A Man Like None Other Chapter 2190-Entering The Cave

Upon noticing their movements, Jared swiped his hand through the air, and Dragonslayer Sword instantly materialized. Following that, his body weaved through the crowd like a bolt of lightning.

Loud screams resounded in the air. The escaping disciples of Stormwind Sect had all perished at Jared's sword.

The Dragonslayer Sword was still dripping with blood when he returned.

Numerous martial artists regarded Jared with awe as admiration filled their gazes toward him. None of them dared to breathe in his presence.

Skyler frowned and said, "Mr. Chance, you shouldn't have acted rashly and killed all of those people from Stormwind Sect."

"They deserved to die. If I spared their lives, then wouldn't it mean that the martial artists deserved to die instead?" Jared asked, his tone icy.

Skyler stopped talking at that. However, in the eyes of the martial artists of the hidden realm, the martial artists of the external realms were indeed like bugs—their lives were worth nothing.

"Let's go..."

Jared put away his Dragonslayer Sword and continued up the mountain. No one dared to stand in their way now.

The reason he had all those people killed for to prevent Stormwind Sect from retaliating against the martial artists.

He couldn't keep leading these martial artists, nor could he take them all into the ancient ruins with him, for the place was extremely dangerous.

If disciples of Stormwind Sect decided to launch a surprise attack when they split up, the martial artists who went up the mountain would become lambs waiting to be slaughtered.

Soon after, Jared and his group found the cave that had appeared all of a sudden. The entrance of the cave was vast and inside was just pitch-black darkness. They couldn't see anything inside at all.

However, the cave emitted frigid air infused with high levels of spiritual energy.

Jared turned to Verner and the others. "Verner, I don't think you guys should venture into the cave. We don't know what's inside, and your strength might not be enough to save yourselves from any potential danger in there. If an ancient ruin has shown itself, you can search the area and potentially find some other resources."

After all, Verner and the others were too weak. If they went into the cave, they would probably be killed by the fall. From above, no one could even tell how deep the cave was.

"Okay, Mr. Chance. You should also be careful," Verner replied.

Verner acknowledged their limitations and nodded in agreement. They were self-aware and knew they didn't have enough strength to venture into the cave.

On the other hand, Jared and Skyler had no qualms about jumping into the cave.

No matter how deep the cave was, it didn't matter to them. They could already fly using their energy, so they wouldn't fall to their deaths.

The sound of rushing wind accompanied their speedy descent.

They descended into the abyss with only darkness in front of them, but their vision soon returned, and they found themselves in an empty space.

Jared gazed up but could no longer see the entrance to the cave. It felt as if they had entered an entirely different world.

"Is this a secret realm?" Jared wondered in surprise.

He knew that many secret realms were created by tearing space apart, but he had never encountered one inside a mountain range before. Despite his uncertainty, Jared continued to explore the area slowly.

He and Skyler walked in a random direction and soon came across a vast forest with thick trees that seemed endless at first glance.

Skyler was amazed by the vast forest in front of her and asked Jared, "Is this really the inside of Kazillion Mountains, Mr. Chance? Could there really be another world inside this place?"

Jared replied, "I'm not sure, but even if it is another world, it's nothing special."

He remained unfazed by the strange surroundings, as unexpected situations were common to him.

They continued to venture through the forest, but soon, Jared's brows furrowed.

Skyler's face took on a scarlet hue, and her expression was odd as well.

"There's toxic fog here, so be careful..." he said before taking out a detoxifying pill and urging Skyler to take it.

Jared himself was immune to all poisons, so the toxic fog had no effect on him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2192-However, since Skyler had taken the detoxifying pill, the toxic fog had no effect on her, so she hadn't paid too much attention to it on the way.

Jared closed his eyes slightly, then suddenly sucked in the toxic fog into his body.

His eyebrows furrowed soon after.

"Mr. Chance, what's wrong? Is there something different about this toxic fog?" Skyler asked anxiously.

"The original toxic fog was naturally formed, but this toxic fog is artificially created," Jared replied. "It seems that we've walked into someone's arcane array. That's why we've been unable to find a way out."

It was at this moment that Jared realized they had stumbled into an arcane array.

He was careless and hadn't noticed it at first because he didn't expect someone to set up such an arcane array.

Not any ordinary sect could set up such a thing. The person who created this array must have been a master of magecraft, and given the green color of the toxic fog, it's possible that it's the work of a Demonic Cultivator.

