

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2331

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2331-“Scram now if you want me to spare your lives,” Jared said icily while glaring at them. The two individuals paused briefly before erupting into laughter.

“Are you out of your mind? Do you think we need you to spare us when you already look like. cr*p? I could finish you off with just one swing. of my sword!” Ronan exclaimed, raising his sword threateningly toward Jared.

Upon realizing that Jared posed no real threat, he grew overconfident. In his eyes, Jared was nothing more than a defenseless prey, ready to be conquered.

In response, Jared brought his fingers together and swiftly flicked his hand. A dazzling beam of golden light shot forth, followed by the descending Dragonslayer Sword. Its gleaming blade resembled a cascading silver waterfall, slicing through the air with unrivaled power.

Ronan froze for a moment, feeling an overwhelming sense of danger from above. The terror of that impending doom sent shivers down his spine.

As he looked up, he witnessed an onslaught of light descending from the sky. This sudden twist of events drained the color from his face, and panic gripped his heart.

He could never have anticipated that the seemingly unthreatening Jared would exude such a terrifying aura of imminent death. At this moment, he finally realized that Jared was far from the weakling he had initially. perceived him to be.

“Take this!” Jared swung his palm, directing the Dragonslayer Sword toward Ronan’s head! Jared knew he had to take advantage of the man’s carelessness and end the fight swiftly by: killing him in one strike..

Otherwise, even with the Dragonslayer Sword, he would not stand a chance against the two men before him. Ronan, seeing the incoming torrent of light, swiftly brandished his long sword, attempting to defend himself against the light that the Dragonslayer sword emitted.

Swoosh! A golden radiance pierced through Ronan's body, eliciting a cry of shock. Although his head remained intact, Ronan's arm was instantly severed and fell to the ground.

He immediately retreated, pulling himself away from the Dragonslayer Sword. Meanwhile, Grant watched Jared in astonishment. He never expected Jared to possess the skill to control the treasured sword. and cleanly sever Ronan's arm.

It was clear that Jared's actions revealed his formidable defense and that he was not one to be underestimated or taken lightly. Ronan hurriedly tended to his wounds, his gaze filled with disbelief as he looked at his opponent.

"So, you've been pretending all along. You weren't injured at all," remarked Grant, realizing that Jared was not only unharmed but also possessed greater strength than them.

"I never claimed to be injured. It was your own assumption." Jared coldly smiled, raising the Dragon Slayer Sword and pointing it directly at the two. "You wanted to take my head in exchange for resources, right? Now you can try. but I doubt you have what it takes to achieve your goal!"

Jared maintained a calm and disdainful expression as he spoke to them. The two gradually began to retreat, intimidated by Jared's composed demeanor and the terrifying display of his swordsmanship.

"This is all a misunderstanding. We don't hold grudges against each other anyway. There's no need for a fight to the death. Farewell," Grant said, supporting Ronan, as they turned and left. As Jared watched them depart, he finally let out a sigh of relief before turning and walking away.

Beads of sweat covered his forehead. If the two had not backed down and attacked together, even with the Dragonslayer Sword, Jared would have undoubtedly met his demise.

Now that the two men had retreated, Jared needed to leave this place quickly, as he might encounter others soon. Jared quickened his pace, running continuously. Meanwhile, Grant and Ronan, after turning away, seemed to realize something.

"Wait a second. The aura seemed to originate from the sword, not Jared's body. It's possible that Jared is genuinely injured, resulting in a significant decline in his strength. That sword must be a spiritual sword with the ability to fight independently,” Ronan analyzed.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2332

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2332-“Yes, it’s highly possible. Let’s not be deceived by Jared. If he still had enough strength to easily kill us, he wouldn’t have let us leave.” Grant, too, came to that realization. “Come, let’s go back and take a look.” With that, the two turned around and returned to the previous location, but Jared was nowhere to be found.

“D*mn it, we’ve been deceived. Let’s go after him!” Grant exclaimed with a grim expression, grinding his teeth. They immediately unleashed their spiritual senses to search for Jared, knowing that he could not have gone far. Once they sensed Jared’s whereabouts, they swiftly pursued him.

Meanwhile, Jared was still relieved that he had managed to deceive those two individuals. However, soon enough, he was startled by two spiritual senses enveloping him, prompting him to accelerate his pace. The two men chased after Jared from behind, while he desperately ran ahead.

