

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2201

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2201-In spite of that, the power of Dragonslayer Sword didn't diminish at all as Jared thrust it toward Luol's chest.

"Hahaha, a lowly Martial Arts Saint thinks he can kill me."

Amidst his hearty laughter, Luol vanished into thin air.

All Jared's sword pierced was a cloud of black mist. Within it were countless venomous parasites that subsequently engulfed Jared's entire body.

As for Luol, he was already standing by the side, bursting into laughter once again as he watched Jared being overwhelmed by the parasites.

"Kid, I'm going to give you a taste of Venom Swarm," Luol declared gleefully as an anxious Skyler looked on.

Nonetheless, despite being covered by the venomous parasites, Jared was a sea of calm with his sword in hand.

The next moment, blue flames could be seen rising from Dragonslayer Sword before they covered Jared's entire body.

As the blue inferno began to burn, the venomous parasites throughout his body were incinerated into ash.

"Spiritual fire?"

Luol couldn't help but frown at the sight of the spiritual fire flickering around Jared's body.

"If this is the best you can do, I'm really disappointed."

Brandishing Dragonslayer Sword, Jared fired an arc of light in Luol's direction.

However, when the light cut through Luol's body, it gradually dissolved into a black mist again.

But this time, the black mist transformed into a fearsome beast that raised its head and roared into the sky.

Before Jared knew it, Luol reappeared beside him a second time.

“Kid, you’ll never hit me,” Luol proclaimed confidently.

“Your illusion spell is pretty good. I can’t believe how real it can be.”

By then, Jared had noticed that his every attack had landed on an illusion instead of Luol’s real body.

There was no way he could instantly tell that the Luol in front of him wasn’t real.

Thus, he ended up attacking an image that was conjured up instead of his enemy’s physical self.

“Haha. Now that you know what you’re up against, you had better stop wasting my time and surrender.”

Amidst Luol’s laughter, a black mist began to rise from his body.

“Hmph, I admit you have a decent illusion spell, but I’m no pushover,” Jared scoffed.

As Dragonslayer Sword emitted a blistering flash, the roar of a dragon echoed in the air.

“Rawr!”

Meanwhile, Luol’s beast let out a thunderous cry before charging in Jared’s direction.

As a countermeasure, Jared threw Dragonslayer Sword forward. It then evolved into a golden dragon that engaged the attacking beast in a brutal battle.

In the meantime, Jared turned his attention to Luol. His fists were tightly clenched as they began to glow with a golden hue.

“Sacred Light Fist!”

Jared unleashed a devastating attack upon his opponent.

The sudden turn of events struck fear into Luol. He hadn't expected Dragonslayer Sword to be capable of fighting on its own accord.

Just as Jared's punch landed on Luol, his body disappeared again. The residual black mist subsequently recomposed, by the side into Luol's real body.

"Kid, didn't I tell you that you can't touch me? Stop wasting your efforts!" Luol reiterated.

Obviously, Jared wasn't going to heed the man's words. Instead, both his hands grabbed the thin air in front of him to unleash shackle-like chains of spiritual energy in every direction.

Soon, the entire area surrounding Jared was tightly sealed. Regardless of how skilled Luol was in his illusion spell, there was no way he could escape the constrained space.

Cognizant of the changes in the surrounding area, Luol rapidly retreated with a slight change in expression.

In reality, Luol wasn't that powerful and relied mostly on his magecraft. A confined space would naturally cause his illusion spell to lose its effectiveness.

Clang!

A loud rumble was heard when Luol crashed into what looked like transparent glass. The impact threw him into a daze with stars spinning above his head.

"I've sealed off this space. There's no escape for you," Jared stated in an icy tone.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2202

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2202-"Hmph, your magecraft is nothing compared to mine!"

Just as he spoke, Luol pulled out a seal from his hand and stabbed it into the ground. While doing so, he began to mumble a chant.

As the air around him began to tremble, Jared could feel tremendous pressure smashing against his restrictive arcane array.

Without a moment's delay, he lunged at Luol to prevent the latter from breaking through it.

Undeniably, the level of magecraft exhibited by Luol was impressive.

When he saw Jared's impending attack, Luol had no choice but to push both his hands forward. The seal on the ground rose into the air abruptly before flying in Jared's direction.

Boom!

As Jared smashed his fist against the seal, it instantly shattered into dust.

Immediately after, Jared appeared right in front of Luol and grabbed him by the throat.

"D-Don't kill me. I can help you find the ancient ruins," Luol pleaded upon realizing the dire situation he was in.

Jared had displayed strength that exceeded his imagination. It didn't matter if it was magecraft or raw power, Luol's skills didn't even come close to that of the former.

"Can you really help me locate the ancient ruins?" Jared gave Luol a skeptical look.

"That's right. I'll help you as long as you spare my life." Luol nodded as he spoke.

"Why should I believe you?" Even though Jared didn't deny that Luol was skilled in magecraft, he couldn't bring himself to trust someone from Scorching Heaven Sect.

"You can put a restrictive spell on me or force me to swallow a poison pill. As long as you don't kill me, I'll do anything you say," Luol begged desperately for mercy. Just like anyone else, he was afraid of death.

"Mr. Chance, you can't possibly trust a Demonic Cultivator from Scorching Heaven Sect," Skyler cried out to Jared.

She was worried that Jared would be tricked by Luol.

