got out of the car with a woman.

Daisie was slightly startled by what she saw-that woman was none other than Zoey Markle.

Zoey wrapped her arms around Zephir's as they gracefully stepped onto the red carpet, seemingly unaffected by the countless haters that she brought onto herself when she painted a target on Daisie's back when they attended the variety show together.

Most of the reporters were not familiar with Zephir, but some of them knew his identity. However, compared to his identity, everyone was more curious about his relationship with Zoey.

Hannah kept smiling but whispered to Daisie while standing right next to her, "That witch's benefactors change as quickly as the blink of an eye. But that man looks rather familiar..."

Chapter 2406

Daisie didn't speak.

Zephir saw Daisie at the reception table.

Daisie smiled, nodded at him politely, and looked away after that.

She had never seen Zephir after their filming wrapped up.

She was quite surprised to see him attend the fashion show. After the show, Daisie ended up sitting next to Zoey, possibly intentionally arranged by the organizers. Hannah and Zephir were next to them too.

But the attention of the media was all on the two of them.

Zoey never thought that the organizers would do that. When they were greeting the reporters, she said in a volume only Daisy could hear. "This is just bad luck. I hope your stupid fans don't say I'm trying to become relevant again by standing next to you."

Daisy smiled. "From what I know, your fans are mostly the stupid ones."

Zoey's smile faded. Because of what had happened during their variety show, her fans had created a lot of funny situations in their attempt to make her famous again. The majority of netizens mocked them as 'brain-dead fans'.

Zoey was about to retort, but Daisy suddenly stood up and walked away.

Zephyr watched her walk away and frowned.

Daisy rushed into the washroom and threw up all her dinner from last night.

After she was done, she turned on the tap to wash the vomit away.

She threw water on her face and looked at herself in the mirror. Something came to her mind, and she rested her hand on her belly.

'Am I pregnant?'

She thought about it and realized her period had been half a month late.

Daisy quickly left the washroom and was surprised to see Zephyr smoking in the corridor. She had never seen him smoke and didn't know that he did.

Daisy asked, "Why are you out here?"

Zephyr flicked the ash off and raised his brows. "Not feeling well?"

"I'm fine. I'm going back in."

When Daisy walked past him, he suddenly grabbed her wrist. He looked very calm. "You haven't seen Leah Younge in a long time, have you?"

Daisy was surprised. "She's back?"

Zoey, who was standing at a distance, saw them and looked unhappy. Only God knew how much effort she had put into getting her first role as a female lead from Zephyr.

But Bassburgh had a small circle.

Did Zephyr and Daisy have that kind of relationship?

'Hah! Tiffany Cullen had said that Daisie was a 'player, and it might actually be true. She's still in a relationship with another man after getting married.'

The next day, at the East Islands...

After Cameron washed up and had breakfast, she went and watered the flowers in the garden. She was a little not used to such a calm and restful life, maybe because she had been living in the busy city for a while now.

Waylon walked into the garden wearing his silk pants and holding a cup of coffee. He saw that she was watering while zoning out and chuckled.

"Are you trying to drown the flowers?"

She snapped back and saw that the flowerbed was flooded. She slowly stopped.

"What's the issue? Flowers will grow back."

He smiled and didn't speak.

Cameron remembered something and suddenly turned to look at him. "You didn't go to Yuzu Villa with my dad to talk about the wedding banquet?"

"He can handle that." He then looked at Cameron and smiled. "Can't wait to be my bride?"

Chapter 2407

Cameron turned her face away. "Can you shut up? I'm not in a hurry."

Waylon slowly sipped his coffee and smiled.

Mahina walked in and was followed by a group of people who were carrying a lot of things.

Cameron stopped her. "What are you doing?"

Mahina smiled and said, "We're getting ready for your wedding. Mr. Southern said we're going to get the best wedding planner on the island to plan your wedding."

Cameron was shocked. "Do we need to go through so much hassle?"

It was just a wedding.