Jared seethed with anger, feeling utterly frustrated as he was relentlessly chased by disciples from the hidden realm. He could not help but express his annoyance, running through the mountains while cursing under his breath. This is so embarrassing!

“Who the hell created this d*mn secret realm and suppressed my strength with Heavenly Law? If I find out who’s behind this, I’ll curse them for the rest of their lives!” Jared cursed as he continued his escape.

Had it not been for the overwhelming power of the Heavenly Law within the secret realm, his current situation would not have reduced him to running around like a hunted animal.

“Be careful with your words. That old monster might hear you and come after you!” Ranzoph’s voice emerged all of a sudden. Jared could not help but wonder if the elderly man knew who the creator of the secret realm was. The creator must be someone from the Ethereal Realm because no one from the Eight Major Secret Realms or the mundane world has the power to create a secret realm! Not even Tanner from the Evil Heart Sect possesses such abilities. Otherwise, he would have simply created his own realm instead of searching for ownerless ones. Taken aback, Jared asked, “Do you know who created this secret realm?”

“Of course, I know the creator. He deliberately crafted the secret realm to summon my spirit back. Otherwise, an entrance wouldn’t have appeared in the middle of the ocean! It’s all your fault because you took my skull. Otherwise, I would have completed the summoning and returned to the Ethereal Realm!” Ranzoph complained.

Jared felt embarrassed. He had taken the skull because he noticed a treasure map on it and wanted to obtain it. He had not anticipated that his actions would cause such a significant delay in the old man’s summoning.

It was clear that Ranzoph was no ordinary individual. The fact that someone had gone to the extent of creating a secret realm specifically to summon his spirit back to the Ethereal Realm spoke volumes about his importance.

“Who are you exactly? Someone actually went through the trouble of creating an entire secret realm just for you. That’s quite impressive. Who is the person who created the secret realm? Tell me, I’ll give him a piece of my mind. Or when you return to the Ethereal Realm, help me convey my frustration to that person. And why did he create a secret realm that’s governed by the Heavenly Law? No other realms are suppressed by the Heavenly Law. Is he deliberately showing off his power?” Jared grumbled in dissatisfaction.

Suddenly, Ranzoph burst into laughter. “How dare you curse that old monster? He might actually hear you. You’ll meet a miserable end, mind you.”

“Whether I scold him or not, it doesn’t change the fact that I’m going to die, so why not give him a piece of my mind? I’m already being chased like a prey.” Jared vented his frustration.

Just as Jared finished speaking, a wave of immense danger swept toward him. Acting on instinct, he swiftly dove forward and rolled on the ground, narrowly evading the attack.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2333

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2333-Jared initially thought that the two men earlier had caught up to him. But when he had scrambled up to his feet and swung his gaze over, he saw a ferocious giant lion eyeing him predatorily.

Fangs were visible in its mouth that reeked of the coppery stench of blood, and it kept roaring lowly. "Haha... Serves you right for running your mouth! Now, you're in trouble!"

At the sight of the giant lion, Ranzoph guffawed. Conversely, Jared wore a look of utter desolation. Good Lord! I merely griped for a bit. How could the person who created the secret realm be so petty to send a demon beast to teach me a lesson?

Helplessness swamped him as he stared at the demon beast before him. This time, it's probably impossible for me to make a break for it! Keeping its eyes fixed on the man, the giant lion made no move to attack. Instead, it circled him relentlessly.

Despite its lack of aggression, Jared could not afford to wait and tarry. Otherwise, the two men would gain on him. At that time, death would be the only fate awaiting him if he had to face the demon beast in front of him and the duo.

No sooner had he geared up to make a move against the giant lion than the two men caught up with him. The instant the duo noticed that his path was blocked by a demon beast, they both dissolved into laughter..

"We're downright lucky today, Grant! Not only do we get to kill Jared to obtain the promised resources, but we'll also be gaining a beast core!" Ronan exclaimed excitedly as he regarded the giant lion..

"Indeed, we're lucky today. But shall we kill the demon beast first or Jared?" Grant mused. Ronan had a severed arm right then, so his capabilities were diminished significantly. If they were to deal with the giant lion and Jared simultaneously, it would likely be difficult for them to emerge victorious quickly. Therefore, they needed to team up and deal with either of the two first.

"Let's kill Jared first. He cut off my arm. I'm going to make him suffer in return!" Ronan declared, eyeballing Jared icily.

