

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 6

The gasp shook her to the brim, Lucas was a big liar. And she knew, she would not escape this shit, no one would save her, not even Mrs. Dozza, the chef.

"But being the alpha's son, trying to be responsible, I tried talking sense inside those brilliant head of her, making her understand that I could not do such act, not when am not yet mated, I was keeping my self for my mate"

Lucas said, looking at her, his face now turning sad and bitter. Bella looked at him, her eyes already felt blurry with the words of lies that the alpha's son spilled out from him damn disgusting lips. He was sure a good actor.

"But she insisted, she behaved as if she was on her heat, but she was not yet mated to anyone, neither was I her mate"

Lucas said, watching as everyone shook their head with disgust at what he said. Lucas was sure a good liar, Bella thought. Lucas turned slightly, using his foresight to watch the Omega's family, her two senior sisters who would make her life miserable, and her mother who would not hesitate to kill her without thinking twice.

"And what happened afterward, did you accept her proposal, did you have any sexual relations with her"

Kira asked, her voice daunting Bella, she could not believe her junior sister, No, she was not her sister, over her dead body would that thing be her sister, Bella was the omega of the pack, and how dare she try to seduce someone whom she had an eye for, she was always behaving like a sheep, but she never knew she was more dangerous than their kind.

"No, I would never have tried such disgusting thing with her, she is the omega, and trying such shit with her could have tamed my image, and bring a ridicule to my lineage, and the entire pack"

Lucas said, smiling with happiness, victory, he never knew persecuting her would be much funnier, than killing her.

"She tore her clothes apart when she knew I would not oblige to her request, and seeing she was been stubborn, I pushed her on the wall, which had caused her to lose her balance, and she fainted, I rushed out from the room, scared to the brim, not knowing if she was dead or alive. After some hours, I had sent these two men"

Lucas said, pointing at the two men, who had come, seeking Bella in her room. Bella watched him, as he fed the whole pack with lies upon lies.

"And they came back, informing me that the omega, was not in her chambers when they went searching for her, they came back informing me of her absence, which terrified me more, I was not myself, scared of what has happened to her. Then I decided to come to meet her, maybe she might be in the kitchen, and I have found her, better and well, all thanks be to the goddess"

Lucas said, smiling silently, the room was quiet, he knew there was the silence before the great storm which awaits the omega. Bella looked around, she saw the looks on their faces, their faces were filled with hatred, malice, and unrequited anger all towards her, she turned, looking at Mrs. Dozza, hoping at least someone would trust her, but all she received was a wave of the head, no one believed her, of course who would believe her, over the words of an alpha's son. But at least, she could make a trial, to defend herself, she still had a tongue, which was never tied down, with their hatred. She said, her head almost high, she was scared, scared of her family. Not knowing what they would do to her

"I never did anything that you said, you are lying against me, you are not saying the truth, you speak li.."

But her words were cut short with a scream, that rang through her ears, causing her to shiver with fear, fear of being hunted for life with these moments, quickly, turning her head towards where the voice came from, she saw Kira, striding towards her, with a deadly stare, her teeth prolonged with anger, her fingers turned to that of an animal, a wolf. She stepped back, as her sister strode towards her, she knew she was dead, but the more she stepped back, the more she strides towards her, and with a quick yank, Kira yanked her on her head, causing a scream of pain to erupt from her lips,

"How dare you try something so disgusting with my man, the alpha son, you want to nail him down by bearing his pop huh, you little bitch, and now, you dared open those disgusting lips of yours to spill more trash, saying he lied, the alpha's son lying, that is so ridiculous of you"

Kira shouted, smashing her head on the counter, as a ripple of pain seared her senses, causing a ripple of scream to escape her lips.

"She's a damn smokey bitch"

Lara said, walking towards her two sisters, she was the eldest among the three, and she hated the omega with an unrefined hatred.

"Yes she is"

"She's such a whore"

"Such a bad wide py, she's a bad bitch"

Whispers filled the room, already disgusted with the omega, Lucas watched with satisfaction, he loved what he was seeing, her foolish family tormenting her, nor him.

“Quiet but deadly like a snake.”

One of the maids said, causing the whole room to burst into a ripple of laughter. But it was different with Bella, a loud pain, seared through her face, as Lara gave her a hot dirty slap, Kira held her in place, preventing her from escaping the attacks that their elder sister was mating upon Bella

“Enough, enough please, I only came here to ask of her farewell, nothing else, I never came to cause any form of pain to her, but to know if she was doing fine”

Lucas said, striding towards Kira, as he wrapped his hands around her waist, releasing her hold from Bella, he could see a little amount of blood, on her forehead. That was fair enough, for the omega, she had disobeyed him and she will suffer. He will have to save her, for another day.

“But baby, why don’t I finish her for trying shit with y..”

“Shhhh, she does not Worth your anger, you know my love, now let’s leave here, I need a clean sanity”

Lucas said, dragging Kira out from the kitchen, but not after giving the slave another smirk, before leaving exiting out from the kitchen.

Bella shook with fear, rage, and pain, the pain she felt in her heart was more than the physical pain, her sister Kira had caused her.

“That serves you better, Omega”

Lara said, spitting on her, before exiting the kitchen. The whispers continued, Bella stood up, still seeing the look on their faces, she saw her mother striding towards her, she bowed down quickly, avoiding to cause another dispute.

“And again, you decided to cause more troubles, I taught you slept with a guy, I never knew you tried forcing yourself on the alpha’s son, that’s very shameful of you to do”

Envylin said, looking at Bella with disgust, she could not believe she had born these disgrace with her belle.

“Now leave this kitchen, before you infect the others with your perverted behavior”

Envylin shouted, quickly, Bella ran out of the kitchen, as heavy tears flew down her cheeks. She was shattered with pain and bitterness, which was caused by her pack, whom she thought would be a family to her.