

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2251

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2251- Tamed

Jared was certain that the elderly man's speed was not the cause of his sudden appearance. It was clear that he possessed the ability to teleport, instantly materializing in front of Jared within a fraction of a second. He believed the elderly man had demonstrated the teleportation magecraft and was amazed by his impeccable execution. Anxiousness crept in, causing Jared to feel increasingly unsettled.

The elderly man glanced at Jared before raising his hand. All of a sudden, Jared lost control of his body and began floating in mid-air. He was too powerless to retaliate!

At that moment, Jared remained perplexed about the extent of the elderly man's power.

"What a gorgeous body. I want to taste how delicious your flesh is." The elderly man smirked.

Jared struggled to breathe as the air grew suffocating. He struggled to break from the invisible restraints!

Yet, while he was struggling, the elderly man froze for a moment, and the smirk on his face vanished. He stared straight at the Dragon Ring in Jared's hand.

Jared glanced at the elderly man's expression before turning his attention to the Dragon Ring. He was taken aback by the elderly man's reaction. Could he be a member of Dragon Sect?

Just as Jared pondered the question, the restraints on his body suddenly released, and he landed safely on the ground.

The elderly man prostrated before him in fear. "My Lord, I am your humble servant, Yashur Songscloud. I'm so sorry for I have no idea you're here, My Lord. I'm so sorry!"

The elderly man continued to bow before Jared, his expression filled with terror and his body trembling uncontrollably.

Jared looked at the elderly man and did not know how to react. Why is he trembling in fear? Just because I'm the overlord of Dragon Sect and possess Dragon Ring? With his capabilities, he could have easily taken me down. Why is he terrified of me?

"Do you belong to one of Dragon Sect's regiments?" Jared tested the waters by asking the question.

Yashur bobbed his head in response. "That's right. I've been waiting here for you for more than two decades, My Lord."

"Come. Get up." Jared told Yashur to stand. He then asked him another question, "Are you alone on this island? And are you the only member of the regiment?"

Jared knew Dragon Sect consisted of thirteen regiments, each with a group of men. However, he noticed Yashur was the sole member of his regiment.

"I'm the only person here on the island, My Lord, but within my regiment, I have a team under my command." After speaking, Yashur made a peculiar sound with his mouth.

Jared recognized the sound immediately. He had heard it before when he was in the sea, and it was the same sound that dispersed the demon beasts that were approaching him.

As the sound escaped Yashur's mouth, the sea surface churned with monstrous waves!

The demon beast, one after another, emerged from the sea. Some even leaped out from beneath the waves.

Jared's jaw dropped when he saw the demon beasts. He asked, "Are they your subordinates?"

"That's right. But they're your subordinates now, My Lord. I've been taming these demon beasts over the last twenty years," Yashur explained.

Jared could not help but feel awkward. The demon beasts that he had been trying to kill were all his subordinates. So all this while I've been fighting against creatures in my service!

Sensing the embarrassment on Jared's face, Yashur said, "All the demon beasts belong to you, My Lord. If you need them for cultivation, I can have them expel their beast cores..."

"That's not necessary..." Jared waved his hand, dismissing his idea. Even if all these beast cores were combined, they wouldn't significantly enhance my cultivation anyway.

Nonetheless, Jared could not help but imagine the aweinspiring spectacle that would unfold if he were to sail across the sea accompanied by these Martial Arts God level demon beasts.

"My Lord, I'll teach you how to control these demon beasts now." Yashur proceeded to share his knowledge with Jared.

After acquiring the technique, Jared wasted no time in testing his command. To his delight, he discovered that the demon beasts obediently followed his orders, and this filled him with excitement.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2252

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2252-"What cultivation level are you in now, Yashur? Are you confident in dealing with those families in the hidden realm?" Jared wanted to gauge Yashur's capabilities. After all, the elderly man had rendered him powerless during their earlier encounter.

Jared just wanted to exterminate the people from the hidden realm since they were going after him.

"I'm now at an Eighth Level Martial Arts Sovereign, My Lord. As long as those families from the hidden realm don't team up with each other, eliminating them will be a walk in the park. And if they dare cross the sea and come over, I can easily take them down even if they unite," Yashur said to Jared.

Jared was struck dumb when he heard that. So he's an Eighth Level Martial Arts Sovereign. No wonder I felt powerless before him.