"Sure." In response, Grant gave a dip of his head. Without an ounce of hesitation, he leaped up. In a flash, the sword in his hand glinted sharply in the light, heading straight for Jared.

When that happened, the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand flew out. Alongside its incessant buzzing, streams of sword energy blasted forth and blocked the man's blade.

Following that sight, Ronan swung his sword one-handed and charged at Jared. He was wholly confident that he could kill the latter with just an arm since the man no longer had the protection offered by the Dragonslayer Sword.

Jared stared at the man rushing at him, plunging into helplessness for a moment. His capabilities were suppressed, and he could not fight Ronan..

Just as Ronan was about to reach him, he abruptly caught sight of the giant lion still eyeing him predatorily. An idea instantly popped into his mind. Without warning, he shot his hand out at the giant lion. He wanted to devise a way to pit Ronan and the giant lion against each other. Then, he would have a chance of survival.

For that reason, he planned to provoke the giant lion. Consequently, things would be chaotic,. and he would be able to find an opportunity to take flight.

When he swung his hand out at the giant lion, he reckoned that it would be infuriated and lunge at him. Unexpectedly, it darted to the side and dodged the attack. Having done so, it rolled its eyes and threw Jared a disdainful look. Jared was utterly stunned by that look, never having expected a demon beast to discern his motive. That was the reason it dodged. It had absolutely no intention of making a move.

"Die!" While he was distracted, Ronan reached him and brought the sword in his hand down on Jared's back mercilessly.

Clang! A crisp bang rang out, upon which Jared flew backward. Blood gushed out of a bone-deep wound on his back incessantly. Severely injured, Jared spurted a mouthful of blood, and his vision grew increasingly blurry. In the end, he passed out.

Ronan glanced at his sword, cursing, "D*mn it! How exactly did he train his physical body that it's so tough?" He strutted toward Jared with his sword in hand. The latter was already out cold, so he had let his guard down entirely.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2334

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2334-Just when Ronan was about to finish Jared off, a strong gust of wind rushed at him out of the blue. Roar! It turned out that the demon beast had launched itself at Ronan.

With a furious roar, the giant lion struck such terror into the man with its powerful aura that he stumbled several steps away. When he had done so, the giant lion ambled over to Jared. It licked the latter with its tongue before opening its cavernous mouth..

Seeing that, Ronan knew that it wanted to devour Jared. Nonetheless, he made no move to stop it, for all he needed was the man's head. He could still prove the accomplishment of the mission to Wrey with that item alone..

Putting his sword away, he merely watched as it sunk its teeth into Jared since the latter was destined to die. He did not want to deal with the giant lion alone because he was not its match when his arm had been severed then.

Roar! In the next second, the giant lion swiped its claw across Jared's body. Yet, its sharp claws could not penetrate the man's skin.

Then, it started tearing at him with its teeth. But still, it could not break through his skin. At that very moment, Jared was just like a rock. The giant lion wanted to make a meal of him, yet it could not bite into him at all..

At the end of its rope, it glared down at the unconscious man before swinging its paw at his head. When its paw was mere inches away from Jared's head, a bright light suddenly manifested at the man's chest.

On the heels of that, a ball of golden light emerged from within his body. The instant the ball of golden light appeared, a mighty aura started permeating the air. The giant lion was so petrified that it swiftly backed away.

The ball of golden light gradually expanded. Eventually, it slowly began to unfurl and transformed into a phoenix that flew circles around Jared.

The sight of the phoenix that appeared out of nowhere had horror brim in the giant lion's eyes. It let loose a terrified roar and dropped to its knees on the ground.

On top of that, it kept its head hung low as though worshipping the phoenix. As Ronan witnessed that scene, shock showed on his face. He could not fathom why a phoenix suddenly emerged from Jared's body.

The phoenix let out a cry before diving into Jared's forehead. A phoenix mark manifested on the man's forehead. But in the next heartbeat, it disappeared into thin air.

Even after the phoenix had vanished, the giant lion remained cowering on the ground, the look in its eyes as docile as a house cat. Upon seeing that the giant lion no longer dared to devour Jared, Ronan drew his sword to eliminate Jared himself.

But the moment he stepped forward, the giant lion that was initially lying motionless on the ground lunged at him with murder radiating from its eyes.

At that, Ronan hurriedly flipped backward and dodged. Alas, it refused to let him go, aggressively attacking him repeatedly. Thus, the giant lion went up against Ronan while the Dragonslayer Sword battled Grant. Jared, on the other hand, remained unconscious on the ground, utterly motionless.

