

Unpredictable Betrayal : A Sweet of Revenge chapter 11-15

If we look at Alex's behavior, gestures, and everything he does to Aurora, everyone would surely think that the man has truly changed. He might even regret the foolish actions he once took.

Initially, Alex was indeed very committed. Even when ignored, he still tried to show all the attention, actions, and sweet gestures to slowly melt Aurora's heart.

For heaven's sake, Alex regrets it. He even promised. He also swore to himself not to waste the precious opportunity given by Aurora.

However, a promise is just a promise. It's not difficult for God to test by turning hearts upside down.

Coinciding with one afternoon when Alex had just finished a meeting with a client at a restaurant, unexpectedly Nicole approached. After repeatedly being deliberately ignored and avoided, the beautiful and sexy woman boldly followed, then approached Alex when there was a chance.

"We need to talk seriously, Alex."

Nicole clearly blocked his way. She didn't let Alex leave her behind for a moment.

"What else do you want to talk about?"

Alex frowned. Moreover, he worried that the accidental meeting between him and Nicole this evening might be discovered by Aurora and put him back in a tight spot.

For several months now, Alex has struggled to win back his wife's heart. And now, when Aurora is slowly opening up, Alex doesn't want to betray that trust again.

“We don’t need to talk about anything anymore.” “Our business isn’t finished. It’s not okay for you to just leave like that. Anyway, we both need to talk seriously.”

Nicole was not satisfied. Her voice sounded forceful.

“Fine. Speak now. I’ll listen to whatever it is.”

Nicole sighed in annoyance. She pulled a chair and sat directly in front of Alex. “You can’t just throw me away like trash. After satisfying yourself, you can’t just leave me! Besides, I truly love you, Alex. I don’t want our relationship to end like this.”

Alex chuckled bitterly. While being in a relationship with Nicole, he admitted that it was nothing more than momentary lust. He never involved his heart and feelings in it. Just for fun. “Don’t overdo it. What we did before was just for fun. We both know that.”

“But, for heaven’s sake, I really love you, Alex. Whatever it takes, I’ll do it to make our relationship return to what it was before.”

At that moment, to avoid unwanted situations, Alex made it clear and chose to leave Nicole immediately. He thought, after being flatly rejected, Nicole would never appear in his life again.

However, Alex was wrong. In the following days, Nicole became more daring and intense in her harassment. From sending affectionate chats or voice notes containing naughty words to sending provocative photos that aroused desire in anyone who saw them. Basically, Nicole never gave up once, trying to lure Alex back into her arms.

Until one day, when Alex was on a business trip out of town, somehow, Nicole followed him.

What’s more surprising, after finishing the meeting and entering his hotel room, Alex was left speechless by Nicole’s sudden presence. The woman appeared extremely sexy because she was only wearing the red lingerie Alex had given her when they were still together.

“Nicole! How did you get here?”

Alex couldn't hide his astonishment. He was both amazed and wondered how Nicole could be in his room. Did one of his staff inform her or collaborate with her?

“Alex... don't you miss me?”

Nicole's voice sounded playful. Ignoring Alex's question, she, who was sitting on the edge of the bed, then stood up and tried to hug him. But instead of being welcomed, Alex quickly pushed her away.

“You shouldn't be here,” Alex rejected hurriedly. He grabbed one of Nicole's wrists, intending to immediately take her out of his room.

But Nicole resisted. With all her strength, she pulled Alex until they both fell and lay on the bed.

Initially, Alex wanted to get up immediately. But Nicole didn't allow that to happen. In a flash, she shifted positions until she ended up sitting right on top of the man's body. “Don't you seriously miss me?”

In a very close situation, Nicole asked again. She locked Alex's eyes to keep him staring at her. Text © owned by NôvelDrama.Org.

“If you knew, I miss the moments when we spent time together.”

Nicole grinned. She used her slender fingers to gently caress Alex's face. Smiling, she pulled his wrist and deliberately stroked his neck down to his chest.

This time Nicole chuckled softly. Intentionally, she caressed both of Alex's chests simultaneously. Without much delay, displaying a teasing yet seductive gaze, Nicole tempted Alex by bringing her hand to stroke down to his stomach. Continuing down until she stopped at a point, then gently squeezed, which made Alex almost out of breath.