As a Martial Arts God, Jared recognized the disparity in power between himself and Yashur. While he might be able to confront someone who had recently attained the Martial Arts Sovereign level, he knew he was no match for an experienced warrior at that level. Thank God Yashur is my subordinate. Otherwise, I would have been dead by now!

“If that’s the case, if you eventually become a spiritual energy’ cultivator, does it mean you can cultivate using the spiritual energy and the resources residing within your elixir field?” Jared inquired.

Yashur shook his head. “My Lord, you may not be aware, but being a spiritual energy cultivator doesn’t solely depend on the production of spiritual energy in our body. Some cultivators would focus on Body Cultivation, while some on Energy Cultivation. Those with extraordinary talents can even pursue both paths simultaneously! The aura emitted by those who focus on Body Cultivation is known as martial energy’, which flows through their muscles and joints. In simple terms, it represents the overall strength. On the other hand, in Energy Cultivation, we activate the elixir field and store spiritual energy’ within it. When necessary, we can gather and unleash that stored spiritual energy. To provide a clearer analogy’, think of Energy’ Cultivation and Body Cultivation as different martial arts styles, with spiritual energy’ cultivators and martial artists pursuing their respective paths. While their methods may differ, their ultimate aspiration is to attain immortality. In other words, I can still advance to the next level or become immortal without relying on the spiritual energy’ in our surroundings. I’m not sure how much you can understand what I’m trying to explain here, My’ Lord.”

Upon listening to Yashur’s explanation, Jared felt he could understand the logic to a certain extent but could not fully grasp the idea.

Yashur flashed a faint grin after seeing the look on Jared’s face. “Let me try explaining it again, My Lord. Even in a scenario where the earth is devoid of spiritual energy’ or has exhausted its resources, I possess the ability to continue my cultivation and strive towards immortality.”

Realization instantly dawned on Jared when he heard that. This means martial artists do not need to alter their cultivation path to achieve Breakthrough. They can still cultivate based on the spiritual energy present in the world. If an individual is in a place abundant with spiritual energy, the person can cultivate using the spiritual energy from the surroundings. However, considering the current scarcity of spiritual energy in today’s world, it seems Yashur’s cultivation method would be more suitable.

Meanwhile, Flaxseed and the others were approaching. Earlier, they had been blown to the other side of the island by that terrifying force.

They were so worried about Jared that they rushed over.

“Stop calling me My Lord anymore. My’ name is Jared Chance. You can call me Mr. Chance,” Jared immediately said to Yashur when he saw Flaxseed and the others running in his direction.

Jared did not want the others to know about Dragon Sect because he had yet to figure out what kind of organization it was.

Flaxseed and the others hurriedly approached, expecting Jared and Yashur to be locked in a fierce battle. To their astonishment, they found the two standing together, engaged in a seemingly calm conversation.

“Hey, come over here, guys. This is Yashur Songscloud. We’ve had a little tussle earlier and got to know each other a bit,” Jared immediately explained to Flaxseed and the others to avoid any misunderstanding.

“I sincerely’ apologize for any offense caused earlier. Please forgive me,” Yashur apologized to Flaxseed and the others right away’.

The fact that a highly skilled expert like Yashur humbly sought their forgiveness left them bewildered for a moment.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2253

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2253-“We’re sorry for the intrusion, Mr. Songscloud!” Flaxseed and the rest quickly nodded and bowed.

“There’s nothing worth offering on this deserted island. But these demon beasts are tasty when roasted.” Yashur proceeded to prepare the meat for Jared and the others to eat.

Confused, Flaxseed walked over to Jared and asked, “What’s going on, Jared?”

Jared pretended to be clueless and responded, “What do you mean?”

“Why is he suddenly so nice to us?” Flaxseed queried.

“I don’t know. Maybe he was just impressed with my skills,” Jared teased.

Flaxseed rolled his eyes at Jared, knowing that it wasn’t the real reason.

But if Jared didn’t want to talk about it, he wasn’t going to push for an answer.

Soon enough, the meal was ready, and Jared and his companions began to eat.

Meanwhile, Tucker and his followers from Stormwind Sect had arrived at the mountain range near the sea.

Joining them was Sonyx Raven, the deadliest assassin from Flying Star Sect. He's ranked higher than the elders in his own sect. It was clear that Wrcy had sent Sonyx to kill Jared.