"Mr. Chance, could it be Emiliano who set up this arcane array? His group has entered Kazillion Mountains before us, so they should be ahead of us," asked Skyler.

"That's unlikely. Emiliano doesn't have the ability to set up an arcane array like this. There must be other people here, apart from Stormwind Sect," Jared said with a shake of his head. "We need to be careful from now on."

It was dangerous for them as they had no idea whether those unknown individuals were friends or foes. The fact that the strangers were lurking in the shadows while they were out in the open made the situation even more perilous.

"What should we do? Can you break this arcane array?"

Skyler, though a Martial Arts God, was clueless about this type of arcane array.

Jared replied confidently, "This tiny arcane array is nothing to me. I can break it with a wave of my hand."

Jared was sure of himself, knowing that this kind of small arcane array wasn't worth his attention. If he hadn't been careless in the beginning, he wouldn't have been trapped in the array in the first place.

At the same time, the group from Scorching Heaven Sect, who had already left, suddenly stopped in their tracks.

"Elgado, what's wrong?" someone asked.

“Somebody has entered our arcane array. Twin Grim Reapers, go and check it out. If you can catch them, it’ll be great. We can use them to exchange for resources,” Elgado said to two men with different skin tones, known as the Twin Grim Reapers.

“If they resist, kill them no matter who they are. Do you understand?” he added with a serious tone.

“Don’t worry, Elgado. We’ll make sure to complete the mission...”

Soon, the Twin Grim Reapers disappeared into the thick fog.

Meanwhile, Jared was using his hands to create a strong suction, drawing in the surrounding mist.

With each wave of suction, the space around him rippled with golden light.

Suddenly, Jared’s brows furrowed, and he shouted, “Whoever is lurking around, come out now!”

His voice echoed far and wide, charged with spiritual power.

“I never expected there to be such a powerful mage in the hidden realm who could break our arcane array so quickly,” a loud voice responded.

Following this, the Twin Grim Reapers emerged from the mist.

They wore unusual clothing with large flame patterns on their chests.

However, their skin colors were quite unique.

One had a pallid complexion, resembling someone with vitiligo.

The other’s skin was so dark that one might assume they were from a hot tropical country.

The contrast between the two made them appear comical, but their Fourth Level Martial Arts God aura made it clear that they were not one to be trifled with.

Skyler recognized them at a glance and exclaimed in fear, “Scorching Heaven Sect? You two are from Scorching Heaven

Sect?"

Nigel and Rupert were momentarily stunned. They glanced at Skyler and said, "I didn't expect a little girl like you would know about Scorching Heaven Sect. That's right. We are Scorching Heaven Sect's Twin Grim Reapers, and we are here to take your lives"

Rupert sized up Skyler with a lecherous gleam in his eyes.

"Ms. Loulland, what's Scorching Heaven Sect?" Jared asked.

He was puzzled. I thought there were only nine sects in this hidden realm. Why is there an additional Scorching Heaven Sect now? Moreover, judging by these two men's strength, this Scorching Heaven Sect must be quite formidable as a whole.

"Mr. Chance, Scorching Heaven Sect is a group for Demonic Cultivators. The wisp of soul remnant planted in my master's body belonged to the leader of Scorching Heaven Sect, Yona Green. Back then, he challenged my master to a fight and left a wisp of his soul remnant in my master. As a result, Alchemical Sect was able to extort so many resources from Luminous Sect every year," Skyler explained to Jared in detail.

"It was him?" Jared recalled that wisp of soul remnant. That soul remnant was already difficult to deal with. I can't even imagine how powerful that person must be.

"It seems like there are too many ancient and mighty beings in this hidden realm." Jared couldn't help but sigh.

"I see, so you're from Luminous Sect. That's great. We can capture you and force Matthew to ransom you with resources," Nigel uttered confidently as soon as he learned Skyler was from Luminous Sect.

That was because, aside from Alchemical Sect, Luminous Sect was the weakest among the nine sects. They didn't have to worry about offending Luminous Sect.

“Nigel, you handle that guy who’s only a Martial Arts Saint, and let me deal with this girl. I’m going to have some fun. It’s been so many years since I laid my hands on a woman, so I’ll thoroughly enjoy myself today.” Rupert riveted his eyes on Skyler, an urge to ravish her washing over him.