“Nicole.”

Alex's voice sounded heavy and hoarse. There was a stirring emotion followed by a slowly rising desire clearly reflected in his eyes.

“Do you seriously not want to touch me like before?” Nicole whispered. While caressing, she continued to tempt. “I don’t mind if our relationship is just for fun. What matters is that I can still be by your side.”

“Nicole...” Alex called out again. “I —”

“Just relax,” Nicole interrupted hurriedly before Alex could finish his sentence. “I promise this time I’ll be more careful. I’ll make sure Aurora will never know about us.”

Nicole looked pleadingly. Asking Alex to accept her offer.

“Whatever you ask, I’ll do it.”

Like a drought in need of rain. And it had been several months since the thirst had struck and had never been satisfied. Especially since Aurora still refused to be touched.

So, now that someone was offering voluntarily, should Alex reject it?

Of course, Alex wouldn’t waste this opportunity. Tempted by persuasion and devilish whispers, Alex surrendered himself once again to Nicole.

Even after that day, they both chose to resume their relationship secretly and more cautiously. Alex even tried to act normal to avoid raising suspicion from Aurora. As ordinary as possible, choosing the safe route so that his relationship with Nicole could continue until now.

Unpredictable Betrayal : A Sweet of Revenge

“I’ve had breakfast, Darling. I’m getting ready while waiting for the pickup.”

In the morning, Alex was seen chatting with Aurora over the phone. As usual, he provided updates on what he was doing while they were apart.

“I’ve also arrived at the hospital. I’ll start visiting patients’ rooms soon and then move on to the pediatric ward.”

“Okay, then you just continue working for now. I’ll call you during my break. And, what do you want as a souvenir? Tomorrow, before I come home, I’ll make sure to get something.”

“No need. I don’t need any souvenirs. What matters is that you arrive safely, that’s more than enough.”

“Alright then. I’ll head to the lobby now. We’ll continue our chat during my work break.”

Ending his call with Aurora, Alex smiled. He turned to find Nicole cuddling intimately in his arms.

Who said Alex was working today? The man was still lying in bed. Under the covers and in a loving embrace with a woman who was clearly his wife’s cousin.

“You’re really good at lying,” Nicole teased with laughter. Of course, she was mocking Alex’s recent deception of his wife.

“What else can I do? If not like that, Aurora might suspect and figure out what we’re doing.”

Nicole giggled gleefully. There was a feeling of joy and pride because she had succeeded in winning Alex’s heart back to her.

“You claimed to have work today. Yet, here you are having fun in bed with me.”

Alex smiled again. He lifted Nicole’s body to shift her position on top of him.

“Since my office matters were settled yesterday, today you have to satisfy me in bed. Make me crazy by calling out your name continuously.”

Above Alex, Nicole grinned. She leaned down, bringing her face close to kiss and nibble Alex’s lips for a moment.

“No problem. Even if I have to satisfy you multiple times, I’m always ready. The main thing is, before you leave, you have to take me shopping.”

Alex nodded in agreement. It wasn’t difficult for him to buy Nicole various expensive items. And again, he also had to buy something for Aurora as a surprise even though his wife didn’t ask for it. Yes, just to keep up appearances.

“Sure. Whatever you ask for, I’ll buy it.”

Nicole laughed happily. In this situation, she willingly satisfied and complied with all of Alex’s requests.

Meanwhile, at the hospital, Velia looked sour. She felt disgusted after overhearing the conversation between Aurora and Alex over the phone.

She should feel happy because now Aurora seemed happier. But, considering her friend was reconciling with someone Velia considered unsuitable, she still couldn’t accept it.

“Over the top! Can’t you two just not be so lovey-dovey in front of me.”

Aurora chuckled. She understood Velia’s attitude.

“Who’s over the top? When you’re on the phone with your husband, you have to speak softly. That’s why, hurry up and get married. So you’ll know what married life is like.”

“No way! I’m not interested in getting married. I’m afraid the guy will be a cheater like Alex.”

Aurora shook her head. Despite Velia’s sarcastic remarks, she wasn’t offended at all. Understanding that her colleague and close friend still didn’t accept her decision to reconcile.

“Doctor Aurora, Doctor Velia.”