“I’m not really a Demonic Cultivator from Scorching Heaven Sect. I was a mage from Kazillion Mountains before this. I was only forced to join them after they conquered my territory. I’m telling you the truth, so please let me live!”

Luol gave Jared a pleading look, and the latter replied, “I can spare your life, but you’ll have to swallow this heart-eating pill. If you’re lying to me, you’ll die from your heart eaten by countless ants.

With that, Jared handed a shiny black pill over to Luol.

“All right, all right. I’ll take it. I’m definitely not lying to you.”

Once Luol popped the pill into his mouth without any hesitation, Jared released his grip. Thereafter, he dispelled Spatial Restriction with a wave of his hand.

“Now, take us to the ancient ruins,” Jared ordered.

Nodding in acknowledgment, Luol began to lead the way.

Meanwhile, outside the palace of the ancient ruins, Emiliano attempted to lead his men inside. However, they triggered an arcane array set up as a trap. With his men enveloped in poison gas, many of them were killed by its toxicity.

Fortunately for them, Emiliano had brought along a few expert mages who swiftly acted to neutralize the poison.

“What’s going on?” Emiliano asked with a frown.

Although he was aware that the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace were covered with arcane array traps, he didn’t expect to be caught in one the moment he entered it.

If they couldn’t even get past the first trap, there was no way they would be able to reach their destination.

“Mr. Fairchild, we’re trying our best. It should be dispelled anytime now,” one of the elderly mages reported as he wiped the sweat off his brow.

Even so, Emiliano was enraged by their performance. “All of you are useless! Why can’t you break through it after such a long time?” he thundered.

“Mr. Fairchild, this arcane array is both ancient and unique. It takes time to break down something like this,” the elderly mage explained, his tone tinged with awkwardness.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2203

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2203-“Whet e piece of tresh! How dere you cell yourself e mege with such skill level? You ere en utter waste of resources. Meke heste, will you?” bellowed Emilieno in ennuyence.

If they continued being trepped, others would benefit et their expense. However, there wes no choice—the first people to enter the encient ruins would definitely suffer more then others.

Nevertheless, there wes nothing the meges could do but eccelerete while Emilieno set et the side with e frown. The ercene errey, which seemed so hermless, wes eble to trep them for such e long period of time. Truly, Nercissus Pelece lived up to its reputetion.

At thet moment, Emilieno twisted his heed to the side end glenced over. An unpleesent look spread ecross his fece.

“Oh no! Someone’s heeding towerd us. We must not let them surpress us. Hurry up!” urged Emilieno anxiously when he sensed that people were coming.

Jered end Skyler simulteneously looked in the seme direction.

Weves of Mertiel Arts God eure surged towerd the depths of the forest from the entrence.

“Did someone enter egein, Mr. Chence?” asked Skyler when she sensed the eure.

“Yeeh. There’s quite e few too. Looks like it’s going to get crowded,” replied Jered solemnly.

The more people there were, the herder it wes to obtain the megicel item in the encient ruins.

“What a piece of trash! How dare you call yourself a mage with such skill level? You are an utter waste of resources. Make haste, will you?” bellowed Emiliano in annoyance.

If they continued being trapped, others would benefit at their expense. However, there was no choice—the first people to enter the ancient ruins would definitely suffer more than others.

Nevertheless, there was nothing the mages could do but accelerate while Emiliano sat at the side with a frown. The orcone ory, which seemed so harmless, was able to trap them for such a long period of time. Truly, Norcissus Poloce lived up to its reputation.

At that moment, Emiliano twisted his head to the side and glanced over. An unpleasant look spread across his face.

“Oh no! Someone’s heading toward us. We must not let them surpass us. Hurry up!” urged Emiliano anxiously when he sensed that people were coming.

Jared and Skyler simultaneously looked in the same direction.

Waves of Mortal Arts God energy surged toward the depths of the forest from the entrance.

“Did someone enter again, Mr. Chance?” asked Skyler when she sensed the energy.

“Yeah. There’s quite a few too. Looks like it’s going to get crowded,” replied Jared solemnly.

The more people there were, the harder it was to obtain the magical item in the ancient ruins.

“What a piece of trash! How dare you call yourself a mage with such skill level? You are an utter waste of resources. Make haste, will you?” bellowed Emiliano in annoyance.

If they continued being trapped, others would benefit at their expense. However, there was no choice—the first people to enter the ancient ruins would definitely suffer more than others.

Nevertheless, there was nothing the mages could do but accelerate while Emiliano sat at the side with a frown. The arcane array, which seemed so harmless, was able to trap them for such a long period of time. Truly, Narcissus Palace lived up to its reputation.

At that moment, Emiliano twisted his head to the side and glanced over. An unpleasant look spread across his face.

“Oh no! Someone’s heading toward us. We must not let them surpass us. Hurry up!” urged Emiliano anxiously when he sensed that people were coming.

Jared and Skyler simultaneously looked in the same direction.

Waves of Martial Arts God aura surged toward the depths of the forest from the entrance.

“Did someone enter again, Mr. Chance?” asked Skyler when she sensed the aura.

“Yeah. There’s quite a few too. Looks like it’s going to get crowded,” replied Jared solemnly.

The more people there were, the harder it was to obtain the magical item in the ancient ruins.

