

Read Twins and ex wife (my talented babies) novel Chapter 21 online free

“Are you sure that we can let Jaden and Jayla see her like that?” Kieran asked in a soft tone while a shade of anger glared in his eyes as he saw Seth and Freya were hand in hand.

“I ...” seeing Freya’s face, Seth couldn’t utter a complete answer.

Her face was as swollen as a red steamed bun, which could definitely scare the two children.

“Boss, who did this to you? I will kill him for you now!” the longer Seth looked at Freya’s face, the sadder he felt about it. The anger in his eyes suddenly flamed—he became so vexed at not being able to kill that man.

“Pryce won’t let him off!” once Kieran recalled what Timothy had done to Freya, his expression would become extremely cold. If he had arrived there later, Timothy would have injected Freya with that drug, which could cause unretrievable consequences.

Hearing Kieran’s words, Seth felt more relieved. But when the thought that the one who had saved Freya was Kieran occurred to him, he was a little jealous.

It was indeed the best choice for Freya to stay in Kieran’s villa for that night since she was hurt and was better not start a new journey when it had already been so late at night.

Seth looked at Freya’s swollen-bun face with tenderness and affection in his eyes for a long time before he reluctantly left the room.

Kieran accompanied him downstairs. When they were in the living room, Seth suddenly turned around and said seriously to Kieran, “Uncle Kieran, I love Boss much more than myself.

“Without her, I will die. So, uncle Kieran, please leave her alone and let me have her.”

After the words, Seth heavily opened the door of the living room and left at a quick but stern pace.

Seth knew that saying those words to Kieran was mean, but he had no other choice since he loved Freya badly. Once he thought about the scene that she was with another man, he would be too painful, as if he had been penetrated by a sword. to breathe. He could do nothing but cheat in such a childish and selfish way to persuade uncle Kieran to give her up.

Without Freya, SETH would die.

Kieran turned pale. He wasn't a kind guy, but he would definitely not hurt Seth and Eleanor Fitzgerald—the two people he cared about the most in his life.

In a room of Seth's villa, Jayla lay her face on the table in front of Jaden and asked, "Jaden, do you know what mommy and uncle Kieran are doing right now? Are they kissing each other?"

"Jayla, you are such a gossip girl!" Jaden cast a contemptuous glance at Jayla while keeping on operating the computer.

Jayla pouted a little. She wouldn't believe that the cold-face Jaden didn't want to know what mommy and uncle were doing!

Seeing that Jaden was looking for an ID online, something occurred to her, and she said immediately, "Oh Jaden, I remember that, today in the hospital, the fat aunty said that someone gave her 100 thousand yuan anonymously and asked her to hurt mommy. Have you found out who gave her the money?"

Jaden heavily pressed the "enter" button.

Once he pressed the button, a name appeared on the screen, and he said, "I know who gave her the money—Linda, the manager of Alisha."

"What? She again?"

Jayla widened her eyes angrily with her arms akimbo as if she were going to fight and said, "Aunty Alisha has gone too far this time. She has always been bullying our mommy. I can't stand it anymore!"

Jayla patted Jaden's shoulder, held his arms and said, "Jaden, I have thought about it. I think that it was only because of our kindness that aunty Alisha would think that she could do everything he wanted to bite us. We must fight back this time and let her know our real power!"

Jaden raised his face to look at Jayla slowly and said, "It's 'everything she wanted to hurt us', not 'bite'."

"Fine, fine, everything she wanted to hurt us," Jayla smiled embarrassingly and said, "Jaden, tell me what we should do to fight back and give her some lessons!"

Jaden didn't respond immediately. However, in his dark eyes gleamed the light of wisdom and it was obvious that he had already had some of the air of winner of the world.

After a long silence, Jaden said sternly, "I will send Aunty Alisha a big present."

A wonderful big present...

When Jayla smiled, her two small dimples became more obvious and her eyes and brows more curved, which made her look like a small cunning fox.

Jaden would never disappoint her and she was looking forward to the show!

In Arkpool City, the night was gentle but alienated. No matter how brightly and beautifully did the light shine in every house, the endless darkness could never be expelled.

In this 24-hour city, the joys and sorrows of the world happened every minute and every second, and there were very few people who could truly remember and be touched by those sentiments.

After the last video conference, Kieran was about to drive back to Kelsington Bay to check on Freya when Alisha called him.

"Kieran, I feel awful, help me..."

After the words, she became quiet.

Kieran couldn't leave her to die since she had once saved his life, so he asked the driver to turn the car around to her apartment.

When he arrived and found that the door of Alisha's apartment was open, he frowned a little and walked in.

Once he closed the door behind him, a strong fragrance dashed into his nose. He frowned heavily and shouted, "Alisha!"

"Kieran, help me..."

Alisha's sounded weak but coquettish. When Kieran recognized that her voice came from her bedroom, he walked directly towards the room.

Kieran once thought that Alisha was hurt, but unexpectedly, she was totally safe and sound and lay on the bed in a flirting posture, dressed delicately.

A shade of annoyance appeared in Kieran's eyes and he turned around immediately without giving her another glance.

"Kieran, don't go!"

Alisha got out of the bed, held his arms tightly and pleaded, "Kieran, please stay here tonight. In these five years, you have never touched me again. It makes me feel awful. Do you know that? Please, Kieran, don't say no to me anymore, please."

The fragrance in Alisha's apartment was created by a kind of perfume which could activate man's sexual desire to the greatest extent.

Kieran felt that there was something wrong with his body and he knew Alisha's trick immediately.

Determined, Alisha held him tightly and said, "Kieran, love me for once, will you?" □□□□