At the same time, there was a knock on the door. Turning simultaneously, both beautiful doctors found a nurse who had called them earlier.

“Yes?”

“Doctor Asher asked you to come to the meeting room on the fifth floor right away. He said the doctors from overseas who will be working at Medika Hospital have all arrived.”

Aurora nodded. Pulling Velia along, she urged her colleague to go to the fifth floor immediately. As expected, the new doctors that Asher brought from abroad to help Santa Monica Hospital were already gathered.

Asher even called and asked his brother to introduce himself.

“This is Doctor Andrew, Eric, Lily, and Jasmine.”

Aurora extended her hand, introducing herself to the doctors who would later become her colleagues at the hospital. This belongs to NôvelDrama.Org.

“And this...” Asher continued. “Is the new Cardiovascular Doctor who will help me handle patients at our hospital.”

“Aurora...”

That call suddenly made Aurora turn. Scanning the room, she found a man she knew very well.

“Do you still remember me?”

Aurora was silent for a moment. Shortly after, she muttered.

“Alden?”

Unpredictable Betrayal : A Sweet of Revenge

“So Dr. Alden is your ex-boyfriend?” Aurora immediately scowled. Thanks to Asher’s careless remark in the doctor’s lounge yesterday, almost everyone in the hospital now knew that she had once been in a relationship with Alden.

“Dr. Alden, if you hadn’t broken up with Dr. Aurora, maybe now she would be my sister-in-law and leading Santa Monica Hospital.”

If there weren’t so many people around, Aurora felt like pulling Asher’s ear or pinching him hard to stop him from talking nonsense. Aurora knew her brother did it on purpose.

“Aurora?” Velia called again.

“Yeah,” Aurora lazily replied.

“Did you hear my question or not?”

“Yeah. He used to be my boyfriend. Are you satisfied?”

Velia laughed. She enjoyed seeing Aurora looking annoyed like this.

“Why didn’t you just marry Dr. Alden? I mean, he’s pretty handsome. Judging by his looks, he must come from a wealthy family too, right?”

Aurora nodded.

“Yeah. But, no matter what, we’re just not meant to be together. That’s why we broke up and now live our own lives.”

“Such a shame.”

“What’s there to regret?”

“Well, it’s a pity to break up with someone who’s almost perfect.”

“Exaggerated.”

“What’s exaggerated about it?”

Unexpectedly, Alden appeared from the direction of Aurora's office door. He seemed to be passing by with Asher and might have accidentally overheard snippets of conversation between Aurora and Velia. This belongs to NôvelDrama.Org.

"Oh, that Velia, she's exaggerating."

Aurora seemed visibly nervous instead. She herself wondered why she suddenly felt so awkward in front of Alden.

"Have you eaten?" Alden asked point-blank.

"Not yet, Doc. Aurora hasn't had lunch yet. Just finished visiting patients' rooms."

It was Velia, not Aurora, who seemed enthusiastic in her response. Aurora looked irritated seeing the interaction between Alden and Velia. And because of this response, she earned a glare from Aurora.

"If you haven't had lunch yet, want to grab lunch together? With the others too," Alden offered afterwards.

Velia immediately approached Aurora. She purposely nudged her colleague's arm, giving a signal for Aurora to accept Alden's invitation just now.

"Sorry, I can't. I have some business outside the hospital to take care of this afternoon."

"What kind of business?" Asher interjected. Squinting, he seemed curious.

"Not your business," Aurora replied still annoyed. Then she turned back to Alden.

"Alright, it's fine. Maybe some other time we can grab lunch together."

Meanwhile, elsewhere, Alex was so focused on finishing his work in the office. Amidst his busyness, his phone rang several times. Upon checking, there were several text messages sent by Nicole.

+62 855 1234 5678: Alex, I miss you. Want to meet up?

+62 855 1234 5678: Are you too busy? You haven't replied to my messages.

Alex smiled. Instead of replying, he intended to call her. But before he could make the call, Nicole suddenly appeared from the office door.

"Honey."

Alex was quite surprised. Moreover, he and Nicole had actually made an agreement not to meet each other in the office. He didn't want her arrival to be known by Aurora.

Despite warning all staff to keep their mouths shut and to keep all non-work-related activities confidential, Alex still worried.

"I've told you we're not supposed to meet in the office."

"I miss you, Darling."