The crew member behind them smiled. "It's not a hassle. It's an event of a lifetime. Everyone wants to be the prettiest bride. We are responsible for making you happy."

After that, her expression returned to a serious one.

Cameron smiled. "Where did the old man get a wedding planner?"

Mahina grabbed her arm. "Let's go. I'll show you."

"What's to see- What?"

Before she could finish, Mahina dragged her into the house. "Take a look. You might like it."

Waylon smiled and shook his head.

Everything that was needed for the wedding filled up the room-jewelry, clothing, shoes, and more.

Two female crew members walked in. "Ms. Southern, we're here to get your measurements."

Cameron was surprised. "Measurements?"

"Yes, we make a wedding dress based on your measurements and will get it done in three days."

Mahina brought the rest of the crew out, and Cameron let them measure her.

Meanwhile, in Bassburgh...

Daisie wore a cap and a face mask to cover her face.

The server guided her to a room and opened the door. "This way, ma'am."

Leah looked up upon hearing that. After she saw the server walk out, she immediately stood up and smiled. "Daisie."

Daisie removed her mask and pulled out a chair. "Where did you get back?"

"Two days ago. I just got back." Leah took a seat and poured out some tea. "My company gave me a long time off. I'm going to relax now that I'm back."

Daisie smiled too. "Interpreting is a tough job, huh?"

“Of course. I have to run around with my bosses and meet the VIPs. When I close my eyes, all I can see is the schedule for the next day. My mind is just fed with work.” Leah picked up her cup and sighed. “I wouldn’t have taken a foreign language if I knew this would be the outcome.”

She remembered something and looked up. “By the way, Zephir is a director. Is he part of the entertainment industry now?”

Daisie was surprised and looked around. “Yes.”

Leah raised her brows and leaned in closer. “Did he become a director because of you?”

Daisie looked down. “It’s his passion.”

Even if it were for her, they wouldn’t have worked out.

Was she supposed to change because Zephir got into the film industry because of her?

Leah could see something was off, so she asked, “Daisie, didn’t you have a huge crush on Zephir? Did something happen between you two?”

She had been overseas and didn’t have time to pay attention to entertainment news because she was busy. She didn’t know that Daisie was married. In her mind, Daisie and Zephir were really close. She even imagined that she would be attending their wedding when she returned.

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2405

Chapter 2405

Cameron frowned. “Don’t you know how to drive those women away by yourself?”

Waylon smirked. “This is different. I like to stay under your control.”

“Won’t you feel bothered?”

“Why would something like this be bothersome to someone who regards these as the fun that spices up a relationship?” Waylon kissed the corner of her eyes. “Even if you were to cause me trouble everywhere you go, I’d be more than happy to accept them as part of my life.”

She pinched his cheek. “What do you mean by causing trouble everywhere? I- Hmm!”

Waylon sealed her lips, and Cameron immediately propped her hands against his chest. "Wayne Goldmann, you haven't had dinner yet..."

"I'll have my dessert first."

"Since when is there dessert?"

Waylon turned over and trapped her in his arms. "Aren't you my dessert?"

He blatantly caressed her from head to toe, and she gritted her teeth and blushed. "Wayne Goldmann, get off me!"

Not long after Waylon was discharged from the hospital, Sunny started hinting them to hold a wedding banquet in the East Islands. He could not allow them to drag this out any longer.

That day, the two of them were sitting in the living room, listening to Sunny's undisguised hints, and that made Cameron laugh. "You just can't wait to drive me out of the Southern, can you?"

Sunny's expression stiffened. "You brat, what do you think you're saying? What do you mean by driving you out? How are the Southern no longer your family after you get married?"

She snorted and turned her face away.

Waylon smiled and said calmly, "Actually, as long as Cam is willing to marry me, I'm okay with anything. Even if she wants to come back and live here in the future, I can live here with her too."

Cameron pursed her lips and stared at him without uttering a single word.

Sunny picked his teacup up, flicked the lid of the cup, and seemed to be very satisfied with Waylon's response. "Glad to know where you stand in this matter."