“What a piaca of trash! How dara you call yourself a maga with such skill laval? You ara an uttar wasta of rasourcas. Maka hasta, will you?” ballowad Emiliano in annoyanca.

If thay continuad baing trappad, othars would banafit at thair xpanasa. Howavar, thara was no choica—tha first paopla to antar tha anciant ruins would dafinitaly suffar mora than othars.

Navarthalass, thara was nothing tha magas could do but accalarata whila Emiliano sat at tha sida with a frown. Tha arcana array, which saamad so harmlass, was abla to trap tham for such a long period of tima. Truly, Narcissus Palaca livad up to its raputation.

At that momant, Emiliano twistad his haad to tha sida and glancad ovar. An unplaasant look spraad across his faca.

“Oh no! Somaona’s heading toward us. We must not let them surpass us. Hurry up!” urged Emiliano anxiously when he sensed that people were coming.

Jared and Skylar simultaneously looked in the same direction.

Waves of Martial Arts God aura surged toward the depths of the forest from the entrance.

“Did someone enter again, Mr. Chanca?” asked Skylar when he sensed the aura.

“Yeah. There’s quite a few too. Looks like it’s going to get crowded,” replied Jared solemnly.

The more people there were, the harder it was to obtain the magical item in the ancient ruins.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of explosions sounded. Two elderly men wearing white headscarves were chopping at the tree in front of them. The humongous tree, which was split in half, fell over to the sides like straws, revealing a wide road that cut through the forest.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of explosions sounded. Two elderly men wearing white headscarves were chopping at the tree in front of them. The humongous tree, which was split in half, fell over to the sides like straws, revealing a wide road that cut through the forest.

A carriage appeared on the road that had just been opened, carried by four young women in white dresses. An eight trigram was embedded at the top of the carriage.

Soon, those people arrived in front of Jared. When Skylar saw the carriage, she frowned and asked, “Why is the sissy here too?”

“The sissy?” Jared was stunned, not understanding what Skylar was talking about.

“He’s Avery Lindt, the eldest heir of Flying Star Sect. Although he’s a man, he dresses up like a woman every day. How disgusting!” spat Skyler with a look of repulsion.

At that moment, the carriage stopped, and the curtains parted. A person clothed in white and with heavy make-up stepped out of it.

He looked extremely alluring, with every single one of his actions exuding a seductive charm.

Jared was dumbfounded when he saw the person alight from the carriage. Is this the eldest heir of Flying Star Sect whom Skyler mentioned? He’s a man?

“Mr. Chence, this guy is a little perverted. You must be careful...”

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of explosions sounded. Two elderly wearing white headscarves were chopping at the tree in front of them. The humongous tree, which was split in half, fell over to the sides like straws, revealing a wide road that cut through the forest.

A carriage appeared on the road that had just been opened, carried by four young women in white dresses. and an eight trigram was embedded at the top of the carriage.

Soon, those people arrived in front of Jared. When Skyler saw the carriage, she frowned and asked, “Why is the sissy here too?”

“The sissy?” Jared was stunned, not understanding what Skyler was talking about.

“He’s Avery Lindt, the eldest heir of Flying Star Sect. Although he’s a man, he dresses up like a woman every day. How disgusting!” spat Skyler with a look of repulsion.

At that moment, the carriage stopped, and the curtains parted. A person clothed in white and with heavy make-up stepped out of it.

He looked extremely alluring, with every single one of his actions exuding a seductive charm.

Jared was dumbfounded when he saw the person alight from the carriage. Is this the eldest heir of Flying Star Sect whom Skyler mentioned? He's a man?

"Mr. Chance, this guy is a little perverted. You must be careful..."

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of explosions sounded. Two elderly wearing white headscarves were chopping at the tree in front of them. The humongous tree, which was split in half, fell over to the sides like straws, revealing a wide road that cut through the forest.

When Skyler spotted Jared staring at Avery intently, she reminded softly, "He's really a man. Don't be fooled by his appearance!"

As soon as Avery walked out of the carriage and spotted Skyler, he smiled. "What a coincidence! I didn't expect to bump into you here, Skyler..."

Striding forward briskly, he greeted Skyler enthusiastically and was about to hold her hand.

However, she avoided him in disgust.

"Why are you here too, Mr. Lindt?" Skyler asked Avery.

"There's some abnormal activity in the Kazillion Mountains. Since the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace have possibly emerged, I obviously have to come and take a look. What if I manage to get my hands on some precious items?" explained Avery with a smile.

Only then did Jared finally believe that this seductive-looking person was actually a man, for his Adam's search Apple was quite obvious.

While he was speaking to Skyler, Avery cast his gaze onto Jared as well.

He was stunned for a moment before a lustful look flashed across his eyes.

When Jared sensed Avery's intense stare, he shivered, and goosebumps crept up his arm.

"Skyler, who's this handsome lad? He looks unfamiliar. He isn't from Luminous Sect, right?" Avery asked Skyler.

When Skyler spotted Jared staring at Avery intently, she reminded softly, "He's really a man. Don't be fooled by his appearance!"

As soon as Avery walked out of the carriage and spotted Skyler, he smiled. "What a coincidence! I didn't expect to bump into you here, Skyler..."

Striding forward briskly, he greeted Skyler enthusiastically and was about to hold her hand.

However, she avoided him in disgust.

"Why are you here too, Mr. Lindt?" Skyler asked Avery.