Nicole pouted. Approaching Alex who was standing not far from his desk, she immediately hugged him.

"I miss you."

"But didn't we just come back from Singapore last night? Wasn't our meeting and time together yesterday enough?"

"Being with you, one or two days are never enough, right? Besides, your touches and kisses always make me miss you."

Alex smiled. He loved it when Nicole teased and acted cute like this in front of him.

"So, what do you want?"

Nicole then pulled Alex back to his chair. A moment later, she deliberately sat on his lap and wrapped her arms around his neck.

“Of course, to have fun with you as usual,” she whispered teasingly.

“Do you want us to go to a hotel now?”

Nicole shook her head instead. She refused Alex’s offer.

“No.”

“No? Then what do you want? Don’t confuse me.”

“I’m bored of playing in hotels. That’s why, why don’t you just buy me an apartment? Besides, if I live in an apartment, you can freely come and sleep over whenever you want.”

Alex smiled again. Upon reflection, spending time together with Nicole in an apartment would indeed be easier. Besides being safer, the two of them could also spend more time together.

“Alright, I’ll buy an apartment not far from the office. So, during break times, I can drop by to see you.”

“Seriously?”

Nicole couldn’t hide her excitement. After years of living in a cramped rented house, she couldn’t wait for Alex to grant her request to move to a luxurious apartment.

“Seriously, Darling. When have I ever lied to you? I’ll buy it as soon as possible.”

A look of pure happiness radiated from Nicole’s face. She was so happy that she even hugged and kissed Alex.

“So, are we going to have fun now?” Alex asked after they broke the kiss.

“Of course.”

“Where do you want to make love? A hotel?”

“Right here?”

Alex furrowed his brows. He didn't understand Nicole's recent answer.

"Here?"

Nicole nodded.

"Yes. We haven't even had fun in your office yet. There's a comfy sofa. A spacious bathroom. Your desk is fine too."

"Don't joke around."

Nicole smiled suggestively. Getting off Alex's lap, she then knelt directly in front of the chair Alex was sitting on. Hiding between the desk, she slowly unbuttoned and unzipped Alex's pants.

"Nicole..." Alex whispered, a little worried. "What if someone sees?"

Nicole didn't care. With her soft hands, she began to caress Alex.

"No one will see, Alex. Your secretary and other staff always knock on the door before entering the room, right? So, why should you be afraid?"

Nicole had a point. Why should Alex be afraid of being seen by others? Besides, no one dared to enter his room without his permission.

That's why Alex let Nicole gently caress and kiss him down there. Allowing her to do anything down there. Enjoying every touch his mistress gave. Without realizing that there was someone who didn't need approval or permission from him to enter the executive room.

"Alex, have you had lunch?"

Alex's heart almost leaped out of his chest. Now, standing in front of him, right at the threshold of the room, unexpectedly appeared Aurora.

Will his affair be revealed to Aurora again after this?

Unpredictable Betrayal : A Sweet of Revenge

“So Dr. Alden is your ex-boyfriend?” Aurora immediately scowled. Thanks to Asher’s careless remark in the doctor’s lounge yesterday, almost everyone in the hospital now knew that she had once been in a relationship with Alden.

“Dr. Alden, if you hadn’t broken up with Dr. Aurora, maybe now she would be my sister-in-law and leading Santa Monica Hospital.”

If there weren’t so many people around, Aurora felt like pulling Asher’s ear or pinching him hard to stop him from talking nonsense. Aurora knew her brother did it on purpose.

“Aurora?” Velia called again.

“Yeah,” Aurora lazily replied.

“Did you hear my question or not?”

“Yeah. He used to be my boyfriend. Are you satisfied?”

Velia laughed. She enjoyed seeing Aurora looking annoyed like this.

“Why didn’t you just marry Dr. Alden? I mean, he’s pretty handsome. Judging by his looks, he must come from a wealthy family too, right?”

Aurora nodded.

“Yeah. But, no matter what, we’re just not meant to be together. That’s why we broke up and now live our own lives.”

“Such a shame.”

“What’s there to regret?”

“Well, it’s a pity to break up with someone who’s almost perfect.”

“Exaggerated.”

“What’s exaggerated about it?”