He then drank his tea and added, "Then let's not delay it anymore. We'll hold the wedding banquet here

next week."

Cameron was stunned for a split second. "What? That fast?"

'Next week? I don't even get a buffer period?'

Sunny replied earnestly, "There's a holiday next week, and that itself eases a lot of arrangements. Otherwise, we'll have to wait until next month. Since it's just a matter of time, it's better to hold it sooner."

Sunny had already made up his mind, so he got up, walked to the butler, and instructed him on the to-do list of next week's wedding banquet.

At this time, at Bassburgh...

Daisie and Hannah attended a winter fashion show. When the reporter asked her about Waylon and Cameron's relationship, she responded with a grin, "Is there even a need for you to ask the question? Who else in the world is capable of becoming the eldest young lady of the Goldmanns?"

As soon as she said that, all the media outlets present at the scene were astounded.

It was clear to everyone that the Goldmanns really thought highly of Cameron.

Of course, several reporters still would not stop without getting a trenchant reply out of Daisie. They compared Freyja and Cameron blatantly during the interview and asked Daisie whether she was more content with Cameron or Freyja.

Daisie glared at the reporter, who just would not settle for a peaceful answer. "They're my sisters-in-law. Is there any difference?"

The reporter still would not give up. "Let's just say you can only choose one."

Daisie gradually lost patience. "Do I look like someone who's in the position of marrying one of them and is forced to pick only one of them?"

Fortunately, Hannah was there to extinguish Daisie's wrath. Otherwise, if the conversation were to go on, the news that would make the headline tomorrow would be Daisie getting into an argument with the reporter.

Soon, she glanced through the noisy crowd.

A car was parked behind the crowd, and Zephir got out of the car with a woman.

Daisie was slightly startled by what she saw-that woman was none other than Zoey Markle.

Zoey wrapped her arms around Zephir's as they gracefully stepped onto the red carpet, seemingly unaffected by the countless haters that she brought onto herself when she painted a target on Daisie's back when they attended the variety show together.

Most of the reporters were not familiar with Zephir, but some of them knew his identity. However, compared to his identity, everyone was more curious about his relationship with Zoey.

Hannah kept smiling but whispered to Daisy while standing right next to her, "That witch's benefactors change as quickly as the blink of an eye. But that man looks rather familiar..."

Chapter 2406

Daisy didn't speak.

Zephir saw Daisy at the reception table.

Daisy smiled, nodded at him politely, and looked away after that.

She had never seen Zephir after their filming wrapped up.

She was quite surprised to see him attend the fashion show. After the show, Daisy ended up sitting next to Zoey, possibly intentionally arranged by the organizers. Hannah and Zephir were next to them too.

But the attention of the media was all on the two of them.

Zoey never thought that the organizers would do that. When they were greeting the reporters, she said in a volume only Daisy could hear. "This is just bad luck. I hope your stupid fans don't say I'm trying to become relevant again by standing next to you."

Daisy smiled. "From what I know, your fans are mostly the stupid ones."

Zoey's smile faded. Because of what had happened during their variety show, her fans had created a lot of funny situations in their attempt to make her famous again. The majority of netizens mocked them as 'brain-dead fans'.

Zoey was about to retort, but Daisy suddenly stood up and walked away.

Zephir watched her walk away and frowned.

Daisy rushed into the washroom and threw up all her dinner from last night.

After she was done, she turned on the tap to wash the vomit away.

She threw water on her face and looked at herself in the mirror. Something came to her mind, and she rested her hand on her belly.

'Am I pregnant?'

She thought about it and realized her period had been half a month late.

Daisie quickly left the washroom and was surprised to see Zephir smoking in the corridor. She had never seen him smoke and didn't know that he did.

Daisie asked, "Why are you out here?"

Zephir flicked the ash off and raised his brows. "Not feeling well?"

"I'm fine. I'm going back in."