"There's some abnormal activity in the Kozillion Mountains. Since the ancient ruins of Norcissus Poloce have possibly emerged, I obviously have to come and take a look. What if I manage to get my hands on some precious items?" explained Avery with a smile.

Only then did Jared finally believe that this seductive-looking person was actually a man, for his Adam's search Apple was quite obvious.

While he was speaking to Skyler, Avery cast his gaze onto Jared as well.

He was stunned for a moment before a lustful look flashed across his eyes.

When Jared sensed Avery's intense stare, he shivered, and goosebumps crept up his arm.

"Skyler, who's this handsome lad? He looks unfamiliar. He isn't from Luminous Sect, right?" Avery asked Skyler.

When Skyler spotted Jared staring at Avery intently, she reminded softly, "He's really a man. Don't be fooled by his appearance!"

When Skylar spotted Jared staring at Avery intently, she reminded softly, "He's really a man. Don't be fooled by his appearance!"

As soon as Avery walked out of the carriage and spotted Skylar, he smiled. "What a coincidence! I didn't expect to bump into you here, Skylar..."

Striding forward briskly, he greeted Skylar enthusiastically and was about to hold her hand.

Howavar, sha avoidad him in disgust.

“Why ara you hara too, Mr. Lindt?” Skylar askad Avary.

“Thara’s soma abnormal activity in tha Kazillion Mountains. Sinca tha anciant ruins of Narcissus Palaca hava possibly amargad, I obviously hava to coma and taka a look. What if I managa to gat my hands on soma pracious itams?” explained Avary with a smila.

Only than did Jarad finally baliava that this saductiva-looking parson was actually a man, for his Adam’s Appla was quita obvious.

Whila ha was spaaking to Skylar, Avary cast his gaza onto Jarad as wall.

Ha was stunnad for a momant bafora a lustful look flashad across his ayas.

Whan Jarad sansad Avary’s intansa stara, ha shivarad, and goosabumps crapt up his arm.

“Skylar, who’s this handsoma lad? Ha looks unfamiliar. Ha isn’t from Luminous Sact, right?” Avary askad Skylar.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2204

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2204-“No, he’s Mr. Jared Chance, a martial artist who came from outside the hidden realm,” Skyler introduced.

“A martial artist from an external realm?” Avery seemed surprised. “I didn’t expect that a martial artist from the external realm would have the guts to come to a place like this. Hello, handsome. My name’s Avery Lindt. So glad to meet you!”

He extended his hand to Jared politely.

Initially, Jared did not wish to shake hands with this androgynous person. However, since Avery was so polite, Jared could not possibly act rudely in response. Hence, he had no choice but to shake hands with the man.

However, upon grabbing Jared’s hand, Avery started stroking it with his other hand.

A wave of disgust engulfed Jared, who had the urge to throw up. He quickly flung Avery's hand away.

"You're quite strong, Jared!" Avery chuckled before saying, "Skyler, since we've already bumped into each other, we can go together. We can take care of each other that way. There are a lot of wild beasts inside. Let's not get our dear Jared injured."

Skyler did not know how to reply to Avery's suggestion, so she merely looked at Jared, who was trying his best not to puke out of disgust.

When no one spoke, Avery took out a geomantic compass and said, "If you follow me, you can find the ancient ruins more quickly. On the other hand, if you just search for it randomly, you'll take a few days."

After hearing what Avery said, Jared nodded. "Okay."

"Great! Let's go," exclaimed Avery happily.

Just then, an elderly man in a white headscarf walked over and spoke to Avery. "Please get onto the carriage, Mr. Lindt."

"I'm not traveling in the carriage anymore. It's too boring. I want to walk for a while. Go ahead and open up a path for us," said Avery with a wave of his hand.

At his behest, the two elderly men walked in front to open up a path. They chopped the trees aside as if they were nothing but straws.

Throughout the journey, Avery kept trying to chat with Jared, his eyes gleaming with affection.

Jared could do nothing but steady his breath, willing himself to enter a meditative state like during his cultivation. Otherwise, he would have vomited long ago.

Skyler burst out laughing when she saw Jared forcing himself to remain calm.

However, with Avery's and the geomantic compass' guidance, Jared and the rest left the forest quickly. Soon, a majestic palace emerged in front of them.

Not only was the palace enormous, but it also kept extending backward like there was no limit. No one knew how far the palace extended. It was evident how powerful those from the Narcissus Palace were to be able to construct such magnificent architecture in the heart of the mountains.

“So these are the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace... How awe-inspiring!” exclaimed Skyler when she witnessed the scene in front of her.

“Narcissus Palace used to be an extremely powerful clan. Even if all the three sects and six clans in the hidden realm were to combine forces, they could never surpass Narcissus Palace. It’s actually not a big deal for them to have the capability to build this,” said Avery calmly.

Evidently, he had read up on the history of Narcissus Palace before coming.

“There’s an arcane array in front of Narcissus Palace. We’ll have to deactivate it before we enter,” Luol chimed in at that moment.

“An arcane array?” Avery scoffed coldly. “What kind of arcane array would be strong enough to stop me?”

After a brief pause, he said to Jared, “Follow me, Jared. I’ll guarantee your safety. No arcane array would be able to harm you.”

Jared did not comment on Avery’s revolting behavior. Instead, he walked toward the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace directly.