Tucker gazed out at the vast ocean before him, his eyes narrowing slightly.

"Tucker, I know that Jared killed Emiliano Fairchild. Did Hugh send you to avenge his death? What if you find that you're no match for him and end up getting killed instead?" Sonyx sneered.

Tucker merely snorted and remained silent because he was aware that Sonyx was the secret weapon assassin of Flying Star Sect. Nobody knew his true strength, but it was certainly not inferior to his own.

Seeing Tucker's lack of response, Sonyx decided not to provoke him further. He turned to the sea and continued, "That man must have taken the sea route. However, this area is filled with demon beasts, and there's an old freak blocking the way. They can't escape for sure."

Sonyx turned to his disciples and instructed, "Cut some trees and make rafts. We'll catch up with them."

Soon, Flying Star Sect got into action, planning to pursue through the waterway.

Meanwhile, Tucker continued to stare out at the sea with a grave expression. He knew the peril of the sea, but the memory of Emiliano's tragic death haunted him.

Finally, he made up his mind to take action. "Cut down the trees and make rafts," he ordered the disciples of Stormwind Sect.

Tucker was determined to set sail and hunt for Jared to avenge his son.

As the disciples of the two sects embarked on their sea pursuit, a group from Scorching Heaven Sect arrived at the scene. From a distance, Yona gazed at Tucker and Sonyx, and a smirk spread across his face.

“Chasing after him on the sea? What fools. Even if they manage to avoid the demon beasts, they’ll never be able to defeat Jared. Elgado, a top-level Martial Arts God, couldn’t even match his strength. How could these two possibly stand a chance against him?” Yona knew Jared’s true power well, as Elgado had personally spoken about it to him.

However, Flying Star Sect and Stormwind Sect were still clueless about Jared’s powers. They thought he was only at the beginner phase of Martial Arts God.

“Lord Green, what should we do? Should we also go after them?” a disciple from Scorching Heaven Sect asked.

“Anyone who dares set foot in this sea is courting death. Let’s turn back. Jared won’t survive because no one can escape from this place.”

Yona gestured for his men to depart, convinced that Jared’s demise was inevitable.

Yona did not dare to claim that he could survive in this sea area with his current cultivation. Hence, if he couldn’t make it, Jared had no chance either.

One of the disciples inquired with curiosity, “Lord Green, is it true that there are demon beasts in the sea? Are they actually so dangerous that everyone from the hidden realm fears them?”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2254

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2254-Yona’s eyes revealed a tinge of fear as he spoke. “That old monster is the most powerful being I’ve ever encountered.

was probably the one person who ever escaped successfully, and that was over a decade ago...”

The man was once targeted by all the sects in the hidden realm, and the entire Scorching Heaven Sect was on the verge of eradication. With no place else to go, he set his sights on the sea, hoping to find a foothold there.

He took hundreds of followers and set sail, planning to find a desolated island to establish their own base.

However, they encountered demon beasts on the sea, barely managing to escape alive. They eventually stumbled upon a small island, only to be met by a strange old man who attacked them with lethal force.

His moves were fierce and deadly, and Yona's men fell one by one until there were none left. Yona, however, took advantage of the chaos and jumped into the sea, saving his own life.

Over a decade had passed, but Yona still vividly remembered the encounter. Hence, he was afraid to venture into the sea.

Meanwhile, Tucker and Sonyx were sailing on the sea. When they saw the sea area littered with demon beast corpses and the water stained red, they knew a fierce battle had just occurred.

"Jared must be nearby. These demon beasts were killed not long ago. Quick, let's pursue him!" Tucker ordered his men to speed up the ship.

Sonyx followed suit, commanding his men to increase their speed forward.

Roar!

Suddenly, a loud roar echoed throughout the sea, like thunder shaking the entire ocean!

Upon hearing this, Tucker and Sonyx were momentarily stunned. They knew they had encountered a demon beast.

Despite the situation, fear was the last thing on their minds. In fact, they were ecstatic, for the demon beast's inner core held immense value.

At the same time, Jared and his companions were relishing the roasted meat and heard the thunderous roar.

Yashur's face contorted into a grim expression, and his eyes shone with a fierce glint. "Who dares to enter this area and court death?"

Jared recognized the roar as a warning signal from the demon beasts.

meant that someone had trespassed. He also surmised that the intruders were likely after him. However, he wasn't sure which sect they belonged to.

