

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2091

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2091-The girls were taken aback when they heard Arthur swearing. Nevertheless, their apprehension dissipated, and they felt more at ease in his presence.

Cecilia slowly and hesitantly approached Arthur before falling to her knees before Arthur. "Mr. Sanders, please save Jared. I'm willing to do anything for you to agree to save him. I can even sacrifice my life!" she begged.

Seeing that, the other girls also sank to their knees and begged Arthur to save Jared from the secret realm.

Arthur's gaze swept over them as he asked, "None of you are his girlfriend. Why are you begging me to help him?"

Renee raised her head and said resolutely, "Jared saved my life, and my life belongs to him. I'm willing to die if that is what it takes to save him."

Renee was the youngest among them, but the unwavering determination in her eyes showed her willingness to do whatever it took to help Jared.

Cecilia prostrated herself and begged, "Some of us had been saved by Jared, and some of us harbored romantic feelings for him. Anyway, we're all willing to sacrifice our lives for him. Please help us to save him, Mr. Sanders."

Arthur gazed at them with a proud expression before breaking into a smile. "I wonder how Jared will feel when he finds out that you are willing to give up your lives for his sake. However, I must remind you that your lives are of little value in this society. Even if you are willing to make the ultimate sacrifice, that won't do anything to alter Jared's fate. If you truly wish to support him, the only way is to strengthen your own capabilities so that you can assist him in times of need instead of begging for help from others."

Arthur's words went into their hearts like an iron shard.

They might be somewhat capable, but the stronger Jared got, the more obstacles he would encounter.

Besides praying for Jared's safety every day, they didn't seem capable of doing anything else.

“Thank you for your advice, Mr. Sanders!” Cecilia replied solemnly as she gave him a polite bow.

They vowed to work hard to cultivate so that they could be an asset to Jared instead of a burden.

They no longer desired to be seen as attractive individuals without intellectual prowess.

Arthur declared, “I will be giving you an array of techniques that you can learn. Ultimately, how much you can benefit from them will be determined by your aptitude and luck.”

As he spoke, he gently waved his hand, and suddenly the girls were struck with an epiphany.

Upon that realization, the girls quickly bowed to Arthur and thanked him hastily.

“All right. You can leave now,” Arthur declared with a dismissive wave.

When the girls stood up, ready to leave, Arthur pointed at both Renee and Melanie. “Both of you, stay behind.”

Despite their confusion, Renee and Melanie nodded and stayed behind obediently.

After the rest filed out, Arthur put on a solemn expression and posed a very serious question to the two girls that remained. “Are you both aware that you have extraordinary constituents?”

“I have a frosty constituent. I only managed to survive until now thanks to Jared!” came Renee’s answer.

Melanie quickly explained, “I know about my aptitude to bewitch, but I have never used them to harm anyone!”

“Since you both are aware of your constituents, are you willing to sacrifice for Jared? You’ll have to risk your lives to aid Jared in his escape from the secret realm,” Arthur told them solemnly.

Renee nodded without hesitation. “Yes, I do. Jared is my life savior.”

Melanie hesitated briefly but eventually bobbed her head. "I'm willing, too. I've never admitted my feelings for Jared, but he has already found a place in my heart."

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2092

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2092-As they both had agreed, Arthur swiped his hand across the table, and a shimmering ray of light appeared.

To Renee and Melanie's surprise, a book soon materialized in front of Arthur.

The book's cover was rather aged, and it was visibly worn.

"Take this book with you wherever you go, and make sure that you do not leave the boundaries of Jadeborough. Remember, no one can read the book, including you both. When you see Jared, give this book to him. Do you understand?"

Hearing that, Renee and Melanie bobbed their heads.

They were unable to decipher what Arthur was trying to tell them.

Jared is already trapped in the secret realm, so how are we going to see him?

"That's all. Take this book with you and leave. Tell no one about this," Arthur reminded them before giving a dismissive wave.

Melanie came forward to take the book. After keeping it well, the girls left the Department of Justice.

When they both came out, Cecilia immediately inquired, "Renee, Melanie, why did Mr. Sanders ask you to stay behind? What did he say?"

"Oh, it's nothing much. He merely asked about our constituents," Melanie explained.