Jared also knew that there was an arcane array. All that needed to be done was to deactivate it.

As he and the rest approached the ruins of the palace, the space around them trembled, and they were transported to another dimension.

At that moment, Emiliano, who was still trapped in the arcane array, sensed the air around him fluctuate. Thereafter, a bunch of people appeared.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2205

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2205-“Jared?”

Jared immediately attracted Emiliano’s attention.

After all, Emiliano hated him to his guts. He instantly launched himself at Jared at the sight of the latter’s sudden appearance.

Jared also did not expect that he would meet Emiliano there.

However, when Emiliano charged toward him, Jared had already prepared himself. His aura surged, and golden light flickered on his fists.

Before Jared could make a move, he saw a white figure flash across his eyes and collide with Emiliano the next second.

Bang!

Emiliano staggered a few steps backward before he steadied himself.

“Mr. Fairchild, are you all right?” the few Stormwind Sect disciples hurriedly asked.

Emiliano shook his head before gazing at Avery, who had just slammed into him. “What are you doing, Avery?”

Avery ignored him and turned around to ask Jared concernedly, “Jared, are you all right?”

Seeing that, Jared remained silent and took a few steps back, distancing himself from Avery. This is too disgusting...

Taking in Avery’s demeanor, Emiliano instantly gained clarity. Still, he regarded Avery with a cold visage and warned, “Avery, I have a grudge against Jared. It would be best if you don’t meddle!”

“Emiliano, is that grudge so important that you must start a fight now? We’re all trapped in this arcane array, yet you’re still in the mood to fight? Let’s figure out a way to leave for now. It seems to me you guys have been stuck here for quite some time and still haven’t found a way out. Aren’t you ashamed of yourselves?” Avery uttered to Emiliano disdainfully.

“This is an ancient arcane array. Our sect’s mages are already working on breaking it. It won’t be long before we succeed,” Emiliano replied.

Hearing that, Avery sneered, “How dare a few pieces of trash from Stormwind Sect like you all claim yourselves to be mages. I could’ve removed this lousy arcane array with a casual wave of my hand!”

Emiliano didn’t retort after being mocked by Avery because he knew the eldest heir of Flying Star Sect was indeed a talented mage.

Not only had he attained the Fourth Level of Martial Arts God, but Avery's mastery of magecraft was also stronger than others.

Avery performed a hand seal, and a red light glimmered in his hand. Immediately afterward, he casually flicked his wrist.

The space fluctuated, and the arcane array before them instantly vanished.

Subsequently, the majestic hall reentered everyone's vision.

A hint of astonishment flashed across Emiliano's eyes as he witnessed that scene.

Meanwhile, the few Stormwind Sect mages lowered their heads in embarrassment and remained silent.

"Mr. Chance, don't be deceived by Avery's effeminate appearance. He's quite skilled in magecraft and is considered a genius in that field," Skyler whispered beside Jared's ear.

Jared curled his lips into a contemptuous smile without saying a word.

In his opinion, although Avery's magecraft was indeed not bad, it wasn't impressive, let alone prodigious. His magecraft can't even match up against Luol's. The reason he could break this arcane array so easily is that the few mages from Stormwind Sect had already done most of the work.

"All right, now that the arcane array is removed, we can enter now. However, all of you must follow closely behind me. I believe there are many more powerful arcane arrays inside. If anyone gets separated and is ambushed by any arcane array traps, don't blame me for leaving you behind!" After saying that, Avery turned to Jared. "Jared, tread on my heels, and no one would dare to cause you any harm!"

While everyone moved into the hall, Emiliano glanced at Jared coldly. "Hmph! I can't believe you even betrayed your body for survival. How disgusting!"

Jared did not say a word, let alone bother to respond to Emiliano's remark. He was merely curious to see who was inside the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace and how that place was related to the Spring of Regeneration. Now that the Spring of Regeneration has disappeared, I need to think of another way to treat Flaxseed's and Godrick's bodies.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2206

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2206-Everyone walked step by step up the stairs in the majestic hall and soon arrived inside the edifice.

No one knew how many years the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace had been there, but upon entering the hall, they noticed everything remained in perfect condition. All the decorations were neatly arranged, unlike a ruin that had been abandoned for many years.

The crowd was astounded by the cleanliness of the hall. Despite the quietness inside the place, everyone didn't let their guard down. Often, the quiet and seemingly safer places were the most dangerous.

"Stay behind me so as not to trigger any arcane array, all of you." Avery walked slowly ahead of the group while holding a geomantic compass.

The geomantic compass flickered with light, projecting a guiding arrow in the air that showed them where to go.

Just like that, everyone passed through the hall without facing any danger, prompting them to let out sighs of relief.

However, they were somewhat disappointed because although there wasn't any danger in the hall, they didn't find any treasures either.

That was their goal of venturing into that place, after all.

After passing through the hall, the party arrived at a long corridor. The corridor was only three to four meters wide, with rows of rooms on both sides.

The doors to the rooms were tightly shut. Even though many people were curious and wanted to know what was inside the rooms, none dared to open the doors recklessly.

Not long after everyone stepped into the corridor, the doors to the rooms on their left and right abruptly opened by themselves.

The sound of the doors opening startled everyone, rendering them on high alert as if they were about to face a great enemy.

“Mr. Chance, I’m afraid a death array has been set up here,” Luol uttered in an undertone beside Jared’s ear.