Unexpectedly, Alden appeared from the direction of Aurora's office door. He seemed to be passing by with Asher and might have accidentally overheard snippets of conversation between Aurora and Velia. This belongs to NôvelDrama.Org.

"Oh, that Velia, she's exaggerating."

Aurora seemed visibly nervous instead. She herself wondered why she suddenly felt so awkward in front of Alden.

"Have you eaten?" Alden asked point-blank.

"Not yet, Doc. Aurora hasn't had lunch yet. Just finished visiting patients' rooms."

It was Velia, not Aurora, who seemed enthusiastic in her response. Aurora looked irritated seeing the interaction between Alden and Velia. And because of this response, she earned a glare from Aurora.

"If you haven't had lunch yet, want to grab lunch together? With the others too," Alden offered afterwards.

Velia immediately approached Aurora. She purposely nudged her colleague's arm, giving a signal for Aurora to accept Alden's invitation just now.

"Sorry, I can't. I have some business outside the hospital to take care of this afternoon."

"What kind of business?" Asher interjected. Squinting, he seemed curious.

"Not your business," Aurora replied still annoyed. Then she turned back to Alden.

"Alright, it's fine. Maybe some other time we can grab lunch together."

Meanwhile, elsewhere, Alex was so focused on finishing his work in the office. Amidst his busyness, his phone rang several times. Upon checking, there were several text messages sent by Nicole.

+62 855 1234 5678: Alex, I miss you. Want to meet up?

+62 855 1234 5678: Are you too busy? You haven't replied to my messages.

Alex smiled. Instead of replying, he intended to call her. But before he could make the call, Nicole suddenly appeared from the office door.

"Honey."

Alex was quite surprised. Moreover, he and Nicole had actually made an agreement not to meet each other in the office. He didn't want her arrival to be known by Aurora.

Despite warning all staff to keep their mouths shut and to keep all non-work-related activities confidential, Alex still worried.

"I've told you we're not supposed to meet in the office."

"I miss you, Darling."

Nicole pouted. Approaching Alex who was standing not far from his desk, she immediately hugged him.

"I miss you."

"But didn't we just come back from Singapore last night? Wasn't our meeting and time together yesterday enough?"

"Being with you, one or two days are never enough, right? Besides, your touches and kisses always make me miss you."

Alex smiled. He loved it when Nicole teased and acted cute like this in front of him.

"So, what do you want?"

Nicole then pulled Alex back to his chair. A moment later, she deliberately sat on his lap and wrapped her arms around his neck.

“Of course, to have fun with you as usual,” she whispered teasingly.

“Do you want us to go to a hotel now?”

Nicole shook her head instead. She refused Alex’s offer.

“No.”

“No? Then what do you want? Don’t confuse me.”

“I’m bored of playing in hotels. That’s why, why don’t you just buy me an apartment? Besides, if I live in an apartment, you can freely come and sleep over whenever you want.”

Alex smiled again. Upon reflection, spending time together with Nicole in an apartment would indeed be easier. Besides being safer, the two of them could also spend more time together.

“Alright, I’ll buy an apartment not far from the office. So, during break times, I can drop by to see you.”

“Seriously?”

Nicole couldn’t hide her excitement. After years of living in a cramped rented house, she couldn’t wait for Alex to grant her request to move to a luxurious apartment.

“Seriously, Darling. When have I ever lied to you? I’ll buy it as soon as possible.”

A look of pure happiness radiated from Nicole’s face. She was so happy that she even hugged and kissed Alex.

“So, are we going to have fun now?” Alex asked after they broke the kiss.

“Of course.”

“Where do you want to make love? A hotel?”

“Right here?”

Alex furrowed his brows. He didn't understand Nicole's recent answer.

"Here?"

Nicole nodded.

"Yes. We haven't even had fun in your office yet. There's a comfy sofa. A spacious bathroom. Your desk is fine too."

"Don't joke around."

Nicole smiled suggestively. Getting off Alex's lap, she then knelt directly in front of the chair Alex was sitting on. Hiding between the desk, she slowly unbuttoned and unzipped Alex's pants.

"Nicole..." Alex whispered, a little worried. "What if someone sees?"

Nicole didn't care. With her soft hands, she began to caress Alex.

"No one will see, Alex. Your secretary and other staff always knock on the door before entering the room, right? So, why should you be afraid?"