"These people must be here to hunt me down," Jared remarked coolly.

Yashur's murderous intent grew stronger when he heard that. "They dare to hurl Mr. Chance? I shall go and kill them now," he declared.

As he rose to his feet, Yashur was halted in his tracks by Jared.

"Hold on, Yashur. Let me see who dares to pursue me. If I am defeated, then you may intervene," Jared proposed.

He decided to take on his pursuers alone, and should he be overpowered, he would have Yashur's help to defeat them.

Now that he had Yashur's support, Jared no longer feared any of the sects from the hidden realm.

Yashur nodded in agreement. "All right. Please send me a signal if you are in danger, Mr. Chance."

After reaching an agreement, Jared headed toward the coast to summon the demonic beasts using the method Yashur taught him.

Mounting a tiger whale beast, he quickly made his way to the source of the deafening roar.

Meanwhile, Tucker and Sonyx were engaged in a dispute over the spoils of a slain demonic beast.

"Sonyx, I was the one who killed this beast. Therefore, the beast core should belong to me," argued Tucker.

"The beast would have escaped if I didn't injure it. You attacked me when I wasn't paying attention," Sonyx retorted solemnly.

As the two groups argued over the possession of the beast core, tensions mounted, and it seemed like a fight was about to break out.

Suddenly, a massive wave appeared in the distance, rapidly approaching the shore.

As Tucker and Sonyx turned their attention toward the disturbance, they saw numerous massive demon beasts swimming under the water. Their colossal frames caused the waves to surge and crash toward the shore.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2255

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2255-The looks on their faces were frozen when they saw all those demon beasts.

What shocked them the most was the figure that was standing atop a tiger whale beast.

As they got closer, Tucker recognized that figure as none other than Jared himself.

“It’s Jared Chance! I can’t believe he’s still here!” he exclaimed with bloodshot eyes.

The sight of Jared reminded him of his son’s death and got his blood boiling with rage.

Sonyx, however, frowned as he couldn’t understand what was going on. Not only is Jared with the demon beasts, but he also appears to be in command of them! Not a single one of those demon beasts is attacking him!

As Jared made his way toward Tucker and Sonyx, he saw the carcass of the demon beast that made the distress call floating on the surface of the water.

Because these demon beasts had become Jared’s subordinates and were a part of Dragon Sect. Jared got mad when he realized they had killed the poor creature.

As Jared only knew Tucker, he turned toward Sonyx and asked, “Who are you? Were you guys the ones who killed this demon beast?”

Sonyx couldn’t help but shudder w’hen he sensed Jared’s intense aura despite his young age.

"I am Sonyx Raven of Flying Star Sect. Are you Jared Chance, the guy who killed Mr. Lindt?" Sonyx responded.

"You mean that femboy? I'm not the one who killed him, but it's only a matter of time before I did anyway," Jared replied nonchalantly.

Sonyx got mad when he heard Jared's reply. His eyes narrowed, and a surge of murderous intent came flowing out of his body.

"You insolent b*stard! I'll kill you and avenge Mr. Lindt!" Sonyx yelled furiously as his aura created huge ripples across the ocean surface.

"Hmph! You guys had the audacity to kill my demon beast, so I would have come after your lives anyway!" Jared retorted defiantly as he unleashed his aura and prepared for battle.

"These demon beasts are from the ocean, so how could you claim them as your own? Just how shameless can you get? Well, I suppose we should be thanking you for delivering so many of them to us! The beast cores that I will get from them should be of huge help to my cultivation!" Tucker said coldly.

"Feel free to try and take their beast cores if you can."

Jared then made a strange noise with his mouth. Soon, dozens of demon beasts got all riled up on the spot as though they had received a command from him.

Deafening roars echoed throughout the area as the demon beasts charged at Stormwind Sect and Flying Star Sect's men.

Those were Martial Arts God cultivation level demon beasts that had been living in the ocean, so they had the advantage of being in their natural habitat.

The two groups of people began to panic when faced with the demon beasts' attack. It wasn't long before their screams of anguish filled the sky, and the water was stained red with their blood.

Tucker's eyes were filled with a mix of confusion and murderous intent as he watched Stormwind Sect's disciples die one after another.

Why are these demon beasts obeying Jared's commands? No, now isn't the time to be worrying about that!