Since Jared was merely a Martial Arts Saint while Skyler was just a Second Level Martial Arts God, Nigel and Rupert were certain they could handle the two of them.

“Y-You’re a shameless beast!” Listening to Rupert’s obscene words, Skyler blushed in embarrassment.

Rupert guffawed. “Seeing you getting angry just excites me more!”

Nigel said to Jared, “Brat, leave all your valuable belongings and quickly get lost. Judging by your cultivation level, you don’t seem like someone from this hidden realm. I shall show you mercy today and spare your life!”

“You’re not going to kill me?” Jared pretended to be surprised.

“That’s right. I won’t kill you if you scam now and don’t get in our way. The two of us are going to... Hehe...” Nigel laughed salaciously.

“Ah, what a pity. You two don’t want to kill me, but I want to end you both!” Jared sneered.

Nigel was taken aback. He didn’t anticipate an insignificant Martial Arts Saint like Jared would dare to say something like that.

“Brat, do you know who you’re talking to?” Nigel narrowed his eyes. A mere Martial Arts Saint can only beg for mercy when encountering a Martial Arts God, yet he has the audacity to speak so arrogantly?

“Indeed, I don’t know who I’m talking to. Your skin is so dark. Did your mother swallow charcoal when she was pregnant with you?” Jared asked.

Pfft!

Amidst that tense situation, Jared’s question prompted Skyler to snicker out loud.

Nigel was instantly enraged. He immediately withdrew a pitch- black soul-locking staff. The staff emitted an eerie dark aura and ghastly howls.

“Brat, I’m going to tear you to pieces and banish your soul to the depths of hell so you can never be reborn!” Nigel bellowed, his aura bursting forth at once.

At that moment, Rupert also brandished a pure white soul-locking staff which emanated chilling air.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2194-Skyler suppressed her laughter, vigilantly watching her opponents and mobilizing her aura.

Still, a Second Level Martial Arts God like her would likely not last more than five exchanges of blows against their current opponent.

After all, Skyler didn’t possess Jared’s ability to fight against enemies with a higher cultivation level.

The higher the cultivation level was, the greater the difference between each level became, and the more impossible it was for the weak to defeat the strong.

Nigel and Rupert were Fourth Level Martial Arts Gods. Hence, Skyler didn’t stand a chance to win.

“Ms. Loulland, you can rest at the side and watch how I turn these two into dried corpses.” Jared smiled faintly.

Immediately afterward, his aura intensified.

Skyler nodded and took a few steps back, planning to watch Jared deal with the Twin Grim Reapers alone.

“Hmph! Are you crazy? I can’t believe a mere Martial Arts Saint like you think you can match up against us. I can slaughter you by myself.” Nigel snorted and swiftly dashed toward Jared.

Jared’s previous insult had infuriated him, and he wasn’t going to let that matter slide until he killed Jared.

In the blink of an eye, Nigel had arrived before Jared. He raised the soul-locking staff high above his head and brought it down with great force.

He figured that strike would likely pulverize anything in its path.

However, Jared merely smirked and sidestepped to dodge the attack effortlessly.

In the next instant, his body emitted rays of golden light, and Golem Body enveloped his figure, giving him the appearance of a golden-armored war god.

Noticing the sudden materialization of Golem Body on Jared, the Twin Grim Reapers were dazed.

“No wonder you’re so full of yourself, brat. It turns out you’re actually hiding a high-grade armor. Nevertheless, even if your body is made of iron, I will still smash you into a pulp today!” Nigel roared.

Jared didn’t respond. Golden lights erupted as Jared launched a Sacred Light Fist at Nigel.

The dazzling golden lights instantly lit up the vast forest.

Nigel’s expression changed slightly as he hurriedly used his soullocking staff to block the attack.

Clang!

A deafening sound reverberated as a massive force spread outward, causing the thick trees in the surroundings to be uprooted by the martial energy.

Nigel felt numbness in his arm while he kept retreating backward. “What a terrifying power. How could a mere Martial Arts Saint possess such strength?” He stared at Jared in disbelief.

“Nigel, be careful. This guy is deliberately acting weak. Judging by his capabilities, he’s definitely not just a lowly Martial Arts Saint,” Rupert, standing at one side, reminded Nigel.

Nigel nodded. Then, he leaped up. While his body was still in midair, he suddenly swung his staff.