Roar! Following a great roar from the giant lion, Ronan could no longer hold out. His remaining arm was bitten by the demon beast and ripped right off.

"Ahh!" The excruciating pain that inundated him forced an ear-splitting wail of agony out of his mouth. Hearing the cry of pain, Grant was inexorably distracted for a moment. In that split second of inattention, his head was severed by the Dragonslayer Sword.

At the same time, the giant lion sunk its teeth into Ronan's head and bit it off, swallowing it whole. With the duo dead, Jared was safe for the time being.

The Dragonslayer Sword returned to his body. Meanwhile, the giant lion licked the man before picking him up with its teeth and leaving at lightning speed. Shortly after it had left with Jared, a group of people rushed over, having heard the deafening roar earlier.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2335

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2335-The person in the lead was the overlord of Scorching Heaven Sect, Yona. They rushed over because they heard a demon beast's roar and the sounds of a battle.

A demon beast's beast core was a top-notch cultivation resource, but those in the secret realm would undoubtedly be much stronger than those in the hidden realm. Unfortunately, by the time Yona arrived with his men, there were only two dead bodies on the ground.

He scrutinized the dead bodies on the ground before gently placing a hand on one of them. In a flash, the scene of the battle earlier materialized before his eyes.

“What a powerful giant lion...” Narrowing his gaze a fraction, he touched the other dead body lightly. On the heels of that, his eyes glinted. “The spiritual sword is actually sentient. It looks like Jared has a number of incredible items. Give chase!”

He engaged in a pursuit with his men in the direction where the giant lion had escaped. Almost everyone in the entire secret realm was hunting Jared.

Some people wanted to kill the man in exchange for Flying Star Sect’s resources, while others coveted the magical items he possessed. Naturally, there were also those who were searching for him to lend him a hand.

In that instant, there were people tracking Jared down everywhere in the secret realm. Fortunately, the place was massive. Hence, searching for someone was akin to looking for a needle in a haystack.

“D*mn it! Where on earth did that kid go?” Wrey could not help feeling anxious when there was still no news of Jared after such a long time had passed.

“Considering the vastness of this secret realm, it’s not that easy to locate someone, Wrey. If you want to know where Jared is, simply ask Great Diviner to divine it for you,” Hugh proposed.

In a trice, Wrey’s eyes lit up. “That’s right! How could I have forgotten about him? I’ll have someone find him right away!” he exclaimed. He sent some men out to look for Great Diviner. In no time, an elderly man with a goatee was escorted over.

That was the top diviner in the hidden realm, Great Diviner. With just three copper coins, he could perceive everything. For that reason, his Divination Sect enjoyed much prominence in the hidden realm. “You want me to locate Jared, Mr. Lindt?” Great Diviner asked bluntly upon seeing Wrey.

“Sure enough, you live up to your reputation, Master Diviner. Indeed, I invited you over to divine his location. I’d really appreciate the help,” Wrey answered politely.

“That’s a piece of cake. But you should know my rules, yes?” Great Diviner asserted haughtily. “Of course, I do. As long as you locate him, I’ll definitely gift you a ton of resources,” Wrey hastily promised. In response, Great Diviner nodded. “Okay.”

After saying that, he took out three copper coins before tossing them high into the air. They started glowing and spinning continuously while suspended in mid-air.

Wrey and Hugh lifted their heads and stared at the copper coins, beyond curious as to how Great Diviner could divine everything with just three copper coins.

“Are these three copper coins ancient divine items?” Hugh could not resist asking. “They’re just three ordinary copper coins. There’s nothing divine about them,” Great Diviner replied with a faint smile.

“If so, why can they divine everything when they’re in your hands, Master Diviner?” Hugh continued venturing..

“Divine secrets are confidential. My apologies, but I can’t answer that.” Having said that, Great Diviner gestured with both hands, and the three copper coins kept changing directions in mid- air. More than ten minutes passed, but there was still no response. Instead, he was still gesturing with his hands. Impatience flooded Wrey.

It’s been over ten minutes now, but there’s nothing! He was not sure whether Great Diviner was a swindler since he had never asked the latter for help, having only heard of his reputation.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2336

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2336-“Is it not working, Master Diviner?” Wrey demanded impatiently. “I’m done.” Right after Great Diviner had said that, the copper coins in the air abruptly fused together.