Nicole had a point. Why should Alex be afraid of being seen by others? Besides, no one dared to enter his room without his permission.

That's why Alex let Nicole gently caress and kiss him down there. Allowing her to do anything down there. Enjoying every touch his mistress gave. Without realizing that there was someone who didn't need approval or permission from him to enter the executive room.

"Alex, have you had lunch?"

Alex's heart almost leaped out of his chest. Now, standing in front of him, right at the threshold of the room, unexpectedly appeared Aurora.

Will his affair be revealed to Aurora again after this?

Unpredictable Betrayal : A Sweet of Revenge

Aurora couldn't hold back her nervousness. As she walked down the hospital corridor, her heart pounded erratically. After all, earlier Alden had just invited her to lunch. But why was she feeling so awkward about it now?

"Don't be ridiculous, Aurora! You're already married."

Aurora kept repeating that sentence to herself as she got into the car. She sat for a moment. Taking a deep breath and rubbing her chest, moments later she muttered to herself again.

"Remember! You already have Alex."

Aurora nodded. She raised her hand in the air, then clenched it into a fist. Acting like someone giving herself encouragement.

"Alden is just the past. Yes, he's just a man from the past that you don't need to think about."

Aurora kept nodding. But, shortly after, Velia and Asher's words danced in her mind, mocking her.

"If only you had been more patient back then. Surely, Alden would be your husband now, not that jerk Alex. And most importantly, there wouldn't be any infidelity drama in your marriage." Content from NôvelDr\(a\)ma.Orgma.Org).

"If only Doctor Alden had hurried to propose to Doctor Aurora back then, maybe we would be siblings-in-law now. And who knows, at Santa Monica Hospital, Doctor Alden would be in charge."

Damn it!

Why did Alden's presence disturb Aurora's sanity? Before they met again, she didn't even think about him. Is this the definition of unresolved old love? Oh God.

Taking another deep breath, Aurora tried to push away the strange thoughts in her mind. She'd go crazy if she kept thinking about it. She then hurriedly started the car engine to go to her husband's office.

Because Alex had given her a gift last night, Aurora wanted to give him a surprise in return. Her plan was to take him to lunch without telling him beforehand.

Usually, it was Alex who insisted on spending lunchtime together. Now, it wouldn't hurt if she took the initiative for once. It's not like it happened every day.

Since Alex's office wasn't too far away, just a ten-minute drive, Aurora finally arrived at the Lumire parking area. Entering the building, almost all the staff she passed greeted her warmly. Well, who didn't know Aurora there? As the owner's daughter, her position was much higher than her husband's.

After confirming that Alex was in his room, without any hesitation or the need to knock, Aurora opened the door. For God's sake, she really wanted to surprise her husband.

"Alex... have you had lunch?"

From the doorway, Aurora found her husband looking extremely surprised. She was sure Alex didn't expect her to suddenly show up at the Lumire building. Especially since Aurora hadn't given any indication that she'd be stopping by.

"Aurora."

Aurora flashed a wide smile. Just as she was about to step inside, someone called from the direction of the elevator.

"Bastian."

Bastian, Alex's friend who happened to work at Lumire and was one of the assistant managers. Seeing Aurora standing in front of the management room, he immediately called out and approached.

"How have you been? It's been ages since we last met."

For God's sake, Alex's heart almost stopped beating. But when he saw Aurora chatting happily with Bastian, Alex breathed a sigh of relief.

Quickly, he seized the moment to hastily zip up the zipper of his pants, which Nicole had previously opened. Signaling to his mistress not to move from under the table, he hurriedly approached Aurora to join in the conversation. Not long after, Bastian excused himself and left.

“Why didn’t you let me know you were stopping by?”

Still at the door, Alex asked, trying his best to keep his composure so Aurora wouldn’t suspect anything. But Alex felt like his heart was about to burst. If he was caught again with Nicole, he’d be done for this time.

“On purpose. I wanted to surprise you.”

Alex tried to laugh happily. But his heart still felt mixed up.

“Oh God. My wife’s gesture is so sweet.”

“So, have you had lunch?”

Alex shook his head. This time he wasn’t lying.

“Not yet. I’ve been busy meeting deadlines.”

“In that case, how about we have lunch outside? Or do you want to order delivery and eat in your office?”