Most of the girls knew about their unique constituents, so that explanation didn't raise any doubts.

Cecilia's expression was earnest as she addressed the ladies, "Now that Mr. Sanders has imparted the techniques to us, I'm confident that we can all work diligently to hone our cultivation skills in order to assist Jared soon."

...

For the following days, the ladies worked hard to strengthen their cultivation skills.

Flaxseed and the rest were still racking their brains, trying to figure out a way to save Jared from the secret realm.

Renee and Melanie were at a loss.

They spent their days together, never leaving each other's side. Everywhere they went, Melanie brought the book with her, always careful not to forget it or leave it behind.

A few days passed in what seemed like the blink of an eye. With no clear plan of action, they wandered aimlessly on the streets. Despite their best efforts, they had no idea how they were going to find Jared.

They still couldn't comprehend Arthur's words.

"Melanie, we can't just stroll on the streets without a purpose all day. Everyone is busy cultivating! Those who don't know about our plan might think we're just slacking off without any intention of helping Jared," Renee said listlessly.

They were currently seated in a corner of a restaurant.

"What does Mr. Sanders mean? I don't understand his words. I've been thinking these few days. Do you think he gave us the book because we both have unique constituents and have a way to see Jared?" Melanie asked thoughtfully.

"How do we do that? Jared is stuck in the secret realm. Even Mr. Flaxseed and the like are at a loss as to what to do," Renee asked, her lips pouting in frustration. She glanced down at the feast that had been served before them, but her worry for Jared had taken away her appetite.

"Ladies, feel free to tell me what's bothering you. I can help you solve your frustrations!"

Right then, two lecherous-looking men clad in expensive clothes made their way over to the girls.

Renee and Melanie cast a brief glance in their direction before deciding to completely ignore them.

Despite being ignored, the men refused to give up and sat down with Renee and Melanie.

Renee was feeling quite irritated, and her patience had been tested to its limits by the men's persistent attempts at hitting on them.

She glared at them and declared, "Scram now before I really lose my temper."

Hearing the disrespectful words coming from Renee's mouth, one man couldn't help but chuckle in response. "It seems you have quite the fiery temper for someone of your age. Have you not heard of us—"

Before he could finish his sentence, Renee slammed her hands on the table. Visible to the naked eye, a thin sheen of frost spread over the table and began to make its way up their arms, numbing their skin as it went.

The cold crept up on them, and before they knew it, they felt icy fingers clamping down on their skin and were soon enveloped in a layer of frost, their hair and eyelashes encrusted with tiny crystals of ice.

"Renee!"

Melanie abruptly halted Renee and cast her eyes around the area. "We need to leave. Doing this in public will cause people to panic."

She tugged Renee out of the restaurant even though they had barely eaten the food they ordered earlier.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2093

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2093-As Renee and Melanie exited the restaurant, an elderly man with a white beard and decked out in a black cap shot the men a meaningful glance. He got up and exited the premises hastily.

This man was none other than Malphas, who had received the order to find humans with unique constituents in the mundane world.

Melanie guided Renee through the winding alleyways as if she was scared that somebody would catch sight of them.

“That was reckless of you. If Mr. Deragon finds out, he will definitely give you an earful! Those men were just ordinary people, but you gave them a harsh punishment,” she chided Renee.

“I’m sorry, Melanie. I was already feeling incredibly frustrated before those men showed up and tried to hit us up,” Renee explained, feeling aggrieved.

Melanie sighed softly, unable to bring herself to continue blaming Renee. She lamented, “Jared is locked in the secret realm, and we don’t know if he’s still alive. Let’s not add to his trouble! I’ve never been interested in cultivating or killing people, but I can’t help but wish I was as capable as you are now.”

Melanie was the only one among the girls who didn’t have any special skills. She was a completely average individual.

“Melanie, you’ve always reprimanded and yelled at Jared whenever you saw him. I thought you don’t like him at all! It turns out you’re also willing to put your life on the line for his sake!” Renee remarked with a grin.

Melanie attempted to force a smile, though it came out more as a grimace. “Many girls have a crush on Jared, and I’m not as pretty nor capable as them. Besides, Lyanna never bothers hiding her feelings for him. W-What can I do?”