“Ms. Loulland, pay close attention to what I do later on. If the situation turns south, retreat at once with me,” Jared reminded Skyler.

He had also sensed something malicious brewing behind the deceptive tranquil atmosphere of that place.

Soon, gusts of cold winds blew out continuously from the rooms, making the already tense crowd even more nervous.

Avery stopped in his tracks and furrowed his brows slightly. “Be careful, everyone. There might be a deadly arcane array here, so don’t run around or touch anything.”

Emiliano looked at his few mages, who nodded in agreement. “Mr. Fairchild, practice caution. We also think that this place is very dangerous.”

Everyone stared warily at the rooms on both sides of the corridor. Avery tapped the geomantic compass with his finger gently, causing it to emit a dazzling and more intense red light. The geomantic compass even moved and hovered above everyone’s heads.

“Let’s check the rooms on both sides first and not move forward for now,” Avery uttered loudly.

Right after he finished his sentence, the two elders from Flying Star Sect rapidly rushed into the nearest room.

Everyone stayed still and watched quietly. They wanted to see if the two elders would encounter any danger.

Right after the two elders dashed into the room, pin-drop silence ensued. The crowd didn’t dare make a sound as time ticked by.

Five minutes later, the two elders ran out, holding some reddish-brown stones in their hands.

“Mr. Fairchild, we found some blood-stained stones. These are precious items!” the two elders shouted excitedly.

Those reddish-brown stones exuded a large amount of negative energy. Hence, the others reckoned the cold wind earlier must have originated from the stones.

“Hurry up and check the other rooms!” After Avery said that, he hastened into one of the rooms too.

“Don’t just stand there and do nothing.” Emiliano immediately instructed his subordinates to look for blood-stained stones inside the rooms as well.

The cold wind howled with greater intensity as everyone dashed into the rooms on both sides of the corridor. The chilly sensation caused Jared to shudder slightly.

“Fall back!” He frowned and dragged Skyler with him to retreat.

Luol followed closely behind him, making their way out.

He sensed the imminent danger almost at the same time as Jared.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2207

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2207-“Mr. Chance, what’s wrong? Those blood-stained stones are magical items,” Skyler asked Jared in confusion.

“Those are not magical items. They’re killing weapons. I can sense the murderous intent inside,” Jared said to her after running out of the corridor.

Luol nodded in agreement. “I can feel it too. There must be danger inside those rooms.”

Just then, screams came from the rooms on both sides of the corridor.

People kept running out of the rooms, and they were followed by terrifying black shadows.

The blood-stained stones emitted a chilling air that turned into highly aggressive black shadows.

The sudden change made everyone panic.

One of the black shadows pierced through a person's body, killing him instantly, even before the person could let out a scream.

Large numbers of black shadows emerged from the rooms, catching people from Stormwind Sect and Flying Star Sect off guard and leaving them injured.

"Oh no, it's a death array! Run!"

Only then did Avery realize that it was a death array, and the blood-stained stones weren't magical items, either.

Everyone frantically rushed toward the way they came, terrified by what they saw.

Emiliano's eyes narrowed, and his aura skyrocketed.

With a roar, he punched out his fists and shattered one of the black shadows, but more shadows rushed out from the rooms on both sides.

Emiliano had to retreat and fight back at the same time. He knew that these unknown entities would only deplete his energy if he continued fighting them.

People from Stormwind Sect protected him, but the black shadows seemed to be fearless and kept attacking.

"This is too scary..." Skyler was horrified by the scene before her.

"We have to leave quickly. We can't stay here for long..."

Although Jared's group managed to escape from the corridor, it was obvious that they couldn't stay for long in the motionless hall.

Just as Jared was about to take Skyler and leave the ancient ruins, a gust of cold wind blew from the entrance, and the heavy doors slammed shut. A wave of negative energy filled the air, shrouding the entire hall.

"Oh no, we can't get out now," Luol said with furrowed brows.

Black shadows started to appear amidst the wave of negative energy, surrounding Jared and the others.

"It seems like we have no choice but to fight them."

Jared pulled out his Dragonslayer Sword, and the sword's spiritual fire burned brightly.

The black shadows were their true forms. Hence, slashing at them with normal swords wouldn't hurt them. However, the spiritual fire was effective against negative energy.

Meanwhile, Luol activated his hand seals, and a circle of flames was conjured around him.

Skyler frowned. "These black shadows are too abnormal. We can't kill them..."

She struck out a punch and shattered one of the shadows, but soon, they regrouped and attacked her again.

With spiritual fire, Jared could defeat the black shadows. However, more and more black shadows kept emerging.

Jared felt powerless against the surging wave of negative energy in the hall.

Even though he could also refine the negative energy, there was too much of it in the hall, and it would take centuries for him to absorb it all.

Emiliano and Avery had already rushed out, but when they saw the countless black shadows and felt the waves of negative energy in the hall, they, too, were stunned.

"F*ck, if only I had brought more people with me," Avery cursed.

He couldn't care about keeping up with his image anymore, and he continued to use the geomantic compass in his hand to fight the black shadows.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2208

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2208-The geomantic compass flashed with a bright light, and any shadow it shone upon was instantly crushed.

Meanwhile, the two old men that Avery had brought with him were back-to-back, their figures like the wind as they rapidly spun, creating a huge storm that quickly dispersed the black shadows.