The endless black mist exuded by the soul-locking staff transformed into numerous malicious spirits that viciously launched themselves at Jared.

Looking at those malicious spirits formed from the black mists, Jared curved his lips upward and laughed.

Seeing Jared's reaction, Nigel was dumbfounded and baffled.

However, before he could react, he saw Jared focusing his energy on his elixir field. The next second, Jared opened his mouth, unleashing a powerful whirlwind-like suction force and swallowing those malicious spirits.

As the gale gradually subsided, Jared rubbed his belly and let out a satisfied burp.

Nigel stared at Jared in utter shock and incredulity. "Y-You can also use black magic? Are you a Demonic Cultivator, too?" he asked astonishingly.

"Bah! I have no interest in black magic. It's just that my technique can perfectly counter yours!"

Jared expressed his contempt and stomped his foot, propelling himself toward Nigel like an arrow released from a bowstring.

Watching Jared charging in his direction, Nigel no longer wore a relaxed expression on his face. His pupils constricted, and his aura exploded.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2195-"Sacred Light Fist!" Jared shouted.

That time around, his fist glowed with a golden light that was as dazzling as the sun. The glaring brilliance made everyone squint.

Infinite spiritual energy condensed before heading toward Nigel's chest.

Nigel's expression changed, and he hastily blocked it with his soullocking staff again.

Unexpectedly, Jared's speed did not show the slightest sign of decrease. In the next heartbeat, his fist landed squarely on the staff.

Bang!

A deafening smash split the air, and the whole ground shook.

Even Verner and the others, who were in the mountains, could feel the earth quivering.

Sheer terror brimmed in Nigel's eyes. Following that single punch from Jared, his soul-locking staff instantly snapped, yet the man's fist shot forward unbarricaded to hit his chest with the same force.

Like a piece of paper, Nigel was promptly sent flying back, forcefully knocking down dozens of trees before landing heavily on the ground.

Bright red blood kept spurting out of his mouth, and horror was etched across his features.

"How is this possible? W-What exactly is your cultivation level?" he stuttered.

Never in his wildest dreams had he ever imagined that Jared, whom he looked down upon, was actually so powerful.

"Are you okay, Nigel?" Rupert asked.

Wearing a similar surprised expression on his face, he stepped forward and helped Nigel up, feeding him a pill at the same time.

After Nigel had taken the pill, the aura within his body started replenishing at lightning speed.

"I'm fine, still alive and kicking. It looks like we've got to join hands," Nigel uttered.

In the beginning, he found it unnecessary for them to team up to deal with Jared since he believed he would be able to kill the latter alone with a single blow.

Alas, Jared turned the tables on him, and he ended up injured instead.

"Okay. Indeed, this brat had been hiding his capabilities pretty well. But when did the hidden realm have such a young elite? I've never heard of it," Rupert remarked, scrutinizing Jared with utter puzzlement in his eyes.

There were no elites in the martial arts world beyond their realm. Moreover, they had no recollection of an elite as young as Jared in the nine sects within the hidden realm.

“Regardless of whether he’s from within or beyond the hidden realm, he must die today. Otherwise, our reputation would be ruined,” Nigel hissed through gritted teeth, his eyes blazing with fury.

Jared mocked them with a sneer. “Even if you two were to attack together, the outcome would still be the same. As such, I’d advise you to give up the futile struggle.”

“How arrogant!” Nigel snorted blithely, for he had already recovered his aura.

“Let’s kill him together, Nigel!” Rupert declared, his aura bursting forth and his eyes narrowing into slits.

At once, they leaped up and charged at Jared, one from the left and the other from the right.

Despite the simultaneous attack by two Fourth Level Martial Arts Gods, Jared remained motionless. Nonetheless, he unleashed Golem Body to its full potential.

In no time, a golden dragon started taking shape behind him. Subsequently, the gigantic creature circled in the air.

Right then, even his skin was glowing. With the addition of Golem Body to his tough physique, he was long since indestructible.

“All souls shall come to me!”

Rupert waved the soul-locking staff in his hand, upon which clouds of black mist turned into malicious spirits that swooped down on Jared.

Meanwhile, Nigel manifested flames in his palm. Black mist similarly encircled the flames.

The two of them seemingly arrived before Jared at the same time. Shooting a hand out, Jared struck it against Nigel’s palm.