Renee chuckled. “Jared is a lucky guy, considering you both have a crush on him!”

Melanie took her hand and urged, “All right. We should head back now.”

When the two of them spun around to leave, they were surprised to find an elderly man wearing a black cap standing there, piercing them with an intense gaze. It was unclear how long he had been there, watching them silently.

Malphas let out an evil cackle. “I can’t believe Jared is that popular among the opposite sex.”

Seeing him, Renee quickly stood before Melanie in a defensive manner. She demanded, “Who are you?”

She could sense Malphas’ aura and was sure that he wasn’t an ordinary human.

“I’m Jared’s enemy,” came Malphas’ answer.

Hearing that, Melanie and Renee shared a look. “Melanie, you should leave without me. I’ll take care of this old b*stard!” Renee declared.

Since the elderly man claimed to be Jared’s enemy, Renee thought she could vent her frustrations on him.

Malphas roared out in laughter. “Oh, how audacious of you. Just because you’ve become a Martial Arts Marquis, do you think you can harm me? Even with a unique constituent, you won’t be able to harm me at all!”

Renee didn’t say anything. Her body trembled, and an icy burst of martial energy formed on her palms.

She rapidly generated frost on her hands.

“Ice Palm!” Renee barked as she directed the frost to Malphas.

The force was so potent that it created a cold gust of wind, causing the temperature in the surrounding area to drop.

Malphas’ lips twisted into an icy smirk as he observed Renee’s attack. A look of disdain flickered in his gaze as if her efforts were futile.

As Renee closed in on Malphas, he swiftly grabbed her by the neck.

Renee’s attack landed on Malphas’ body, but he remained unscathed. Not even a flicker of frost appeared on his body.

Renee blanched in horror as she belatedly realized the difference in their strengths.

Despite possessing a frosty constituent, Renee found herself helpless against Malphas due to the significant disparity in their strength.

“B*stard! Let me go! Let me go now!”

Renee struggled with all her might but to no avail. It felt like her body was being held by a pair of pincers.

Malphas snorted icily. “Stop struggling. It’s useless anyway!”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2094

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2094-Melanie panicked when she saw Renee getting abducted.

“Wait a minute!” she screamed.

Malphas turned over his shoulder and asked, “What do you want?”

Without warning, Melanie’s lips curled into an alluring smile as her eyes crinkled up affectionately.

Melanie was exuding a captivating aura that could make any man fall for her.

She was planning on using her Charm Magic to save Renee.

Malphas was taken aback by Melanie’s response. Suddenly, he felt her aura and was stunned.

Assuming she had succeeded, Melanie slowly made her way toward Malphas.

Renee was still struggling to free herself from Malphas’ grip.

Malphas suddenly looked up at the sky and burst out laughing. “Oh, to think I’ve been searching far and wide all this time. I can’t believe I stumbled upon two humans with unique constituents! It must be fate. My journey to the mundane world has not been in vain!”

Melanie was taken aback by the sudden turn of events. She tried to run away, but Malphas extended his palm, and an immense force pulled her toward him.

Malphas held both girls in his hands as a pleased expression crossed his face.

He blew out a dark mist from his mouth that left Renee and Melanie feeling paralyzed, unable to struggle any further.

...

Upon returning to the Demon Sect’s secret realm, Malphas fixed his gaze upon Renee and Melanie, both of whom were now unconscious.

A glint appeared in his eyes, hinting at a sinister intention.

He had yet to engage in sexual activity ever since he regained his physical form.

Thus, the sight of two gorgeous ladies lying in front of him was too much for him to bear.

Malphas couldn't help but grow excited as he recalled that they were both Jared's women.

This is the perfect way to get revenge on Jared!

He vowed, "Jared, I'll record everything and show it to you later!"

A lecherous grin spread on his lips as he pounced toward Melanie and Renee.

Slap!

Right when Malphas leaped into the air, a stinging slap was delivered to his cheek, causing him to fly backward.

When Tanner's body slowly materialized, Malphas trembled in fright and dropped to his knees.

Tanner fixed him with a frosty glare. "Didn't I remind you to take good care of those with unique constituents instead of harming them? Are you blatantly going against my orders?" Tanner's terrifying voice nearly made Malphas pee his pants.