Following that, rays of light burst out from the copper coin and formed a projection. The scene was none other than that of Jared battling the two men.

Great Diviner suddenly waved a hand, and the space seemingly cracked immediately. A series of auras surged out of the fissures. "You can both sense whether this is Jared's aura, Great Diviner stated, shifting his gaze to Wrey and Hugh.

"Indeed, it's his aura. I once fought with him, so I know his aura," Wrey affirmed. "Since you can sense the presence of the aura, Mr. Lindt, search for him by following it. You'll certainly find him!" Great Diviner concluded.

"Okay. Thank you, Master Diviner! I'll deliver the promised resources to your residence when I go back!" When Wrey had finished saying that, he led some men in rapid pursuit of the aura.

Great Diviner and Hugh tagged along. In the meantime, the giant lion held Jared in its mouth and sprinted at top speed. No one knew where it was taking him..

Jared was still unconscious. Ranzoph, who was in his body, frantically called out at him, not wanting the man to continue being carried away by the giant lion.

By then, they had long since deviated from their route, going the polar opposite of the place marked with the treasure. Soon, the aura divined by Great Diviner faded. Consequently, Wrey lost the direction in which Jared disappeared.

"What exactly is going on here, Master Diviner?" Wrey put that question forth to Great Diviner. "Jared is fleeing too fast and far. My divination has a time and distance limit, so it can't serve you perpetually," Great Diviner explained.

"Fleeing too fast? He has obviously sustained internal injuries, yet he can still travel at such breakneck speed? I'm duly impressed," Wrey remarked with a flabbergasted expression on his face.

"I can sense that he's going increasingly faster now." Great Diviner closed his eyes lightly, seemingly having sensed something. "Do you know where he is, Master Diviner?

Please help me once more," Wrey quickly implored. "Mr. Lindt, the price of my divination is set for a single request. If you want to another divination, it would cost you..."

Great Diviner made the money gesture. “Sure, that’s fine. I’ll arrange for someone to find it for you right away!” Wrey readily agreed. Hearing that, Great Diviner tossed the three copper coins in his hand into the air again.

Shortly after, Jared’s aura leaked out, and her turned out to be a near distance away from them. “Haha... We’ve got Jared’s whereabouts now. He’s not far from us. Let’s go and give chase!”

Unbidden, Wrey hooted with laughter. They all started giving chase in Jared’s direction once more. However, Jared had absolutely no idea that Wrey was already hot on his heels. He was still unconscious, carried by the giant lion everywhere.

“Huh? How strange. Where exactly is Jared heading? Why is he traveling haphazardly?” Great Diviner sensed Jared’s aura and noticed that he was running everywhere without a fixed direction.

“He must be doing this to evade pursuit. No wonder no one can find him.” Having said that, Wrey unleashed his spiritual sense to ascertain Jared’s tracks in real time.

But after a while, Great Diviner’s three copper coins abruptly lost their efficacy and fell to the ground from mid-air. “What’s happening here, Master Diviner?” Wrey questioned upon seeing that the man’s copper coins had dropped down.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2337

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2337-“How... How is this possible? Jared is just nearby. Why are we suddenly out of tracking radius?”

Great Diviner’s expression changed. His copper coin divination was limited by distance. If the person were too far away, he would not be able to divine the person’s location.

The sudden fall of the copper coins proved that Jared was already too far away from them and had exceeded the regulated range.

“D*mn it! Are you putting on an act to dupe us? He was right ahead just now. Yet, you’re now claiming that he’s suddenly too far and had gone beyond the range. Are you playing me for a fool?”

Wrey's expression went chilly. He stalked forward and grabbed Great Diviner by the collar. Verily, he was on the brink of losing his mind.

Not only is Jared injured, but his capabilities are also not as impressive as rumored. How could he possibly go so far in the blink of an eye? Well, unless he has teleportation magecraft and can traverse freely in space. But it's the secret realm here. Even if he does have that skill, he can't use it! Judging from that, there's only one possibility -Great Diviner has been spouting nonsense, and he can't divine the man's location!

Following the man's reaction, Great Diviner's face went as black as thunder. "Are you doubting my divination skills?" "Calm down, Master Diviner! Wrey is just too anxious!"

At that turn of events, Hugh hurriedly stepped forward and smoothed things over. Wrey likewise realized that he had crossed the line. After all, Divination Sect's status in the hidden realm was not inferior to that of Flying Star Sect's. In fact, it was a notch higher..