Alex quickly responded. It could be dangerous if Aurora had lunch in his office.

“How about we eat out? Your favorite restaurant. And then afterwards, we can buy ice cream.”

Of course, Aurora agreed. Especially when she was invited to buy ice cream. That’s why she quickly linked arms with Alex, urging him to go to the place they were going to.

“Alex, how could you just leave me like that!”

Upon arriving home and being in his office, Nicole contacted Alex. She was angry because she had been left alone this afternoon.

What else could he do? Alex couldn't possibly take care of Nicole while Aurora was around. He'd be minced if it was discovered they were alone together, let alone engaging in intimate activities with his wife's cousin.

“I'm sorry, Honey. But, Bastian escorted you home, right?”

“Yes. He did. Thank goodness for Bastian. Otherwise, I'd be bored waiting in your office.”

Bastian had always known what Alex's behavior was like. Even before, he had helped protect and support the relationship Alex had with Nicole.

“Thank goodness for that. Besides, I did tell you not to meet in the office. It's dangerous! And wasn't I right? Aurora suddenly showed up. Fortunately, Bastian appeared earlier. If not? We'd be in big trouble.”

Alex sounded grumpy. Luckily, today God was still protecting his rotten deeds.

“It's because I miss you. So hurry up and buy me an apartment. It'll be nice for us to meet up or have fun.”

“Okay, I'll buy one.”

“When, Alex?” Nicole's whine was heard again. “As soon as possible. After thinking about it, I realize it's necessary to buy you an apartment so we can meet up freely.”

On the other end, Nicole immediately cheered. With her beautiful face and satisfying service, she could have many expensive items and now, soon, she would receive a luxury apartment.

Meanwhile, after ending the conversation with Nicole, Alex decided to return to the bedroom. Opening the door, he found Aurora standing in front of the mirror.

“My wife is so beautiful.”

Alex put on an admiring face. Whether this was genuine praise or just a formality upon seeing Aurora, who had just finished dressing up, wasn't clear.

Tonight, Aurora would accompany Alex to attend a birthday party hosted by one of his business partners. Believing that many important people would be present, Aurora deliberately dressed up with great attention to detail. She wanted everyone to be impressed by her appearance.

“Of course. Whose wife am I? But, with you being this beautiful, all the guys at the party will be amazed by you, darling.”

“Exaggerating.”

“Seriously. Especially since you're already so beautiful. I'm lucky to have a wife like you.”

“You're exaggerating,” Aurora chuckled, blushing.

Then, after getting ready, they both went to the party. Arriving there, what Alex said was true. Almost all of Alex's business associates praised Aurora's beauty and appearance that night.

“Your wife looks extraordinary, Sir. If I may say, Mr. Alex and Mrs. Aurora look very compatible.”

James, one of Alex's business associates, sounded impressed. He seemed genuinely amazed by Aurora's appearance that night.

“Thank you for your compliment, Mr. James. It's a blessing for me to have a wife as beautiful as Aurora.”

Aurora smiled. Letting Alex enjoy his conversation with his business associates, she chose to freshen up in the restroom. Once finished and about to return to Alex, unexpectedly, Aurora bumped into Alden.

Whether it was fate or coincidence, they were both invited. The tall, sturdy man immediately greeted her warmly. Although Aurora had been trying to avoid this. Not because of anything, she was just afraid of getting caught up in thoughts again.

“I didn’t expect to meet you here.”

“Yeah,” Aurora replied shortly. Besides, she was confused about what to say. She was already flustered.

“Who did you come with?”

“Me? I came with my husband.”

Alden nodded. A friendly smile still on his face.

“You look really beautiful tonight.”

“Thank you for the compliment. Well, I should go now.”

Ignoring Alden’s praise and not wanting to linger, Aurora deliberately ended the conversation. She thought it could be dangerous if she stayed too long. Worried she might get carried away with her feelings.

However, before she could leave, one guest accidentally bumped into Aurora, causing her to lose her balance. Alden, who was right in front of Aurora, reflexively reached out to grab her body and held her tightly.

“Are you okay?”

Aurora nodded.

“Thank you. I’m fine.”

Meanwhile, elsewhere, Alex saw the incident. Looking from a distance with a displeased expression.