"Lord Tanner, please forgive me. I wasn't in my right mind. I dare not make the same mistake again!" Malphas quickly groveled at Tanner's feet, begging for his forgiveness.

Tanner asked, "Why didn't you report to me that Josephine has gone on a hunger strike for a few days?"

Malphas quickly explained, "I was busy trying to figure out a solution. Josephine isn't weak at all, so I didn't think it was worth reporting to you!"

Tanner told him, "Imprison the girls along with Josephine in the secret realm where Jared is being held."

Malphas was surprised to hear that. Confused, he inquired, “Lord Tanner, won’t this allow Jared to reunite with his girlfriends? How are we going to draw Josephine’s fresh blood that way?”

Tanner let out a cold laugh and complimented, “I want them to reunite so Jared will be pacified. Even if they are reunited, they can’t escape the secret realm! Stop drawing Josephine’s blood. Her blood is insignificant compared to her unique constituent. You did well to capture two humans with unique constituents. Keep up the good work. When we break free from the secret realm and conquer the mundane world, I will reward you with your own piece of land to rule!”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2095

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2095-Meanwhile, in the secret realm, Melanie and Renee were still unconscious while Josephine anxiously called out to them. “Renee, Melanie, wake up. Please wake up.”

Josephine seemed both excited and worried.

After such a long time, she finally saw some familiar faces again.

After a while, Renee and Melanie slowly woke up. They were astonished as well when they saw Josephine.

“Josephine? I-Is it really you?” Renee couldn’t believe her eyes as she gazed at Josephine.

Melanie pinched herself hard. “Are we dreaming?”

“Renee, it’s me. You’re not dreaming.” Josephine’s eyes filled with tears as she hugged Renee tightly.

“Josephine, I am finally seeing you again. I’ve missed you so much. Everyone else misses you too. Jared has been sealed in the secret realm because he was trying to find a way to save you.” Tears streamed down Renee’s cheeks as she embraced Josephine.

When Josephine heard Renee mention Jared, she quickly wiped her tears and said, “Renee, tell me in detail about what happened to Jared.”

“I-I don’t know much either.” Renee had been staying in the Zare residence. After all, she and Colin were practically engaged, so it was normal for her to live there.

Hence, Renee wasn’t as well informed about Jared’s situation.

“Let me explain,” Melanie piped up.

Then, she recounted the story of Jared trying to save Josephine by finding a way to enter the secret realm, but he ended up being sealed inside.

“He’s such a fool. Evil Heart Sect possesses so many secret realms, so how could he possibly know which one I was imprisoned in? This is obviously a plot by Evil Heart Sect.”

Despite what she said, Josephine was actually deeply moved in her heart because the way Jared had risked his life to rescue her showed how important she was to him.

“Josephine, how did you end up here? What is this place?” Renee asked curiously.

“This is also one of the Evil Heart Sect’s secret realms. I’ve been moved to several places, but I don’t know why you two also showed up in this secret realm,” Josephine replied.

“We were captured by someone.” Renee described to Josephine how she and Melanie encountered an old man and was held captive afterward.

“You must have run into Evil Heart Sect’s Malphas. That old fellow is very powerful. Still, why would Evil Heart Sect want to seize you two?” Josephine frowned, trying to understand the situation.

During her time in captivity at Evil Heart Sect, Josephine learned a lot about them and also recognized many members of the sect.

After all, Evil Heart Sect wanted her blood, so they treated her well and didn’t restrict her freedom within the secret realm.

Even if she wandered around, she couldn’t leave the secret realm. That was also aimed to facilitate her cooperation in providing her blood.

That convenient arrangement allowed Josephine to gain an initial understanding of Evil Heart Sect.

“We’re not sure why they captured us either, but Mr. Sanders gave us a book in advance and told us to hand it to Jared if we saw him. He also asked if we were willing to sacrifice ourselves for Jared,” Melanie said to Josephine.

“What book is that? Let me have a look at it,” Josephine asked.

Josephine didn’t know much about Mr. Sanders since she had spent most of her time in Evil Heart Sect.