Bang!

In a flash, Nigel was sent flying once more.

At the same time, the soul-locking staff in Rupert's hand hit Jared hard. Sparks flew, and many of the golden scales on the latter's body were knocked off, vanishing into thin air.

Jared's shimmering skin was exposed, but there was nary a scratch on him.

On the contrary, Rupert sensed his arm going numb, and his soullocking staff almost slipped out of his hand.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2196-While eyeing Rupert coldly, Jared reached out a hand and grabbed the man's soul-locking staff. Then, he held the staff with both hands and exerted strength on it, snapping it.

Afterward, he shot his leg out and kicked Rupert in the chest, which sent him flying as well.

Sprawled across the ground, the Twin Grim Reapers stared at Jared incredulously.

They were both Fourth Level Martial Arts Gods, yet they were thoroughly defeated by a mere Martial Arts Saint.

Not only had their weapons been destroyed then, but they had also sustained injuries.

"It looks like we're doomed today, Rupert," Nigel remarked solemnly.

"Even if we die, we've got to pull him down with us! From the look of things, it's time for us to sacrifice ourselves!" Rupert replied.

As he spoke, he took out a small porcelain vial and opened it. On the heels of that, terrifying wisps of lethal intent wafted out.

Sensing the lethal intent, Jared frowned, for it gave him an intense sense of danger.

Just as he was puzzled as to why those wisps of lethal intent were so horrifying, he saw them converge into a human-like figure. Opening its massive mouth, it devoured the Twin Grim Reapers.

The sight of that surprised Jared even further, and he was wholly baffled by the two men's actions.

"Ah!"

Immediately afterward, the Twin Grim Reapers started shrieking in agony. They had both been swallowed whole by the figure, and their screams were coming incessantly from its belly.

That made Jared all the more mystified. He simply could not fathom what was happening.

Skyler was so frightened that her face paled. Never had she seen anyone who acted so ruthlessly toward themselves.

Shortly after, the Twin Grim Reapers' cries of pain ceased, while the human-like figure slowly started solidifying.

A man with half his skin black and the other half white appeared in front of Jared without a stitch on.

"How shameless! You're a downright scoundrel!"

At that sight, Skyler cursed aloud and spun around.

Meanwhile, the capabilities of the man had gone up a notch, and he was a Fifth Level Martial Arts God.

Jared studied him in surprise, not quite understanding what had transpired. Hmm? Could it be that the Twin Grim Reapers were devoured by this man, consequently leading to this outcome?

"You forced our hand, brat! We'll definitely finish you off today!"

The man spoke, but the voice belonged to Nigel.

"Exactly! We merged into one to kill you!"

Next, Rupert's voice drifted out of the man's mouth.

Jared snorted coldly and spat, "Humph! Regardless of whatever black magic you're using, all of it is useless before me. Make your move."

Upon hearing his taunts, the man let out a hoarse roar that sounded like the cry of a beast and charged toward Jared.

His speed was as fast as lightning, and the aura that burst forth from him carried gusts of intense wind.

Seeing that, Jared did not use his body to take the hit anymore. Instead, he lifted the balls of his feet and promptly leaped dozens of meters into the air.

The man's punch missed its mark, but the terrifying wind swept over the forest behind Jared, uprooting hundreds and thousands of trees. In the blink of an eye, a clearing came into existence.

When the man saw that his punch did not find its target, he jerked his head upward and stared at Jared, who was in mid-air, before leaping up in the same manner. In the next second, countless fist shadows manifested and surrounded Jared.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

Innumerable blows landed on Jared, knocking him out of mid-air.

Upon seeing him crash to the ground, Skyler cried out in concern, "Mr. Chance!"

After the man smashed Jared to the ground, he did not bother sparing the latter another look but turned his gaze to Skyler with a lascivious glint in his eyes.

"Don't bother shouting. He will surely die this time, and now it's your turn. You're going to get a taste of what my brothers have suffered through," the man said, walking toward Skyler as he spoke.

Skyler kept turning her head away from the man, refusing to look at him as she kept stepping backward.

"Are you so confident that I'm dead?"

Jared's voice suddenly came from behind.

The man was stumped and turned around to find that, except for Jared's Golem Body, he was not harmed in the slightest.

"How is this possible? Why aren't you dead?" the man asked incredulously.

"Mr. Chance," Skyler called out, running to hide behind him.

