

Eight Kickass Uncles' Sweet Spoil by Amber Arnold

Chapter 17 Susie's Star Dress

Mara hugged the crying Lulu and shed one tear herself.

She felt the heart chill because five or six years of feelings could not soften David's heart.

At this time Lulu's grandmother, Chloe, called on the video phone, saw two people crying, and quickly asked, "What is it?"

Mara broke down in tears and told the story.

She was furious over there, "See, I told you so. When there was only one girl in the Murray family, Lulu was always treated like a princess no matter what. Now that the little girl is here, they won't spoil Lulu anymore."

As Lulu listened to this, she thought of the first time she was beaten in her life and her uncles and grandparents did not come to coax her.

A time to cry more.

Mara said annoyed, "Mom, stop it."

Chloe glared at her, "How come I can't say anything? That's the way it is. How could Lulu not match for that girl who is not from the Murray family?"

Mara said, "Susie will also have the last name of Murray."

Chloe shook her head repeatedly, "It's over. Our Lulu will never be able to make a name for herself again. That girl is not a master to be messed with, do you know that?"

"When she was in South City, she pushed her stepmother down the stairs and had a miscarriage. Those uncles of hers who are covering her up are also protecting her. It's obvious that Susie made a mistake, but they let the Bishop family go bankrupt."

Chloe cracked up, and Mara frowned, "Didn't the stepmother set Susie up for her miscarriage?"

Chloe said, "Wait. I'll send you a video."

Not long after, Mara received a video that featured a voice-altered exposé who claimed to be a good friend of Stacy's and showed a notice that Stacy was hospitalized and miscarried twice, and was critically ill.

There was also a small video of the black-clad bodyguards throwing the two elderly Bishop family members and Andrew out of the Bishop family villa, as well as a small video of Michael holding Andrew down and slamming him hard against the wall.

Of course, in these small videos, the Murray family played the code, only Susie did not play the code.

Chloe continued, "See? Two critical care notices and two hemorrhages. What kind of stepmother would put the baby in her belly on the line just because she hates a child? Who would joke with her own life? So the really rude one is that kid. At a young age, she has a very evil heart."

"What does it mean when she beat up Lulu today and none of the Murray family is there to coax Lulu? It means that the little girl has deceived Craig and Alana. The Murray family will have no one to coax Lulu."

Mara watched the video and just felt so sick. Such a child was even picked up by the Murray family

"Looks like we'll have to watch out for her more in the future," Mara said.

The conversation between mother and daughter was not at all evasive, and Lulu listened to everything that was said.

'Susie killed her stepmother's brother in her tummy', 'Susie is very scheming', 'Susie is a bad girl.' All these words were firmly remembered by Lulu.

Stacy was very clever not to go to the big media to break the news but to spread it in the form of gossip.

In one week, Susie caused her stepmother to miscarry and almost die.

No Murray's family would go to mix this kind of boring gossip group, so they even did not find it first.

It was until Susie's birthday.

To give Susie a proper name and let everyone know that Susie was the youngest daughter of the Murray family, invitations to Susie's birthday party were sent out early, inviting many people from the celebrity to come.

On this day, Susie's closet was full of beautiful dresses, with Lolita dresses, puffy dresses, and cake dresses. From red, yellow, pink, and soft green, there was all kind of colors like a rainbow of colors.

"Susie, pick one." Alana kindly stroked her little head.

Looking at her eyes shining brightly, the regret and pain in her heart were gradually compensated

Susie raised her eyes and asked, "Either one?"

Alana nodded, "It's all Susie's."

Susie hesitated for a moment, approached Alana, and gave her a soft kiss, "Thank you, Grandma."

Finally, Susie chose a pink and purple Lolita-style dress, and her hair was tied on two small chirps with two pink bow hairpins on it.

Stunned, Alana murmured, "Susie is so pretty?"

Susie smiled crookedly, raised her hand and nudged Alana's nose with her tiny finger, and also quipped, "Grandma is cute too."

Alana couldn't help but laugh.

Susie's lips curved slightly.

Mom said to take care of Grandma and make her happy. She had worked hard on it.

Outside the lively manor, there were two sneaky figures, none other than Stacy and Andrew.

Today, the Murray family estate was semi-open to the public. The estate was very lively, with the sound of music slowly playing, the big lawn shining lights, and people talking and smiling.

Stacy watched the buzz inside with jealousy under her eyes.

No one knew how miserable she was during this time. because her face was ruined, Andrew was disgusted with her and occasionally beat her.

The Bishop family treated her like a servant.

She was so miserable, but why Susie was so beautiful? Andrew stretched his neck and frowned, "How do we get in without an invitation?"

Stacy collected the jealousy in her eyes and said in a warm voice, "Andrew, we as Susie's parents. Why we can't go to Susie's birthday? As long as you identify yourself to the doorman, you can get in, but..."

Looking at the shabby clothes she was wearing, she felt not good. She used to be a famous noblewoman too, but what was she wearing now?

Andrew said sharply, "But what?"

Stacy said, "Let's go buy a tuxedo first. As the Murray family's in-laws, we can't be too shabby."

Andrew was annoyed, "Where is the money to buy clothes now?"

Stacy blinked innocently, "I know a place where we can sell blood."

**

In the estate.

Susie, wearing a beautiful dress but holding a slightly worn bunny in her arms, was led downstairs by Martin.

She was followed by Ryan, Jonathan, and Paul. But no one saw that a soul was standing after these people. Mitch leaned on the staircase railing and looked at Susie with hooked lips, "Well. It's in time."

At this point the lights hit down and focused on Susie, Mitch raised an eyebrow and snapped his fingers.

The glow of the lights seemed to be dyed with a layer of fairy, and Susie's pink and purple dress was lit up with stars, like a stary sky, gorgeous. In addition, her body seemed to be covered with holy light, appearing to be a mortal elf.

The faces of the crowd were in awe. What a beautiful dress. What an exquisite girl.

One by one, they all secretly gawked at Susie. This was the Murray family's little girl.

Martin, the cold-faced president, was willing to lower his head to hold her.

But how could she hold a small broken rabbit on such an occasion? It said that the rabbit was left to her by her mother. However, they thought Susie was so good at pretending. Because after Stacy's explosive video, people's first reaction when they saw Susie was naturally 'arrogant' and 'scheming', and they were afraid that their children would suffer when they dealt with her. They asked their children not to play with Susie.

Of course, some were pushing their children to accompany Susie.

Lulu stood on the second floor, looking at the star-studded Susie.

She pointed to Susie's dress and turned her head and said, "Mom, I want that dress too."