Melanie took out the book and passed it to Josephine.

Josephine looked at the ancient and somewhat worn book in her hands with a puzzled expression.

However, just as Josephine was about to open it, Renee stopped her, “Josephine, don’t open it. Mr. Sanders said that only Jared is allowed to open this book.”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2096

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2096-Hearing that, Josephine could only return the book to Melanie and then said, “How are you two doing right now? If possible, we need to familiarize ourselves with this secret realm first!”

“We’re fine.” Renee and Melanie both nodded.

Afterward, Josephine led the two of them to explore the secret realm. However, as they proceeded, she didn’t encounter anyone from Evil Heart Sect or even a demon beast.

It was unusual for such a vast secret realm to have no demon beasts, as they were resources in the secret realm. The demon beasts were ultimately destined to have their beast cores devoured by cultivators to aid the latter in their cultivation.

Oddly, that secret realm had nothing, not even a trace of living creatures’ aura.

Nevertheless, the environment of the secret realm was quite pleasant and not harsh, which spared the three women a lot of hardship.

After walking for some distance, Melanie began to struggle.

After all, she was just an ordinary person, unlike Josephine and Renee, who could persevere even without food or drink.

Taking in Melanie's demeanor, Josephine had no choice but to stop and rest.

"Renee, watch over Melanie. I'll go look for wild fruits or something similar that we can eat."

Since the secret realm lacked living creatures, they could only search for sustenance, such as wild fruits, to quell their hunger.

Josephine went to look for something edible. Meanwhile, not far from them, Jared sat cross-legged, unleashing Focus Technique to its limit to absorb the spiritual energy around him.

During that period, he had already scoured the entire secret realm but couldn't find an exit. There was no way out on the peaks of mountains or depths of rivers.

The surroundings of the secret realm were full of chaos. Jared had once tried to pass through the chaos as he did in Demon Sect, hoping to leave the secret realm.

However, he couldn't even take a single step into the chaos, as it was filled with turbulent space-time flows and was impossible to traverse.

As a result, Jared could only focus on improving his cultivation at that moment and pin his hopes on Flaxseed and the others, wishing they could find a way to open the entrance.

While Jared was cultivating, a sudden ripple flashed through his mind, indicating that his spiritual sense had detected an aura fluctuation.

"There's someone here?" Jared abruptly opened his eyes. A look of indescribable excitement spread across his face.

Following the feeling of his spiritual sense, Jared quickly moved toward the location of the aura fluctuation.

At the same time, Josephine was searching for food, completely unaware that someone was approaching her.

Just like that, the distance between the two gradually shortened.

As they got closer to one another, Jared could clearly sense the familiarity of that aura.

“Josephine’s aura? Could it be her? Is she really confined in this place?”

Grinning ear to ear, Jared quickened his pace.

Soon, a figure appeared before his vision.

When he saw the person in front of him, Jared instantly froze. He stood unmoving in his spot as if he had been immobilized by a spell.

His facial expression was a mix of emotions, changing from surprised to thrilled and finally to bewildered. I’ve searched the entire secret realm and found no one, so how did Josephine suddenly show up now?

At that instant, Josephine looked up and saw the stunned Jared, prompting her to fall into a daze too.

The two stood rooted in their spots, staring at each other without speaking. Still, the excitement and exhilaration in their eyes were evident.

“Jared!” Finally, after several minutes of holding one another’s gaze, Josephine called out and ran toward him.

“Josephine!” Jared dashed in her direction as well.

Shortly after, the couple embraced each other tightly. Sensing Josephine’s warmth, Jared channeled a stream of spiritual energy into her.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2097

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2097-After confirming that Josephine was not a phantom image, hot tears burst out from Jared’s eyes. In utter disbelief, he asked, “Is this real, Josephine? Are you real?”

“Yes. It’s real...” Tears of joy streaked Josephine’s face too.

The long-separated lovers had finally reunited with each other. Even though they had many questions, none of them could form coherent sentences at this moment.

Jared's eyes fixated on Josephine's tear-stained face. He had longed to see his lover for a long time. Ultimately, he could no longer resist the urge to kiss her on the lips.

Josephine returned his kiss passionately.

Nothing else in the world mattered to them other than the other party.