“Die, Jared!” Tucker yelled at the top of his lungs as he whipped out a long sword and slashed at Jared.

As though he had thought of something, Sonyx chose to attack a demon beast aggressively instead of Jared. However, he made sure to keep Jared and Tucker within his sight at all times.

Jared has already exceeded my expectations by being able to control dozens of demon beasts. I need to adjust my strategy according to the situation! If things go bad, I’ll have my men retreat with me. We’re at a huge disadvantage if we fight on the ocean, but these demon beasts are at their strongest.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2256

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2256-Despite Tucker’s high cultivation level, Jared felt no fear whatsoever when dealing with his attacks.

Having defeated Elgado, a Top Level Ninth Level Martial Arts God from Scorching Heaven Sect, Jared was confident that he could easily defeat Tucker, who had just become a Ninth Level Martial Arts God.

With a slight twist of his body, Jared was able to dodge Tucker’s incoming blade.

Tucker froze in shock as he didn’t expect Jared to dodge his attack so effortlessly.

“Ten Thousand Swords Slash!” Tucker yelled.

Countless energy blades came out of the sword in his hand and headed straight for Jared.

Jared adjusted his aura and snapped his fingers, firing bursts of martial energy-’ at the energy blades.

Boom!

A deafening explosion rang out and shook the space around it, forming huge waves on the ocean surface.

Jared didn’t even need Dragonslayer Sword to fight Tucker. Instead, he was able to deal with Tucker using only his bare fists.

The look on Tucker's face grew solemn as he narrowed his eyes and glared at Jared.

Sonyx, who had been fighting a demon beast, was just as shocked when he saw Jared fight Tucker with his bare hands.

"You dare come after me for revenge when you're that weak?" Jared asked with a sneer and gently grabbed at the ocean surface with his right hand.

A pillar of water rose and turned into a spear within Jared's hand. Tucker could even see a stream of air surging around the tip of the spear.

As Jared hurled the spear at Tucker, the momentum generated so much force that it created a gigantic whirlpool around them.

Tucker's face clouded over when he saw that. He did not expect a Third Level Martial Arts God like Jared to have such a powerful aura.

With his teeth tightly clenched, Tucker slashed at the incoming spear and shattered it on the spot.

Huh... As terrifying as Jared's aura may be, his attacks aren't as powerful as they seem!

Right as Tucker was about to mouth off gleefully, however, the shattered spear rebuilt itself and continued flying toward him.

Realizing that he would not have time to dodge the incoming attack, Tucker could only block it with his sword.

Boom!

The impact sent Tucker flying in an instant and left a dent in his sword.

Ripples formed on the ocean surface as Tucker flew a few hundred meters backward before coming to a halt.

His aura depleted rapidly as he coughed up a mouthful of blood.

The martial artists of Stormwind Sect began to panic when they saw that. If Tucker is no match for Jared, then there's no way we'd stand a chance against him!

Sonyx's eyes went wide with shock and disbelief.

What ? Jared wounded Tucker severely with just one blow? That huge difference in power is definitely not something I can handle! There 's no way Jared is only a Third Level Martial Arts God! He has got to be at least a Martial Arts Sovereign!

Their assumption of Jared being a Third Level Martial Arts God was what led to him wiping the floor with them.

Sonyx felt glad that he had decided to observe the situation before attacking Jared. Otherwise, a mere Top Level Ninth Level Martial .Arts God like himself would never stand a chance against Jared.

"Let's go!"

Sonyx shouted as he ordered his men to retreat.

The guys from Stormwind Sect wanted to leave too, but they were locked in combat with the demon beasts.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2257

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2257-Slaughter

"Don't even think about leaving now that you're here!" Jared yelled as a strong murderous intent formed in his eyes.

In the next thing they knew, a huge wave that was dozens of meters tall appeared on the ocean surface. A second later, the gigantic wave came down on the fleeing members of Flying Star Sect. Inside that gigantic wave were thousands of arrows, all of which contained Jared's ridiculously powerful spiritual energy.

It didn't matter if the martial artists from Flying Star Sect were Martial Arts Saints or Martial Arts Gods. The arrows went right through their bodies and killed them all regardless.

The ocean surface was stained red in an instant. Sonyx's eyes were filled with fear when he saw that his men were all dead. All he could do was fully unleash his aura and shield himself with it.