"I was too anxious, Master Diviner. My apologies." He lowered himself and apologized. Seeing that, Great Diviner did not pursue the matter. Wrey was the overlord of a sect, so it was already sufficient that he could admit to being at fault and apologize.

"Please perform another divination to ascertain which direction Jared had gone, Master Diviner. Otherwise, we'd be totally clueless, hunting around like headless chickens," Hugh said to Great Diviner. "Okay, I'll try again. I can't allow my reputation. to be ruined by Jared!"

After saying that, Great Diviner bit his finger and dribbled three drops of blood on the three copper coins respectively. The three copper coins started buzzing before turning bright red and emanating a scarlet light.

Whoosh! He tossed the three copper coins into the air, upon which they disappeared without a trace. As he gestured with his hands, cold sweat dotted his forehead. It appeared that he was exerting great effort this time.

Right then, Jared was still carried by the giant lion that sprinted at top speed. Despite giving everything he had, Great Diviner could not divine Jared's whereabouts, for the latter was already hundreds of kilometers away from them by then.

Panting heavily, Great Diviner gasped, "He's not stationary, and it's simply too difficult to divine his location. There's nothing more I can do, I wish you both all the best!"

He then left, having expended too much of mental energy to divine Jared's location. Wrey and Hugh looked at each other. In the end, they could only search slowly and try to find Jared.

Meanwhile, when the giant lion reached the top of a mountain with Jared in its mouth, it placed him down. Subsequently, it licked the man with its tongue. However, Jared remained unconscious.

Left with no other choice, it nestled beside him and kept guard over him. Various demon beasts passed by that place everywhere. While some of them took an interest in Jared and wanted to devour him, the giant lion stopped them from doing so.

Time passed, and Jared was unconscious for seven whole days. Throughout it all, countless demon beasts wanted to make him their meal, but they were all thwarted by the giant lion.

There were also people who happened by, but there were too many demon beasts there with high cultivation levels. Hence, they only moved about the foot of the mountain and did not hike up to the top. If they had done so, they would have found Jared.

In those seven days, all the sects from the hidden realm made their way there due to the existence of numerous demon beasts on top of the mountain. After all, demon beasts' beast cores were rare resources.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2338

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2338-Being able to hunt down some demon beasts and extract their beast cores would greatly benefit the development of the sect. Meanwhile, all the sects in the hidden realm, except Luminous Sect, had gathered.

"Ladies and gentlemen, we've already explored this secret realm to a considerable extent. The resources and environment here are hundreds of times better than those in the hidden realm. Moreover, this mountain peak is filled with high-level demon beasts. If we can work together to hunt down some of them, our sects will experience rapid growth. By then, we'll no longer be inferior to the cultivators in the Eight Major Secret Realms. We can also become immortals, ascend to the celestial realm, and achieve eternal youth,” said Hugh, filled with excitement.

“Mr. Fairchild is right. The sudden appearance of an entrance to the ownerless secret realm in our hidden realm must be a sign from God. We must seize this opportunity. However, in the face of so many high-level demon beasts, we must unite as one. As long as we stand united, we’ll be able to make the secret realm ours. We’ll not allow anyone to snatch it from us!” Wrey stood up, expressing his agreement.

“Mr. Fairchild, Mr. Lindt, we’re all in this together. Just tell us what we need to do!” one of the sect leaders exclaimed. Another person echoed, “Yeah, and I’m sure the secret realm is large enough for all the sects to survive and thrive. We should be able to focus on cultivation and not worry about resources!”

The crowd unanimously expressed their support for Hugh and Wrey’s suggestion. “What about Luminous Sect?” Suddenly, Isaac from the Alchemical Sect spoke up.

The crowd fell silent. After all, Luminous Sect was one of the sects in the hidden realm, and their placement had now become a contentious issue.

“Alchemical Sect, how about this? Let’s find a secluded area for their sect to settle in. If they don’t want to stay in the secret realm, we can simply banish them and let them continue residing in the hidden realm!” someone suggested.

Another person chimed in, “Let’s just kick Luminous Sect out and send them back to the hidden realm. We shouldn’t share the resources of the secret realm with them!”

The majority of the suggestions revolved around expelling Luminous Sect from the secret realm and sending them back to the hidden realm. The underlying motivation was to secure a larger portion of the available resources for the remaining sects. Upon hearing that, Wrey waved his hand to quiet the crowd.