They were so deeply engrossed in their kiss that they disregarded everything else.

Their kiss lasted for a while, only ending after Josephine had breathing difficulties and Jared let her go.

She looked at the darkened sky, finally remembering that she was here to forage for food.

"Oh, no. I forgot I was here to search for food. Melanie must still be famished now," Josephine stated urgently.

"Melanie? Do you mean Melanie Woodlands? She's around this place too?" Jared asked, shocked.

"I'll explain it to you later. Why don't you help me seek edibles? Then, we can talk as we walk back..." Josephine urged Jared along.

Soon, both found some wild vegetables and fruits before returning to Melanie's side.

As they walked, Josephine recounted the story to Jared. That was when the man finally found out that Malphas had abducted both Renee and Melanie into this secret realm.

Jared's interest was piqued when he heard about the book Arthur gave to Melanie.

How did Mr. Sanders know that Melanie and Renee would run into me? Was it in his prediction that these two women would be kidnapped by Evil Heart Sect, and abandoned here in the secret realm? Besides, what is the true motive for abducting them?

The circumstances were shrouded in mystery, and it bothered Jared.

Quickly, Jared and Josephine arrived at their destination. Before them, Melanie was lying weakly on the ground while Renee stayed beside and caring for her.

Detecting movement near her, Renee lifted her head. She was stunned the minute she saw Jared. Then, the woman immediately jumped up from the ground. "Jared! It's you... I never thought that I would really meet you here..."

Meanwhile, Melanie heard Renee's excited screams. She tried to raise her head to determine the cause of the latter's joy. When Jared's face appeared before her, she felt her body injected with energy, and she got up right away.

The group exchanged pleasantries joyously, letting Melanie consume some wild fruits to replenish her energy.

Just then, Melanie took out the book Arthur gave her. "Mr. Sanders told us to pass it to you so we haven't flipped through it."

Jared took the aged and worn book, feeling a bizarre aura from it. Frowning, he peered at Josephine. "Josephine, have you ever laid your hands on this book before?"

"Yes, I did. But I didn't open it." Came Josephine's reply.

"You felt that strange aura coming from it?" Jared probed further.

"No. I felt nothing at all. It was just an ordinary book to me." She shook her head.

"That's odd." Surprise gripped Jared. He proceeded to flip the book open.

Everyone was stunned when they saw the content, for there were no words in it. The pages were left blank.

"W-Why isn't there any content in this book?" Renee gaped in astonishment.

"Jared, could this be a magical book we must unlock to view its subject matters?" Josephine suggested.

Jared nodded. "It's possible..." Then, he transferred a flow of aura into the book.

No visible changes were made, though. The book was still empty.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2098

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2098-"This is strange..." Jared furrowed his brows.

"Why did Mr. Sanders give us a Wordless Tome? He didn't let us know how..." Melanie was perplexed.

"I'm sure he has reasons for giving me this book. If he didn't tell me how I should decrypt it, then he must have thought I have my ways of reading it."

Jared's admiration for Arthur was endless, not just because he helped him. But because he felt that Arthur was a knowledgeable person who knew and understood everything under the stars.

"Jared, do you think you need to use your blood to connect to Wordless Tome to decrypt it?" Josephine questioned then.

Hearing her words, Jared quickly bit his finger and smeared a few drops of blood on Wordless Tome.

As expected, the book absorbed Jared's blood instantly before it emitted a glow.

A drawing slowly became apparent on the first page of Wordless Tome. Multiple scarlet-colored blood stripes appeared, revealing a map on it.

Renee exclaimed excitedly after seeing the book's changes. "Yay! Finally. Now I can see the book's content!"

Jared didn't stop to look at the map first, though. He flipped to other pages, dropping his blood onto them.

However, Wordless Tome didn't react to his blood this time, as the pages remained empty.

Jared and the rest froze, noticing how Wordless Tome was unresponsive. They thought they had found the correct way to unlock the book's contents. Yet, only one page of helpful information was all they got.

Josephine spoke up, "Let's take a look at the map. Maybe the way to unlocking its content is hidden in the map."

They gathered together, carefully reviewing the map details on the first page. Then, they realized the map was nothing like any place in the mundane world.