"I told you that you're all rubbish. If you manage to kill me, won't that be a huge slap to my face?" Jared said coldly.

"That's impossible. You can't be alive. Who are you?" the man demanded loudly.

"Why don't you go ask that question in hell?" Jared said, suddenly appearing right in front of the man.

The man was startled and quickly backed away, but he was not as fast as Jared.

Meanwhile, Jared's fist grew bigger and bigger and he smashed down hard on the man.

Noticing this, the man suddenly turned into a cloud of black mist, and the bodies of the Twin Grim Reapers were left sprawled in front of Jared.

"Trying to escape?"

Jared leaped after the cloud of black mist.

His body radiated gold light, and his speed was as fast as lightning. He caught up with the black mist in an instant and penetrated through it.

The cloud of black mist manifested into a human figure and sneered, "I have no physical form now. You cannot hurt me."

"If I can't hurt you, I'll devour you," Jared said.

His stomach suddenly caved in, and he opened his mouth, unleashing a powerful suction force that pulled the figure toward him.

The figure panicked and desperately tried to break free but to no avail. "Don't! Don't kill us, and we'll agree to any conditions you have!"

The voice of the Twin Grim Reapers came out of the figure. Even though they were physically dead, their souls were preserved.

"It's too late to plead for mercy..."

Jared did not spare the two. He directly absorbed the black mist and their souls into his body.

He activated Focus Technique and rapidly refined the black mist he had just devoured.

"Let's go," Jared said to Skyler.

She nodded and followed closely behind him, walking slowly into the depths of the forest.

At the end of the forest, a magnificent palace stood tall.

Emiliano looked at the majestic palace before him, his eyes glinting with excitement.

"This should be the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace. It has to be... I finally found it. I found it!" Emiliano exclaimed.

However, his happiness was short-lived, and he turned his head sharply to look into the depths of the forest.

"What's the matter, Mr. Fairchild?" a disciple from Stormwind Sect asked.

"There are people here again!" Emiliano said, his brows furrowed.

"How is that possible? Samson is guarding outside with his men. Those trash from outside the boundaries cannot enter," the disciple said.

"I don't think it's a martial artist. It should be someone from the hidden realm. People outside the boundaries do not exude such aura!"

Emiliano narrowed his eyes, murderous intent festering in them.

“People from the hidden realm? Did the other clans send their people here? Samson would have notified us,” another disciple commented in surprise.

“Perhaps Samson has lost the battle with them. Surely, every clan or sect out there will want to claim the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace for their own. However, now that we’ve found it, nobody else can hope to snatch it away from us!”

Emiliano’s eyes were filled with killing intent as his murderous aura soared.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2198

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2198-“Mr. Fairchild, let’s hurry inside,” someone urged Emiliano.

“Okay, but everyone needs to be careful. The Narcissus Palace ancient ruins are extremely dangerous, and we don’t want to lose our lives.”

Emiliano led the group into the palace.

At the same time, the guardian of Scorching Heaven Sect, Elgado, was still looking for the ancient ruins. Suddenly, he stopped in his tracks.

“What’s the matter?” someone asked.

The guardian, Elgado, furrowed his brows and said, “Damn it. The Twin Grim Reapers have been killed.”

“What? The Twin Grim Reapers have been killed? How is that possible? They’re both Fourth Level Martial Arts God and Fifth Level Martial Arts God when combined! If not the old geezers from the other sects, who could have killed them so easily?” someone asked incredulously.

“I reckon it’s someone from Stormwind Sect. They have Garthor. Even though he’s young, he’s already a Fifth Level Martial Arts God. Besides, I heard that he modified his genes and became immortal. If the Twin Grim Reapers encountered him, they wouldn’t have a chance to survive!” the guardian said gravely.

Everyone’s faces turned solemn, and they fell silent.

Elgado glanced at everyone before turning to a thin old man who held a token. “Luol, you stay here and use an arcane array to block the people from Stormwind Sect. We have to find the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace before they do. I have an Invigorating Pill here. Take it when you’re at a critical juncture, and you’ll be able to survive!”

Elgado intended to delay the people from Stormwind Sect so that they could locate the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace first.

What he didn’t know was that Emiliano from Stormwind Sect had already found the ruins and that it wasn’t Garthor who killed the Twin Grim Reapers but Jared.