“If news of our secret realm reaches the Eight Major Secret Realms and they attempt to seize our resources, we may not have the strength to confront them. Therefore, we must be prepared on both fronts. We cannot afford to lose our territory in the secret realm. Even if cultivators from the Eight Major

Secret Realms come to plunder our secret realm resources, we can retreat to the hidden realm.

They would not dare venture outside the secret realm, after all. However, if we drive Luminous Sect out and force them back to the hidden realm, won't they gain control over all the territories there? What if we encounter danger in the secret realm and need to retreat? Can we guarantee that Luminous Sect won't seek revenge if we fall back to the hidden realm?" Wrey meticulously analyzed the situation, presenting the crowd with a thoughtful assessment.

"Mr. Lindt is right. If that's the case, what should we do with Luminous Sect?" someone asked. Wrey cast a sidelong glance, his eyes filled with a surge of murderous intent. "Kill..."

Upon hearing the word, the crowd instantly kept mum. Although all the sects in the hidden realm often engaged in discreet power struggles for resources and benefits, they had never considered exterminating a sect.

Now that Wrey suggested wiping out the entire Luminous Sect, everyone was left unsure of how to respond.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2339

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2339-"I believe Mr. Lindt's suggestion is a good one. Since there is already a rift between us and Luminous Sect, it would be wise to eliminate them. Allowing them to remain would only lead to trouble. Once they are exterminated, we can seize their resources and distribute them among ourselves." Hugh spoke up, supporting Wrey's plan.

Upon hearing Hugh's words and the promise of sharing Luminous Sect's resources, the crowd fell silent no more. "Let's just kill them all! I could no longer stand the sight of Matthew anyway."

"Once we've dealt with Luminous Sect, let's keep his female disciple alive. I can't resist the temptation whenever I see her! And since there are plenty of them, we can all..." one of the men broke into laughter. Those individuals sealed the fate of Luminous Sect amidst resounding laughter.

Meanwhile, Matthew, along with the disciples of Luminous Sect, had set up a camp not far away, completely unaware of the thoughts brewing among the others. His current concern was Jared's safety, as he was unsure if the latter managed to escape.

“Master, it has been several days, and they still haven’t captured him, so I’m sure he managed to escape. Don’t worry!” Skyler comforted Matthew.

Matthew nodded in agreement. “Mr. Chance is not destined to meet his demise so easily. We should find a suitable location to relocate Luminous Sect. The resources within this secret realm are abundant, and I believe that with access to these resources, all of you will be able to enhance your strength at a faster pace.”

“Master, shouldn’t we go hunt some demon beasts and collect their beast cores?” Archer asked in puzzlement. “I have inspected the area, and those are all high-level demon beasts with formidable strength. It would require a great cost to hunt them down. Besides, the resources here are abundant and sufficient for cultivation. In that case, why should we take unnecessary risks?” Matthew expressed his reluctance to hunt demon beasts.

He wanted to focus on finding a suitable place for Luminous Sect to settle in. “All right. Skyler and I will bring a group of people to scout for the suitable location then!” Archer nodded.

Meanwhile, at the meeting with all the sects, everyone reached a consensus to take action against Luminous Sect and completely eliminate them..

However, just as they were about to conclude the meeting, a sudden spatial fluctuation occurred, and a figure slowly emerged. Upon witnessing this scene, everyone was left stunned and immediately adopted a defensive posture.

As the figure fully materialized, they were all taken aback. “Yona? You’re still alive?” Wrey asked while looking at the figure. The man was none other than Yona, the overlord of Scorching Heaven Sect.

Scorching Heaven Sect, a demonic cult, was eradicated by the combined forces of all the sects. Thus, none of the anticipated the arrival of Yona, one of the members of the sect. Upon noticing Yona’s arrival, the crowd panicked and started gathering their auras.

“Calm down. This is just a manifestation of Yona. He doesn’t pose a real threat to us,” Isaac quickly reassured the crowd, restoring a sense of calm.

Among the people present, only Isaac knew that Yona had not perished, and he had also maintained connections with Scorching Heaven Sect. Isaac’s ability to deceive Luminous Sect for years and exploit their resources stemmed from his collaboration with Yona, enabling him to effectively deceive Matthew as well.

“What are you doing here, Yona?” Wrey asked while glancing at the figure.