While the rest was engrossed in their thinking, Jared's eyes lit up. "Oh, I got it!" He shouted happily, scaring the others.

He continued, gesturing at the map, "Look here. This map is the map of this secret realm we are in now. See this mountain, this water body, and this jungle? It's the exact replica of our current location."

The women didn't know what he was going on about, though, for they had just arrived at the secret realm.

Jared used to be clueless like them too. He wouldn't have realized this was the map of the secret realm they were in if he hadn't walked around it trying to find Josephine and the exit.

Renee was confused. "But then there's no symbol or whatsoever on this map. What's the point of having it in our hands?"

She had barely finished speaking when moonlight cast its light onto Wordless Tome.

Wordless Tome radiated a faint glow quickly as a red dot on the map slowly materialized.

The red dot sparkled, an obvious sign that it was deliberately marked to showcase its importance.

"Look! Right here! Maybe this red dot is an indication of the exit?" Melanie pointed at the twinkle on the map.

"It doesn't matter. We have to browse around the area. This Wordless Tome would surely be a great help to the current situation if Mr. Sanders was determined to pass it to me.” Jared believed that Arthur would never give him a random, useless book.

And so, Jared traveled to the location shown on the map with the three women.

In the meantime, Pascal and Sherman who were dressed in rags climbed up the inclining path on a steep mountain in the mundane world.

“Hang in there, Sherman. We’ll be reaching Kusch Monastery shortly,” Pascal encouraged his son as they walked.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2099

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2099-Even though the path on the way up was steep and challenging to traverse, they soon conquered the mountain. The father-and-son duo was amazed by the spectacular sight when they reached the top.

A resplendent and majestic monastery occupied almost the entire area atop the mountain.

They were so near the clouds that they could extend and touch them while the refreshing air helped to clear their mind.

“Dad, is this Kusch Monastery you talked about?” Sherman asked astonishingly, his eyes glued to the building.

/ thought monasteries were small and run-down. This is certainly not what I expect!

Pascal nodded. “Yeap. That’s Kusch Monastery standing before you, and my senior, Yosef, is the abbot here. Please call him Mr. Jenkins when you see him later.”

Pascal and Sherman arrived before Kusch Monastery as they chatted. With thousands of disciples present, loud voices resonated across the halls of Kusch Monastery.

Sherman was noticeably surprised to realize that many of the disciples were average citizens. He couldn’t believe it. “Dad, it took us great effort to climb the steep hill even though we’re martial artists. How did these people do it?”

“What you see is the power of belief. We are incomparable to these citizens when it comes to their faith. They dedicated their whole life to God, wanting him to protect them...” Pascal sighed, watching the disciples’ movements.

Sherman sneered. “We are in control of our life. If they really thought these entities could help them out, then they are more innocent than I thought.”

To Sherman, nothing was more dependable than having true, powerful strength.

However, the moment Sherman finished speaking, suffocation overwhelmed him. His eyes widened as his face twitched violently from the lack of air.

“Scoundrel, that is blasphemy in Kusch Monastery. This action is intolerable!” A deep voice slowly drifted into Sherman’s ears.

The sudden situation terrified Sherman. He plopped to the ground in a kneeling position immediately.

Meanwhile, Pascal realized what had happened instantly when he spotted Sherman’s peculiar reaction. He used internal energy to transmit a message. “Yosef, it’s me. Pascal Schneider from Crafting Clan. I’m here for a quick visitation. Please forgive my son’s ignorance.”

The pressure on Sherman vanished, and he could breathe easier after Pascal clarified the intention of his visit.

Soon, an older-looking priest in his seventies or eighties strolled out of Kusch Monastery. His brows were white, and patches adorned his robe. Yet, there was whistling wind around him when he walked.

It was none other than Yosef Jenkins of Kusch Monastery.

“Yosef...” Pascal dashed forward, tears rolling down his face when he saw the man.

Sherman stepped forward quickly in response, greeting, “Mr. Jenkins.”

Yosef swept his eyes over them. A frown appeared on his face before he invited, “Follow me into the building.”

Pascal and Sherman trailed behind Yosef, walking through the hallways before arriving at the back hall.