He was so focused on ensuring his own survival and getting out of there that he couldn't even be bothered to worry about anyone else.

At that very moment, Sonyx truly regretted agreeing to kill Jared.

He never expected a martial artist from outside the hidden realm to be as powerful as a Martial Arts Sovereign.

Sonyx was able to escape with his injuries, but the men he had brought over had all died at sea.

Instead of chasing after Sonyx, Jared slowly walked across the ocean surface and made his way toward Tucker.

Fear and terror were all that filled Tucker's eyes as he watched Jared approach him.

After all, he had just witnessed all of Sonyx's men die while trying to escape from Jared.

Sonyx was a lot more powerful than he was, so Tucker knew he was as good as dead for attempting to fight Jared.

So, this is why Sonyx chose not to attack! He was observing the fight to assess Jared's strength!

"P-Please don't kill me. Jared!" Tucker pleaded with Jared out of fear.

"You tried to kill me even though I had left you alone, so why should I spare you?" Jared asked coldly.

"I was only trying to avenge my son! You said it was Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect who killed him, right? Well, I believe you now! I'll have Stormwind Sect destroy Scorching Heaven Sect! I promise not to bother you ever again!" Tucker exclaimed.

Jared stared Tucker in the eye. "Emiliano is your son?"

Tucker nodded without saying anything in response.

Jared's lips curled into a faint smile as he said, "Very well, then. I will spare your life, but you will still be punished for trying to kill me."

The next thing Tucker knew, Jared kicked him in the arm and broke it on the spot.

Tucker's forehead was drenched in cold sweat as an intense pain tore through his body, but he simply endured it without making a sound.

He didn't mind having his arm broken as he could heal it with genetic modification later. His main priority at the moment was simply to stay alive.

"You may leave now', but keep in mind that it was Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect who killed your son. Emiliano's death had nothing to do with me," Jared said as he jumped onto a nearby demon beast and rode off at full speed.

Tucker grinded his teeth and endured the intense pain as he dragged himself ashore.

In the meantime, Sonyx had also been badly wounded and was making his way through the mountains near the ocean.

I'm incredibly lucky to be able to escape with my life. I must return to Flying Star Sect and tell (Frey that Jared is far more powerful than they imagined!

With that in mind, Sonyx was about to continue on his journey when a bunch of people blocked his path.

Sonyx's face went pale the moment he looked up and saw who they were.

"Y-Yona?"

His eyes were filled with terror, and his body was trembling in fear.

Yona was the head of Scorching Heaven Sect, which bore a grudge against the sects of the hidden realm. As such, Sonyx knew' that he was in trouble when Yona and his men had blocked his path.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2258

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2258- A Light No One Else Sees

“To think that the greatest fighter of Flying Star Seel would be bested by a nobody from outside the hidden realm... How embarrassing!” Yona said with a faint smile.

“How did you know?” Sonyx asked in confusion.

We were fighting Jared out at sea, and not many know about our plan to kill him, so how did she know?

“Of course, I’d know! I also know that you wanted to kill Jared to avenge Mr. Lindt. Unfortunately, you won’t be able to avenge Mr. Lindt even if you succeeded in killing Jared!” Yona said with a sneer.

“Why is that?” Sonyx’s face scrunched up in confusion. A few seconds later, he recalled what Jared said.

He mentioned something about Elgado of Scorching Heaven Sect killing Emiliano. Given what Yona has just told me, it would seem that Jared was telling the truth!

Sonyx narrowed his eyes as he said coldly, “So, it was you b*stards from Scorching Heaven Sect who killed Mr.

Lindt!”

“That’s right! Our elder killed Emiliano and Avery’ by absorbing their power! Well, it’s too late for you to do anything about it now!” Yona said as she swung at Sonyx.

Sonyx tried to dodge his attack, but he was too badly wounded to react in time. Just like that, Yona killed him in a single slap.

“Dump his body into the ocean. This way, Flying Star Sect will go after Jared for sure!” he said with a sneer and stared coldly at Sonyx’s corpse before leaving.

Meanwhile, Jared had just returned to the island.

Flaxseed ran up to him and asked, “Are you all right, Jared?”

“Why wouldn’t I be? I went there with dozens of demon beasts and crushed them all!” Jared replied gleefully.