“I heard about your plan to annihilate Luminous Sect, so I thought I’d come over and join the fun. Besides, I’d like to participate in hunting down the demon beasts with all of you!” Yona said with a slight grin.

“No way. You’re a Demonic Cultivator. How can you join us?” One of the leaders outrightly rejected Yona. “If you reject my membership request, I’ll expose your plan to Matthew. Moreover, even though I may practice Demonic Cultivation, what sets me apart from the rest of you? Are you not all willing to do whatever it takes for cultivation and resources?”

Why else would you be intent on annihilating Luminous Sect? It’s a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Furthermore, my practice of black magic stems from the scarcity of resources and my desire to expedite cultivation. With the abundant resources and numerous demon beasts here, I no longer need to resort to black magic to absorb others’ power. If you permit my inclusion, Scorching Heaven Sect can take Luminous Sect’s place. Additionally, my sect can contribute to the task of exterminating demon beasts,” Yona declared, sporting a chilling smile.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2340

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2340-Everyone was silent upon hearing Yona’s words. They were capable of dealing with Luminous Sect. Should Scorching Heaven Sect join in the battle as well, the other sects would suffer losses.

Right then, Isaac from Alchemical Sect spoke. “I believe Yona has a point. This secret realm is large enough to accommodate all of us. I think it’s fine as long as they don’t practice black magic in the future. Besides, we can let Scorching Heaven Sect eliminate Luminous Sect instead. That way, we only need to sit back and watch.”

Clearly, he was supporting Yona. “I think it’s a marvelous idea to let Scorching Heaven Sect destroy Luminous Sect!” Hugh agreed with the notion as well.

While Luminous Sect isn't powerful, we'll still incur losses if we face them. Additionally, none of us are willing to do this because it'll tarnish our reputation once the word spreads. However, if a sect of Demonic Cultivators like Scorching Heaven Sect crushes Luminous Sect instead, it won't be seen as anything out of the ordinary. Even if news about it travels far, the others will only be angry at Scorching Heaven Sect. It won't affect the other sects in the hidden realm.

"What do you think, Yona? Will you eliminate Luminous Sect? If you do, then Scorching Heaven Sect can take their position!" Wrey said. "No problem. It's just Luminous Sect. I can eradicate them with a wave of my hand." Yona nodded.

"Good. Once Luminous Sect is wiped out from existence, we'll speak about the hunting of demon beasts and the division of territories." Gradually, Yona's body turned invisible before vanishing.

If Wrey had known that his son was murdered by someone from Scorching Heaven Sect, perhaps he wouldn't have supported Yona. Meanwhile, Jared was still unconscious on the mountaintop.

The giant lion had been protecting him, but that made the elder, who was attached to Jared's body, panic. He needed his soul to arrive at the spot marked on the treasure map as soon as possible so he could tear spacetime apart and return to Ethereal Realm.

Once that was accomplished, he could recreate his body and return to life. However, Jared was still unconscious, so all he could do was wait anxiously.

At that moment, the phoenix marking on Jared's forehead gradually became visible. Soon after, a ball of golden light rose from the mark and transformed into a life-size phoenix that circled around Jared's body.

When the giant lion guarding Jared witnessed the overwhelming aura emanating from the phoenix's body, it immediately bent down and whimpered in fear.

Moments later, the ground began to shake. Countless powerful auras started gathering on the mountaintop. Loud roars could be heard approaching that spot.

Hundreds of demon beasts rushed toward Jared's location and lay on the ground with fear in their eyes. The phoenix flapped its wings and flew past the demon beasts. The creatures were so terrified that they didn't have the nerve to lift their heads.

Then, a beam of light could be seen emitting from the demon beasts' heads and concentrating on the phoenix's body. The phoenix flapped its wings, causing the pillars of golden light to shoot upward. That instantly illuminated the entire mountaintop.

Hundreds of demon beasts trembled in apprehension as they felt the aura the phoenix exuded. Even though it was absorbing the power of their beast cores, none of them dared to resist.

If someone saw the ground shaking, the light in the sky, and the numerous demon beasts on the mountaintop, they would be shocked to death.

After all, those demon beasts were Martial Arts Gods. Some were even Top Level Martial Arts God and were about to become as powerful as a Martial Arts Sovereign.

Even if the members of all sects in the hidden realm arrived at the scene, they would be so frightened by the sight before them that they would immediately flee.