“Leave us now...” Yosef waved his hand, chasing the other priests out of the hall. Then, he asked, “Pascal, you were the head of Crafting Clan. What happened to you?”

Disheartened by Yosef’s question, Pascal sobbed again. “Yosef, you must exact revenge on behalf of me!”

With that, he kneeled before the latter.

Sherman immediately followed suit and knelt on the ground.

“Pascal, even though you and I went separate ways after finishing our apprenticeship and had not contacted each other for a long time, I would never leave you behind when trouble arises.”

Yosef continued while helping Pascal up. “So now, tell me what went wrong.”

“My Crafting Clan is gone, Yosef. Someone destroyed it!” Pascal stated sadly.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2100

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2100-“Destroyed? What do you mean?” Yosef was stunned. “Even though you are not the most powerful man, you have various top-quality magical items in your possession. Were they useless in defending Crafting Clan against harm? Other than the people who remained in solace, seeking to become immortal, who else can wreak havoc in Crafting Clan in the mundane world?”

Yosef added, “Were the people from the secret realm behind this?”

Pascal shook his head. “None of them. It wasn’t the secret realm, nor was it those secluded sects. It was done by a man named Jared Chance!”

“Jared Chance?” Yosef furrowed his brows. “What’s his background? How did he destroy Crafting Clan? What happened to those magical items?”

“I don’t know much about him too. I only knew that he was recently the most powerful man in the martial arts world. A newcomer that had just shown his capabilities, Jared is only in his twenties.”

Pascal didn’t know much about Jared’s background for Crafting Clan did not mingle much with the mundane world.

“Newbie?” Yosef was shocked. “He must be a Martial Arts Saint or even higher if he could ruin Crafting Clan. It isn’t possible for an amateur to reach the cultivation level of Martial Arts Saint suddenly! I’m sure he is part of some secret sect. There must be an unknown secret behind this. Many older adults’ complexions would return to their youth after they reached an ultimate cultivation level and require zero effort to live to hundreds of years old. Maybe this Jared is the elder of one of the secret sects?”

Yosef didn’t believe a man in his twenties could achieve the cultivation level of a Martial Arts Saint.

It wouldn’t be an unachievable task if they were in the secret realm because a lot of spiritual energy cultivators stayed there, and these people had great starting points. Jared needed to build a steady base step-by-step if he was just a mere martial artist. All martial artists try their hardest to cultivate and achieve the highest cultivation level, Manifestor. Once they reach that point, becoming immortal would be an easy feat.

It was then these cultivators could continue their journey toward the great unknown.

However, some people had higher starting points the moment they stepped into the heavenly realm. Combined with their innate ability and the resources accumulated, it was highly possible for these people to reach the cultivation level of Martial Arts Saints in their twenties.

In the mundane world, Martial Arts Saints in their twenties were a rare sight unless they had an unexpected chance or had the support of their secret sect, allowing them to gather as many resources as they wanted.

A newbie without any of these predetermined conditions, power, or influence would face severe problems in reaching the Martial Arts Saint level in their twenties.

“Mr. Jenkins, I don’t think Jared restored his youth. Besides, our magical items could not harm him at all. What if he is a spiritual energy cultivator?” Sherman denied Yosef’s allegations. Jared looked nothing like an older man returning to his youth from his point of view.

“That’s impossible. The laws of nature govern spiritual energy cultivators and can’t up their capabilities without any control in the mundane world. Their existence is against every law of nature in this world, so they can't stay in the mundane world for an extended period."

Yosef added, "Unless they give up on cultivating and let their cultivation stop at a standstill or even regress. If not, there's no way they can stay in the mundane world. Don't tell me you are clueless about this when people from Crafting Clan always mix around with the people from the secret realm," looking at Sherman.

"I... It's true that I was not aware of that!" Sherman replied in an embarrassed manner.

Pascal jumped to Sherman's defense. "Yosef, there are many things that I've kept hidden from him because he is still young. But then, if Jared is no spiritual energy cultivator, why does he have such excellent capabilities? Moreover, I've never heard anything about him belonging to any secluded sect!"

Confusion was evident on Pascal's face. The question of whether Jared was a spiritual energy cultivator remained a mystery to him.