However, because Jared was not present in the hidden realm, many people did not know of his existence. Hence, they wouldn’t associate him with the incident.

Luol did not hesitate. He accepted the Invigorating Pill and said to Elgado, “Don’t worry. Even if I die, I can still hold them back. They won’t be able to leave my arcane array for at least eight to ten days.”

Luol was quite confident in his magecraft.

“Don’t let your guard down. Although Stormwind Sect may not be proficient in magecraft, they may employ magecraft masters to do their bidding. Your job is to stop them. Avoid conflicts if possible,” Elgado said to Luol.

“Understood.” Luol nodded.

Elgado led the group to continue the search of the ancient ruins while Luol inserted his token into the ground and began to gesture hand seals with both hands. The ground began to shake.

Soon, the scenery around him changed. The dense forest disappeared, and a small stream appeared, with many people living by the banks of the stream.

Not far away was a towering mountain range that stretched for thousands of miles. It seemed to be connected to the sky.

At this moment, Luol was sitting on a large rock with a dry tobacco pipe in his mouth.

Many people were working, and children were playing around him.

Looking at everything around him, Luol smirked. He was becoming more and more satisfied with his magecraft.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the forest, Jared and Skyler were still searching for the location of the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace because they had no idea where it was located either.

Jared's spiritual sense was severely restricted within the forest, so he could only search within a few miles.

As they walked among the towering trees, they felt increasingly oppressed the longer they were in the forest.

Skyler's face turned pale. She felt as if she was suffocating. She was desperate to get out of the forest.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2199

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2199-Just then, the scenery before them suddenly opened up, revealing a village along with a stream and a mountain range.

Seeing that, Skyler was beyond elated.

"We finally exited that oppressive forest. I would've suffocated if we didn't get out. But it is so strange that there's a village within this mountain range," she said to Jared.

Jared was frowning and scrutinizing everything in front of him.

"We've been walking for so long, and my face is all sweaty. This is the perfect timing for me to wash my face."

Looking at the clear stream, Skyler strode over.

However, at that moment, Jared grabbed hold of her. "Don't go over there."

"What's the matter?" she asked.

“I feel like there’s something wrong with this place,” he said with his brows furrowed.

“Wrong? What’s wrong?” Skyler scanned her surroundings carefully but didn’t notice anything unusual.

Moreover, at the side of the stream not far away, an old man was sitting on a rock, smoking, with a child next to him.

That old man was Luol, and the child beside him was just an illusion.

“I can’t quite put my finger on it, but I can’t shake off the feeling that something’s not right.”

Jared had yet to discover everything before him was just an illusionary realm/

That was proof of the level of sophistication in Luol’s magecraft.

“We’ll know if there’s a problem or not once we go over and ask.”

As Skyler spoke, she approached the old man and the child.

Jared had no choice but to follow her and enquire further before doing anything else.

“Sir, could you please tell us where we are?” Skyler stepped forward and asked Luol.

Luol looked up and gazed at Jared and Skyler. A hint of confusion flashed across his eyes.

“Who are you?” Instead of answering Skyler’s question, Luol retorted with a question of his own. Elgado mentioned the person who killed the Twin Grim Reapers was likely sent by Stormwind Sect. That’s why I set up this illusion spell to delay Stormwind Sect’s progress.

However, Jared and Skyler were obviously not members of the Stormwind Sect. Therefore, Luol had to ask that question.

“We—”

Skyler was about to inform Luol they were from Luminous Sect when Jared interrupted her.

“We are mountain villagers who mistakenly entered this place. We’d been walking in the forest for a long time before we stumbled into this place. Where exactly are we?” he asked.

“This is Immortal Village. Our ancestors have lived here for generations,” Luol uttered indifferently.

“Immortal Village?” Skyler was astounded. “Could it be that everyone here is immortal?”

“Hahaha! You must be joking, young lady. How could everyone here be immortal? Still, the people in our village tend to live longer, so this place is called Immortal Village,” Luol replied while laughing heartily.

“Grandpa, Grandpa! I want to take a bath!” At that moment, the child ran over and said while tugging the corner of Luol’s shirt.

“Go ahead.” Luol waved his hand. Subsequently, the child happily jumped into the stream.

“Why do the people in your village live longer? Are all of you martial arts experts?” Skyler curiously put forth the question.