He felt great just thinking about how cool he looked while leading the demon beasts into battle.

“That docs sound kind of fun. Could you teach me how to control these demon beasts? I want to give it a shot!” Flaxseed said excitedly.

“Forger it. We’re heading back right now!”

l’he Secret Realm Conference was about to begin, so Jared needed to rush over as soon as possible. He didn’t have time to fool around with Flaxseed.

Flaxseed had no choice but to contain his curiosity for the time being.

After saying their goodbyes, Jared had Archer and Skylcr head back and prepared to return to Jadeborough.

Jared had just departed from the island when he noticed a faint light coming from the ocean surface.

“Look over there. Mr. Flaxseed! What do you think that is?” Jared asked while pointing in the direction of the light.

“What arc you talking about? 1 don’t see anything!” Flaxseed replied.

“Something is glowing there! Do you not see the light?” Jared was confused as to why Flaxseed couldn’t see the light.

“What light?” With a puzzled frown on his face. Flaxseed turned toward Godrick and asked, “Godrick, do you sec any light?”

Godrick shook his head. “Nope!”

“Sec? Even he doesn’t sec this light that you’re talking about. You must be imagining it!” Flaxseed said.

The light was faint, but Jared knew’ for a fact that he could see it.

He then headed in the direction of the light, but Flaxseed and Godrick were still unable to see it.

Jared found it strange that he was the only person who could see that light.

“Wait here, you two. I’ll go and have a look,” Jared said.

He was planning to go underwater and see where the light was coming from.

“I don’t see anything, but I’ll go with you just in case.”

Flaxseed wanted to go underwater with Jared and see if he would find the source of the light.

Just like that, Jared and Flaxseed dove into the water.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2259

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2259-After Jared and Flaxseed got into the water, they continuously swam downward. As they descended further down the sea, their surroundings grew dimmer and soon turned pitch-black.

“Jared, it’s so dark here. Where’s the shiny thing you mentioned?”

Scanning his surroundings, Flaxseed felt nervous and gripped the corner of Jareds clothes tightly.

Meanwhile, Jared unleashed his aura, creating a shield around them as their bodies plummeted.

“Don’t tell me you can t see rhe light source?” Jared asked Flaxseed in surprise.

“I really can’t see it. This whole place is pitch dark. If there were light, I would’ve noticed it early on. Stop scaring me!”

Flaxseed looked around him and grimaced.

Jared furrowed his brows in silence while he continued moving toward the source of light. I don’t gel it. Why can’t Flaxseed see it? Why am I the only one who can see the light?

They plunged deeper into the sea and arrived ar a narrow ravine not long after. Staring al the gloomy and oppressive ravine, Flaxseed started to regret his decision to follow Jared there.

Unfortunately, at that point, he could only desperately hold on to the corner of Jared's clothes and press on with the dive.

After an unknown amount of time passed, the initially inky environment suddenly lit up.

"What's that?" Flaxseed shouted as he could also see the radiance now.

Jared looked at the source of luminosity and noticed a glowing white skeleton.

Jared was baffled by the existence of a skeleton in the depths of the ocean. Moreover, why is the skeleton alight?

They moved closer and realized the skeleton was actually glistening and translucent, shining brightly like crystals.

"Is this a real skeleton or one made from crystal?"

Flaxseed crouched down and inspected their finding.

The skeleton was complete, as even its finger bones were still intact and visible. However, the presence of the skeleton there was rather puzzling.

Upon scrutinizing the skeleton, Jared suddenly discovered some special markings on its skull. He hurriedly squatted down and examined the skull.

To Jared's astonishment, an intricate network of lines and labels was engraved on the skull.

"Mr. Flaxseed, check this out. What do you think this is?"

Jared called Flaxseed over to study the unique markings on the skull.

Upon closer investigation, Flaxseed exclaimed joyfully, "This seems to be a map. Could it be a treasure map? Don't you think this resembles Kazillion Mountains? Also, here and here."

Flaxseed pointed out some trails on the skull to Jared. After hearing Flaxseed's insights, Jared realized it was indeed a map with some specially labeled spots. He figured it must be a map depicting directions to a specific ancient ruin filled with treasures.

After all, thousands of years ago, the earth was populated with countless spiritual energy-cultivating sects. Hence, the existence of such treasures-loaded ancient ruins was just an ordinary occurrence.