When Daisie walked past him, he suddenly grabbed her wrist. He looked very calm. "You haven't seen Leah Younge in a long time, have you?"

Daisie was surprised. "She's back?"

Zoey, who was standing at a distance, saw them and looked unhappy. Only God knew how much effort she had put into getting her first role as a female lead from Zephir.

But Bassburgh had a small circle.

Did Zephir and Daisie have that kind of relationship?

'Hah! Tiffany Cullen had said that Daisie was a 'player, and it might actually be true. She's still in a relationship with another man after getting married.'

The next day, at the East Islands...

After Cameron washed up and had breakfast, she went and watered the flowers in the garden. She was a little not used to such a calm and restful life, maybe because she had been living in the busy city for a while now.

Waylon walked into the garden wearing his silk pants and holding a cup of coffee. He saw that she was watering while zoning out and chuckled.

"Are you trying to drown the flowers?"

She snapped back and saw that the flowerbed was flooded. She slowly stopped.

"What's the issue? Flowers will grow back."

He smiled and didn't speak.

Cameron remembered something and suddenly turned to look at him. "You didn't go to Yuzu Villa with my dad to talk about the wedding banquet?"

"He can handle that." He then looked at Cameron and smiled. "Can't wait to be my bride?"

Chapter 2407

Cameron turned her face away. "Can you shut up? I'm not in a hurry."

Waylon slowly sipped his coffee and smiled.

Mahina walked in and was followed by a group of people who were carrying a lot of things.

Cameron stopped her. "What are you doing?"

Mahina smiled and said, "We're getting ready for your wedding. Mr. Southern said we're going to get the best wedding planner on the island to plan your wedding."

Cameron was shocked. "Do we need to go through so much hassle?"

It was just a wedding.

The crew member behind them smiled. "It's not a hassle. It's an event of a lifetime. Everyone wants to be the prettiest bride. We are responsible for making you happy."

After that, her expression returned to a serious one.

Cameron smiled. "Where did the old man get a wedding planner?"

Mahina grabbed her arm. "Let's go. I'll show you."

"What's to see- What?"

Before she could finish, Mahina dragged her into the house. "Take a look. You might like it."

Waylon smiled and shook his head.

Everything that was needed for the wedding filled up the room-jewelry, clothing, shoes, and more.

Two female crew members walked in. "Ms. Southern, we're here to get your measurements."

Cameron was surprised. "Measurements?"

"Yes, we make a wedding dress based on your measurements and will get it done in three days."

Mahina brought the rest of the crew out, and Cameron let them measure her.

Meanwhile, in Bassburgh...

Daisie wore a cap and a face mask to cover her face.

The server guided her to a room and opened the door. "This way, ma'am."

Leah looked up upon hearing that. After she saw the server walk out, she immediately stood up and smiled. "Daisie."

Daisie removed her mask and pulled out a chair. "Where did you get back?"

"Two days ago. I just got back." Leah took a seat and poured out some tea. "My company gave me a long time off. I'm going to relax now that I'm back."

Daisie smiled too. "Interpreting is a tough job, huh?"

"Of course. I have to run around with my bosses and meet the VIPs. When I close my eyes, all I can see is the schedule for the next day. My mind is just fed with work." Leah picked up her cup and sighed. "I wouldn't have taken a foreign language if I knew this would be the outcome."

She remembered something and looked up. "By the way, Zephir is a director. Is he part of the entertainment industry now?"

Daisie was surprised and looked around. "Yes."

Leah raised her brows and leaned in closer. "Did he become a director because of you?"

Daisie looked down. "It's his passion."

Even if it were for her, they wouldn't have worked out.

Was she supposed to change because Zephir got into the film industry because of her?

Leah could see something was off, so she asked, "Daisie, didn't you have a huge crush on Zephir? Did something happen between you two?"

She had been overseas and didn't have time to pay attention to entertainment news because she was busy. She didn't know that Daisy was married. In her mind, Daisy and Zephyr were really close. She even imagined that she would be attending their wedding when she returned.