

Read Twins and ex wife (my talented babies) novel Chapter 5 online free

“Dr. Stahler, have you been stunned by Fitz?” Fabian smiled brightly. He limped to Freya. “You know what? Fitz has stunned millions of rich women. Unfortunately, he’s impotent.”

Stunned millions of rich women?

Freya confirmed her guess. He must be the man that night!

She wouldn’t allow her children to call that kind of man father, although he seemed to lead a good life and afford such a massive villa in the high-end neighborhood, Kelsington Bay.

However, he was her children’s biological father, anyway. He had become impotent, so Freya decided to try her best to cure him.

“Dr. Stahler, what are you waiting for? Please hurry up and check up on Fitz. Let’s see if you can cure him or not. If there’s no way to cure him, it’ll be troublesome,” Fabian urged.

“Pryce, do you want your other leg to be broken?” Kieran couldn’t stand Fabian’s noisy voice. He raised his head with a threatening look in his eyes. Fabian shivered.

“No, I don’t!” Fabian instantly answered. He was afraid that Fitz would truly be annoyed by him and break the other leg of his. Immediately, he winked at Freya and walked away.

Freya walked up to feel Kieran’s pulse. His pulse was strong, and he looked healthy. She couldn’t tell he was sick.

However, that kind of sickness was entirely secret. She couldn’t make the diagnosis so easily.

She opened the medical kit, prepared the acupuncture needles, and said to Kieran calmly, “Take off your pants.”

“What did you say?” Kieran frowned deeply. His face darkened, and he looked as if he would swallow Freya alive.

Freya explained helplessly, “If you don’t take off the pants, how can I check up on you?”

Kieran heard her explanation, and his eyes darkened. He did what she said obediently.

Except for the night five years ago, this was the first time Freya was so close to a man.

When she was about to check up on him carefully, Kiera suddenly turned to kiss her.

Fabian gaped at them.

He had sent many women to Fitz, but he couldn’t be aroused. However, Fitz looked like a monster in Dr. Stahler’s presence.

Freya was also agape by the situation, wondering why this man suddenly kissed her. She asked if he wanted to serve her so he wouldn’t need to pay for the medical treatment.

Although this man looked better than her favorite movie star, he had a good shape like a supermodel, his scent also smelt pleasant, and she blushed when he kissed her. She still preferred money more. She needed to raise her children with money.

She wouldn’t allow him to pay the fee by his service.

Freya used all her strength to push away Kieran as she thought of it. She hurriedly took steps back to keep a relatively safe distance from him. She stammered, “The visit fee this time is one hundred dollars. Credit cards?”

Afraid that they would refuse to pay her, Freya added, “He took the initiative to kiss me just now. I disagree with him paying with his body. You must pay the visit fee.”