However, the hall was already sealed, and the dispersed negative energy would only gather and regroup in the corners of the hall before launching another attack.

As for Emiliano, his body expanded as if he had undergone a mutation. The wounds on his body were dripping with green blood, but they quickly healed in no time.

Every punch he threw formed a hurricane that directly shattered the black shadows.

However, no matter how many black shadows they dispersed, the negative energy would eventually condense again and become a new wave of emerging black shadows.

Although they could still keep the situation under control for the time being, as time passed, they would eventually be worn down and killed.

“Mr. Chance, what do we do?”

Skyler’s forehead was already covered in sweat, and a strand of hair was sticking to it.

Luol’s expression was grim. It was obvious that his energy had been significantly depleted, and he was finding it difficult to keep it up.

Jared was also anxious at the moment as he constantly observed the situation. Although it was a death array, there would always be a way to crack it.

However, with countless black shadows bombarding him with attacks, Jared couldn’t calm down and think of a way to break the arcane array.

Jared wanted Skyler and Luol to help him block the shadows so that he could calm down and think. However, the two of them couldn’t possibly hold back the countless shadows.

At this point, Jared could only seek the help of Avery and Emiliano. They needed to work together to conjure a quiet space for Jared.

Even though Jared detested talking to Avery, he had no other choice now.

Hence, Jared approached Emiliano and Avery.

"This is a death array, and we have to break it. Otherwise, we'll die of exhaustion in here."

"You don't say? We already know we have to break the arcane array. But how do we do it?" Emiliano retorted as he threw a punch to shatter a shadow.

"So, Jared, do you have a way to break the death array?" Avery asked, casting an affectionate look at Jared.

"To break the death array, we must find its core. But now I'm restrained and can't find it! So, we have to work together. You guys help me block the shadows and create a quiet space. Then, I will be able to search for the death array's core in peace!" Jared suggested to Avery and Emiliano.

"Sure, no problem!" Avery agreed without hesitation.

However, Emiliano shook his head. "Do you take us for fools, Jared Chance? You merely want us to block the shadows for you so that you can take it easy. In the end, we'll all be worn down, and the treasures inside these ancient ruins will all be yours. I'm not that gullible. You're on your own."

Emiliano hated Jared to his bones. There was no way he would block the shadows for the latter.

However, since Avery had agreed to help out, Jared reckoned that he could hold off the shadows for a while.

Avery led several of his subordinates, along with Luol and Skyler, to surround Jared in a circle, creating a safe and quiet space for him.

Jared closed his eyes, and his spiritual sense instantly spread out. His surging spiritual sense enveloped the entire hall, and his hands lightly touched something in midair as if something was in front of him.

Emiliano let out a cold snort as he watched Jared. What a pretentious snob. This is a death array of Narcissus Palace. How could it be easily broken?

Jared continued keeping his eyes shut as his body began to move slowly. As he moved, the people around him also began to move, blocking the black shadows that were charging toward him.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2209

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2209-Everyone showcased their talents simultaneously, no one daring to slack off as they were in a life-or-death situation.

Avery's geomantic compass floated above everyone's head, shining on the group, deflecting the invasion of the negative energy.

As Jared slowly moved, he returned to the tunnel with the most negative energy and dark shadows they had just passed.

Black shadows charged toward the group from both sides continuously, increasing the pressure Skyler and the rest felt.

"Damn, that fool. We went through so much to escape from this place, and now he is heading toward the tunnel again!" Emiliano scolded when he saw Jared approaching the underpass.

Just as the group was about to be defeated by the black shadows, Jared opened his eyes, and two beams shot out from them. With the lights reaching the deepest part of the tunnel, the rest of the group spotted a vivid red statue there. The group noticed that the life-like statue's face was scrunched up ferociously, with a sword stuck in its body. They wondered who its creator was.

Jared shouted, "The core is where the statue is, and we must destroy it!"

Luol agreed, "That's what we shall do, then!" With that, he jumped into the air, sending multiple flames out of his palms. However, when he neared the statue, a tremendous force of negative energy tried to engulf him.

Jared immediately stepped forward and tugged Luol back.

No! One does not simply go near the core!

"Why don't you guys form a barricade here while I work this out..." Jared said as the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand began to glow while the roar of a dragon reverberated through the atmosphere.

Soon, a golden dragon appeared and charged toward the negative energy, disappearing from the public's eyes. Jared followed suit, running into the negative energy after the golden dragon.

Meanwhile, the others tried their best to hold the black shadows back. No one knew whether Jared would return safely after vanishing into the overpowering negative energy. Still, they knew they could only wait for him to destroy the core so that the current situation could be resolved.

Jared felt the immense pressure of the negative energy the moment he stepped into it. Then, he saw a huge palm flying toward him. Even so, he didn't pay any attention to it. Instead, he maximized the Power of Dragons using his Dragonslayer Sword.

A bright flash of light was quickly unleashed from the Dragonslayer Sword and moved toward the statue.

Boom!

The force Jared released hit on the statue forcefully, causing an explosion. Jared was overjoyed to see the cracks formed on the statue even though his attack didn't break it into pieces.

"Let's have another go!" Jared knew another attack would shatter the statue and break the core for good. However, just as he was about to make another move, the massive palm print landed on him.

Jared felt his body sink into the ground as though the Kazillion Mountains had pinned him down.