“That’s not the case. It’s just that this stream in our village has healing properties. Regardless of the severity of injuries or even organ failures, one can recuperate after taking a bath in the stream. The villagers here enjoy bathing in this stream, so we all got to live long lives,” Luol explained.

Skyler’s eyes shone with excitement after she heard that. She turned to Jared and said, “Mr. Chance, did you hear that? This stream seems to have similar properties as the Spring of Regeneration. Maybe the water from the Spring of Regeneration originated from here! I’m going to try it and see if this stream is the same as the spring.”

She made a move to check out the stream as she spoke.

Jared halted her. “Let me take a look instead. After all, I soaked in the spring water for a few days, so I know more about the quality of the water than you.”

With that, Jared walked to the edge of the stream and slowly crouched down. Eyes riveted on the clear water, he gently touched it with his hand.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2200-The moment his hand made contact with the stream water, a wave of murky energy instantly seeped into his body through his fingertips.

The murky energy swiftly corroded Jared's internal organs as soon as it entered his body.

However, Jared's body received the protection of the Power of Dragons, making him immune to all poisons. Hence, Jared managed to refine the murky energy with Focus Technique in no time.

He gradually got to his feet and narrowed his eyes at Luol.

Skyler hastily asked, "Mr. Chance, how was it? Is this the same water as Spring of Regeneration's?"

Jared didn't answer her. Instead, he moved his fingers and launched a flash of red light into Skyler's mind.

Immediately afterward, he chanted the calming incantation, and waves of coolness instantly enveloped their bodies.

When Skyler opened her eyes again, she noticed there wasn't anything around them. They were still inside the forest, but a sinister-looking old man now stood in front of them.

"W-What's going on?" She was astonished, and utter disbelief filled her eyes.

"We entered an illusion, and everything we saw earlier was fake," Jared elaborated to Skyler.

"Not bad, brat. You've got some skills to break my illusion spell. You're the first one to achieve this in such a short period!"

Luol casually waved his hand, and the tokens initially stuck on the grounds returned to his hand. The next second, a black mist appeared around him.

At that instant, Luol wore a menacing expression and exuded a murderous aura.

“You’re from Scorching Heaven Sect. I didn’t expect another one of you to show up right after I killed the Twin Grim Reapers.” Sensing Luol’s aura, Jared immediately figured out his identity.

Luol was momentarily stunned before uttering incredulously, “What did you say? You are the one who killed the Twin Grim Reapers?”

“No way! You’re just a mere Martial Arts Saint, so how could you possibly do away with the Twin Grim Reapers? Moreover, this girl is only a Second Level Martial Arts God. Even if you two joined forces, you wouldn’t be a match for them. If you know the Twin Grim Reapers are dead, you must know who the real murderer is. You two simply don’t have what it takes to kill the brothers!”

Luol was unconvinced that Jared was the one slaughtered the Twin Grim Reapers.

He could still believe it if someone had told him Stormwind Sect’s Garthor was the culprit. However, Jared, a Martial Arts Saint, claiming he had murdered Nigel and Rupert, was simply implausible to Luol.

“There’s nothing I can do if you don’t believe me. Nevertheless, you will ultimately believe what I said is true,” Jared said while smiling faintly.

“Regardless of whether you killed the Twin Grim Reapers or not, now that you’ve intruded here, you must die. That’s because only we from the Scorching Heaven Sect are qualified to obtain the ancient ruins!”

As Luol spoke, the black mists around him churned, and his murderous aura burst forth.

“Ms. Loulland, you should step back.” Jared narrowed his eyes, which were filled with killing intent.

“Hmph! How dare an insignificant Martial Arts Saint like you speak so arrogantly! I shall kill you now. Let’s see if you really do have the capabilities to kill the Twin Grim Reapers!”

After saying that, Luol leaped up, gathering a large amount of black mist in midair. Then, he tossed out the token in his hand.

The word "Death" materialized, ablaze and covered in highly poisonous black mist.

Laced with intense poison, the "Death" word came crashing down at Jared.

Seeing that, Jared immediately brandished Dragonslayer Sword.

Although Luol wasn't powerful, he was a formidable expert in magecraft. His illusion spell earlier had almost trapped Jared.

Hence, once Jared wielded Dragonslayer Sword, he swiftly swung the blade.

Sword energy instantly struck the "Death" word, splitting it in half. After that, the word disappeared, along with the flames on it.