“But who is this? I can’t believe he carved a treasure map on his own skull. And how did his remains end up here?” Jared asked.

“How would I know? However, this skeleton most likely appeared here because this person was murdered at sea, and his corpse was casually tossed and ended up here. In addition, due to the influence of the underwater environment, the bones underwent crystallization and turned into this state. To think that you managed to perceive the light from the sea surface, this might just be the work of fate!”

Flaxseed couldn’t explain the origin of that skeleton either, nor could he fathom why someone would carve the treasure map on his skull. After all, a normal person wouldn’t do something like that.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2260

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2260-Jared nodded. Then, he put away the skull in his Storage Ring before burying the rest of the skeleton with the sand and silt on the ocean floor. Regardless of who this person was, he could now rest in peace.

Jared didn’t plan to follow the markings on the skull to search for ancient ruins or treasures at that moment because he didn’t have the time to spare. He needed to hurry back to Jadeborough to participate in the Secret Realm Conference.

“Jared, Mr. Flaxseed, did you find anything?” Godrick asked curiously when he saw Jared and Flaxseed return from under the sea.

“Nothing much, just a skeleton. If I had known, I wouldn’t have tagged along,” Flaxseed said.

“Let’s get going, then. We need to get back to Jadeborough as soon as possible!” Godrick urged.

After they came ashore, the gang boarded an airplane to fly back to Jadeborough.

While Jared and the others were rushing back to Jadeborough, the atmosphere within Stormwind Sect was subdued and tense.

Tucker returned to Stormwind Sect with injuries. He reported the circumstances to Hugh. After learning Jared's abilities had surpassed the Top Level of Ninth Level Martial Arts God, Hugh's expression turned grim.

"Tucker, Tucker!" At that moment, Hugh's wife ran over anxiously. "Tucker, I heard you were wounded. Are you all right? How did you lose to an upstart?"

"I'm fine." Tucker shook his head.

Hugh watched as his wife expressed great concern for Tucker, his eyes filled with intense rage. Still, he suppressed his anger. "Tucker, this is a Healing Pill. Take it and get some rest."

Hugh took out a green pill and handed it to Tucker.

"Thank you, Hugh." Tucker received the pill gratefully and consumed it without hesitation.

A sneer spread across Hugh's face after he saw Tucker swallow the pill.

A few moments later, Tucker felt his internal organs churned. Immediately afterward, excruciating pain erupted within him.

Tucker spat out a mouthful of blood before falling to the ground, his eyes riveted on Hugh in incredulity. "Hugh, w-what did you give me?"

"That was an Intestine-crushing Pill. Anyone who took it would face inevitable death!" Hugh replied while wearing a frosty smile.

"Tucker, Tucker!" Hugh's wife called out in perturbation before glaring at Hugh angrily. "Hugh, what are you doing?"

"What am I doing? Of course, I'm killing him." Hugh snorted.

"Why, Hugh? Why are you doing this?" Tucker asked as he was puzzled.

"You still have the audacity to ask me why?" Hugh narrowed his eyes. His fury instantaneously burst forth. "You're a shameless couple who have been cheating on me behind my back. Do you think I was unaware of your betrayal? That Emiliano was your child. Don't assume I didn't know he was completely unrelated to me. I sent him to the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace because I knew that place was dangerous, and he would most likely be sacrificed there. Unexpectedly, he really died. I couldn't be happier with that outcome. Moreover, I instructed you to hunt down Jared with the intention of letting him do away with you. Unfortunately, he failed to kill you and merely allowed you to return with grave injuries. He might not have killed you, but I still won't let you live. After enduring this shame for so many years, I can finally tear you two into pieces!"

Hugh's aura rapidly intensified and extended to engulf the duo before him. Colors drained from Tucker's face as he realized their adulterous act had been exposed.

Hugh's wife also hastily begged for mercy. "Hugh, I was wrong. Please don't kill me. I promise I won't repeat the same mistake..."

“Hmph! You want me to spare you, but you two were already plotting to assassinate me. Your schemes could never escape my eyes! Go to h*ll, you shameless couple!”

Hugh waved his hand, and an enormous force instantly crushed his wife and Tucker into a pile of bloody pulp.

Looking at his wife and sworn brother, who had suffered terrible deaths, Hugh remained unpacified. He continued thrusting his fists, eventually demolishing the entire room.