He fell rapidly and hit the ground heavily as blood dripped from the corner of his mouth.

He found himself unable to move when he wanted to because the pressure was huge.

Listening to the intense fighting sounds outside, Jared noticed that Skyler and the rest were on the verge of being defeated.

He let out a scream, widening his eyes and gritting his teeth to get up. With his back hunched, he stood weakly using the Dragonslayer Sword as support.

However, Jared was unable to swing another shot at the statue because of his awkward stance. He stared at the statue, then charged toward it, his body gleaming.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2210

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2210-He wanted to use his body as a weapon to knock into the statue forcefully, breaking it into pieces.

Boom!

He slammed his body against the statue.

Thud!

The statue collapsed to the floor and shattered into pieces. The dark, negative energy-filled main hall and tunnel became brightly lit again. The negative energy vanished instantly, along with the black shadows.

Skyler and the rest quickly rushed over to check on Jared, only to see him lying on the ground while panting heavily. Meanwhile, shock filled Emiliano's face when he saw the dissipating negative energy.

"Did he really break the core?" Emiliano furrowed his brows as he led his men into the tunnel.

"Are you all right, Mr. Chance?" Skyler asked as she helped Jared up from the ground.

Jared bobbed his head. "Yeah."

"What's that?" Luol noticed a bright object among the broken fragments of the statue.

Jared looked over. He threw the shattered rocks away and saw that a dried corpse was hidden in the statue. It was a female corpse dressed in ancient clothing. She had a ferocious expression that resembled the statue. It was evident that this corpse had been there for thousands of years.

As for the sparkle that caught Luol's attention, it came from the three green gemstones that were embedded into the corpse's chest. The gemstones were filled with a considerable amount of the world's energy, so after Jared picked it up, he felt an instant relief as the spiritual energy he had used up earlier got replenished instantly.

He wanted to use his body as a weapon to knock into the statue forcefully, breaking it into pieces.

Boom!

He slammed his body against the statue.

Thud!

The statue collapsed to the floor and shattered into pieces. The dark, negative energy-filled main hall and tunnel became brightly lit again. The negative energy vanished instantly, along with the black shadows.

Skyler and the rest quickly rushed over to check on Jored, only to see him lying on the ground while panting heavily. Meanwhile, shock filled Emiliano's face when he saw the dissipating negative energy.

"Did he really break the core?" Emiliano furrowed his brows as he led his men into the tunnel.

"Are you all right, Mr. Chance?" Skyler asked as she helped Jored up from the ground.

Jored bobbed his head. "Yeah."

"What's that?" Luol noticed a bright object among the broken fragments of the statue.

Jored looked over. He threw the shattered rocks away and saw that a dried corpse was hidden in the statue. It was a female corpse dressed in ancient clothing. She had a ferocious expression that resembled the statue. It was evident that this corpse had been there for thousands of years.

As for the spark that caught Luol's attention, it came from the three green gemstones that were embedded into the corpse's chest. The gemstones were filled with a considerable amount of the world's energy, so after Jored picked it up, he felt an instant relief as the spiritual energy he had used up earlier got replenished instantly.

The others had the same sensation. The earlier battle had left them exhausted. Yet now, they all felt relaxed and calm.

Jared grabbed the gemstone and focused his thoughts on it. Seconds later, a message appeared on the Wordless Tome in his mind.

Black Crystal is an ancient crystal that is found in the Ethereal Realm.

Surprise gripped Jared after he read the information about the gemstone before him.

Oh! So they are from the Ethereal Realm! But why are these crystals here, then? Is Narcissus Palace related to the Ethereal Realm in any way?

Jared picked out the other two crystals left on the corpse before giving the body a detailed observation. Though the corpse had existed for a long time, one could still tell the body belonged to a gorgeous woman in her thirties. However, judging by the terrified expression on her face, it seemed that she was stuffed into the statue while she was still alive and breathing.

Jared could not wrap his head around it.

Why would a crystal found only in the Ethereal Realm be on this woman's body? Could it be... that she's from the Ethereal Realm? If so, why did she die in Narcissus Palace and become a core? What caused the downfall of Narcissus Palace? Their ancient ruins are all preserved perfectly, with no sign indicating a battle or fight, so how did a sect as big as Narcissus Palace disappear from the world?

All kinds of questions plagued Jared's mind, but he knew now wasn't the right time to dwell on these issues. He searched the area for stones and built a tomb before burying the corpse in it.

Then, he walked over to Avery and gave him one of the Black Crystals. "Take one. This will aid you while you are cultivating."

The moment Avery touched the stone, he could sense the world's energy within the Black Crystal as he became energetic again. The man was taken by surprise, for even though the hidden realm was filled with resources and gemstones, there was none as magical as the Black Crystal.

"Here's one for you, Ms. Loulland..." Jared passed another one to Skyler, allowing her strength to recover quickly.

Thoughts flashed across his mind.

After all, everyone contributed to our mission to destroy the core, so I can't just take all the Black Crystals for myself. As for Luol, he is part of Scorching Heaven Sect. I can't say whether he will turn over a new leaf. Hence, I won't be giving him the Black Crystal.

Luol knew where he stood, so he was not frustrated that Jared had skipped him when giving out the Black Crystals.

Emiliano, on the other hand, stared at the dark green Black Crystals greedily. He gave his men a look before strolling over to Jared.